Mr. Dubin suggested that writing the date December 4 was not a mistake but an attempt to mislead the Board.

Mr. Morton vehemently denied this but added: "I didn't feel the dates were too important."

In addition, Mr. Morton said, he had rewritten Miss Hamilton's receipt onto a standard form.

"But the receipt dated December 4 and attached to the yellow card was a carbon copy," queried Mr. Dubin. "How do you account for that?"

"I felt a carbon copy was required," replied Mr. Morton.

"You mean you faked an impression of Miss Hamilton's receipt when you rewrote it by inserting a piece of carbon paper and writing over the top of it," countered Mr. Dubin. "Why didn't you use the original of the rewritten receipt if there was nothing wrong with it?"

"Because I felt it should be written on carbon," Mr. Morton insisted. "Besides," he added, "it was just as easy doing it that way."

"Oh come now Mr. Morton, you don't really expect the Board to believe that do you," exclaimed Mr. Dubin.

The UE counsel continued his attack on the right wing leader's motives in both ante-dating the yellow card and receipt and in filing a carbon copy of the latter.

"I suggest your reason for attaching the carbon copy was to give the Board the impression that it was a duplicate of the receipt in Miss Hamilton's possession," insisted Mr. Dubin.

No Attempt At Deception

Once again Mr. Morton stated there was no attempt at deception on his part and he would have been foolish to have entertained such a notion as he understood Miss Hamilton had signed a blue card in the interim period.

A crowd of nearly 200 spectators jammed into the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. Most of them were CGE workers and they hung on every word of the testimony.

Joseph Murphy, IUE treasurer, was a witness in the case involving Lawrence Cranley. Mr. Cranley testified he signed a yellow card and paid his initiation fee on December 31. He received an original of the receipt dated December 30.

Although he didn't sign Mr. Cranley personally, Mr. Murphy said he issued the receipt but wasn't sure what the exact day was in December.

The duplicate attached to the yellow card was dated December 3 and it had a different serial number than the original.

"I can't account for it," said the IUE treasurer. He suggested however that the answer might lie in the fact a number of the receipts were rewritten onto a standard form at the IUE headquarters.

Pressed to account for the discrepancy of dates on both the duplicate and the card with the actual signing on December 31, the witness re-iterated he didn't know.

"But I don't think dates mean anything," he said.

"That became the official attitude did it?" asked Mr. Dubin. "You deliberately deceived the Board and suggested to them the receipts was signed on December 3?"

"What's the difference," replied the witness. He qualified this remark by stating he was primarily concerned with signing a majority of the workers and getting a dollar from them.

"You know very well what the difference was and what December 5 meant to your union," said Mr. Dubin. The UE counsel then addressed the Board saying that according to precedent had already been ample evidence produced to reject the IUE application on the grounds of fraud.

Call Other Witnesses

Chairman Draper reminded counsel that the evidence was being noted and they would consider all of it. In the meantime the other witnesses should be heard.

Cyril (Cy) O'Donnell, also experienced the sharpness of Mr. Dubin's probing questions when he appeared on another "wrong date case" involving John F. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy said on January 3 he had signed a yellow card, paid his dollar fee and received a recept from Mr. O'Donnell. In the space reserved for the date was written "Jan."

Chairman Draper pointed out to Mr. O'Donenll that the date on both the yellow card and the duplicate filed by the IUE was December 5, the same day as the IUE's application to the ORB purporting to have a majority of the workers signed and paid. Besides this discrepancy the serial numbers of the duplicate and original did not match.

There was no carbon paper in his receipt book, Mr. O'Donnell testified, and this was verified by Mr. Murphy. Because of this he wrote the receipt out twice—once as an original and again as a duplicate.

Explaining the difference in serial numbers, he said: "There were some loose receipts in my book and for some reason I discarded one of them—probably I made a mistake."

"Writing December 5 instead of January 3 was a mistake," conceded Mr. O'Donnell. He said he was busy at the time and his mind was occupied with other things.

Mr. Dubin scoffed at this explanation. "You've been a trade union officer for too long to make a mistake like that. Are you suggesting that on January 3 you would mark two important documents December 5?"

January 3 would be firmly set in the witness's mind the UE counsel contended. It was too important a day for such slipups as that to be likely.

"If you made a mistake why didn't you write November 3 or December 3—not December 4?"

The witness said he was interrupted several times while filling out the card and finally handed it over to a clerk in the IUE headquarters to complete it. The phone rang several times during the operation and he was quite rushed.

Mr. Dubin then accused the IUE recording secretary of fraud by attempting to deceive the OLRB as to the correct date on Mr. Murphy's application.

Said In Mount Dennis

Harold M. Lunney, a worker in the wire department, swore he was in Mount Dennis on December 5, the date on his yellow card as filled out by the IUE.

Mr. Lunney said he joined the IUE at the beginning of January but that he had since lost his receipt. Donald S. Penrose who signed Mr. Lunney said the dates on the duplicate receipt and the yellow card were not in his handwriting. Presumably it was filled in later at the IUE headquarters.

William Alex Shaw said he signed a yellow card toward the end of November but did not pay his dollar and get a receipt until December 27. Unlike many of the receipts of witnesses this one had the date plainly written in.

The duplicate, filed by the IUE together with the yellow card, bore the date December 2. What could have been erasure marks covered the spot where the "7" should have been.

Other principal witnesses called and who had something wrong with their applications were Joseph Marsden, Alan Croxall, Roland Gerard, Leonard V. English, Clement H. English, Leo Gooley, James Joseph Scully, Harold Heffernan, Joseph L. Lonergan and Martin Vincent Notts.

Mr. Dubin said he was willing to waive argument and leave the matter in the hands of the Board without additional comment. But Mr. Jolliffe who had done very little questioning of witnesses indicated he would have plenty to say about the evidence on Wednesday.

"I wouldn't think of depriving Mr. Dubin of the opportunity of hearing me," said the IUE counsel who is also head of the CCF party in Ontario.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

'Other Woman' Suffers Most In Eternal Triangle Mix Up

DEAR MISS DIX: In the Eternal Triangle, it isn't the wife who suffers the most and who goes through the tortures of hell. It is the Other Woman. I know from experience. The man will promise no matter what happens to always love and protect you but when the time comes when he is tired of you he will betray you. He will take everything you have to give, and leave you with a broken home and a broken heart. Dorothy Dix, isn't there some word you can send out that will save some girl from the wreck I have made of my life?

Dorothy Dix

THE OTHER WOMAN

ANSWER: It seems to me that I spend half my time in broadcasting warnings through this column to girls about the danger they run in having affairs with married men. But still each girl believes her case to be different from all others, and that for once a liaison is going to last and be enduring. They still fall for the old line about the wife who does not understand, about the unhappy home, about the heart starving for affection.

What's in 't For Hc

Of course, it is easy enough for a girl to fall in love with a married man. But when she feels herself slipping and her emotions beginning to get beyond her control she does well to sit down and try to figure out what she will get out of giving her heart and her life to him. Does she believe that she can build her house of happiness out of the wreck of another woman's happiness? If not, what then?

Does she want to spend her life on the outskirts of the life of the man she loves? Does she think that she can find any happiness in knowing that another woman bears the name of the man she loves, that she occupies the place in society his position gives her, that the wife spends the money that she helps the husband earn? Can any vanity or any sophistry blind her to the fact that the man who has not been faithful to one woman is not likely to be faithful to another?

A man may not love his wife. He may not be happy with her. But that does not mean he is going to get a divorce. Often a philanderer clings to his wife because she is a protection against the Other Woman. Often a man does not want to give up his children. Often a wife has money or powerful family connections that are useful to the man. And it never does a man's business standing any good to get a divorce.

So the girl who is in love with a married man is up against all of these obstacles and she generally finds that when it comes to a showdown between her and the wife, she loses out. And these are things that every girl does well to bear in mind when she embarks on a love affair with a married Romeo.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is there any cure for boy craziness? I have three girl friends who have gone completely off their heads about boys. They can't talk about anything but boys. They can't sit still and play a game of cards without running to the window to see if some boy is passing. They will only go to the movies if there is a slight chance of some boy bringing them home. I can't seem to get any kind of boy friend and they get flocks of them. Does it do any good to cal boys on the phone? I am not boy crazy, but I would like a few dates. What should I do?

RITA

ANSWER: Well, Rita, you have been exposed and it looks to me as if you were coming down with a virulent case of boy craziness yourself. But don't despair. It is a malady that belongs to your time of life. Nearly al girls have an attack of it and generally they get over it.

When girls are boy crazy they are, as you say, temporarily out of their minds. Their brains, if the have any, hit on only one cylinder. They have only one idea and that is fixed. It is sad, indeed, to see a once normal and bright little creature thus afflicted, but nothing can be done about it except to wait and let Nature take its course and let the girl outgrow it.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do philandering men ever get over it, or do they keep right on until one foot is in the grave? I dearly love a man who is unusually attractive but his only bad habit is that he must date up every new woman who crosses his path. He begs me to marry him and is devotion itself, but every once in a while he has one of these affairs with other women. Do you think he will ever give up his wild parties with wild women?

UNDECIDED

ANSWER: Any woman who marries a philanderer lays up trouble for herself. For the man who is born with a wandering foot is just bound to [illegible] home.

He can't help it. Every new face enchants him. Every strange woman is a lure to adventure. It isn't in that kind of man to have any deep feeling for any woman and no woman can hold him long, no matter how beautiful or charming or attractive she is.

Salmon Dishes for Lent

By MARY MOORE

The folks who are not actively observing Lent are going to be exposed to — yes, even bombarded with—some nifty fish dishes and pictures, that I have been holding at the ready for this season.

I have come to the happy conclusion too that some of these dinners with fish and other proteins substituted for meat are going to prove economical.

To say the least they will make a wonderful change in your menus and goodness knows these monotonous months of February and March can stand a change of complexion. Even that wild storm of last week had its good features (That just may be a gripe because I cannot join the trek to Florida!)

The lovely Salmon Mousse that you find on the buffet tables of many particular hostesses I will give you today—for a Sunday night "buffet". But to get down to practical cooking I know you want hot dishes that will take the place of meat, so they come first.

Baked Salmon Supper (a one-dish meal)

Shred 1 1-lb. can salmon and reserve the juice. Put one-third of the salmon in a layer in buttered baking dish. Over this slice thin raw mild onion and over them sliced raw potatoes; immediately sprinkle over these flour and a little cooking oil or dots of butter; repeat these layers 3 times. To the salmon juice add about 1 or 1½ cups milk—enough to cover the layers. If desired sprinkle with fine buttered crumbs and bake very slowly 1 hour.

Salmon Omelette

Flake ½ lb. can salmon and strani off liquor. Put 4 tablespoons butter in frying pan and when melted add the salmon, shake of salt and pepper and sprinkle lightly with grated cheese; keep hot. Make a plain omelette by beating 4 eggs for about 10 minutes to make the most of them and add the salmon liquor; pour this into another frying pan in which you have melted butter and cook over low heat until it sets, but is still soft. Spread the salmon mixture over it, roll it up like a loose jelly roll or just fold over. Serve on very hot platter garnished with lemon wedges or lemon butter balls, and parsley.

Baked Salmon And Noodle Casserole

One one-lb. can salmon, flaked; 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt; about 2 cups cooked noodles. Melt the butter and add all but the noodles and stir until thick. Fill a buttered casserole with alternate layers of creamed salmon and cooked noodles. Sprinkle each layer sparingly with buttered crumbs—using about 1 cup in all. Bake 30 minutes at 350 deg Fahr

Salmon Loaf (my favourite)

One one-lb. can salmon (drain off juice). 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, ½ cup milk, 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne, 2 tablespoons butter. Combine flaked salmon with remaining ingredients. Turn into buttered loaf pan and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes or until firm. Serve with white sauce made with milk and some of the juice poured from salmon or Egg sauce. Flaked tuna is good in place of salmon.

Salmon Mousse

Two tablespoons granulated sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, ¼ cup vinegar or mustard, 1 egg yolk beaten, 1¼ tablespoons gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 1-lb. can salmon, 1 cup finely chopped celery, ½ cup heavy cream whipped, stuffed olives and canned pimiento for garnish.

Mix together the sugar, salt, mustard and stir well; add the vinegar or lemon juice and egg yolk, stirring. Cook over hot water, but not boiling, in top of double boiler until of custard like consistency, stirring. Remove from heat; Stir in the gelatine which has soaked for 5 minutes in the cold water. Add horseradish. Chill until slightly thickened; add 1 cup of the flaked salmon, the celery, and fold in the whipped cream. In bottom of fish-shaped or ring mould place stuffed olives slices and strips pimiento in attractive design. Pour salmon mousse into mould. Chill. When very cold and set and ready to be served unmould on cold platter. Garnish with remaining flaked salmon and little hearts of lettuce. Pass lemon-flavoured mayonnaise.

Write to me if you would like other salmon or fish recipe for Lent.

Paving Objectors 21 Days To Disapprove

City council has been publishing notices of proposed local improvements chiefly pavements and storm drains, planned for next summer.

These adverttisements are directed particularly to the property owners on the various streets for which the several works have been estimated.

The announcement explains that "application will be made by the corporation to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval of the undertaking of the said work, and any owner may within twenty-one days after the first publication of this notice file with the Board his objection to the said work being undertaken."

Paving Plans

As already reported of the council's intentions for this year the paving program applies to these streets:

Park St.—from McDonnal St. to Park Hill Road.

Rogers St.—from the end of the existing pavement south of Hunter St., southerly to James St.

Lock St.—from Lansdowne St. to King George St.; and also the building of a storm drain on that street.

Monaghan Road from Sherbrooke St. to Wolfe St.

Monaghan Road—from Frank St. to Lansdowne St.; also the laying of a drain from New Romaine to Lansdowne.

Townsend St.—from Aylmer to Park St.

Perry St.—from Aylmer St. to Park St.

Notice is also given of the intention to proceed with the Park Street drain from Brioux Avenue southerly to the river. It is proposed to be financed on the local improvement plan. Opportunity will be given opposing ratepayers to be heard at a meeting here of the Municipal Board.

In these undertakings the Council is required to inform the public of its plans, and especially to notify the people affected by frontage charge costs. This is now being done.

Cost Per Foot

The statement shows the cost per foot frontage of the proposed paving job. For instance, the Perry Street paving from Park Street to Aylmer Street has been estimated by City Engineer Chalmers to cost 61 cents a foot. Payments are for 10 years. If you live on that street, you ascertain your part of the paving cost by multiplying your frontage by the cost per foot.

The work on Lock Street is estimated at 64½ cents a foot frontage payable yearly for 10 years.

The Park Street sewer has already been frequently mentioned as being in the Council's planning. Property owners last year refused to take any interest in the proposed drain.

Cost of the work is $101,890; city's part at 75 per cent is $82,042.

Charge to property owners on the west side is $5.15 a foot payable over 10 years or 43 cents a year during that time. East side property will be charged 21 cents a foot for 10 years.

The Council's notice should be read now by the ratepayers affected by the proposed work for 1950.

Guilty Of Rowing Man Fined $15

Charged with causing a disturbance by fighting at the Brock St. Summer Gardens, late Sunday night, John Billingsley, 20, of 555 Douglas Ave., pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs in police court today.

Norman Howard, 18, of 144 London St., charged with the same offence, pleaded not guilty and the charge was adjourned until Saturday.

12 Passengers Hurt Street Cars Collide

TORONTO, Feb. 20 — (CP).— Twelve persons were injured today when a street car ran into the rear of another at the intersection of Church and Alexander Streets. The 12 passengers, all of whom were standing in the crowded cars, were hurt when they lost their balance and fell. All were taken to hospital, although none was reported seriously hurt. Little damag was done to either street car.

Second Offender Fined

Pleading guilty to a charge of consuming liquor while on the interdicted list his second offence under the Liquor Control Act within a year, Joseph Huard, 38, of 189 Lake St., was fined $50 and costs or one month in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp K. C., in police court today.

Gordon Robinson, 29, of 123 James St., pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $10 and costs.

Latest Search Lead Peters Out In Yukon

EDMONTON, Feb. 20 (CP) — The latest lead to the whereabouts of the United States C-54 transport plane, missing in the Yukon wih its 44 passengers and crew since Jan. 26, has petered out.

Two RCAF para-rescue men, flown by helicopter to a mountainside 175 miles northwest of Whitehorse, reported back by walkie-talkie radio that a small snow slide there was not large enough to cover a four-motored plane like the C-54. They were taken to the scene after an Indian of the area reported seeing the snowslide.

Experts In Hospital

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 20 — (AP)—Two Boise reporters answered an appeal Sunday from the Red Cross ski patrol to do a feature story on skiing safety and rescue work. Both reporters—Meg Geraghty of the Society staff and sports writer Brian Corcoran of the Idaho Statesman—took their skis along. They didn't get a chance to finish their story. Spills sent them to the hospital. X-rays showed both had severe ankle sprains. They are getting around on crutches.

100F Juves Victors

Oddfellows ousted Clapper's from PMHA playdowns over the weekend when they won 4-1 (after a previous 3-3 playoff tie) before 300 fans. It was a fine juvenile playoff tussle, fairly clean, with Clapper's looking best in the first period, but the IOOF squad having an edge in the second and third. Stewart got the Clapper counter in the first. Collins scored two for Oddfellows in the second, Buckton and Robinson each having an assist. Bacon settled it with two in the third, Armstrong and Robinson each earning an assist. Teams:

Clapper's: Goal, McGrath; defence, Wilson, Jones; centre, Douglas; wings, Sullivan, Stewart; alternates, Clapper, Murdock, Seabrook, Ferguson, Heffernan, Sanders, Richardson, Mongraw.

IOOF: Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre, Pammett; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alternates, Galoski, Jensen, Floyd, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Kimball, Shearer.

Referees—R. Ouimet and P. Nigh.

YMHA Volleyers Show Locals

Toronto YMHA volleyball team of only five men managed to split a double-header at the YMCA Saturday with the local net crew. This was the second club the locals have met in the first of two round-robbin series which the locals must win to enter the Ontario finals. Last week they lost two games to Toronto Central YMCA. Saturday's games may be thrown out, due to the Toronto team playing without the required number of players.

The Toronto squad jumped to an early 6-0 lead in the first game, only to see the "Y" squad fight back to win 16-14. In the second game they again took a 6-0 which the locals could not overtake. They lost 15-5.

Inaccurate setting, lack of placement and poor power on the spiking were some of the locals' faults.

Lineups:

Toronto YMHA—Raider, Arons, Wilfman, Rosen, Wasserman.

Peterborough YMCA — David, Csumrik, Gillespie, MacTavish, Payne, Stanger, Hanbidge.

Referee—Donald Crawford. Umpire—Albert Dryland.

Australia Changes Title Of Passport

CANBERRA Feb. 20 — (Reuters)— Effective July 1 next, passports issued to Australians will bear the title "British passport" instead of "Australian passport," Iimmigration Minister Harold Holt announced Sunday.

The word Australian was substituted for British by the Labor Government defeated in last December's general election.

This represents a reversal of Australia's post-war move to set up an Australian citizenship, a move similar to that taken by Canada in 1946.

In Canada today, Canadians are designated as Canadian citizens, though British subjects, and carry Canadian, rather than British passports.

Believes Churchill Can End Atom Race

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Lord Beaverbrook asserted Sunday Winston Churchill can end the atomic armagents racebetween the east and west because he enjoys the respect and regard of Joseph Stalin.

Lord Beaverbrook wrote in his Sunday Express that if Churchill were restored to power as Britain's prime minister a face-to-face meeting between the two would offer high hope of "peace and tranquility" for the world.

The Canadian-born press magnate urged British voters to give the Conservative party a majority in the parliamentary election Thursday so Churchill can undertake the mission.

40 Million Fish Eggs In First Class Shape

PICTON, Feb. 20.—More than 40 million fish eggs are being cared for at the Glenora fish hatchery, five miles east of Picton. "The eggs are in first-class condition, and at the present time speckled trout are hatching," A. B. Brown, manager of the hatchery, stated yesterday.

Whitefish eggs make up most of the eggs at the hatchery, totalling approximately 40,000,000. Other species are: Speckled trout, 430,000; brown trout, 225,000; lake trout, 92,000; herring, 65,000. Most species will hatch in three to five weeks' time. Whitefish and herring will be placed in the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario about the end of March. Trout will be distributed later when they reach the fingerling stage. The hatchery is operated by the province.

Kris Olsen Jumps 81 Feet Nassau Tests

Kris Olsen fluttered through the air off the lip of the big jump at Nassau Saturday for flights of 81 and 79 in two jumps to take the Peterborough Ski Club jumping championship. Both times he totalled 18 points out of a possible 20. Five points were given for the style in the in-run, the take-off, the flight in the air and the landing. In these four requirements he was nearly perfect each time. His total points for the jumps were 196.

Dave Johnson, a newcomer to the jumping thrill of skiing, took the second place spot in the championship event. He shot through the air for 80 feet on his first try and 70 for the second. His style was not as smooth as Olsen's as he received 11 and 12 points for style on two successive jumps. Johnson's total was 173. He did not take the long standing jump because Olsen had the championship drapped up in his two jumps.

The longest flight recorded in the contests was the second taken by veteran Otto Laderack who sailed for 92 feet. He held his balance on touching the ground but after 10 feet hit the snow. In his first leap Laderack outdistanced the other jumpers with an 85-foot leap which was good for 17 points in style. In his long distance standing he again met the 85-foot mark only to fall.

Ab Vass and Jim Sharp, two other newcomers to the game, did fairly well for their attempts Vass' jumps were 55 and 63 feet with style 12 and 15 on the jumps while Sharp flipped for 56 feet and 66 feet. His style was rough on the landing as he tended to fall backward on the landing.

All the jumpers on the big jump found the landing hard, only several inches of crusty snow. The jump had to be well-padded with snow before the events could take place. On the landing the skiers worked Saturday morning filling it with snow and tramping it. Dave Johnson came the closest to taking a swim in the Otonabee as his speed carried him within inches of the river.

In the Class "C" jumping competition on the small jump Jim Sharp totalled 107 points to capture the honors. His jumps were good for 46 feet and 41 feet, both 10 points for style. His competitor Ab Vass caught 47 feet and a fall on the first leap and 45 feet and 18 points on the second. His long standing jump was 45 feet. This class was for jumpers 18 years and over who had not competed before.

Peter Bowen easily walked away with the junior championship as he had jumps of 48 feet, 47 feet and 49 feet on three jumps without a fall. His two jumps for style, the first two, were nearly perfect as he took 17 points and 18 points. He did not have to take the long standing jump but went for his best with 49 feet.

Dave Ward was Bowen's nearest competitor for the crown as he went 44 feet and 37 feet on jumps for style, 14 points and 12 points. On his long standing he clipped 45 feet but lost his balance on the hard landing.

Ian Blaiklock and Gerald McMurray made their first efforts at jumping in the junior events. Both boys had falls on the crusty snow in the [illegible] Blaiklock went 36 feet in the long standing.

African Trip No Picnic For Movie Stars

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 20 (AP)—Actor Richard Carlson, back from what he calls "the toughest location in film history," does not say he would do it again. But he claims it was worth the trip.

Carlson was the first of the "King Solomon's Mines" cast to return from Africa. Judging from his reports of the film location, it could make an exciting movie in itself.

The company trooped all through Equatorial Africa. Starting at Kenya, they journeyed to Uganda, and the headwaters of the Nile, through the Belgian Congo and back to Kenya. They travelled 14,000 miles by safari wagons, trucks, river steamer, airplanes and on foot.

Reports of dissension in the troupe preceded its return to the United States; there were even rumors of outright mutiny. I asked Carlson about this.

"There are discomforts on any film location," he said. "Multiply this by 100 and you get a picture of what we went through. Naturally there was a lot of grumbling. But also I think we realized we were getting something really great on film. That helped compensate for the discomfort."

Jungle Rations

The worst conditions were in the Congo, he said. "We had no fresh water for a period of 10 days," he related. "We ate canned goods and drank warm beer, wine and Vichy water (which is not too bad combined with Scotch). That does not sound too bad, but it is not much fun to brush your teeth with wine."

Through part of the trek, the company transported cattle which were slaughtered for fresh meat. The only trouble with that was that it attracted lions. "And I defy anyone to sleep soundly when their camp is surrounded with growling lions," Carlson added.

The journey was begun last October 3 and was scheduled to finish December 12. That date was pushed forward again and again and it was February 2 before the troupe got out of Africa.

Y., Waterloo, Ont., College and McMaster University.

Rescue 5 Fishermen

SEBEWAING, Mich., Feb. 20—(AP)—Five ice fishermen, marooned on a large floe in Saginaw Bay, were rescued by airplane Sunday. Franklin Hoffmeister, 27, a wartime pilot, made five trips in a ski-equipped plane to pick up the men from the mile-long and about 200 yard wide ice cake.

No Soldier Members Allowed In British House Of Commons

By WILLIAM BOSS.

LONDON, Feb. 20 — (CP). — The fighting forces will have no serving representatives among members of Britain's next House of Commons.

To ensure adequate representation during the war when men and women in their prime were drained away into service life, regulations preventing Army, Navy and Air Force personnel from offering themselves as candidates for Parliament were suspended. If elected they were given leave without pay.

Under normal conditions no person holding "an ofifce of profit" under the Crown may sit in the Commons, and Britain is working back to that regulation.

The recently-dissolved House had only two members, both Conservative, who were servicemen. They were Maj. Tufton Beamish, member for Lewes, and Maj. Henry Legge-Bourke, member for the Isle of Ely.

Cracking Down

The government announced last December that after this election no candidate might present himself from the services. Any sailor, soldier or airman wanting to enter politics would have to resign or obtain his discharge or retirement before nomination.

Modification of the regulations was permitted for this election, enabling serving personnel to obtain leave of absence from nomination day until the election.

If elected they wolud have to complete their withdrawal from the services, whether or not they desired to take their seats in the Commons

If not elected they would be eligible for re-employment in the services.

So, if Maj. Legge-Bourke and Maj. Beamish are re-elected they will have to resign their commissions. If not, they may return to the Army.

Including them, the Conservatives have seven candidates who have indicated willingness to abandon service careers in favor of politics. Four of the others are sailors, one a soldier. They are:

Capt. Sir Dudley Ryder, VC, in Merton and Morden; Cmdr. C. E. McA. Donaldson, in Edinburgh; Lt.-Cmdr. Sir Robert Hobart, in Southampton; Lt.-Cmdr. S. L. C. Maydon in Bristol, and Maj. P. W. Hodgens, in Stoke-on-Trent.

The Labor Party has no candidates from the services, while the Liberals have one, Lft: Lt. F. J. Halpin, running in Spelthorne, Middlesex.

Can't Compare Work

WATERLOO, Feb. 20 (CP) — Police and firemen's work cannot be put on a comparative basis, Judge E. W. Clement said Saturday at a meeting of Waterloo Police Commission. Waterloo police are seeking a $200 increase a year across the board. Judge Clement said police have something to do during the entire period they are on duty, but firemen are not in the same position.

Five Fatalities Lowest Toll Since December

By The Canadian Press

Five fatalities were recorded in Ontario during the week-end, a Canadian Press summary showed today. No fatal accidents were reported in Quebec or the Maritimes. The total was the lowest this year.

It included the death from exposure of a Detroit woman at Windsor, one drowning, one death by asphyxiation and two traffic fatalities.

The body of Mrs. Marie Janisse, about 75, of Detroit, was found on the Windsor bank of the Detroit River Sunday. Death was attributed to exposure but police said indications were that the woman was contemplating suicide.

Thomas Telford Maw, 59, of Guelph, was drowned in the Grand River when he and a companion fell over the side of a swing bridge at Fergus, 15 miles northwest of Guelph. The old bridge has been condemned and warning signs have long been posted at both eds.

Fall Off Bridge

Maw and Sidney Aitken, 62 tried to walk across the bridge Saturday night when Maw lost his balance and grabbed Aitken, both tumbling 35 feet into about 10 feet of water. Aitken's cries were heard by his wife in their home on the riverbank and she called her two sons, who pulled their father from the shallow water near the river's edge.

It was not until Sunday morning, when Aitken revived, that the disappearance of Maw was discovered. The volunteer fire department of Fergus recovered Maw's body 35 feet from the bridge, after dragging for two hours.

Robert Hutchinson, 32, Toronto, was asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes while warming up his car in a closed garage.

Mrs. Mary Belyko, 40, died in hospital at Toronto from injuries received when struck by a streetcar Feb. 16, and Edward Lacombe, 16, of Lasalle, was killed near Windsor while walking along the highway with a companion. Police said the driver of the car did not stop after the accident.

Physician Murdered

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20—(AP)—The possibility of sex crime was investigated by police today in their search for the motive in the savage killing of Dr. Edward Meuntzer. The 35-year-old physician's body, clad only in undershirt, shorts and socks, was found Saturday night.

Blame Devaluation For Textile Slowdown

PERTH, Feb. 20 (CP)—Devaluation of the British pound and a resulting influx of textile products from the United Kingdom has engendered a production slowdown in Canadian textile mills, it was learned Sunday.

Mills in the Ottawa valley, about a score, for instance, have reduced production to three or four days a week. It is estimated that more than 00 workers have been laid off during the last few months.

At Cornwall, textile company officials said their plants were at normal production for this time of the year and that devaluation had not affected their operations.

Overcome By Fumes

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (CP) — The fire department's inhalator squad was called out Sunday night to revive three elderly people overcome by coal gas fumes in their home. The trio, Roy Mitchell, 58, his brother Val, 53, and a sister Agnes, 54, were found lying unconscious on the kitchen floor of their Wellington street home by another brother, C. H. Mitchell.

Severe Punishment For Vogeler

BUDAPEST, Feb. 20—(CP)—Hungarian prosecutor Gyula Alapi today asked the "most severe punishment" for American business man Robert A. Vogeler and his six co-defendants on trial for spying and sabotage. But he did not ask the severest penalty—death.

Alapi told the Peoples Court that Vogeler, 38-year-old assistant vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company "is a spy who lost and was unmasked."

Alapi made the charge after nine witnesses had paraded to the stand to testify that Vogeler and his co-defendants were guilty of sabotage and spying for the United States intelligence service.

Vogeler, who has pleaded guilty, was described as "a great spy."

"The sentence should bring him the fate of such persons," said Alapi, who also prosecuted Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and Laszlo Rajk, former Hungarian interior minister, last year. Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment and Rajk was executed.

"Labour is more plentiful," said Mr. Hayman, "and the construction companies have a choice of workmen who are better qualified in their various trades. As a result, Canadians would get better workmanship for their dollars."

He couldn't forsee a reduction in the cost of construction for at least the next year. "In fact," he said, "some of the Unions are now asking for higher wages.

Claims Yuzwa Battled With Loucks

Lindsay Laborer Key Witness In Murder Hearing

By DAVE WHITE

LINDSAY, Feb. 21—Wesley Aldred, local laborer, today pointed out William Yuzwa, 32, of Hamilton, as the man engaged in a fatal scuffle with Jack Loucks, 36, of Lindsay in the early hours of Nov. 18 last on Kent St.

The prisoner was identified by the green plaid shirt he was wearing.

Aldred said he saw Yuzwa strike Loucks, end then swing him around by the shoulder.

This was the key testimony by three Crown witnesses this morning in the murder trial of Yuzwa for the stabbing of Loucks.

The grand jury in Victoria county sittings of the Supreme Court reported to Mr. Justice Urquhart a true bill against Yuzwa Monday afternoon.

The evidence for the prosecution is being presented by Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan. B. Spencer Pitt, Toronto, is defending the accused. Most of this morning's hearing was taken up by the selecting of the trial jury and preview of the case by Mr. Jordan.

Three Brothers Freed

Three Zahodnik brothers were originally charged with Yuzwa on the murder count. At the preliminary hearing Dec. 16 the three brothers were freed.

James Zahodnik still faces a charge at Peterborough of having assaulted Mrs. Hazel Hogan, 21, and her husband James, 27, at their refreshment stand near Lakefield.

John is also charged with assaulting and occasioning actual bodily harm to Mr. Hogan. The charge against the brother Paul was withdrawn.

The four men were trapped at a roadblock by Provincial Police early Nov. 18 in their flight from Lindsay. They left behind them in Lindsay one man dead and three suffering knife wounds. They are Sidney Risley and Thornton Olver of Lindsay and Floyd Smith of Hagersville.

Yuzwa and two of the Zahodnik are from Toronto. Paul Zahodnik lives in Hamilton. They started east from Toronto in the evening of Nov. 17 on a hunting [illegible] the way, and started their trail of

Seaway Plan Can Be Forced

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP)—Ontario and New York State are strong enough to force development of the St. Lawrence River as a source of hydro power despite objections stemming from "sectional jealousies," Hugh Reynolds, a newly-elected Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature, said today. Mr. Reynolds, who represents the Eastern Ontario constituency of Leeds, made his maiden speech in the Legislature, moving adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. The motion was seconded by Marcel Leger (PC—Cochrane North), also elected since the last session.

Mr. Leger urged the government to consider incorporating in the Trans-Canada Highway the No. 11 Highway which runs north from North Bay to Cochrane and west from there to Nipigon Bay, where it joins Highway 17.

Mr. Reynolds said "more than 1,000,000 horsepower" of electrical energy is going to waste in Eastern Canada because of failure to develop the St. Lawrence.

Not Free Agents

"Unfortunately we are not free agents as to this project. It is necessary to get the co-operation of Washington and unhappily we are humstrung by the local and sectional jealousies of individual states and scores of local and sectional interests in the United States.

"We need the seaway. Even more, we need the power development."

The St. Lawrence problem had been "kicked around too long."

"I believe, failing other solution, Ontario and New York are big enough and strong enough and sensible enough to force a solution . . ."

The St. Lawrence project was essential to complete development of Eastern Ontario. There was no reason why Eastern Ontario could not accomplish industrial development similar to that of the Niagara and Windsor areas. Transfer of a considerable share of industrial activity to Eastern Ontario would help relieve the Toronto area of congestion problems.

Seven Children and Father Perish In Farmhouse Fire

ADISON, Mich., Feb. 21—(AP)—Seven children and their father lost their lives in a farmhouse fire early today near their southeastern Michigan town. Police said the blaze broke out about 1.30 a.m. and that the home was destroyed by the time firemen from the town, 2½ miles away, had arrived. The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Beagle, 44, was apparently the only survivor. Police listed the dead as: Gerald Beagle, 44, the father, and the following children—Geraldine, 14; Barbara Jean, 12; Eloise, 10; Norma Mae, 9; Paul, 6; William, 5, and Linda, 23 months.

First reports indicated that all were trapped upstairs in their bedrooms.

Barefooted and clad only in a nightgown, Mrs. Beagle ran screaming through the snow to a neighbor's home.

Face, Hands Burned

The mother's hands and face were burned and there were cuts on her hands.

Police said preliminary investigation indicated the fire was caused by a defective basement furnace.

Mrs. Beagle told of breaking a window to get out of the house and shouting vainly to the upstairs windows for her children.

Holdup Suspect Nabbed At Show

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—Arnold Byers, 29, of Toronto, was arrested in a west-end theatre Monday night and held as a suspect in the $2,000 robbery of a Vancouver bank last week.

He was booked on a charge of carrying an offensive weapon. Police said he will be held pending arrival of Vancouver police.

Toronto detectives said they spotted Byers because of a leopard-skin coat an informant said was being worn by his woman companion. They said he tried to pull a gun as they took him from the theatre.

Byers, screaming and kicking, was knocked to the floor and disarmed.

Police said he was carrying $604 in small bills, plus a wooden box containing 30 cartridges. Two more guns and $1,359 in cash were found in his room, detectives said.

Vancouver police said the believe the man who staged the robbery there was shot in the leg. Byers had a flesh wound in his right leg when arrested.

Union Official Jailed 6 Months

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 21 (CP)—Rene Rocque, union organizer convicted last Thursday of conspiracy to incite violence during last year's eastern townships Asbestos strike, today was sentenced to six months in jail.

The charge arose from the May 5 riots in neighboring Asbestos when striking Asbestos workers barricaded roads and fought with police.

Rocque, organizer for the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor with which the strikers were affiliated, was the first to be tried on more serious charges arising from the riots.

Stringer Investigates Strangulation Death

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 21 (CP)—Inspector William Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police is expected to return tonight from Oba, 250 miles north of here, to prepare a report on his investigation into the strangulation death of Peter Mozy, 47, formerly of Toronto.

Mozy was found dead in his hotel room at Oba Feb. 14. Police said a thick leather belt was drawn tightly around his neck. One end of the belt was fastened to a towel rack torn from a wall near the bed.

Investigation started when it was reported that $1,000 Mozy was said to have carried when he arrived in Oba about 10 days ago was missing from the room.

Spy Ring In State Dept. Directed By 2 Men, Woman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A Republican senator's charges that two men and a woman make up a "big three" directing a "spy ring" in the United States State Department headed today for an investigation by the Senate Foreign Relaions Committee.

Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he will propose that the committee look into accusations made by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) that 81 Communists either have or now work for the department.

McCarthy, who described these individuals from supposedly secret files in a five-hour Senate speech Monday night, said he would give their names to such a committee. He didn't give any in his speech.

In a running word battle with Lucas, the Wisconsin senator refused in his Senate speech to tell who he suspects of being members of what he described as "an espionage ring in the state department."

McCarthy told the Senate that the ouster of the "big three" would break the back of the alleged spy ring.

The most important member of this trio was described by McCarthy as "one of our foreign ministers" who is holding "one of the most important listening posts in Europe."

He said this man had been shadowed and was found to have been in contact with a Soviet agent who in turn was followed to a Soviet embassy in an unnamed country there, and that material was turned over to the embassy.

McCarthy also listed an individual he said now is working in the office of an assistant secretary of state.

Tighten Purse Strings On Laggard Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States Government moved today to tighten the Marshall Plan puhse strings against European countries found laggard in breaking down old-world trade barriers.

Paul G. Hoffman, director of the Economic Co-operation Administration, carried the proposal to Congress along with a shaved-down request for funds to see the European Recovery Plan through its third year.

The ECA announced Monday night that it wanted $2,950,000,000 to keep the wheels turning during the 12 months beginning next July 1. This is $150,000,000 less than the amount proposed in President Truman's budget and $828,000,000 less than the amount voted for the present year.

Hoffman also will ask Congress to approve machinery to pressure Marshall Plan countries into speeding up currency exchange to promote economic advancement.

Fire Razes Terrace, $30,000 Loss

Many At Factories Lose Belongings As Fire Mushrooms

By Staff Reporter

LINDSAY, Feb. 21 — Fire gutted a three-storey rooming house on Cambridge St. leaving 33 people homeless and resulting in an undetermined loss likely to be at least $30,000. Sheets of flame 10 feet high, were leaping through the shingle roof at noon, three hours after the fire broke out, and hoses, played hour after hour, had little effect. Firemen have been fighting the flames in a temperature of 10 degrees below zero.

Those who were fortunate enough to get their furniture out of the building in time, shivered as they watched it stacked on the street in front of their homes. Hoses were directed on the flames and thick billowing smoke while scores of people were working hurriedly in a race to save what they could. Fire Chief George Webster supervised the firefighting operations.

Most of the tenants were at work when the fire started and many lost all their personal belongings. Those in the building escaped without injury.

Office Building Threatened

The building, consisting of three attached houses, is next to the National Groceries wholesale and office building which was threatened throughout the morning. But the wind blew the flames in the opposite direction through the entire rooming house. The Fire Hall is almost opposite the utterly-destroyed building.

Two of the houses are owned by R. I. Moore, a former mayor of Lindsay, and the third by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen, who were living in the first house to catch fire. Furniture and other belongings valued at $10,00 in the Allen's house were lost.

Seemingly most authentic rumor of how the blaze started is that someone tried to thaw a frozen pipe by using a blow torch.

The houses are numbered 10, 12 and 14 Cambridge St. When the flames swept through No. 10 the occupants rushed out but were able to save furniture from the ground floor. The blaze swept through to No. 12 so quickly that only ground floor furniture could be saved.

[illegible] from No. 14 before it caught fire, volunteers carrying furniture and clothing out through both front and back doors.

Most of the roomers in Nos. 10 and 12 are employees at the Visking plant and among the homeless are people from Montreal, Oshawa, Toronto and Hamilton.

Occupants of No. 10 are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen and six roomers. Everett Coukell, employed by Baldwin's Coal Company, is tenant of No. 12 and lives there with his wife and two children, Edgar, 18, and Betty, 11. He has 15 roomers.

Will Consider Civil Marriages

TORONTO, Feb. 21 — (CP) — An amendment to the Marriage Act requiring persons having banns called to make out an affidavit that they are unmarried, will be introduced at the current session of the Ontario Legislature, it was reported Monday night.

A similar affidavit is required of couples taking out licences under the present Act.

The amendment will also authorize judges and magistrates to perform marriages. This change, previously reported, provides for a form of civil marriage in Ontario where at present all marriages must be performed by a minister, either inside or outside a church. Various church authorities welcomed this move when it was first suggested a few weeks ago.

The amendment will also reduce the period for presumption of death, at present standing at seven years absence, in such cases as aircraft, train or ship disasters in which no proof of death can be obtained.

A Slight Shock

READING, England, Feb. 21—(AP)—Television viewers tuned in London last night and reported they got pictures from Leningrad plus sound from Stockholm instead. Authorities blamed the northern lights which were playing around the British Isles. Leningrad and London are on the same channel.

Ottawa Cuts Big Chunk In Payment Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP) — A big chunk of federal property was eliminated from the government's plan to pay municipalities grants in lieu of taxation.

Finance Minister Abbott announcing regulations under which the plan will function, declared that "certain special classes of properties are excluded from all calculations."

These include all property forming part of any project relating to land conservation; irrigation, rehabilitation or reforestation; parks, historical sites, and monuments; canals and waterways; and all engineering works which are "related" to these projects.

Properties wholly independent of the services which a municipality customarily supplies to other properties within its boundaries also will be excluded.

However, Mr. Abbott said, properties consisting of buildings, such as houses, store rooms, and workshops adjacent to canals and waterways, may be included in the basis of claims.

The plan, first announced last November, is based on a complicated formula. Under it, the assessment of federal property in a municipality must reach more than four per cent of the total assessment in the area before the grant will be paid.

The grant will be equal to 75 per cent of what the municipal tax would have been on the federal property if it was subject to taxation.

The government said it would take into consideration the general tax levy for municipal and school purposes, but not including business taxes.

Mr. Abbott reiterated in today's statement that all crown companies, boards or commissions that carry on industrial or commercial activities in a municipality are being instructed to negotiate payment arrangements independently.

These negotiations will be based on payments "that are fair and relevant circumstances."

U.S. Breaks Relations With Red Bulgaria

WASHINGTON. Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States today broke diplomatic relations with Communist Bulgaria.

American Minister Donald R. Heath and other U.S. representatives in Sofia were ordered home.

The break climaxes a dispute with Bulgaria over Communist attacks on Heath and a demand from the Bulgarian Government for his recall.

Bulgaria was directed to withdraw its small diplomatic mission in Washington. Its legation is headed now by Dr. Peter Voutov, charge d'affaires.

Planes Dive, Armies Fight Alaska Pair Love War

YUKON, Alaska Border, Feb. 21 (CP)—War came to Border City, Alaska Monday.

Mrs. Grace Grahek, who shares with her husband the city's lone dwelling—a trading post—told reporters she "hopes Alaska wins," but she was getting a big kick out of exercise Sweetbriar's mock hostilities anyway—"specially those airplanes."

The planes dodged overhead most of the day as the retreating aggressor forces obliged Mrs. Grahek. They set up such a good defensive position smack on the Yukon-Alaska border that the umpires had to call a halt in the joint Canadian-American advance. American troops, which bumped the position early in the morning, were riddled and forced to withdraw.

So the war stood still for hours between the little trading post and the log cabin, which holds the Canadian customs office, a few miles away, and on down the Alaska Highway.

Then, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry attacked in the early evening darkness, one company down the highway into the wooded, snow-covered terrain, another taking a wide sweep in snowmobiles in a flanking attack. They became the first Canadian unit to invade Alaska in peacetime.

They pointed straight for Northway, 52 miles away, where the 11-day manoeuvre will conclude Thursday with a parachute drop by a Pats' company that has been waiting many miles away in Whitehorse, Y. T., while their colleagues went through what was for many the toughest eight days in their lives.

Woman Fights Off Wolves Saves Her 2 Girls On Northern Bush Road

Thinks Animals Stray Dogs At First Till One Springs At Throat, Beats Them Off With Handsleigh Till Home

ESPANOLA, Feb. 21—(CP)—Mrs. Alfred Stewart says she used a small handsleigh to fend off a brush wolf which sprang at her on a bush road. She said today the two wolves rushed at her and her two daughters, Anna, 11, and Gladys, 9, as the trio walked home recently in gathering darkness after visiting Mrs. Stewart's sister a few miles north of here. "I thought they were stray dogs," said Mrs. Stewart. "The smaller of the two sprang at my throat three or four times. The other wolf jumped up once and immediately ran back to cover."

The smaller wolf kept springing, Mrs. Stewart said. She picked up the sled and warded off the animal. Then she used the sleigh to drive the wolf back to its companion, which was howling on a pile of sawdust 30 feet away.

The wolves followed for three-quarters of a mile but did not approach the woman and children.

Suffering Shock

Mrs. Stewart, interviewed at her home near this Northern Ontario community 40 miles west of Sudbury, said she still is suffering slight shock over the incident.

Her husband said he doubted the story until he looked at the animals' tracks, but investigation led him to believe the animals were wolves.

"Brush wolves aren't common around here," he said. "When my wife and children came home with that yarn, I was more inclined to believe they had been attacked by a couple of vicious dogs. My experience with wolves has shown me that they are more afraid of the human being than the human is afraid of them."

Mr. Stewart said that until this week the winter has been fairly mild and the deer on which the wolves feed during winters of deep snow have been able to escape.

Wolves Starving

"The wolves must be practically starving. Some people say there are four dens of wolves in this area. So far, I haven't spotted any of the packs."

Earlier this month, a bush worker in the Timagami area claimed to have been attacked by a wolf. Theo Blake, 18, of Mattawa, said two wolves knocked him down and tore his parka.

Sportsmen at North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie staged wolf hunts last week-end, following reports of widespread slaughter of deer by hungry wolf packs. The North Bay hunters sighted a lone wolf but could not kill it, while the Sault group did not see one wolf.

Recover Dairy Loot

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 21—(CP)—One thousand dollars in cheques, part of the loot stolen from the Silverwood Dairy last week-end, were recovered today by police in a bypass of the Queen Elizabeth Way near Port Credit. The total of money taken has now been estimated at $2,700. Several thousand dollars in cheques still are missing. None of the cheques are negotiable.

Ease That Fire Cold Snap Now On Way Out

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—Relief is at hand from Southern Ontario's worst cold snap so far this winter.

Temperatures moderated today after plunging below zero at many points Monday and Monday night and snow fell in most sections.

A forecaster at nearby Malton announced:

"The winds are swinging to southerly. That normally brings warmer air. There's just a chance that a weather disturbance south of Chicago could move in here as freezing rain and perhaps change to rain if the temperature rises enough."

Things were better in Northern Ontario as well. A maximum of 10 degrees above zero was forecast following an overnight low of 29 degrees below zero.

Toronto Monday experienced its coldest February on record, with an official minimum of 11 below zero. There were numerous chimney fires from overheated furnaces, and some frostbite victims.

But the Toronto low did not begin to compare with temperatures in the north. At Hearst, 125 miles west of Timmins, school children were given a holiday when the school's heating system froze in 60-below-zero weather. Pagwa, 200 miles northeast of Fort William, reported 48 below.

Toronto Dealers Rationing Coal

TORONTO, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Most Toronto coal dealers today were limiting household deliveries to one ton as the winter's most severe cold wave gripped Ontario.

Toronto coal merchants were beseiged with orders for additional fuel as imports dwindled from the United States, where soft-coal miners disregarded a back-to-work order.

The Toronto Coal Exchange said that if the weather moderates there should be no major difficulties. Toronto industries were able to build up stockpiles during the mild weather earlier, and industrial users so far have not been faced with the shut-downs spreading in the United States.

Moderating temperatures were forecast for late Tuesday with light snow in most Ontario sections. Yesterday was the coldest Feb. 20 on record in Toronto, with an official minimum of 11 below zero, resulting in numerous chimney fires from overheated furnaces and some frostbite victims.

Aylmer Couple, Son Die In Cabin Fire

AYLMER, Que., Feb. 21 (CP)—An Aylmer couple and their young son were burned to death late Monday night in a fire termed one of the worst "fire tragedies" in the history of this Ottawa Valley town.

Trapped and killed by the fast-spreading flames in their two-storey log home were Albert Graveline, 52, his wife, 49, and their 16-year-old son Francis.

Only person to escape from the flaming building was Alice Graveline, 12, daughter of the dead couple. Clad only in night attire, she managed to leap to safety from a second floor window of the home.

Give Vogeler 15-Year Prison Term

Two Co-Defendants Get Death Sentences, Aide Jailed 13 Years

BUDAPEST, Feb. 21—(AP)—American business man Robert A. Vogeler today was sentenced to 15 years in prison on spy charges by a Hungarian people's court which sentenced two of his six co-defendants to death.

Death sentences were handed out to Imre Geiger, manager of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company's Budapest Branch, and Zoltan Rado, former Department Chief in Hungary's Ministry of Heavy Industry.

Edgar Sanders, Vogeler's British aide in the I.T. & T. branch, the Standard Electric Works, was sentenced to 13 years in prison.

Geiger, Rado and the other defendants all are Hungarian nationals.

The court sentenced the Rev. Istvan Justh, a Roman Catholic priest, and Kelemen Domokos, accountant in the Standard Company, to 10 years. Edina Doery, a barmaid, was given a five-year term.

Vogeler, 38, assistant vice-president of the IT & T and the other six defendants had confessed to charges of ferreting out Hungarian economic and industrial secrets on instructions of the American intelligence service, of sabotaging the productive capacity of the standard firm to harm Hungarian economy, and of sabotaging deliveries to the Soviet Union and east European Communist countries.

U. S. Minister Nathanial Davis had been barred from visiting Vogeler and Sanders during their three months in custody.

(In New York, Paul Ruedemann, a Standard Oil Company of New Jersey executive who was expelled by Hungary in September, 1948, after signing a sabotage confession, commented:

Forced To Confess

(". . . In Hungary today a man can be forced to 'confess' because he sees nothing else to do. He is confined in a dungeon with no hope of getting out unless he does confess. He is deprived of food and water, questioned constantly, brought to such mental and physical exhaustion that anything—even prison—seems better than what he is going through.")

The prosecution had demanded the severest penalty—presumably death—but the court said it had taken his plea for leniency under consideration.

Election Candidates Spent $2,213,006 In June 1949

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP)—Candidates in the federal election campaign last June spent at least $2,213,006 in campaign expenses, a Commons return showed Monday. The return was tabled by State Secretary Bradley for Stanley Knowles (CCF Winnipeg North Centre).

Under the Election Act, all candidates are required to file declarations showing amounts spent by, or for, them during an election. The return covered the expenses of 705 of the 852 candidates. No information was available for the other 147.

It was the first time since confederation that the information from all constituencies was tabled in the House. The Election Act specifies that each returning officer must publish in a local newspaper how much each candidate spent in his constituency, but this was the first time the over-all compilation was made.

The largest amount was spent by C. T. Ballantyne, defeated Progressive Conservative candidate in Montreal St. Lawrence - St. George. He spent $33,149.01. The successful candidate in that riding, Defense Minister Claxton, spent $13,646.71, while the defeated CCF candidate, Jennie Theoret, who lost her deposit, spent $200.26.

Smallest Amount

The smallest amount was expended by G. W. Claude Vanbuskirk, CCF candidate, who lost his deposit in Queens-Shelburne. He claimed an expenditure of $16.42.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said it cost him $2,869.96 to get elected in Quebec East. His defeated Progressive Conservative opponent, Marc Drouin, spent $1,450.

Finance Minister Abbott's campaign in Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount cost $27,000, the largest of any cabinet minister. His opponent, J. A. DeLalane, a Progressive Conservative, spent $19,616.87.

In the populous riding of Welland, Labor Minister Mitchell spent $12,010.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, spent $4,843.55 in Carleton. His Liberal opponent John H. McDonald, spent $4,002.16, and Eugene Forsey, CCF, $625.02.

Kirsten Sings Free If Stout Provided

LONDON, — (CP) — Kirsten Flagstad, famous Wagnerian soprano, is to sing in London during the 1951 Festival of Britain—without pay.

But her contract stipulates: "Board and lodging, including two pints of oatmeal stout daily."

For this she will sing 20 performances of Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas' 'in a drab-looking school hall in northwest London.

Flagstad, who has been known to earn £1,000 ($3,100) in one evening, said she agreed to do this "in return for all the warmth and generosity I have received in England.

It all began when she met actor Bernard Miles and his actress wife, Josephone Wilson, at a party.

"We both think Wagner is trash," Miles said. "I gave my skit on 'Tristan and Isolde,' making fun of Wagner, as I have been doing for years.

"Flagstad laughed till the tears ran down her cheeks. After that we more or less adopted her."

"Flagstad said she stipulated two pints of oatmeal stout a day because "it strengthens me after I have been singing."

"In any case," she added, "I always drink stout when I am in London."

Prices Barely Stir On Stock Exchange

St. Laurent Says Public Works Plan Not Needed

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 — (CP).—Parliament's heavy debating artillery—the four Party Leaders—opened verbal fire in the Throne-Speech debate Monday.

After the smoke had cleared, the government was faced with two sharply-worded want-of-confidence motions.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, attacked the government for 80 minutes. He moved an amendment to the motion calling for adoption of the address in reply to the throne speech, formal voice of government policy.

The amendment offered four reasons why, it said, the government should be denied the confidence of the House. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, accepted the Progressive Conservative amendments, after suggesting several changes in a sub-amendment.

Suppressing Law

Specifically, Mr. Drew's amendment charged the government with deliberately breaking the law by suppressing the report of alleged price-fixing in the flour-milling industry.

It also accused the government of failure to preserve foreign trade; inaugurate a national contributory system of old-age pensions without means test, and take adequate measures to safeguard against espionage and the trouble on the outskirts of Peterborough.

Had Argument

Aldred testified that Yuzwa and Loucks had had an argument and he heard Yuzwa murmur to himself, "Wait till my pals come!"

When the three Zahodnik brothers stepped out of the Big 20 restaurant, Yuzwa leaped out of the truck and spoke excitedly to the brothers.

One of the Zahodniks, wearing a fawn coat, turned west with Yuzwa and walked at a brisk pace toward Loucks standing down the street a short distance.

Floyd Smith, standing on the street between the advancing pair and Loucks was nearest to Yuzwa. Aldred said he saw Smith duck back from a blow from Yuzwa and he next noticed blood streaming down the Hagersville truck driver's face.

The same two men then went on to Loucks standing about six feet away. Aldred then told the jury, "I saw the back of Yuzwa's elbows go forward as he stood directly in front of Loucks."

The fatally injured man "was not doing anything and his hands were by his sides," Aldred added

He continued, "As soon as Yuzwa's hands went out, Loucks grabbed his mouth with his left hand and swung away to the north."

"Yuzwa seized Loucks by the left shoulder and swung him to the right," Aldred said.

Loucks Staggered

Loucks then staggered back toward the curb spewing blood.

The man in the fawn coat and Yuzwa then turned and went back to Smith and the accused made a swipe at Smith with his left hand

The witness said he saw Smith's head drop down on his chest. "The man in the fawn coat then grasped Yuzwa's wrist and elbow, so he couldn't go any further," Aldred testified.

Attack On Oliver

The next attack was made on Oliver who was standing three feet away from Smith.

The man in the fawn coat then spoke to Risedale, another bystander, saying, "What the hell are you doing here?"

The answer came, "I'm minding my own business."

Then the man in the fawn coat said "If so you'd better get the —— out of here."

Aldred testified he started to leave, but heard Loucks coughing and he saw the fatally injured man stagger out onto the road in front of Fulton Stewart's shop spitting up blood.

Aldred had been standing during all this on the sidewalk beside the panel truck driven by the brothers and Yuzwa. He said "I heard him holler for help twice." Loucks then staggered back onto the sidewalk. He stood for a short time in front of Hick's restaurant and then fell on the sidewalk.

Afterward, he said, he walked up to the prostrate form of Loucks lying with "his left hand still clasped over his mouth."

Aldred said he didn't know whether Loucks was alive or dead at that moment.

Only other crown witnesses were police photographer S. B. Bright and Robert Mitchell, town engineer, who produced a sketch of the scene of the stabbing.

Acute Shortages Over

Reviewing the government's record in hydro development, Mr. Reynolds said "For most of Ontario, acute hydro shortages are a thing of the past."

He quoted from a letter written Aug. 19, 1938 by former Liberal Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to Mackenzie King, then Prime Minister, in which Mr. Hepburn said "this government will resist any effort to force us to expend public funds in such an unwarranted manner" for further development of sources of hydro power.

"How can my friends of the Liberal opposition escape blame for such shortsightedness just 11 years ago" Mr. Reynolds asked.

Reports Progress

The present government, since August, 1943, was bringing or had brought into production "more than 1,500,000 new horsepower." Some 12,500 miles of rural lines were built, serving approximately 600,000 new hydro-users.

Ontario's outlay for education had increased from $12,000,000 annually to $50,000,000. Aid to municipalities for road building had increased from about $3,500,000 annually to $20,000,000.

The former Conservative administration in 1933 had started construction of a mental hospital at Smiths Falls. The Liberal administration of 1934 stopped construction, "carted away or sold the material on the job and finally sold the site."

Surrenders Voluntarily On 2 Liquor Charges

WINDSOR, Feb. 21—(CP)—Joseph Assef, about 45, walked voluntarily into two courts Monday and pleaded guilty to two charges of keeping liquor for sale. He was sought since liquor raids Jan. 1.

The cases, to be heard in both city and county courts, were remanded to Feb. 28 and Assef was released on $2,000 concurrent bail on each charge.

Assef was first sought after a New Year's Day raid on his Windsor residence and another building in suburban Sandwich West allegedly used by him, revealed large stocks of liquor and beer.

A salesman-runner, 20-year-old Charles Peer was arrested with an automobile filled with beer, prior to the raids. Peer appeared later in court to face charges of being in illegal possession of liquor and last week was convicted and sentenced to three months in county jail.

Has Illegal Passport

TORONTO, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Max Chikofsky, 31, was arrested by RCMP officers early today and charged with obtaining an illegal passport. Police said they seized two passports both containing Chikofsky's picture. One was made out in Chikofsky's name the other in the name of Mac Chick.

Russian Parley Big Issue Churchill Says

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Conservative leader Winston Churchill claims his call for high-level talks with Russia on atomic control has blossomed into the outstanding campaign issue in the British general election Thursday.

But Prime Minister Clement Attlee continues to base his Labor party's appeal for re-election on domestic policy. He is standing on his record and asking the people for a new term to "get you along the rest of the road" to recovery.

Attlee mentioned briefly, however, his own party's international policy as "trying to build up not only in this country but in the world the kind of conditions that make for peace."

Scoring the views of his Labor party opponents that the subject of big power talks to end the cold war should not be raised at election time, the 75-year-old Churchill said Monday in Manchester that the working classes should be called upon to vote on this as well as domestic issues.

Can't Be Worse

He said his original appeal last week at Edinburgh for an attempt to reaching lasting east-west settlement had "not only dominated the election in Great Britain" but also had "rolled around the world and may have created a new situation which, whatever happens, cannot make things worse and may possibly bring us nearer to our heart's desire."

Attlee and his leading associates have not rejected outright the idea of such talks but have contended generally that the attempts to deal with Russia should continue through the United Nations.

Twice since the Edinburgh campaign speech Churchill has repeated his plea and roared back at Labor charges that it is just a political stunt and "soap box diplomacy."

Attlee, in bringing his campaign to its climax, has since sidestepped the issue to concentrate almost exclusively on domestic matters.

It is obvious that the Tories have found that the big international issue with its atomic threat to world peace has struck home in the hearts of many Britons.

Strike Threatens Union Treasury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—The entire union treasury of 372,000 striking United States coal miners, variously figured at $13,000,000 to $20,000,000, was endangered today by their defiance of a court order to again end the coal strike.

Reports from the coal fields showed a spirit of rebellious indifference to the situation.

The United Mine Workers Union—but not its president, John L. Lewis—was cited for contempt of court here Monday by Judge Richmond B. Keech, who had issued the back-to-work order.

The union was given until Friday to clear itself of contempt by getting the idle miners back to work.

Private Bill Asks Death Penalty Dropped

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 — (CP) — Three private members' bills Monday started through parliament's legislative mill. They have a long road to travel.

The Commons gave first reading to bills to amend the criminal code to eliminate the death penalty, change Dominion Day to Canada day and amend the Wheat Board Act.

The measure to eliminate the death penalty, except in cases of treason, is sponsored by Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw). It results from a resolution condemning capital punishment adopted by the Saskatchewan CCF council a year ago.

The bill to change Dominion Day to Canada Day is the pet ambition of Phileas Cote (L-Matapedia-Matane). He first introduced it in the House four years ago. It engendered lively debate and passed after five votes and three readings, all in one day.

Hot Debate.

In the Senate, another hot debate ensued on the question of whether July 1 should be called Canada's national holiday or constitution day or one of several other names proposed. The bill was finally sent back to the Commons after Senate agreement on Canada's National Day, and there it finally died.

A bill sponsored by P. E. Wright (CCF-Moose Jaw) is aimed at helping the Northern Saskatchewan farmer get greater returns for his grain.

Under present regulations, wheat is sold on the basis of delivery to Port Arthur and Fort William at the Lakeheads or at Vancouver on the west coast.

The bill would place Churchill on Hudson Bay in the same category.

Jehovah Witnesses Seek Retrial Before Supreme Court Of Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 — (CP) — The Witnesses of Jehovah to-day sought rehearing before the Supreme Court of Canda of a case they won last December.

The case, a lengthy piece of "test" litigation, concerns the one-month sentence of Aime Boucher of St. Germaine De Dorchester, Que. He was sentenced in 1947 for seditious libel for distributing on behalf of the religious sect a pamphlet entitled, "Quebec's Burning Hate."

After nearly three years in the courts, Boucher won his first hearing Dec. 5 last when the Supreme Court quashed his conviction and ordered a new trial on the ground the trial judge had not directed the jury properly.

Boucher's appeal for rehearing, filed by Glen How of Toronto, counsel for the Witnesses, was based on the 3-2 decision of the five-man Supreme Court which heard the case last year. He claimed the court, in the public interest, should have defined the law relating to seditious libel.

Want Definite Conclusion.

He urged that the full court, which now consists of nine judges, hear the case again and come to a definite conclusion on the subject.

Court officials said such an appeal for rehearing is rare. Normally, the Supreme Court reopens a case only if it is apparent there has been a major error in judgment or on a question of costs.

Mr. How urged "greater clarification and certainty in the law on this very vital subject (seditious libel) which involves the right of freedom of expression of all the Canadian people."

Order for a retrial was made on the basis of a majority decision. Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin and Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau presented the majority judgment. The other two judges, Mr. Justice J. W. Estey and Mr. Justice I. C. Rand, would have acquitted Boucher on the spot.

"The right of free expression of opinion," said Mr. How in his appeal, "is of fundamental importance to the entire populace and to the very operation of our system of government, wherefore the limits placed upon the right of expression should be carefully and clearly defined so that newspaper men, speakers and writers can ascertain with reasonable certainty what the law is."

He claimed the court's judgment on seditious libel was particularly confused because one of the judges giving the majority decision—Mr. Justice Kerwin—had agreed with the two dissenting judges in defining seditious libel.

Mr. Justice Kerwin held that the offence of publishing a seditious libel required incitement to violence or unlawful acts. Similar definitions, stressing the need to prove this intent, were presented by Justices Rand and Estey.

US Rushing Plans To Build First Atom-Powered Sub

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—An informed source disclosed Monday that the United States is pushing plans to construct what it hopes will be the world's first atom-powered submarine.

This source said that discussions are under way on a submarine hull in which could be installed an atomic energy reactor that may be developed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The discussions were described as so far advanced that it is quite likely Congress will be asked to add an appropriation for the work to the 1951 navy budget for the year beginning July 1.

Some lawmakers said a week ago that a race between the United States and Russia to be first to develop an atom-powdered sub was a possible complication in efforts to produce a hydrogen bomb.

Progress Made.

The Atomic Energy Commission revealed last month that considerable progress has been made toward developing reactors suitable for submarine or ship propulsion. A reactor for aircraft also is under study.

Under controlled conditions, scientists say, the amount of nuclear fuel that is destroyed in a small fraction of a second by an explosion may be utilized for months, and perhaps even for years, to give off useful energy.

Designs for a land-based prototype of a thermal reactor suitable for submarine or ship propulsion are being devoloped, the AEC report said.

"This reactor will be a single-purpose machine designed specifically for the purpose of producing large amounts of heat under conditions that will permit conversion to power for naval vessels," the report said.

It added that the research and development work is well advanced, "and detailed engineering design of a ship propulsion reactor is scheduled to begin during 1950."

Church Leaders Discuss Bomb

GENEVA, Feb. 21 (Reuters).—The hydrogen bomb and what Christian churches should do about it will be high on the agenad of the executive committee meeting of the World Council of Churches which opens here today.

The chairman, Anglican Bishop George Kennedy of Chichester, England, has already sent a circular letter to leading members of the committee, saying that they could hardly meet without discussing the B-bomb.

The Bishop Monday refused to commit himself whether the committee's talks on the H-bomb were likely to result in a concrete proposal for action.

"But we have among us the religious leaders of many countries, and we should be able to assess the feelings of enlightened Christian leaders throughout the world," he said.

Altogether 19 international church leaders will assemble for the private meetings of the committee.

Rev. Gordon Sisco of Toronto, general secretary of the United Church of Canada, is attending. He will also help draw up the final agenda for a meeting in Toronto next July of the Central Committee of the World Council.

See No Chance Ousting Bevin

EAST WOOLWICH, London, Feb. 21. — (Reuters).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, clambering bulkily and breathlessly to his election platforms here, is not dismayed by the small, quiet audiences he sees below him.

The people of this industrial [illegible] working and mostly are too weary to attend election meetings. But it would take a political atom bomb to blast the lumbering, rasp-voiced foreign secretary out of this safe Socialist seat.

Along the drab streets of East Woolwich, through the crowded market just outside the arsenal gate, shrill Cockney voices are concerned mostly with the price of fruit and vegetables—not with world affairs or politics.

A rash of pink posters pasted throughout the district summon the 5,000 voters to confirm their faith in Bevin and the Labor welfare slate. Here and there among them are the posters of Palme Dutt, the Communist candidate.

Why Should Employers Be Collectors?

Mr. Stanley Knowles, the C.C.F. member for Winnipeg North Centre has given notice that he will introduce a private bill into the House of Commons, the purpose of which is to put a clause in the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act; the clause would make it compulsory for employers to deduct union dues from pay-cheques and to send the money direct to the union authorities. We hope that Mr. Knowles will be unsuccessful in his attempt to bring about this piece of legislation.

• • •

We hope so because employers already act as unpaid collectors for the Dominion Government, and every employer knows that this work not only costs him money but puts him in an unfair position with his employees. Most businesses and industries give their workers their pay in envelopes which are marked on the outside with the full sum of the employee's wage, and the sums which have been deducted for income tax, for insurance, and for any other purposes to which the employee has agreed or which the Government has demanded. But—such is human nature—not one employee in ten regards the figure at the top of the envelope as his week's wage. He looks at the sum at the bottom of the column, and he counts his take-home pay as the sum which he receives from his employer. It is by no means uncommon for employees to use this sum, rather than the full wage, as the basis in bargaining with the employer for increased wages.

• • •

The employer gets nothing but annoyance and ill-will from this arrangement. He is the Scrooge who takes the money out of the envelope. But he is also the party who has disbursed the full sum which is marked thereon as his employee's weekly wage.

• • •

If Mr. Knowles were to have his way the employer would have to take even more out of the pay-envelope, causing even greater discontent among his workers. It would not be long before he was asked to raise wages in order to absorb the sum laid out in union fees. Employers know that increases in union dues very often result in requests for increased pay. The employer, in fact, is often asked to subsidize the union, though the union's obligations to him are very loosely defined.

• • •

The relations between workers and employers are, upon the whole, good. Considering the number of organized employees in Canada, strikes are not particularly frequent. But there is a continual friction, caused by the belief among many workers that employers are always getting the better of them, and denying them their full due. The Government has created this situation to a great extent, by making the employer the goat in the job of tax-collecting. Let the Government think carefully before it makes matters worse by a compulsory check-off, and by robbing workers of the weekly reminder that organization costs them money.

• • •

Citizenship costs money, too. And the Government is foolish to rob so many people of the obligation to pay the cost of citizenship out of money which they already have in their pockets. Money which a man has never seen is not likely to be looked upon as his own.

Little Red Arms

Winter driving conditions, especially of the kind which aggravated the province last Wednesday, do show how useful, even necessary, drivers' signals are. But the worse the weather, the fewer signals. No driver who is not a martyr will lower a window to indicate to others that he is going to deviate from the stream of traffic. He takes his chances and swings (even if his rear and side windows are opaque with frost), and the devil take the bumps.

Like the editor of Maclean's Magazine who mentions the matter in the last issue, we know a man who has an English car equipped with little side arms that stick out left or right when a turn is to be made. We know that these not only continue to work properly even in sleet and snow, but that they ease the traffic flow, reduce uncertainties at intersections, and lessen the hazard of bumps and bangs, as well as the tear on other drivers' nerves. Why do Canadian and American cars not have these simple, useful mechanical signals? They are not new. They have been legally compulsory in Britain for donkey's years; their cars must have them.

Are American car designers too proud to take tips from Britain and the continent? The pre-selective gear shift, was common in medium-priced British cars fifteen years ago; it was not adopted generally in the U.S.A. until recently. Do they feel that this continent's engineering prowess is so superior to Europe's that it would be degrading to accept a simple device from overseas? The mechanical arms which are extended by turning a button and in most English cars, retracted automatically when the turn has been completed, should not be scorned as being merely British. Anyway, they are probably of German design, for as long ago as the early thirties we saw a German car with these semi-automatic signals.

It seems that two or three years ago American automobile manufacturers became convinced of the desirability of mechanical signals. Instead of accepting the proven overseas model, they installed in the more expensive cars an elaborate, apparently more costly, and certainly no more reliable or useful blinker light system(set so low as to be difficult to see in close traffic). This may be an example of North American progress.

Manchuria and Moscow

Most of the world and most of the people of the world are now communist. The U.S.S.R. and Asia alone contain half the population of the world and a third of the area. That huge area is now, as the Moscow treaty with China confirms, dominated by Communism, and Communism is dominated by Russia. It is therefore important to know what is happening in Communist countries, and Russia's methods of dealing, her plans, and her potential. It is difficult to find out; for instance, most of the news reports on the treaty between Mao Tze-tung's China and Stalin's Russia came from Paris, London and Washington, not from Moscow or Peiping. The report from Moscow was so vague as to be meaningless.

One topic of the recent negotiations about which it is possible to guess with some knowledge is Manchuria, for Manchuria was the key to the Sino-Russian talks, and the decisions about Manchuria (which are not half revealed, it seems) can affect a quarter of the globe, as the Bip Pares map reproduced on this page indicates.

Manchuria with its railways, its ports, its capacity for exploitation is the bridge between Soviet Russia and the Pacific—economically, militarily and politically. At Yalta Russia secured the keys to Manchuria: control of the railways and the use of Port Arthur and Dairen. Under a five-year plan Russia built up her Far Eastern region as a bridgehead to China. It has army headquarters at Chita and Khabarovsk, naval air defences at bases in South Sakhalin and the Jurile Islands (acquired from Japan). As Bip Pares has written, these [illegible] lake. Communication of Manchuria with the west has been strengthened; for instance, the Trans-Siberian railway is now double-tracked, and has branch lines to mining regions and southern frontiers. There is an extension to the north connecting the Pacific with the Trans-Siberian. Mineral resources in the Soviet Far East have been sufficiently developed to render it independent of outside sources.

There are steelworks at Komsomolsk, ship-building and marine engineering in the Maritime Province, hydro-electricity, sawmills, and factories for the manufacture of rolling stock on the Amur river. With the use of Port Arthur, an excellent sheltered harbour ice-free all the year, Russia could replace Japan in Far Eastern waters.

Manchuria is as potentially valuable to Russia as it was to Japan. (It was on the human and material resources of Manchuria that Japan built her granary and arsenal.) But Manchuria is equally valuable to Mao's China. It seems that there was some relaxation of the Russian demands, and that China will have control of the railways, the industries and Port Arthur and Dairen; by 1952. In return China, it seems, is sending labour to the Russia's East from Manchuria, for the Soviet Far East needs manpower —its population is now only 4,500,000. It is likely, too, that Manchurian foods will go to the Soviet East—Manchuria being a very rich agricultural country. Whatever bargaining was done at Moscow in the two long months of negotiations, it is inconceivable that Russia has let Manchuria slip out of her hands completely, since Manchuria is so necessary to her own Far East's full development.

Fascism In South America

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

WHILE the rest of the world is worrying about the threat of Communism, South America is experiencing a resurgence of determined right-wing totalitarianism. Unlike the localized dictatorships which sprang up so frequently there in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, each new dictatorial regime bears a frightening resemblance to its predecessors in neighbouring countries.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT first, after the elevation of Peron to the Presidency of Argentina as a so-called "Labour" candidate, it seemed as if the post-war trend might be, at least in name, progressive. As Peron has faced greater economic and international difficulties, his policy, however, has become steadily more autocratic, more nationalist, and less representative. His imitators in Peru and Venezuela, who seized power in 1948, did not even bother to dssimulate: they are frankly authoritarian regimes pledged to put back the clock, determined to stem the rising tide of economic equality and political freedom.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE latest country to join the ranks of unabashed reaction is Colombia, which had been for over 40 years a successful example of political democracy and slow but steady progress. Now, though the impotent Congress still has a Liberal majority, the executive power is in the hands of an extreme right-wing conservative, Dr. Laureano Gomez, who at the beginning of this month openly showed his political complexion by raising the status of the Colombian diplomatic mission in Madrid from that of a Legation to an Embassy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DR. Gomez's predecessor, President Mariano Ospina Perez, who was elected on a minority vote due to a split in the Liberal ranks, was a comparative moderate, and for some time headed a coalition government. He was, however, not strong enough to oppose the extremists in his own party, and the Presidential elections at the end of last year were held in an atmosphere of oppression and terror in many parts of the country. The Liberals, claiming that internal conditions were "abnormal", declared that they regarded the elections as unconstitutional, and refrained from participating.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW a group of distinguished Liberals; including four ex-Presidents, has published in Paris a blistering attack on the present administration. Colombia, they state, is what is "called in the modern political vocabulary a Falangist dictatorship [on model of Falange, Fascist Party of France-Spain]. As evidence they point out that the Government has suppressed freedom of the press, speech and opinion, closed Congress and the municipal assemblies, forbidden all private gatherings, carried out arrests without due process of law, and tortured political prisoners. "We consider", they conclude, "that it is no exaggeration to state that the country has been submitted to a regime of organized and systematic terror which Colombia has not known since the epoch of the Spanish 'pacifier', Don Pablo Morillo."

✧ ✧ ✧

TO the rulers of neighbouring Venezuela the news from Colombia is heartening. The two countries were briefly united under the Liberator, Simon Bolivar, but Venezuela never enjoyed the democratic tranquility which until recently characterized Colombia. Nor did it enjoy the same political freedom, so that Colombia became a refuge for the many Venezuelans who had the courage to oppose the series of dictatorships which ruled their country. The most recent of these exiles were the leaders of the left-wing Accion Democratica, which held the first free elections in Venezuelan history, attained brief power, and was swept away by the Army to make way for the present junta [military oligarchy]. Now that Colombia herself has lost her freedom, the Venezuelan opposition can count on little support from abroad.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANOTHER country where the opposition will mourn the loss of Colombian democracy is Peru, where General Odria's "temporary" military Government is bringing all the resources of the state to bear in an attempt to stamp the opposition out. The largest party in the country, A.P.R.A. (the American Popular Revolutionary Alliance) is outlawed, and its leader, Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, took refuge over a year ago in the Colombian Embassy in Lima. Despite repeated representations by the Peruvian authorities, and a campaign of vilification in Peru's controlled press, the Colombian Government steadily refused to hand Haya de la Torre over. Now that Laureano Gomez is finally in the Colombian Presidential saddle, he may well accede to Peruvian demands.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR the Fascist rulers in Latin America must, in their own interests, stand or fall together. They are united, not only in their aims, but in their fears. They court the favour of world opinion by representing themselves as bulwarks against Communism, but Communism has hitherto been a negligible factor almost everywhere in South America, except in industrial Chile. If it is growing now it is because the dictators are unintentionally fostering it by giving the people little alternative.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR it is the moderates whom men like Gomez and Odria fear and hate, the moderates who would implement the phrases in the constitutions about liberty, who would educate the people to expect and earn a higher standard of living, and who would have the support of majority opinion everywhere in doing so. The dictators want to retain a feudal economy which keeps labour cheap and docile, and leaves the wealth and power of the country in a very few hands. Therefore the moderates must be crushed. At the moment the dictators seem to be having it all their own way; but in the long run they can expect an ugly day of reckoning.

Letters To The Editor

WOMAN'S JOB TO BE DECORATIVE

Sir: May I express an honest male opinion and say I am disconcerted, nay, appalled, by the tenor of nearly all the letters being received by you on the topic of married women working.

My point is this: no women should work, either in the home or offices or shop or factory in this day and age in our prosperous Canada. That is to say: they should not work more than a few hours a day—three at most. If women have to work more than that, in home or anywhere, it shows that we men have failed, and that we and the women are not taking advantage of the material ease this century offers us on this continent.

In England and Europe in the last several centuries, only the high-born and wealthy ladies did not work. They were trained for leisure; their husbands and the society in which they moved could afford to give them that leisure. And what lovely use they made of it! They were gracious; they cultivated fine arts, or lady-like arts, (needlework, and delicate pallor of skin, French and dazzling finery of dress, bird-like conversation and beautiful female contours); they were fetching to men, and that is what men wanted; idols of idleness, bevies of beauty, sensuous sentimentalism, THE FEMALE. Men still want such things. For one reason, it flatters their egos to be able to afford idle, beautiful, graceful women.

That type of woman was a rare bird a hundred years ago. She was too expensive for most men to afford. But now the material situation should be different. Men, ordinary working [illegible] earning as much money as well-heeled men 100 years ago got from dividends. True, there are few servants these days, but they have been made almost unnecessary by tin cans, frozen foods, electric stoves and refrigerators, compact houses, small families, the baby bonus, state welfare. Now it should be within the reach of almost every woman to live like a grande dame of a century ago.

There is something wrong with the way men have organized this plutocratic society of ours with all the big pay, the labour-saving devices, the prepared foods, the spaced family, if their women still have to work in home or factory. We men are cheating ourselves, or being cheated. All girls and wives should now be ladies of leisure, with fair complexions, dainty hands, a gift for needlework and chirping feminine conversation to beguile their men.

Women's chief aim in modern North American life should be to present a pretty picture of feminine charm to lure us men. In a rich society like ours, men cannot afford to have their wives working, either in the home or outside it. I consider we men have failed to take advantage of the material and financial benefits this century affords, if we do not keep our women in idleness. Perhaps the fault is that we are keeping cars instead of women. But a woman can be much more fun, and a woman kept in idleness a much larger sign of our prestige.

Yours for idle women,
A.S.

IF IT FITS, WEAR IT

Sir: I have been following the "Letters to the Editor" regarding married women working. Some have been quite amusing to say the least. I couldn't help but notice how angry some of those married ladies seem to get when some remarks hit home. It seems to me that some had guilty consciences.

I am a single working girl. I have a good steady job. I'm not bragging either when I say I have been employed with the same firm for the past ten years. Poor old maid, some of my married sisters may say. When I started to work jobs were just as scarce as they are now. I started to work for $9.00 a week. My board was $5.00 a week as my home wasn't in the city. However, I managed and worked hard to hang onto that job that I was lucky enough to get. Today my salary has tripled, but some of these days I will have to take lower pay. In the meantime I am saving for the rainy day.

What amuses me is that some girls are in such a hurry getting married and when they do they put all their savings into "the wedding splash". They never think of giving up their jobs or making their home more liveable for their husbands. Why didn't they save a little extra before to help the man of the family?

I am planning to get married too, before long, but I've decided to be old fashioned, quit my job and try to be a good honourable wife.

There are some married women in this city who have been working several years and haven't any notion of budging off the pay-roll until the Government takes over and demands it.

This week is "Brotherhood Week" married ladies, so those of you who are stealing needy men's and girls' jobs how about practising a little of that virtue of charity. I'm sure you will feel much better inside. It might mean a much happier home for some married husband, wife and family. One pay cheque is much better than none.

Sincerely,
HONEST OPINION.

Pianist From BC Makes Hit At Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (CP) — Gordon Manley, Vancouver pianist, gave his first Carnegie Hall concert Monday night before an enthusiastic audience.

The 29-year-old Canadian included works from Chopin, Beethoven, Debussy and Liszt on his program. He showed mastery of technique and artistry of expression. Every note was audible and every note counted.

The program opened with Chaconne, by Bach-Busoni. Beethoven's Sonata in E Minor, Op. 90 followed and then three works by Chopin—Scherzo in C-sharp Min 39; Impromptu in F Sharp, and Scherzo in B-flat Min 31.

the intermission Manley our short Debussy pieces, g La Cathedrale Eng-, and Liszt's Polonaise No. 2.

he tall, dark-haired young pianist was called back three times for encores. Among the audience were a number of students from Avon Old Farms School for Boys at Avon, Conn., where he is director of the musical department.

Manley ,who made his professional debut at 15 in Vancouver, has played in New York before but his previous appearances were at Town Hall.

Studied In Toronto

He studied at the Conservatory of Music in Toronto and in New York, has toured Canada and recently made a four-month tour of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manley, the pianist's parents, still live in Vancouver. Both are amateur musicians, his father on the violin and his mother on the piano.

"I'm only sorry that they are there and not here," he said in a brief interview after the concert.

"My favorite composers are those who write best for piano—Chopin, Debussy and Liszt," he added. "Of course, Chopin is alway first. He really uses the piano."

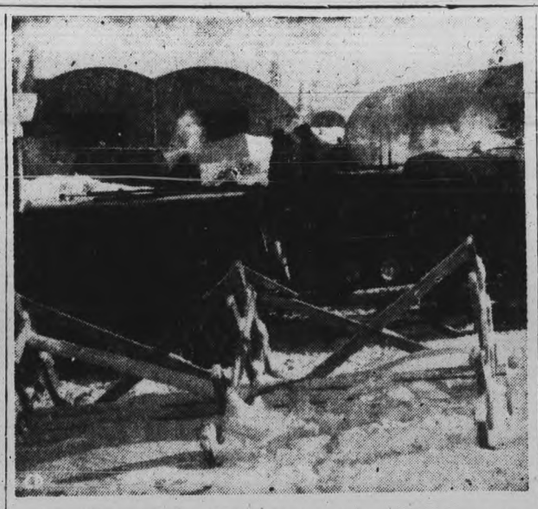
He specialized in ophthalmological anatomy and among his publications is a monograph on the anatomy of the human orbit. From 1935 to 1941 he was professor of anatomy at the University of Bristol, England.

New Fur Plan

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP) — A $1,500,000 program to develop and expand Ontario's fur resources during the next ten years was announced here today.

ister Scott said Monday in a statement that the province and the federal government will each contribute $75,000 a year approximately the amount Ontario now is spending. The federal funds will come from the Indian Affairs Branch.



IT KEEPS COOL—The Canadian Army had to fight the cold even before the troops got rolling in the winter manoeuvre named Sundog. Steam rises from engine exhausts as army men load their vehicles at Churchill before starting their 250-mile exercise in Northern Manitoba.

Canada Caught In Squeeze Of World Trade Crisis

The trade world of today is split like the Gaul of Julius Caesar's time, said John A. Marsh, MBE, general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association told the Rotary Club, Monday, at its weekly luncheon.

Unless those barriers, the dollar bloc, the sterling bloc and the ruble bloc, are broken down and trade resumed, Canada and every other country faces depression, lowered standards of living and eventually war.

In the last 3,000 years the trade centre of the world has been constantly moving from Egypt to Phoenicia to Greece to Carthage to Rome to Constantinople to Venice to Genoa to Spain to Britain. Today the centre of world trade is in the new world, United States and Canada.

Until 1914 Britain and Europe was the dynamic centre of the expanding world, he said. The old world up to that time had financed trade expansion and by purchases and investments was able to export abroad her products.

Raised Tarriffs

Following the First World War the wartorn countries could not keep up with the financial growth in the new world which rapidly liquidated its loans. Along with this, he added, the new world raised tariff barriers against the old when it should have lowered them.

Mr. Marsh said that Canadians have come by their material nationhood easily. It cannot be said, he explained ,that careful planning was entirely responsible for Canada's present position. With one-fourteenth of the world's land area and less than one per cent of the world's population Canadians have by their efforts become third in world trade, third as an exporting nation, first in asbestos, nickel and uranium, second in gold, wheat and lumber products.

"Two world wars geared Canada up to big-time business, big-time industry, big-time production to where our supply far exceeds our ability to consume. Our participation therefore in world trade, both imports and exports, became a 'must'."

Canada, he said, is caught in the squeeze of a world trade crisis. A nation in its right, he explained, Canada is politically a member of tions but economically outside it. This situation, he added, leaves Canada short of what used to be considered traditional export markets. There are plenty of goods to sell but no buyers with Canadian and American dollars to pay for the exports. To rectify this, Mr. Marsh said, British and European goods should be bought to make it possible for European countries to earn dollars to pay for goods and services needed so badly.

"The Geneva Agreements, the Annecy Conference and devaluation have all been steps in the right direction to establish a pattern of finance and trade helpful to the whole world. But they must be viewed in the nature of temporary alleviants rather than cures for the world's trade ills."

New Trade Philosophy

Recent speeches by Prime Minister St. Laurent, Donald Gordon, Wayne Taylor, Dean Acheson and Sir Graham Cunningham show a unanimity of trade philosophy which if implemented by a constructive action could cause a revolution in trade great enough to forestall a world depression and put in its place a business boom, he said.

The problem in all countries, he added, is to sell this philosophy to the people, making it possible for governments to take constructive action.

"Canada is growing up and each succeeding year finds us holding stronger and stronger cards The nation is a sprawling giant awaiting only the touch of more people, more production lines, more integration, more vision to make her one of the great countries of the world."

Mr. Marsh was introduced by G. S. Matthews and thanked by Gordon Monkman.

Use Alberta Coal

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—The Ontario government is considering the use of Alberta coal to heat certain public buildings, it was reported here Monday. The increased price of United States coal brought about by the devaluation of the Canadian dollar, and the uncertainty of supplies from the U.S. is said to have made western Canadian coal particularly attractive to provincial authorities.

3 Perish In Fire

AYLMER, Que., Feb. 21 (CP)—An Aylmer couple and their 15-year-old son were burned to death Monday night by fire of unknown origin that destroyed their two-storey log home. Dead are: Albert Graveline, 52, his wife, 49, and their son, Francis. A daughter, Alice, 12, escaped by leaping from a second-floor window of the blazing building in her night attire.

Healthy Future In Store For Railroads

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP) — A healthy future is in store for Canadian railways if their house is put in order as soon as a solution is found to their problems, Transport Minister Chevrier said Monday night.

While declaring the railways face dificult times, he expressed hope the solution would be found by the Royal Commission on Transportation, now investigating national transportation problems.

After that, he said in an address prepared for delivery to the Board of Trade clubs, he was confident "the developments which will take place in Canada in the next 15 years are more than sufficient to ensure a healthy rail transportation system, if the house is put in order as soon as the solution is found."

He also declared the present-day development of highway trucking was "a very serious" threat to the well-being of the railway system. If left unchecked, it would impair the efficiency of the railroads and "destroy the economic advantages which we still enjoy." These included cheap haulage of low-priced commodities by the railways.

Killed By Train

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 21 (CP)—Cecil Casemore, a middle-aged farmer living a mile and a half north of Owen Sound was killed Monday when his car was struck by a Toronto-bound Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train. The crash occurred in the Owen Sound industrial district in front of the Empire Stove Company plant.

Coal Production Down

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP)—Canada's coal production dropped in January, despite growing shortages resulting from the United States coal strike. January production was 1,749,400 tons, the Bureau of Statistics estimated Monday, about six-per-cent lower han production in January, 1949.

A Double Surprise

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP) — A tiny first-born child, weighing only 30 ounces, Sunday came as a double surprise to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hulme of Toronto. Mr. Hulme said they weren't even anticipating a birth A doctor who examined Mrs. Hulme, 29, two weeks ago did not tell them a child could be expected, Mr. Hulme said.

Military Target

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 21 (CP) —James R. Young, former war correspondent, said Monday night that mustard gas being manufactured at Hiroshima, and not the atom bomb, caused burns and nausea among the Japanese when the bomb was dropped. He contended that Hiroshima was not a "peaceful city," but was a "No. 1 military target."

WINNIPEG, Feb. 21 (CP) — The Manitoba Court of Appeal Monday reserved judgment on the appeal of the city of Winnipeg against a decision upholding the permanent tax exemption of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Ontario's Population Up 102 Per Cent, Now At 4,411,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP)—Alberta's population increased by more than 1,000 per cent in the last half-century, but she still has far to go to catch up with Ontario's total.

The Bureau of Stastistics, reviewing Canada's economic record in the last 50 years, today said Alberta expanded from a province of 73,000 persons in 1901 to 871,000 in 1949. In that period, Canada's total population jumped from 5,371,000 to 13,549,000.

With the exception of Prince Edward Island and the Yukon and the Northwest Territories, all areas showed population progress, Alberta showed the biggest percentage jump.

Ontario increased from 2,183,000 persons to 4,411,000 up 102 per cent. Quebec's population rose from 1,649,000 to 3,887,000 up 136 per cent.

Other provincial gains: Nova Scotia went up 40 per cent from 460,000 to 645,000; New Brunswick, 56 per cent, from 331,000 to 516,000; Manitoba, 205 per cent, from 255,000 to 778,000; Saskatchewan, 846 per cent, from 91,000 to 861,000; British Columbia, 522 per cent, from 179,000 to 1,114,000; Newfoundland, 57 per cent, from 221,000 to 348,000.

Prince Edward Island declined 9 per cent, from 103,000 to 94,000, and the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, 49 per cent, from 47,000 to 24,000. No figures were available for Newfoundland.

Whipper Bill Watson tackles Hi Lee in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena this Thursday evening to top a fine three-bout card. Dr. Len Hall meets Kay Bell in the semi-final, while Johnny Barend opposes Barney Bernard in the prelim. None other than Strangler Lewis as referee, the big fellow being in Toronto and agreeing to come down to handle this program. The Whip always packs them in; he flew back from Winnipeg for a Toronto engagement, and that's how Peterborough obtained him at this time. He will have to upend his bag of grapple tricks to hold his own with the towering and sullen Texan. A hot go.

Another reminder of the open ORFU intermediate meeting at eight tonight in the YMCA. Everyone interested in the grid game should attend as this new club is launched. Dave Wilson, who is president of the Central ORFU grouping this year, says the Peterborough club will have a complete face-lifting in 1950 to put it back into competition with Orillia Bombers, Oshawa Raiders and the always powerful Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg. This is good news to football followers here, and we should see some keen contests again under the arcs in Morrow Park.

Puck Saga Resumes

Tomorrow at 8.30 in Civic Arena, the saga of the puck-playing Petes and Legionnaires resumes before another capacity crowd. It's the third of their best-of-five OHA senior "B" semi-finals, and every tilt, of course, is of the utmost importance now to each team. And to their many rabid followers. They play for keeps as elimination is not afar off, a winner shortly being declared to meet the Belleville-Kingston victor in group finals, and the loser sitting it out on the rocking chair for the rest of the semester. No doubt, another thrill-packed encounter between the old bitter ice opponents.

* * * * * *

While there was no blood shed on the arena ice last p.m., it wasn't the fault of Referees Sparky Vail of Newmarket and Larry Heffering of Whitby. They didn't check these rivals too closely for awhile and it wasn't long ere it got rather rugged. A number of free-for-alls threatened but didn't quite develop, and capable guys like Burns, Doug Mortimer, Montgomery, Parnell, McMaster, Tompkins and Horton were stepping into opponents plenty hard. Some of the others, too, in spots. It was 5-1 for Legion, who played a good passing game and kept fighting for that puck all the way.

* * * * * *

'Twas A Redhot Tilt

Yes, a good game to see, as both sides skated hard up and down, with both goalies busy in turn as plays piled up on their doorsteps. Isadore Black's shirts went to Ron Horton and Ray Harding of the Petes, and to Doug Mortimer and Johnny Godfrey of Legion. These may not have been the outstanding puckists in the fray, but they were certainly among the best. Ross Nicholls also turned in his usual steady game, and Gus Leonard is always a solid performer. Bert Hill was in on a pair of goals, being a consistent hurrying player. Hard to pick 'em, though, with everyone hustling hard throughout. So the series is tied up, and the big one now is tomorrow night.

Ashburnham Hall was filled last p.m. and spectators saw a right lively amateur boxing card, arranged by Ron Menzies. Lindsay mitt-slingers had an edge on ring experience over local talent, but it was good training and entertainment. Clare Collins of the Recreation Commission spoke on behalf of Mayor Swanston. The Rev. J. F. Coughlin, the Rev. E. C. Moore, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Dr. Ralph Honey, Wilf Jones and others were noted among the spectators. Besides Percy Houzer and the Lindsay officials, Coaches for the PBC were Ron Menzies, Reg Lesurt and Charlie Reese. A good show. The boys will continue training and stage a return card in the Sougog centre next month.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 21—(ENS)—In a Haywire League hockey game here last evening, Lakefield took a 9-1 verdict over Nepheline Mines. Calberry and Chittick hit the mark, Hill and Patterson each having an assist. In the third, R. Calberry scored three and Chittick one, as Patterson got two assists and Knox one.

Amateur Boxers Serve Up Scrappy Show

Peterborough Boxing Council's amateur show last evening in Ashburnham Hall proved a big success as 14 young stalawrts, ranging from fly to middleweight, put on seven sparkling bouts to thrill a packed hall. There was no charge—a strictly amateur show—between Lindsay and Peterborough boys.

Mike Herlihey, husky young 158-pound slugger from Lindsay, decisioned sturdy Rip Van Allen in the feature bout of the evening by a narrow margin, and only after a tough struggle with action a-plenty. Herlihey outweighed Van slightly (a five-pound margin) but the latter's experience proved valuable as the pair engaged in a hectic three rounds, featuring some good in-fighting most of the way. Two quick rights to the head, midway in the second heat, floored Van Allen twice for no count, following an even first round and counted heavily in the judge's decision after a fairly close third that found the Ripper giving his 17-year-old rival as much as he handed out.

All-round Skill

Ron Emery, tall, smooth-working middleweight, outpointed Carl Saville in the opening bout of the card by virtue of good all-round skill and a hard left jab that found the mark often to give Saville plenty of trouble. However, the Scugog lad was plucky and made it a hot session finally hanging a small mouse on Emery's left lamp with a pair of neat rights, in the second. Emery was a fairly close winner on the points.

Bill Baker outpointed Bob I'Logana, local lightweight, in the second go, also fairly even, though the third round saw the most action in a bout that had little mixing in the early stages, with few real punches and many clinches. Baker's hard tally in the third proved decisive.

Lew Carveth, local flyweight, easily outpointed Ron Hutton in a fast, scrappy encounter. Both boys weighed 109 and showed the fans some real speed and hitting power for the weight.

A Fine Display

Bill Davis, local welterweight, in his first showing against John Anglers, and though outpointed by his more experienced rival, put up a fine display.

Mike Murtha and John Tyler, lightweights, put on a peppy fourth bout, one of the best of the night, with little to choose, but a strong second round, featured by two good rights to the jaw and solar plexus by Murtha, gave the former a slight edge.

Possibly the best exhibition of the preliminaries was displayed by Ernie Wilkinson at the lightweight limit as he outpointed Kid Bradley, local boy who shows much promise. Kid gave six pounds and put up a fine fight against his skilful opponent who displayed poise, fast footwork, and a very good left hand.

The summary:

(All bouts three 2-minute rounds):

First bout—Ron Emery, 151 (Peterborough) defeated Carl Saville, 150 (Lindsay), decision on points

Second bout — Bill Baker 128 (L.) defeated Bob Logana 130 (P.)

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, Feb. 21 (ENS)—Hastings juveniles defeated Wellington 8-3 on Brighton ice, in a sudden-death game for the right to continue in the OMHA playdowns. They now meet the winner of the Deseronto-Stirling series.

Hastings were by far the better team opening the scoring at 4:25 of the first period and they were never seriously threatened.

The line of Morrow, K. Forde and McMillan were best offensively, yet all deserved mention and We in goal played an outstanding ame. He at one time seemed headed for a shut-out.

Bill Greer, Pettingill and Cole stood out for Wellington while Ingraham in goal made many fine saves.

SPS Students Active Athletics

By FRED MAYBEE

St. Peter's Advisory club held its monthly meeting in the Sacred Heard parish hall to discuss further plans to assist the high school boys in their sports for the current year.

Though numbering but 250 students, SPS have been exceedingly active in sport during the past few months. Fred Allore, formerly assistant coach of athletics at De La Salle College, London, and presently in charge of physical education here at St. Peter's, has proven a capable director under the helpful guidance of Father Coughlan. Although unable during the past term to win any championships, the school has entered teams in practically every group classification possible in a variety of sports and all have made a good showing to date.

Bantam and junior "B" basketball teams are competing in the COSSA group while three hockey teams in the bantam, midget and juvenile classes are presently battling in city league competition. Two are grouped in a four-team circuit, while midgets play Trojans, Marines, South End and Keene.

In Grid Play

In football, Mr. Allore says that SPS plans to enter a senior team in OCC competition this year as well as junior "B" in COSSA play. The senior group will include St. Jerome's of Kitchener, St. Michael's, Toronto, and De La Salle, Oakland.

In addition to all this, a ski club was organized this year and only inclement weather prevented it functioning in a big way.

What about the girls? Well, the young girls have their activities too, including a nice bowling league comprising eight teams out of about 70 girls. They bowl twice weekly at K of C Hall. And of course they are in basketball, softball and skiing, etc., as well.

St. Peter's hold their annual field day in May, at which about 70 events are competed.

Eddie Murphy, manager of Peterborough's senior "B" Petes, Ontario baseball champions, spoke to the fathers at the monthly meeting and stressed the importance of school spirit and team play. President Roland Hull thanked Ed. for an inspiring and constructive talk. March 9 is the date of the next Advisory Club meeting, at St. John's.

Thistlewaite Wins Mile Race At 'Y'

Bill Thistlewaite won the local harriers' club indoor mile championship event last night at the "Y" in the excellent time of five minutes, 32 seconds. However, it was slower than last year's run and is 13 seconds off Jack Brown's 1949 track record of five mins., 19.4 secs. Thistlewaite ran an even pace most of the way. D. McNeil placed a close second; finishing strong, though he lost time in the first quarter.

Third place was taken by Jim Flowers, 22-year-old sprinter, who turned in a surprise by beating out Jack Martin. Flowers ran a well-timed and paced race checked with a stopwatch every 220 yards, finishing with a speedy 220 dash. Coach Morewood said it was the best bit of running he has seen this year, especially by a sprinter going out of his class.

It was the fourth event of the indoor season, while the two-mile and the three-quarter mile relay will be staged next Wednesday at the "Y" track. Winners last night showed good conditioning and should be ready for their meet in Hamilton the middle of next month. McNeil's time was 5 mins., 34.4 secs., while Flowers finished in 5 mins., 46 secs.

PCVS Cagers Get Wins On Lake Front

All four PCVS boys' basketball teams returned from Port Hope and Cobourg with victories. The seniors finished group play undefeated by winning a convincing 62-18 victory from Cobourg seniors. The junior A team won the first game of a two-game points to count district semi-final from Port Hope High School 33-20. The junior B boys finished the season by defeating Cobourg juniors in an exhibition game 30-15, while the bantams were victorious 24-7 in the first game of their district semi-finals from Cobourg bantams. Return games in the two semi-final series will be played here this Saturday night.

The Cobourg seniors without Jamieson and Hircock from their close game in Peterborough in January were no match for a PCVS team which is fast regaining its shooting eye. Twenty-four first quarter points were enough to permit the defending COSSA champions to coast to its second 60-point game of the season. Northcott, Thompson and Frise had 19 of the 25 PCVS field goals. Grafstein was 5 for 5 from the foul line and Northcott 4 for 5.

One-Sided Tilts

The other games at Cobourg were almost as one-sided. The junior Bees led 19-6 at the half and won easily 30-15. Halliday had 12 points for PCVS. Bob Boorman and McIlwain had eight and seven points respectively to lead the PCVS bantams to a 24-7 victory and a 17-point lead for the return game here.

At Port Hope in the afternoon, the most even of the four games was played at the High School gym. PCVS junior A was always in front, but only by a narrow 16-11 margin at half-time. The zone defence of the visitors kept the home team attack under control throughout. Murray Grafstein drove through the Port Hope defence for five important field goals to lead the PCVS boys to their victory. Larrie Cunningham had three field goals and one free throw besides being a tower of strength defensively. Jordan had seven points for Port Hope and Lenahan six

The teams:

PCVS Junior A—M. Grafstein 10, Hendren 2, McIlraith 4, Hempstead, Langhorne 4, Cunningham 7, Ash, Doughty 4, Fowler, Brown 2. Total 33.

Frankford Triumphs

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 21 — (ENS)—In a mediocre hockey game played in Frankford Monday in sub-zero weather, the Frankford TVL team strengthened their play-off hopes by defeating Campbellford by the score of 7-5.

Frankford really won the game in the first three minutes of play, by scoring three fast goals to give them the lead they held throughout the entire game.

Frankford led the scoring 3-2 at the end of the first period, 6-2 at the finish of the second, and 7-5 at the end.

There was quite a lot of backchecking and wood-chopping throughout the game. Campbellford came back quite strong during the last frame, and carried the play. The Frankford boys were beginning to tire due to the fast pace at which they started the game, but Campbellford had more reserves than the opposing team, and consequently did not tire as easily.

Doug Free, Robinson, Peake and Forrester were the most valuable players for Campbellford.

It is expected Campbellford will play Hastings on Friday night.

Legionnaires Beat Petes To Even Up Puck Series

The scrappy Legionnaires fought back here last night to sew up their OHA senior "B" group best-of-five semi-finals at a game apiece by beating the Petes 5-1. A good-sized crowd braved the sub-zero weather and saw another sizzling scrap, with Legion earning the decision as they bore in hard in every frame. They drew six of the nine penalties as they battled it out all the way. While no actual fighting occurred, fisticuffs threatened half a dozen times, and there was a good share of high sticking, elbowing and roughing. The referees took a lenient view of things and the players cashed in on it. The score was 1-0 for Legion in the frist frame and 3-1 for them going into the third of a hot, speedy and exciting joust.

Scored A Pair

Doug Mortimer got two of the winners' goals, and turned in a hard-working chore throughout. Bert Hill was in on a pair, too, while Freddy Mortimer, Bob Parnell, Keith Montgomery and Sixty Coombs were in on one apiece. Godfrey, Burns and Nicholls stood out defensively, with the whole team pushing hard and passing well to hold an edge on play most of the route. Drake Jopling got the Petes' marker with Legrow aiding. Harding was busy in goal and tough to beat, and Horton checked hard on defence. They all worked hard but didn't click up to their Friday form. Murray Fife was off sick.

The first goal came at 7.05 when Doug Mortimer raced in to intercept a Petes' pass and slam it fast into the hemp. McMaster went off later for tripping and then Greenlaw for hooking, but neither side did much pressing in their absence. Play was fast and fairly even, getting a bit rougher as the referees took it easy, and some feuds started building up.

Made It 2-0

Fred Mortimer tallied early in the second on a return pass from Parnell and a backhand shot. Hill went over for tripping but no damage was done. Later in the heat, Jopling took Legrow's pass and his hot shot glanced in off a Legion stick to make it 2-1. A general fight threatened late in the inning with several pairs rushing each other around, and Ray Harding drew a minor penalty for slashing and a misconduct for arguing. Jerry Creighton serving it. It cost two goals, Doug Mortimer getting one on a double bank shot right away.

Montgomery made it 4-1 to open the third on Hill's rebound. Each side in turn pressed in speedy travelling. Crowley was no sooner back from an interference penalty than Montgomery got it for cross-checking as a fight threatened with Horton. He returned and Tompkins and Montgomery almost mixed it. Vitarelli and Collins drew the gate for high-sticking. Burns and Tompkins came close to blows next, the former getting the finger for roughing it. Two were back on the ice in the dying seconds and play was redhot when Coombs knocked in Hill's pass at point-blank range to end it.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, Greenlaw, F. Mortimer, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Tompkins and McMaster; centre, West; wings, Garvey and Conlin; alternates, Leonard, Legrow, Creighton, Paget, Collins, Griffin, Jopling and Horton

Referees: S. Vail and L. Heffering

The main bout will see Whipper Watson tangling with Sky Hi Lee with Ed (Strangler) Lewis as referee. The semi-final features the famous Dr. Len Hall against the handsome Californian, Kay Bell. The entire card shapes us as just about the best of the season, with six outstanding grapplers and the famous Strangler Lewis.

Marlies Crush Galt 7-1, Secure Top Spot

By The Canadian Press.

With Monday night's 7-1 victory over Galt Black Hawks Toronto Marlboros assured themselves of finishing in first place in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings with at least a seven point margin over the second slot Windsor Spitfires.

The Windsor kids also covered themselves in glory Monday night by thumping in three goals in the third period to take a 5-2 four-point decision from St. Michael's College. Windsor and Marlboros close out the regular season when they hook up for a game in Windsor on Wednesday night.

The Marlboro victory may have been a costly one. In the third period Dan Windley received a serious neck cut and was rushed to hospital where his condition was described as fair.

The two clubs split a pair of tallies in the opening frame but the league-leaders pumped home two in the middle session and closed out with four in the final frame.

Two Big Guns

Larry Regan and Jack McKenzie were the big guns for the winners with two goals each while Danny Lewicki, Lorne Pirie and Ron Hurst added singletons Jack Green scored the lone tally.

Sixth-place St. Michael's held the powerful Windsor crew to a 2-2 draw in the first frame but came out on the short end of a 3-0 score in the third. Earl Reibel and Bob Rawlyk sparked the winners with two goals each with Eddie Stankiewicz ringing the bell once.

Paul Plata and Leo Labine potted the Irish markers.

Cage Foul Shooting Competition Begins

The basketball foul-shooting championship competition is coming up again in a three-night play, commencing tonight at 8.15 in the YMCA. It is for the M. E. Knox Trophy, and the top three men of the two preliminary nights shoot off on the third night for the title and trophy. This year, in addition to the trophy, crests will be presented to all men shooting 35 out of 50 point on either of the preliminary nights.

It is the fourth year of this trophy competition, aimed at improving the marksmanship of the men basketeers of the city, being open to all. The first year the Knox Trophy was up, Bill Edgar, with Outboard Marines, won it with 40 out of 50. The nevt year saw teammate Gord Burns take it with 40 out or 50. The next year Don Griffin of PCVS — with Queen's now — won with 46 out of 50 points.

Floor Hockey At 'Y'

...would have to fold up. However, the YMCA—Al Clark was the spokesman — made a generous offer of use of the gym for floor hockey for this league Friday nights from five to nine p.m. It was realized that a large number of boys would be deprived of a favorite sport, so this substitute was offered and gladly accepted.

A meeting of the Church League member will be held tomorrow night at 7.30 in the "Y" to arrange for the drawing up of the schedule, and other matters pertaining to the league. All those interested are urged to attend by Jim Edwards, vice-president of the circuit.

A Costly Victory

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Feb. 21 — (AP) — Mexican bullfighter Gregorio Puebla was in jail today—for killing a bull. Puebla delivered a clean, mortal thrust on the kill. It was an artistic finish that brought the crowd of Aficionados in the La Solera Arena to its feet in a standing ovation yesterday. Then the police collared Puebla and hauled him off to jail. Bullfighting is legal in Costa Rica—but the bull must not be killed.

Wings Down Canadiens 2-0 In Extremely Rough Tilt

MONTREAL, Feb. 21 (CP) — With 15 games left to go in the 70-game National Hockey League season, Gordie Howe is inching up on his brilliant line-mates of the Detroit Red Wings in the individual scoring race.

Ted Lindsay, out all last week for a rest, still leads the pack with 58 points—19 goals and 39 assists. Sid Abel is second with 56 points and Howe now has 52 points.

Official statistics released by the League Monday showed Howe with 51 points but he banged in a goal Monday night as Detroit downed Montreal Canadiens 2-0. That gave him two points—both goals—during the just-concluded week. He now has 27 goals and 25 assists while Abel has 28 bullseyes and the same number of assists

Richard Stymied

Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Canadiens failed to get a point on Monday night but he managed three goals during the week to run his total to 30, best in the league by two. He is in fourth place with 49 points, including 19 assists.

Lindsay still leads the assists department with his 39.

Bad-man Bill Gadsby of Chicago still tops that department with 120 minutes in the cooler.

Monday night's rough Detroit-Montreal game marked the second time in three nights that the Habitants lost.

The Canadiens now are in third place, four points behind Toronto. Detroit strengthened its NHL lead to eight points over the Maple Leafs by the victory.

Canadiens Fined

The lone game Monday night saw an extremely rough first period with the Canadiens paying $100 in fines as a result of arguments with referee Hugh McLean.

The hot-headed Lindsay drew three penalties, one a major, to run his total for the season to 112 minutes, second highest total in the league.

Billy Reay of Canadiens and his coach Dick Irvin, drew fines of $50 each. Reay drew a match misconduct and Irvin was fined for jumping on the ice to argue with the referee.

Star of the game was Len (Red) Kelly, Detroit defenceman, who scored the Wings' first goal in the final period and set up Howe for the second with five seconds remaining. Joe Carveth and Marty Pavelich got assists on Kelly's first goal.

Getting back to the statistical department, Montreal's Bill Durnan remained in the lead with 122 goals permitted in 55 games. Next best is New York Rangers' Chuck Rayner who has allowed 125 goals in 53 games.

Toronto's Turk Broda still leads the shut-out parade with eight, one more than Durnan.

Douglas Of Cleveland Leads AHL Scoring

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (CP)— Les Douglas of Cleveland Barons today topped the American Hockey League in scoring for the 19th straight week.

The veteran centre has 30 goals and 55 assists fo 85 points through games of Sunday, Feb. 19.

...ts each with Bud Carse a step behind at 72 points.

Buffalo's inactive Connie Dion still retained the best mark among the goal tenders with an average of 2.55 on 84 goals allowed in 33 games.

Man's Life Story Illustrates Business Growth

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

In 1904 Alfred E. Wills of Belleville was hired as sales representative covering all Canada for a firm of United States drug manufacturers.

Monday he was present while the Canadian subsidiary of that firm opened a $400,000 manufacturing laboratory in East York, a Toronto suburb.

This story within one man's life tells in capsule form the growth of Canada in population and industry and in attraction for business.

The firm is Sharp & Dohme (Canada) Ltd. John S. Zinsser, chairman of the board of the parent Philadelphia company and president of the Canadian subsidiary, put it this way:

"The new laboratories represent our faith in the industrial future of this country and bring to realization our desire to have our own Canadian plant, manned by Canadian personnel, and producing an increasing portion of our products from Canadian raw materials. . . ."

Under Control

Said Dr. Arthur D. Kelly, assistant executive secretary of the Canadian Medical Association:

"At the beginning of the century it is not unfair to say that medicinal therapeutics was largely directed towards the alleviation of symptoms, and the application of drugs and biologicals to the specific prevention and cure of disease was undreamed of."

He cited as only a few of the disabilities which have been placed under control or denied their killing power:

Syphilis, diabetes, pernicious anaemia, diphtheria, typhoid, rickets, scurvy, pneumonia, tuberculosis, epidemic meningitis.

Not least among those bring ing this about, he said, are the pharmaceutical manufacturers, "out of whose laboratories have come many of these discoveries, and out of whose factories have evolved the production methods which have made new life-saving preparations available to millions.

"It is only necessary to consider the introduction, production and improvement of the sulpha drugs—or the more recent example of penicillin. Without the progressive production methods introduced by pharmaceutical manufacturers who pooled their knowledge during wartime, we might still be scraping moulds off the inside of bottles, and the antibiotics might be still rare and costly preparations."

But when July rolls round, and her first holiday in four years is over, Miss Hockin figures she'll be eager to get back to her charges and the land of the Midnight Sun.

other "harmful activities of Communists in Canada."

Mr. Coldwell's sub-amendment called for a vote of non-confidence in the government for "failure" to establish an over-all social security program.

He expanded on the earlier amendment again when he called for criticism of the government for failing to protect civil liberties and for not acting to curb the activity of Fascists as well as Communists.

Bright Future

The third day of the session, traditionally the one on which the throne-speech debate starts in earnest, saw Prime Minister St. Laurent reply to opposition attacks by predicting that the future for Canadians is bright and that they can look forward to it with confidence.

Roving over a wide assortment of topics in a two-hour speech, Mr. St. Laurent said the government expects Canada's balance of trade with the United States to improve this year, although exports to other countries would decline.

Imports in 1950 would remain about the same as last year. Canada hoped that more would come from the sterling areas and less from the U. S.

Balance of trade might be down as much as $250,000,000 but this wouldn't be a major factor in increasing unemployment. The domestic economy was buoyant and could be expected to remain that way.

Blames Bad Weather

Present unemployment — estimated at 375,000—was abnormal but it could be blamed in part on a seasonable decline combined with bad weather. The government saw no need for bringing out a shelf of public works because the unemployment situation was largely sectional.

However, it is hoped that coming extensions in unemployment insurance would help meet a problem which could be expected in future years.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader and fourth party leader in the debate, urged federal aid to education and expressed regret that it was not mentioned in the throne speech.

He suggested the government had done a poor job of public relations and added that some people think the government has actually attempted to mislead them, attempting to lull Canadians into a false sense of security.

Mr. Low criticized the government for not accepting the principle of an international commodity clearing house for disposing of growing surpluses. He charged the government had failed to face realities in refusing to accept sterling in payment for products the United Kingdom wanted but could not afford to buy with dollars.

Detailed Motion

In detail, Mr. Drew's non-confidence motion said the government has failed to take necessary measures to preserve and expand markets for Canada's surplus products of farm, forest, sea and mine. It also had failed, he said, to deal with the problems of increasing unemployment and reduced income to Canadian farmers and other producers.

He reopened the debate on the flour-milling report, a point of sharp contention at the last session. He charged that the government withheld the report of price-fixing in the industry for 10 months, through a federal election campaign and until it was too late to prosecute the companies.

Three leaders dealt with the question of Communism. Mr. Coldwell urged the government to recognize China's Communist government "at an early date."

Would Keep Contact

He didn't think there was any value in "cutting ourselves off from the teeming millions of China and a large part of the Far East." Recognition would not be approval of the form of government. But it was necessary if there was to be a move to gain the lost ground in the cold war of the Far East.

Mr. Coldwell's approach to Communism was that it could only be defeated by removing the conditions upon which it breeds want, misery and hunger.

Dealing with the situation in Canada, Mr. Drew said criminal code amendments are needed so Communists can be dealt with before the courts.

Any known spies should be prosecuted by the government, he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said he is sure that whenever action is needed against spies or Communists the government will have enough courage to take the necessary steps.

Importance of Oil

Discussing trade, Mr. St. Laurent emphasized the importance of oil to Canada's economy. It was valuable because it would add greatly to Canada's earning power in the United States market, the only major market in which Canada had an adverse trade balance.

It might be possible in future to completely balance exports and imports of oil by sending to the U. S. as much in the west as the U. S. sent to Canada in the east.

Mr. Drew accused the government of failing to take necessary action to tackle the growing trade problem. A serious threat to farmers in loss of markets and drops in prices had occurred in the two months since paliament was in session. But the government had not given any indication it was aware of the true situation, even though members had warned about it last session.

He didn't accept the theory of the government that the unemployment situation was mostly season. It was not too much to describe it as "critical." Much of it, he contended, was due to loss of seaboard traffic.

Mr. Drew argued for convertibility as one angle of a solution to the trade problem. Mr. Coldwell and Mr. Low indicated they favored acceptance of sterling.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald Buried In St. Peter's

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Fitzgerald, widow of the late John Fitzgerald, Otonabee township, was held Saturday from the Anglesey Funeral Home. Requiem high mass was said in Sacred Heart Church by Rev. C. McCarney.

In the sanctuary were Right Rev. J. J. O'Brien and the Rev. J. Maskey.

Mrs. Fitzgerald died Thursday in hospital after a long illness at the age of 76.

Pall-bearers were Dennis Menogue, John Sweeney, Sidney Reid, William Hutchison, Denis Driscoll and Gerald McMartin.

Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery with the Rev. F. M. Grant, DD, saying the graveside prayers.

Congressman Jailed For 2 Days

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Spry, 61-year-old Representative Fred L. Crawford (Rep. Mich.) returned Monday to a back-slapping ovation on Capitol hill after spending two nights in jail to uphold "the principle that congressmen should not have any special privileges."

Crawford pleaded guilty to assault charges in a Maryland police court and paid a $28.50 fine for taking a poke at a well-muscled young prize-fighter-law student who works for him.

"It was worth it," Crawford told reporters.

Back at his congressional chores, he promptly announced:

"I'm thinking seriously of suing the authorities who kept me in jail. I've got them cold for unlawful detention."

The wealthy legislator, who owns a 260-acres Maryland farm, had insisted on staying in the red-brick bastille at Upper Marlboro, Md., following his arrest Saturday for punching 23-year-old Fred Hanbury in the eye.

Convicted of Assault

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP) — Judge Samuel Factor Monday termed William Daniell, 43, "a stage-door Johnny" as he convicted him of common assault against Patti Page, a torch singer. Daniell was fined $50 for breaking into the entertainer's room last Novem-

Carnival Show Gets Permit From Council

Permission to Canadian Legion to sponsor a carnival show for a week on the city's property at Townsend, George and Rink Streets was given by the Council Monday night in a motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Ald. Doug Miller.

The date is May 15-20, one week ahead of the Jaycee Jamboree at Morrow Park.

"I am not saying anything against the Legion," said Ald. E. C. Braund, "but I don't think the timing is fair to the Junior Chamber of Commerce people. If it could be arranged for some other week, it would not hurt anybody. It seems to me that if the Legion would time their week differently, they would not be taking the cream off the Jaycee show."

Ald. H. Dodds said the Legion arranged a show for last Civic Holiday, and for that same date a circus was given permission to set up at the Exhibition Grounds. The Legion funds are needed for welfare work among ex-service men.

Mayor Swanston said the Council had established a policy of keeping carnival shows and circuses out of the city's parks.

Ald. Adam Sands recalled that he "got mixed up with" a carnival show six or seven years ago. They were to set up at Riverside Park, but the ground was soft from spring freshet effect. The carnival people arrived and had to go somewhere. "They ended up at King Edward Park, and made a mess of it," Ald. Sands recalled.

Floyd Curtis was chairman of the Parks Committee at that time, and easily persuaded the Council to exclude the so-called carnival outfits from the parks of Peterborough for the future.

The Council passed the Dewart-Miller resolution.

Frozen water pipes in a duplex at 185 Murray St., forced tenant Don Edwards to attempt to thaw them out on Monday evening. The house had been so cold, he said, that his wife and their two children Lynne and David had gone to her mother's at 217 Woodbine Ave.

Later the family arrived home and the children were hustled to bed. Mr. Edwards got out a blowtorch, a faulty one, that sprayed a couch in the kitchen-living room with burning gasoline just after he ignited it.

Fire spread quickly in the room and an alarm was sounded to the fire department. Meanwhile, Edwards managed to get upstairs and bundle the children well against the cold and let them and their mother out the rear entrance. He suffered minor burns on his forehead and both forearms which he thought may have been caused when he was fighting his way to save the children.

Mr. Edwards estimated loss to personal belongings at about $600 and Fire Chief George Smith, who viewed the scene of the fire again today estimated the interior of the duplex was damaged to the extent of $1,000. The building is owned by Mrs. E. M. Seymour, 310 Rubidge St.

Garbage Horses To Be Ousted By Sanivans?

Expansion of the city, requiring longer hauls in the collection of garbage, has prompted a recommendation from the sanitation department to dispense with horses, as suggested at the finance committee meeting following the council's sitting Monday night.

Three dump trucks and the special 'sanivan' collector are now the motor section of the department's equipment. Two additional trucks are considered to be sufficient for complete transfer to mechanical hauling. Ald. J. E. Gillespie is chairman of the sanitation section of the board of works.

If the budget for this year will permit the investment, the proposal may take definite form for the council's approval. At present it is only a project in the stage of consideration.

Board of works still requires three or four horses for snowplowing the sidewalks.

Use of the horse barn at the city yards on Townsend St., if truck transport should be adopted, would be switched to garage purpose for the municipal fleet of motor equipment.

Council in committee Monday night spent nearly three hours on the rough draft of various departmental estimates. Adjournment was around midnight.

Two Cars Damaged In Douro St. Crash

Two cars were smashed when they collided at Douro St. and Armour Rd. Monday night.

Dr. Louis Zacks, 397 Reid St., driving south on Armour Rd., met in collision with a car driven east on Douro St. by Edward A. Collis, 82 Victoria St.

The Zacks car had the left front fender torn off, the grill and radiators broken, the hood crumpled, the frame bent and one headlight smashed. Traffic Officer Claire J. McGillen investigated.

Keene Curlers Revive Bonspiel

Revival of the Keene Curling Club after many dormant winters was completed last week with a bonspiel that lined up 22 rinks in the men's section and 14 in the women's draw.

Two rinks were tied in the runner-up slot. They were: Don Weir, William Brown, William Wood and Henry Weir, skip; and John Edwards, Dick Davis, Boyd Renwick and Charles Nelson.

They will play off their tie in the near future.

The winners in the women's division were: Mary McCarthy, Evelyn Richardson, Mrs. Harry Manley and Mrs. David McIntyre, skip.

The rinks skipped by Mrs. George Walton and Mrs. Arnold Sexsmith tied for second place. After a draw Mrs. Walton's rink were declared second spot winners. With the skip were Mrs. Emery Givens, Mrs. Lloyd Wismer and Mrs. Percy Adamson.

The rink provided five ices.

Plans Approved For School Annex

Final plans for the annex to Prince of Wales School were approved by the accommodation committee of the Board of Education on Monday afternoon. These call for a six-room addition to be built on the property immediately south of the present school on Monaghan Road. The school will include five classrooms, a kindergarten, and will be so situated that four additional rooms may be added at a future date. It will be of the one-story type without basement, but with a large foyer where the children can gather in rainy and stormy weather before the opening of school.

At one end of the kindergarten room will be a stage. Thus the present kindergarten may be used as a utility room. The school will also have a nurses' room, doctor's room, teachers' room and principal's office.

43% of Patients At Hospital Come From Outside City

Residents of the city represented 57% of the number of patients using the facilities of the Civic Hospital in 1949. This statistical fact was mentioned in the memorandum of the finance committee of the council relating to its recent meeting with representatives of the Board of Governors of the hospital, as adopted by the council Monday night.

The report read by Ald. Hugh [illegible], chairman, was as follows: "In the operation of Civic Hospital, particularly since in 1949, city patients represented only 57% of those using the facilities of the hospital.

"Speaking for the Board of Governors, Mr. J. R. Marshall said that it was the Board's intention to increase the hospital rates sufficiently to cover the full expenditures of the hospital, which would have the result of reducing greatly the deficits incurred in the operation of the hospital. He said the Board was prepared to discuss this matter at an early date with representatives of the municipalities who use the facilities of the hospital.

1949 Fire Loss Set At $42,250

The January (last month) fire bill was $13,363.65 of which $6,478 was in damage to buildings and $6,885.65 on contents. The department responded to 73 alarms during the month of which 66 were by telephone, two by alarm boxes, three by automatic sprinklers and two verbal.

Capt. George Gimblett was off duty from Jan. 6 to 30 with a shoulder burned at a fire; Fireman C. Bennett was off from Jan. 19 to 31 with a knee injury suffered at a fire; and Fireman George Reynolds from Jan. 7 to Jan. 23 with a broken toe. Total number of inspection in January was 566 with 10 re-inspections.

There were 54 fewer alarms but 20 more fires last year. The actual number of fires represented in the amount of damage and loss by smoke, fire and water was 78.

H. I. Bradburn City's Nominee

Only in the spirit and trust of public service did Mr. Herbert Bradburn accept his appointment by the council as representative of the city on the board of arbitration to deal with council's agreement for 1950 with the Fire Fighters' Union.

That was the brief information to the council Monday night by Mayor Swanston in regard to its adoption of the fire, water and light committee's report read by the chairman, Ald. Doug. Miller.

The clause in the report was: "That since the Peterborough Fire Fighters' Association, Local 519, has requested that the proposed agreement between the Association and the Council for 1950 be referred to a board of arbitration, the council's offer of service pay to the members of the Fire Department, be withdrawn, and that the agreement with this am-

"Mr. Bradburn said he was not anxious to accept it," Mayor Swanston said. "He said he would be more than satisfied if the council had any one else in view. Mr. Bradburn told me he would be willing to accept only as a public service."

Accounts listed for payment in the report of the finance committee to the council last night included an item of $7,232.32 to the Receiver General of Canada. It was an expense relating to the civic pensions plan.

Six items amounting to $4,259.14 were for appraisal and other work done by W. H. Bosley of Toronto during the last year and a half or two years.

Mr. Bosley's engagement covered valuations of the market property when it was being considered for sale; similar appraisals of the city's store properties on George St.; the value and potential use of the George St. lot at Townsend and Rink Streets; valuations and negotiations for the buying of the properties comprising the city hall site at George and Murray Streets.

Various licenses amounted to $451.50 plus $80 for 16 marriage licenses. oPlice court fines added $779.90. Total receipts through the City Clerk's office were $4,380.28.

ICE IN THE BOILER ROOM

Boiler rooms in most plants and The Examiner's is no exception are very warm places, especially during cold spells, when the heating system is being pushed. Thus to the surprise of employees today icicles were found at the bottom of the air shoot within a few feet of the two large boilers.

A cold air vent has recently been installed and the air from outside was so cold that the condensation which was forming on the vent and dropping to the floor was freezing when the cold air passed over it.

Thus while there were icicles in the boiler room the rest of Examiner was cozy and warm.

Men In Bush

Winter has been lending a belatedly helping hand to the logging industry in northern Peterborough and Haliburton with recent snow in the bush and thicker ice on the lakes.

A. B. Wheatley, district forester at Lindsay, reports an easing of the tension and worry under which lumbermen and woods operators have been working since the turn of the year to get their cut of timber out.

"Most of the lakes in the district now have a depth of ice sufficient to support the sleigh haul and on many lakes the truck haul of logs. Likewise the reappearance of snow and cold weather has made it possible hauling loads through the woods."

Mr. Wheatley comments that lumbering north of the Kawarthas is today almost entirely dependent on snow and ice.

Department of Lands and Forests timber scalers have almost completed the measurement of timber cut from Crown lands.

London Students Win Drama Prize

KINGSTON, Feb. 21 (CP)—The University of Western Ontario's dramatic society Monday night won the Rose Bowl Award for the best play presented in the one-day annual inter-university drama festival at Queens. Six Ontario and Quebec universities competed.

Western University won the award for its presentation of "Hello Out There" by William Saroyan, and the play's director, Bill Davidson, was presented with the bowl by Hale Trotter of Queens, president of the inter-university drama league.

The adjudicator, Dr. Glen Shortliffe of Queens, said the Saroyan play was presented with originality and given a finished performance.

But for acting awards the adjudicator turned to other plays. Miss Joan Walker of Queens was named best actress and Russell Moore of Loyola College, Montreal, best actor. Moore acted a feminine role.

Three plays were presented Monday afternoon and three more Monday night and included Queens Drama Guild's "Still Stands the House," by Gwen Pharis of Winnipeg, directed by Norman McKinney.

Niles Buchanan (CCF, Notukeu-Willowbunch), in seconding the address, said "We know it is impossible for capitalism to function without periods of war and depression, and we are striving to bring about the day when such things will no longer be the inevitable lot of humanity."

Rifle Regiments Get Green Tams

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP)—The rifle regiments of the Canadian Army have finally won their long battle for green tams.

The battle started at the end of the war when most Canadian Army units reverted to khaki tams. Rifle regiments, already authorized to wear black buttons, belts and anklets, claimed the khaki tams clashed and asked permission to wear the green tams, now the official headdress of British Army rifle regiments.

The only rifle regiment in the active army, however, probably won't adopt green tams. The regiment, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, has been transferred to an airborne battalion and wears the maroon tam of airborne units.

Among those affected by the ruling, announced by army headquarters Monday, are the Highland Light Infantry of Canada, Galt; the Oxford Rifles, Woodstock, and the Canadian Fusiliers, London, Ont.

He was formerly president of British Canadian Securities Ltd., British Canadian Mines Ltd., International Radium and Resources Ltd., Superhealth Chemicals Ltd., and Cobalt Contact Mines Ltd.

Born at Maple, Ont., he was the son of the late Rev. William Aitken of Newcastle, N.B.

He is survived by his widow, one son, William Aitken, Conservative candidate in Bury St. Edmunds in the British general election, and a daughter Margaret Aitken, columnist on the Toronto Telegram. There are three brothers, Lord Beaverbrook, Dr. Arthur Aitken of Lockport, N.Y., and Allan Aitken of Montreal.

Find Newspapers, Movies Bar To Reviving Language

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, Feb. 21—(CP)—Now can a dying language live? Through the extension of a "shell of protection' 'around the dwindling districts where semi-peasants still speak the tongue of their forbears. That's the opinion of Eamon De Valera, former Prime Minister of Eire and long a fighter for the cause of gaelic.

The chief menaces to the revival of an all-but-lost language are newspapers, movies and radio which spread the use of the dominant English tongue.

Addressing a meeting of Welsh teachers and students at Aberdare, Glamorganshire, De Valera, himself a school teacher before his rebel days, said the "language problems" of Wales and the Republic of Ireland are fundamentally similar. Both sought to "save a dying language."

But the three mass-information sources he had named, continuously driving into the eye and ear the "foreign" tongue, create "constant difficulty."

Build A Shell

The first step should be the building of a "shell of protection around the hard core of the districts where the language to be revived was spoken." Next, the language should gradually be restored to the areas surrounding.

Most of the work would fall to the sch...

But the whole process of reviving the Welsh and Erse languages could not be left to teachers alone. Adults as well as children must make a point of speaking their own tongue whenever possible. A language could live only through speech

Risich An Be Fund

Despite government efforts since 1933 the spoken use of Gaelic in Southern Ireland has not increased notably. Some authorities blame over-academic approach to the subject by education authorities.

A man out to put an end to all this is Gearoid O Broin Gearoid, a teacher at Dublin's Capel Street Technical Institute. He says Irish isn't necessarily just school work — it can be fun.

He has recently published a book in Gaelic — the first of its kind in the language. It's all about "Fun and Games."

His "Sugradh Agus Siamsa" starts out with simple counting games for small children and works up through riddles and tongue-twisters to literary, musical and dramatic games.

That's the way the language as a tool to use toward pleasure, should be learned, he maintains—not as a drudgery to pick up a smattering of snobbish "culture."

Colonial Areas Have Slavery

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 21 (CP)—The United Nations reported Monday that "practices akin to slavery" still exist in colonial and trust areas.

The traffic, involving women and children in a few Asian and African localities, included the slave-girl trade originating in China as a by-product of rice famines.

The survey, based on annual reports from administering powers, indicated, however, that "slavery in the full sense of the term is no longer practised."

The report said Mui Tsai—sale of girls bought from parents—exists in China, Malaya, Hong Kong and Singapore. Latest reports indicated progress in stamping out Mui Tsai in the British colonial areas but said social agencies were handicapped by "almost complete unwillingness and lack of co-operation of the victims."

Many, the report said, escape back into prostitution and singsong jobs and to be mistresses of wealthy patrons.

Send Ultimatum To President Li Return Or Quit

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 21 — (AP).— Nationalist China's long-brewing political crisis neared an explosive climax today.

Premier Yen Hsi-shan's office disclosed he is trying to resign, and the supreme war cabinet issued an ultimatum to Acting President Li Tsung-jen to return home by Friday or lose his job.

Li went to New York in December for a stomach operation. Monday he sent word that he wants to return to China, but that his doctor has advised against a long journey. Even if he should start immediately by air, he would have difficulty in meeting the Friday deadline.

The telegram demanding his return said that if he did not come, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek would be asked to resume the presidency without further ado.

Dominant Figure

Chiang "retired" 13 months ago to let Li make an unsuccessful attempt to negotiate peace with the Chinese Communists. Chiang has remained the dominant figure in the government, however, and has continued to direct the war against the Reds almost without interruption.

Driven off the mainland, the government fled to Formosa at the same time Li flew to New York. The schism between the Chiang and Li factions has deepened ever since.

Sharpening the crisis, Yen's office announced he had tendered his resignation a week ago, determined to quit once and for all. Rumors of his resignation have circulated for months.

Yen is under attack by both the Chiang and Li factions. Li supporters accuse him of being merely a stooge for Chiang. Chiang followers say he is an incompetent day-dreamer. Both blame him for government reverses in the civil war.

Actually, Yen reluctantly became Premier only last June, when the Nationalist military defeat already was all but accomplished. He was in poor position to stem the tide.

PRAGUE, Feb. 21 (AP) — Eleven Mormon missionaries left Czechoslovakia Monday night in the first mass move by the Mormon church to liquidate its American-directed activities here. The Communist-led government ordered two of the missionaries expelled on the charge they constituted a "danger to the safety and security of the senate." They are Bale T. 6-Piece Wardrobe Spring Surprise

For about $25 or $30 she can buy herself a "co-ordinated wardrobe" which will take her through the entire week-end and will equip her for any occasion.

Skirts, blouses, shorts, bras, jackets, slacks, and pedal-pushers are all made to mix-match by California sportswear manufacturers showing their spring and summer fashions this week.

Typical of the good looking co-ordinates is a 6-piece set. Black and white checked gingham and black pique are combined in six interchangeable pieces which make a stunning and variable wardrobe.

Although labelled sportswear, many cotton dresses feature an overskirt of organdy or voile which turns a work dress into a date dress.

Sheer cottons in dark colors are most popular for the coming season, with black, brown, and navy blue heading the list.

Gnr. J. A. Nicholls Wed In Brandon

A wedding of interest here took place recently in St. Hedwig's Church, Brandon, when Gunner James Albert Nicholls, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nicholls, 909 Water St., Peterborough, was married to Teresa Frances, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zatlyny of Brandon. The Rev. J. J. The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin featuring a high neckline with insert having flowered appliquee studded with rhinestones, the same applique carried out on the peplum. The skirt fell in a graceful train and her headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones held her finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Rogene Siskatwich was matron of honor and chose blue lace over brocaded taffeta, pink taffeta hat with lace trim and pink lace mittens. Mrs. Joy Forsyth and Miss Jean Poruchny were bridesmaids, dressed in yellow and pink taffeta with matching hats and mittens. Each was carrying a bouquet of iris and carnations. Little Ann Hudzik was flower girl in pretty frock of pink taffeta with matching headdress covered with sequins and carried a nosegay of carnations.

The groom was attended by Jack Thompson and ushers were James Laurie and Walter Wanger.

After a reception in the parish hall for 200 guests, the couple left for a honeymoon in Winnipeg, then returned to Brandon. Gunner Nicholls is with the Canadian Army stationed at Camp Shilo, Man.

Girls Thumb Way To See World

WINNIPEG.—Two adventurous Winnipeg girls have solved the problem of the monotonous job, the morning bus and the routine life of the officer worker.

Amelia Zurick, 26, and Nancy Halford, 28, plan to quit their jobs with the Winnipeg office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and travel around the world by bicycle, thumb and luck.

Their odyssey will begin in March when they sail to England on the Queen Mary. In Britain they will work in offices and factories for about six months. It will take that long, they believe, to see all the places and historic sites they have read about.

After Britain the girls hope to visit all the other continents before returning to Canada.

Romance is definitely not the objective of the world jaunt. The girls avow "We just want to see the world."

Their families, after initial hesitation, are now enthusiastic about the trip, but insisted that the girls bank enough money for a return ticket before starting out.

"Most of the other women and men in the office think our idea is wonderful," Nancy says. "Only a few of the mthink it is a hare-brained scheme."

Why Seagram's sells Canada first

This advertisement is an adaptation of one of a series created by The House of Seagram to tell the peoples of other lands about Canada and her various products. For the past two years this campaign has been appearing in newspapers and magazines printed in many languages and circulated throughout the world.

Our prosperity is based on our ability to sell our products to other countries. Every Canadian has a personal stake in foreign trade, for one out of every three dollars of Canada's national income results from our trade abroad. The more that the peoples of other countries know of the quality, variety and prestige of our products, the more likely they are to buy from us.

We feel that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary line of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—this view embraces the entire Dominion. That is why The House of Seagram believes that it is in the interest of every Canadian manufacturer to help the sale of all Canadian products in foreign markets. It is in this spirit that these advertisements are being published throughout the world.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband's Gay Night Out No Cause for Wife to Panic

DEAR MISS DIX: I am fast approaching middle age. My husband and I have lived very happily for years. He has been one of the world's finest, devoted to me, the children and home. Several weeks ago while in a distant city he went with some men friends to a night club and he said that they danced and drank with some of the show girls. I tried to make him promise that he would never do so again, but he refused. Said that he lived too narrow a life and there was no harm in what he did. I feel that I cannot face life without him and that I cannot live with him unless I retain my respect. What shall I do?

TULSA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly are making much ado about nothing. For what has your poor husband done that has got you so hot and bothered? He has been to a night club. Well, if every man in America who has been to a night club got divorced for his cirme, Reno would be working overtime.

No Treat For Girls

And he danced with a show girl! Show girls aren't poison. Most of them are honest, hard-working girls who are hired to dance with strangers that they never saw before and never expect to see again. And it is no treat to them to dance with some middle-aged married man who hasn't been on a ballroom floor since his first baby was born, and who is heavy and clumsy and steps all over their feet.

So do try to see how silly you are in getting in a panic over something your husband did that had no wrong in it except what you put into it yourself, and how foolish you were to make an issue of an episode that you should have laughed off. Think of the heartburnings and reproaches and accusations and quarrels that you would have been spared if you had just been interested in your husband's night out in the city and had accepted it as the perfectly normal occurrence that it was.

And try to realize that you making scenes about it had only one result. It has made it seem ten times more glamorous and fascinating than it was. In reality night clubs are dull and tiresome places for settled, middle-aged domestic men who are devoted husbands and fathers, as your husband is. Once or twice is about all they want of it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a merchant in a small town in which I know practically everyone and my business depends upon the way I treat my customers. I am not in the slightest degree interested in any woman except my wife, but when she sees the same woman in my store a few times or when a woman she does not know bows to me, she is furiously jealous and wants to know how it is they all know me. She also resents the contributions to my women customers' charities and says that I can help every one else, but never have time to help her with anything around the house. What shall I do?

A MAN IN NEED

ANSWER: I suppose you have told her a million times that her prosperity depends upon your popularity with women, and that every woman in your store means just that much more money for her to spend. If you have tried to make her see that a merchant's success depends upon his being persona grata with women, who do almost all of the buying, and she still persists in remaining so green-eyed that she cannot see it, there is nothing else that you can do except just make up your mind to let her take her spleen out in nagging you or else to leave her.

It is incredible that any woman could have little enough sense, as well as heart, to permit her jealousy not only to ruin her husband but herself. For she also goes down in the ruins when she wrecks him by her folly.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think is a father's duty to his children after they are all grown up and married? I gave mine college educations, set them up in business, in which they made no effort to make succeed, and paid the debts they contracted. I was left a widower, lonely and without a home and I married a widow who has made me very uncomfortable in my [illegible] you did exactly right in marrying and that your children have no right to object. Certainly the man who makes his own money is entitled to spend it as he pleases. A father who has supported and educated and helped his children get a start in life has done his duty by them financially, and it is up to them to take care of themselves.

What's Right

You go alone to a large party and the few persons you know there all seem to be members of small conversational groups.

WRONG WAY: Stand off alone, waiting for someone you know to come over to you.

RIGHT WAY: Walk up and join a group by speaking to the person you know in it. That way you'll meet the others and the hostess won't have a lonely looking guest to worry about.

Parisiennes Banish Waists Sleeves and Shoulders

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP).—London and Paris dress designers have taken yet another new turning in the fashion highway — a move toward the short, waistless, boyish look of the 1920's.

London, whose spring fashion shows came just ahead of Paris, shows only a shy step toward the trend of 30 years ago. London designers as a whole, seem to want little part of the "monstrosities" of that shapeless period.

But Paris designers are bolder. Paris skirts are shorter, waistlines lower, and there are more sleeveless dresses. Some of the short evening dresses show the knees and are shorter than the shortest of the day dresses.

Neither city goes all out for the 1920's. They seem unsure of how far women will go towards what have been termed the ugliest pages of fashion history.

London hasn't gone much farther along that path than the tube-look skirts with natural waistlines combined with boxy jackets, or short, loose jackets with indefinite waistlines and an occasional sleeveless dress or jacket.

But the '20s look shows itself more definitely in some of London's short evening dresses.

The backless, halter necklines, unbelted waists, bunchy petalled hiplines and short tube skirts with long flying panels are reminiscent of the period of plucked,

"Not This Year"

"Hideous in the extreme," is London designer Peter Russell's opinion of the 1920 fashions.

"I do not believe that any sensible Parisienne, Londoner or New Yorker will show her knees or wear her waist round her hips this year.

"There is no threat of the 1920 Look as we knew it in London at present. We may suggest one aspect of 1920 fashions but we are far from the absurdities of that time."

Of Christian Dior's collection — first to be shown in Paris — Russell says:

"Sensible. But they are not what I call 1920 clothes. The 1920 Look proper belongs to a period recognized as one of the ugliest in fashion history. Those were feverish, madcap years and fashions were madcap too."

Lines on which Paris and London coincide are: the tube look; the side movement which develops into a fly-away line; the wedge-top effect created by short capes and rounded shoulder lines; variations of wedge cape themes on pencil-slim suits pegtop-draped skirts overlaid with net or lace and hobble skirts with treble-tiered bustles.

There is also a definite "oandy" look in the double-breasted jacket, with huge white collars and cuffs; the high, stiff-collared, bow-tied blouses and flat, mannish straw sailor hats.

Bride Receives Basket of Gifts

Prior to her wedding on Saturday, Mrs. Donald Moorby, nee Barbara Reid, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Arnold Hewitt and Miss Wilma Hewitt at their home, 535 Rogers St.

An address was read by Wilma Hewitt, and a large, gaily decorated basket containing many useful gifts was presented to the bride. After a social evening, a lunch was served by the hostesses, who were assisted by Mrs. Roy Tully and Mrs. Lorne Perry.

Those present were Mesdames L. Armstrong, R. McCall, B. Callan, J. Whalen, M. Fry, H. McCall, S. Mahood, Pulley, C. H. Hamilton, S. Jackson, B. Reid, L. Perry, G. Clark, A. V. Hewitt, J. McCall, H. Reynolds, J. Armstrong, R. Tully, Mc McCall, E. Howden, Moorby; Misses Shirley Armstrong, Marilyn Hamilton, Barbara Reid and Wilma Hewitt.

Those unable to be present but sending gifts were Mrs. Earl McGill and Miss Jean Perry.

Peterboro Women Consider Forming Electors' Assoc.

The advisability of forming a Women Electors' Association in Peterborough is being considered by the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA. To discuss the matter they are inviting representatives from all women's organizations in the city to a meeting on Thursday, February 23, to commence at eight o'clock in the YWCA.

Such an association has been operating in Toronto for some years and has frequently made its presence felt. It aims to see that there is good civic government by watching closely the government's actions and studying the citizens' special needs. After being sure of its facts, it takes a stand and presses for action, supporting only the principles and legislation believed in the best interests of the city.

Official observers are sent to every public meeting of the City Council, Board of Education, Board of Health and welfare organizations, and written reports are presented at monthly meetings of the association. Believing that the city's business is the business of every elector, these are made available in printed form to those interested. Intelligent voting is encouraged by follow-up and study of municipal affairs.

The work gives training and experience, which, in addition to native ability and integrity, enables the women to assume duties and responsibilities of important positions. The association is now frequently asked for information and to prepare briefs on civic subjects.

Speakers on topics of vital importance to citizens are heard at monthly meetings, as well as the discussion of current matters before Council.

If formed in Peterborough, membership in the Women Electors' Association would be open to all women who are British subjects residing in the city, and others sympathetic with the activities.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

In today's article I will describe some interesting situations that came up during the match between Oswald Jacoby and John R. Crawford vs. Sam Fry, Jr., and Theodore Lightner.

Mr. Lightner drew a card from the stock pile. Then there was some confusion, and before discarding, he drew another card from the stock pile and placed it in his hand. What was the penalty and the proper procedure?

The penalty for this is quite severe. Mr. Lightner was not allowed to make any melds, but he had to make one discard. At his next turn to play he was not permitted to draw, nor to pick up the pack, nor to make any melds. All he could do was to discard.

If he had drawn more cards by mistake from the stock pile, he would have had to follow this same procedure for as many turns as the number of extra cards he had drawn.

The situation is covered in Law 26, Section D, of the new Official Canasta Laws.

One of the most unusual situations that ever came up in a Canasta game occurred during this match. Nobody had been able to get the pack. The stock pile was down to 4 cards, so that the pack was very large. Mr. Crawford discarded a king. Mr. Lightner, sitting on his left, laid down 2 kings and took the discard pile.

He really had a "basketful" of cards. He sorted them out into different piles, finally made his melds, and had left in his hand 3 or 4 black treys, a couple of nines and 5 deuces.

Now Mr. Lightner asked how many cards were left in the stock pile. The stock pile was spread out on the table and each player counted 4 cards. "That means," said Lightner, "that I get another draw, doesn't it?" Mr. Jacoby, his left-hand opponent, said "Yes." Mr. Fry, Mr. Lightner's partner, also said "Yes, you get another draw." So Lightner kept his 5 deuces, and did not complete 3 other canastas that he could have completed. Then he discarded.

At this point Mr. Crawford rose from the table, went to the referee and said, "My partner has told Mr. Lightner that he gets another draw, but he may not, because there still is one red trey among the 4 cards in the stock pile."

The referee ruled that since both the player's partner and an opponent had agreed that Lightner would get another draw, and since Lightner himself could have seen that there still was a red trey out, he had completed his play, and it would have to stand.

Mr. Lightner did not get another draw and his side lost more than 1,000 points because of his failure to complete the other 3 canastas.

Here I'm leading off with two interesting questions readers have sent to me concerning the rules applying to the picking up of the discard pile:

Q—If there is only one card in the discard pile, may I take it and go out? I was told that there must be more than one card in the pile in order to pick it up and go out. Which is correct?

A—You can take a one card discard pile so long as you have 2 cards to match it in your hand, or a wild card and one matching card. You can go out, or make one or more melds. You also can your opponents could meld 3 aces regardless of the fact that you already had melded 3 of them. I have seen cases where both sides completed a canasta of the same kind.

You certainly can discard a card that you could meld. Very often it may pay to discard not only one card of a meld you have down but 2 or even 3 of them, in order to keep your opponents from getting the pack. This is especially true if you have a canasta and another possibility of one.

Discarding cards that you could meld makes it more difficult for the opponents to pick up the pack and they may be forced to make an unsafe discard which will enable you or your partner to get the pack on the next round.

Rio Inhabitants A Wreck Celebrating 4-Day Carnival

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 21—(Reuters)—It is carnival time and the Cariocas—as inhabitants of Rio are known—are making the most of it.

Since Saturday afternoon, Rio has been a garish wonderland of noise, light, and fantastic decorations. The festivities go on—if the population can last that long—until tonight. Tomorrow, Lent begins.

The lid is off when carnival swings into high. Everyday restrictions go by the board. But one rule is firmly imposed, and this embitters foreigners particularly. No spirits may be sold during carnival time.

But even so, the city is like a madhouse. Streetcars, the only form of public transportation, ran haphazardly. Fares are rarely collected and often motormen leave their cars to join the street gaiety.

Brazilians, as well as thousands of tourists, have been forgetting their troubles amid a background of music, singing and beating drums.

The more determined revellers never go home. A few hours of sleep in the early dawn in parks and doorways prepare them for another day of feverish revelry.

But the hangover comes Wednesday morning, when thousands gather in front of the jails to watch the mass release of revellers who played too well. In the early morning of that sober day, the unlucky ones stream out of the jails, still in fancy dress, still clutching their guitars and rattles, while the crowds cheer.

By Thursday, Brazilians will be back to normal.

Fined $10 For Shot 'Public Nuisance'

Pleading guilty to a charge of creating a public mischief, George Kemp, Ennismore, was fined $10 and costs or 10 days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

It is believed he fired a shot through the window of James Duffus' cottage in Ennismore township on the west side of Chemong Lake Saturday. He then told provincial police he had been fired at by some other person and pointed to a shattered window in the cottage and a bullet hole in the wall of the cottage as evidence.

It was later found the story was not valid and under the old British common law he was charged with public mischief.

Present Parting Gift To Mrs. Fred Gibson

Q—Our whole family enjoys Canasta, but everybody has read a different book on it. Dad came up with a new one last night. He says that when you make an initial meld using the top card of the discard pile, you can take only that one card; that the pack then becomes an unfrozen pack for your side, and at your next turn you or your partner may take the pack if you can legally do so. Is he right?

A—No. I am afraid Dad made up a house rule there. Any time you take the top card of the discard pile, you have to take the whole pile.

• • •

Q—I made an initial meld of 3 aces. A little later my opponents melded 3 aces. At first I claimed they could not do this, but then I could see that I was wrong, and I agreed that they should be able to meld their 3 aces. Later on I picked up the fourth ace. I did not have any black treys, and I wanted to keep my opponents from getting the pack, which was frozen. I decided to discard the fourth ace, feeling quite sure that it would be impossible for my opponent to take it and pick up the pack. However, my opponent claimed that I could not discard a card I could meld. I would like to have you clear us up on this whole question.

A—You were right, of course, in coming to the conclusion that

Britain Debates Drive On Teapot By Busy Workers

By NORMAN CRIBBENS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP)—Ten-minute tea breaks do more good than harm to British industry — providing the time limit is observed.

So says the Empire Tea Bureau from its London headquarters in reply to Sir Alan Herbert, M.P., and other public men who recently suggested that tea-drinking was hindering Britain's production drive.

The bureau, an organization representing the tea-producing industries of India and Ceylon, claims to have reorganized tea services in 3,000 factories, plants and offices throughout Britain. And the work is still going on.

"In every case we have shown how 10-minute tea breaks can be organized so that not one second more is lost," an official said, "and most employers agree that the break is more of an incentive than a hindrance to output.

"Past complaints arose from the fact that the break often dragged out to 20 minutes due to bad organization. We are showing all kinds of industrial concerns how to eliminate this wastage.

"We also teach canteen workers to make good tea economically."

Service For All

Various types of service are offered by the bureau, ranging from a simple counter for a small compact firm to tea cars which can supply thousands of workers scattered over a wide area.

"Ten trucks of the type used in London during the blitz operate for the benefit of workers on building sites who would otherwise leave their work to find a restaurant.

Many factories use mobile tea trolleys operated by girls, which move quickly and quietly from one machine to the next. Others favor the stationary tea bar at which workers form five or six queues each served by a canteen employee.

Despite the time-saving, the bureau claims that tea consumption has increased wherever reorganization has been effected.

A large rubber plant which before served 51,000 cups weekly now serves 55,000. An auto manufacturing plant increased its tea sales from 9,700 to 17,800 cups weekly. A government post office canteen makes 1,015 gallons of tea a week now instead of 650 gallons.

Says the Tea Bureau: "This is all to the good. Most workers take their break whether they drink tea or not. The more they buy the more they contribute to canteen funds."

Financial note: Most British workers pay three halfpence a cup for their tea.

Fined $10 For Shot 'Public Nuisance'

Pleading guilty to a charge of creating a public mischief, George Kemp, Ennismore, was fined $10 and costs or 10 days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

It is believed he fired a shot through the window of James Duffus' cottage in Ennismore township on the west side of Chemong Lake Saturday. He then told provincial police he had been fired at by some other person and pointed to a shattered window in the cottage and a bullet hole in the wall of the cottage as evidence.

It was later found the story was not valid and under the old British common law he was charged with public mischief.

Ask Protection For Woodlots In Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP)—More protection for farmers' flocks and woodlots, against wolves and fire, was urged Monday by delegates to the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities.

A fire protection resolution asked that the Ontario government consider including in fire district all townships in which woodlands, swamp, slash or wasteland makeup 25 per cent of the total area, and that legislation be enacted to permit establishment of municipal fire protection systems outside the fire districts.

The Association also suggested appointment of fire wardens on recommendation of township councils that they be permanent employees; that wardens serve under district foresters.

Alarm was expressed at the increase of the wolf population in settled areas and one resolution from Peterborough county blamed a crown preserve for the increase. It said the wolves increased within the preserve and then spread out over neighboring farm lands.

The Ontario government was urged in another resolution to increase the bounty on wolves from $25 to $40, shared equally by the county and province. Delegates claimed wolves were causing heavy losses among young cattle, sheep and poultry.

Here and There In Sport

Fireman Joe Page Monday signed his "best contract ever" with New York Yankees, for an estimated $30,000 plus.

"It's a hell of a contract," said Joe. Like George Weiss, Yankee general manager, the ace relief pitcher refused to disclose exact figures.

Reports on the money range between $30,000 and $35,000. In any case, it was a healthy increase over the $20,000 he was supposed to have received last season.

Obviously tickled by his new contract, Page grinned widely as he helped Weiss "break" the story at a press conference at New York.

"It even surprised me," said Page to reporters. "I wasn't exactly a holdout, just wanted to negotiate. I only got the contract before this one and I mailed that back from home (Springdale, Pa.)

General manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians sounded a warning Monday to the incessant boo-birds: shut up or you may get thrown out of the park.

The new Tribe boss, of course, doesn't mean all the hecklers—just "those two or three obnoxious fans in every ball park."

"Ball players have rabbit ears" he explained. "Try as hard as they might, they can't shut out the boos. They always hear a boo, no matter how faint. This causes players to develop an aversion for fans.

"They avoid banquet requests, often even autograph seekers. One boo can give a player the false feeling that most fans are against him."

Detroit's No. 1 catcher, Aaron Robinson, Monday signed his 1950 contract and immediately predicted the Tigers will be "a strong pennant contender all the way" next season. Norwood Tops By Two Baskets Overtime Play

A second half drive by the St Peter's High School Junior "B" cagers Monday forced their exhibition fray with Norwood High into a period of overtime. The boys from the east sank two baskets to the St. Pete's one to take the game 34-32.

Fred Allore's crew, who are in basketball for the first time this year, fell behind in the first half 15-12. Tom Stark and Danny Lougauer with six and four points respectively led the Norwood attack.

Stark continued his scoring spree in the second half with nine points but the St. Peter's High boys started to hit the basket for their first real round this year Jack Richardson, Eugene Killen and Bob Fitzgerald sent home points as they again held the Norwood squad to 15 points while they scored 18. This made the score 30-all at the end of regulation itme.

Stark and Lougauer whiffed home baskets in the overtime stanza to the single two-pointer by Tom Cavanaugh to make the final read 34-32 for Norwood.

An overtime basketball game is a rare occurrence in the Peterborough area. Only two games in the past two seasons of basketball has a game gone into extra time.

U.S. Air Force Lauds RCAF In Search Work

VANCOUVER, Feb. 21—(CP)—Reinforcements came Monday for weary searchers in the six-day hunt for five missing American airmen from the crashed B-36 bomber.

Twelve of the crew members of the blazing B-36 who parachuted over the islands were rescued.

A party of 150 Canadian sailors and U.S. Coast Guard men was put ashore on Princess Royal and Ashdown Islands, 400 miles northwest of here, where the giant bomber, its engines afire, was ditched last Tuesday.

It was a race against weather, Gales are forecast for today.

Lt.-Col. John D. Bartlett of Fort Worth, Tex., commander of a squadron of bombers that included the ill-fated B-36, and three rescued members of its crew returned here Sunday night to plot "jump tracks" which would pinpoint the probable location of the missing men.

Col. Barlett and his crew said they will stay here "as long as we can possibly assist."

"I don't know of any agency in the United States," Col. Bartlett said, "that could have conducted the search with such neatness and dispatch as the RCAF has done.

"Considering the wild terrain and limiting conditions, it has been magnificant."

JohnLundWeary Of Holding Heroine's Hand

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21 (AP). —John Lund is tired of holding the heroine's hand. He wants action.

"I would certainly welcome a change," said the actor, who is currently playing Marie Wilson's boy friend in "My Friend Irma Goes West."

"When I was brought out to Hollywood in 1945, it was to play the kind of roles I had been playing on the stage. At least, that was the idea I had. But I've only had one role that resembles anything I did on the stage.

"Here they've got me playing opposite women in love stories. That just isn't my line. I'm an action actor."

The trouble is that Lund is at the same studio with Alan Ladd, who is first in line for the action vehicles.

About The Girls

Bette Davis is testing with bright blonde hair for her next picture, "The Story of a Divorce." That should be better than the black mop she sported in "Beyond The Forest."

Jane Russell started costume fittings last week for "Smiler With A Gun" and she's delighted to be working again. She has wearied of hitting the road to sell "The Outlaw" and has asked to be excused from further duty. Her ideal is to play some gypsy roles or anything with some fire in them.

Spring Byington is having the time of her life on "Louisa," in which Charles Cobourn and Edmund Gwenn vie for her affections. It is her first role after leaving MGM, where she stayed seven years. Now that she is free-lancing she may get her wish to play a murderess.

Odd Notes

Robert Mitchum's studio has demonstrated what it thinks of him. He is being given a completely-equipped apartment on the lot. He's the only star to have one.

Never a dull moment with Vic Mature. He has his dressing room mirror covered with a sheet of paper. "It was driving me nuts." he claimed. "Every time I looked there I saw myself."

Vicar Resigns Post Finds House Too Big

TORQUAY, Demonshire, Eng., Feb. 21 — (CP) — The Rev. A. H. Wyatt resigned his post as Vicar of Exton, Somerset, because he said the 16-room vicarage was "too much for me" on an income of £350 ($1,085) a year.

Then he came here with his wife and advertised in a Torquay newspaper for "any job, temporary or permanent."

"My resignation was accepted by the Bishop of Bath and Wells with regret," Mr. Wyatt said, "but he had nothing else to offer me.

At Torquay Labor Exchange, Mr. Wyatt was told he was "unskilled" and that there were 600 men on the books looking for jobs.

"It seems I am too old at 45 and untrained for any work other than the ministry," he said. "The ability to handle people of all types counts for nothing outside the church."

Thinks Preaching Helps Prisoners

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)—The Rev. Bob Munro, Montreal evangelist engaged two months ago by the Ontario Department of Reform Institutions to preach in reformatories, said Sunday night he is confident the experiment has been a success.

The Glasgow-born preacher has conducted services in Guelph, Burwash and Brampton reformatories.

"I've personally met 300 convicted men and 265 of them have been definitely converted," he told an audience at Eglinton United Church.

Although the provincial government has offered to engage him indefinitely, Mr. Munro said he must embark on another evangelistic tour March 12.

The evangelist usually carries a trumpet to his services.

"I've played the trumpet at services for 40 years," he said. "It's a good instrument for hymn singing. You can play with one hand and direct with the other."

U.K. Cartoonist Ignores Election

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP). — As polling day drew near in Britain's general election campaign, the leading cartoon on the editorial page of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express dealt with a report that snow had fallen in Egypt.

Bewildered camel-riders and sultry maidens shade their astonishment with the Sphinx. Nothing so mundane as a political figure marred the landscape.

It was all part of ace cartoonist Giles' "Away From It All" campaign. Figuring other draftsmen were doing enough with the election, Giles announced he planned to give readers a little relief from the incessant election tub-thumping — and with few exceptions kept his word.

He was the only major political cartoonist in London to remain aloof. The others waded in with pens sharpened and ink compounded mostly of acid.

His Express colleague, Cummings, created the fearsome figure of Zillieboy Shinbag, a mythical compound of all the noisier members of the Labor Party, and put into his character's mouth the most abysmal of solecisms.

Nurse Saves Baby's Life After Blast

12 Others Affected By Gas Fumes As Pipes Blown Down

TORONTO, Feb. 22—(CP)—A nurse's knowledge of artificial respiration saved the life of a baby, one of 13 persons affected by coal gas after the furnace exploded in the home of John LaRose on Bain Ave. in east-central Toronto Tuesday night.

Mrs. LaRose said she was putting the children to bed when the explosion occurred. She said baby Bernadette began to look ill and she took her next door to Mrs. Thomas Naismith, a nurse.

Meanwhile others in the house began to feel sick and they opened the windows when they realized it might be coal gas.

Firemen said that when members of the Larose family sought shelter in the house of Mrs. McQuillen, a neighbor, they found the occupants there were also suffering from the effects of coal gas.

Firemen used an inhalator to revive Mrs. McQuillen and others who were affected by the gas. They said the explosion had blown down furnace pipes and allowed the fumes to escape.

Heavy Snowfall Snarls Traffic

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP) — Winter-weary southern Ontario today dug out from under a heavy snowfall which all but halted traffic Tuesday night.

The storm which brought the snow—10 inches in some sections—was swinging south. Heaviest snow Tuesday night was in the Toronto-Hamilton region—5 to 10 inches. Northern and central Ontario had only flurries.

Today highways officials said good winter driving prevailed in the area of the fall. Department plows and sanders have cleared the roads and in no place is traffic tied up.

The Toronto police department took its prowl cars off the road between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. and kept them in reserve at headquarters. It was the first time such action was taken since

Fire Snuffs Out Seven Lives In E. Canada

By The Canadian Press.

Fire claimed seven lives in Eastern Canada today as one woman and six children perished in blazing buildings in Sherbrooke, Que., and Hantsport, NS.

At Sherbrooke, three small children were burned to death when an explosion and fire swept a small one-storey dwelling in East Sherbrooke.

The dead, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Demers, are Giles 5, Reginald 4 and Gisele 16 months.

There was no immediate indication what set off the explosion

The mother had left only a few minutes before to go to a nearby store for groceries. The father was at work.

One fireman, Sylvio Provencher, suffered a badly-burned arm in fighting the fire.

Four Perish

A 26-year-old mother, Mrs. Patrick Fields, and her three children were burned to death early today as fire swept through their home at Hantsport, six miles from here. The children were Joseph 8, Patricia 5, and Foy 3. The father fainted as he reached the verandah to go for help. When he came to, the frame home was suffering from shock and seemed unable to talk. His condition is considered critical.

Stumbles To Neighbor's

After he recovered on the porch of his burning frame home, Fields managed to make his way to a neighbor's house where he sent in an alarm.

By the time the Hantsport fire department arrived at the scene the house was nothing but a mass of red-hot embers. The nearest hydrant was a mile from the fire and lack of water hampered the firemen's efforts.

Six hours after the alarm firemen could see the bodies of the mother and her three children in the gutted building. However, firewood piled high in the building's cellar continued to burn, halting all attempts to recover them.

Canadian Casualties Jump But Reporters Hit Hardest

NORTHWAY, Alaska, Feb. 22—(CP)—Exercise Sweetbriar built towards a spectacular climax around this air strip Thursday as three more Canadian names were added Tuesday to a real casualty toll. But officials said the total is much smaller than anticipated for the joint Canadian-American, sub-Arctic exercise.

Pte. R. L. Burgland of Kennedy, Sask., was in Whitehorse, Yukon, military hospital "dangerously" injured after a double-barrelled accident Monday that sent two other Canadian soldiers there with him. Neither was considered in serious condition.

The others were Engineer Sapper Bradley of Brockville, and Cpl. D. Urquhart of the Army Medical Corps.

All three were injured on the 16-mile road that connects the Alaska Highway with an RCAF air strip at Snag, Yukon. Bradley was hurt when the bulldozer he was driving turned over, pinning him underneath. The others were injured when their medical corps ambulance-jeep crashed into another vehicle while coming to his aid.

Flown To Whitehorse

All three were flown the 270 miles to Whitehorse by transport plane from the Snag air strip.

Exercise officials placed between 20 and 30 the actual hos- exercise described by one senior officer as "very, very light."

Much heavier hit proportionately was the press camp consisting of 15 reporters, public relations officers and communications men. Three reporters and several others have been evacuated to Whitehorse hospital with influenza, an ailment that hit the troops before the exercise started Feb. 13.

Gorilla Starts Store Stampede

BRUSSELS, Feb. 22 (Reuters) Patiki, an 8-year-old gorilla, escaped from a variety theatre Tuesday and wandered unobserved in one of Brussels' busiest shopping centres—until he crept up behind a woman and tried to take off her shoes.

Then the stampede started.

Women screamed, crowds dashed for shelter, and one woman fainted in the rush. Umbrellas and shopping baskets were scattered about the sidewalk.

Eight policemen t[ried] hurried grab, but Patiki was too quick. He fled, breaking a tea service as he left.

Trainer and police kept up the hunt for a half hour. Patiki sought refuge up lampposts and behind sign boards. Then, tapping his head with his hand, he let out a screech and ran back to the theatre on his own accord.

Destroys Block

LUCKNOW, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP) —The second major fire in this Bruce county village in a week early Tuesday destroyed a main street business block with an estimated loss of $25,000.

The one-storey frame building was owned by sawmill operator Russell Robertson, who had offices there. Other premises were occupied by Phillip Stewart's paint and wallpaper store, Elmer McKay's shoe repair shop, and Hugh Cumming's barber shop.

A week ago, John Barger, 80, died in a fire that swept the interior of a private home for the aged here. An inquest has been ordered.

Asks Price Tag Show Full Amount Of Taxes

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—A Social Credit member wants a law passed to make Canadian price tags show what part of the consumer's money went into the Government Treasury as taxes.

E. G. Hansell, member for Macleod, Alberta, Tuesday gave notice that he will introduce a resolution at today's sitting of the Commons which will ask the House to express its opinion of his idea.

Mr. Hansell's proposed resolution:

"That in the opinion of his House, the government should take into consideration the advisability of introducing legislation making it necessary to reveal on the price of all commodities, that portion of the consumer's price covered by taxation of any kind."

Army Considering Civil Air Raid Network

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 — (CP). — The Defence Department likely will consider establishment of a civil air raid warning system for the whole of Canada after it completes its blueprint for over-all civil defences, it was learned today.

Canadian plans for such a system, if and when completed, may be formed unde joint jurisdiction of the RCAF and the office of the Civil Defence Co-ordinator, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington.

The Canadian warning system may be planned along the lines of the system to be established in Western United States.

Two Murderers Hanged In Edmonton

EDMONTON, Feb. 22 (CP) — One standing in front of the other and facing in the same direction, condemned murderers Michael Joseph Hayes and Wilfred Leslie Nowell were hanged in Fort Saskatchewan jail at 2:05 a.m. EST today. They were pronounced dead by attending doctors within 14 minutes.

The men went to their death in a calm manner, unaware that their legal counsels had made a last-minute appeal to Ottawa on Tuesday for a stay of execution. Neither spoke before the trap was sprung.

Hayes, convicted of the axmurder last June of William McKay, an Edmonton warehouseman was placed in front of Nowell, found guilty of the shooting of his former employer, Thomas Law, last July.

The pair required no assistance and were well-behaved throughout. The unmasked hangman, said by jail officials to have come from eastern Canada, placed black hoods over their heads while a Roman Catholic priest gave the final sacrament to Nowell.

Life Raft Ominous Clue In Search For US Airmen

VANCOUVER, Feb. 22.—(CP).—A life raft today remained the most recent—and ominous—clue uncovered in the search for five United States Air Force personnel missing eight days now.

It was identified by search headquarters as one identical to those carried by U.S. planes such as the giant D-36 which was abandoned, flaming and ice-covered by 17 men over primitive Princess Royal Island. Four or five others have been found on the island where they were abandoned by survivors.

Twelve of the men, two injured, have been rescued.

The raft was inflated, which indicated that someone had tried to use it. It must be manually inflated and its appearance indicated perhaps not all the crew as first was believed, landed on land.

The raft was found Tuesday near Princess Royal Island.

Meanwhile, U.S. coast guard, Canadian navy, Alpine Club prospectors and Indian trappers continued to search through rugged terrain dense with rock and brush.

Planes of the USAF and RCAF are aiding the search while U S coast guard cutters and the Canadian destroyer Cayura stand offshore.

Second Link At Trenton Ontario Plan

Government To Spend $150,000,000 In Next Five Years

Toronto, Feb. 22—(CP)—Highways Minister Doucett today announced a $150,000,000 program for development of Ontario highways during the next five years. It will include extension of the dual highway from Oshawa to Newcastle and Port Hope.

High priority will go to construction of a four-lane highway from Windsor to the Quebec border, he said in a prepared address to the 48th annual meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

The program has the support of the Provincial government, he said, and he will ask the Legislature for a "special appropriation" of $150,000,000.

At a press conference at which he gave the text of his speech to reporters, Mr. Doucett emphasized that this sum is to be over and above the normal highways expenditure of some $75,000,000

The plan would be "fluid," he told reporters. The government might spend $15,000,000 during the first of the five years, providing the program would not interfere with the supply of materials for housing. The second-year outlay might be $25,000,000

No Reduction

"This plan would not indicate a reduction," Mr. Doucett said with a smile, "but if the people are getting service for their taxes they're not going to growl much."

In his speech, Mr. Doucett said he is certain that "practical conclusions" will be reached soon about the route of the Trans-Canada Highway.

At the press conference he added:

"If the Trans-Canada is not built, we intend to go ahead and develop northern Ontario regardless."

The Highways Department had considered the Trans-Canada highway in Ontario in connection with the $150,000,000 program —"but not in terms of a specific route."

Announced Later

The specific route of the highway through Ontario would be

Two Men In Fawn Coats Claimed By Witness Assailants Of Smith, Olver

Hear Seven Witnesses On First Day Of Murder Trial

Lindsay Contractor Describes Fight Night Loucks Stabbed

By DAVE WHITE

LINDSAY, Feb. 22—William Yuzwa, 32-year-old Hamilton salesman, on Tuesday walked into the prisoner's box at the beginning of the Victoria County Spring Assizes to stand trial on a charge of murdering Jack Loucks, 36, of Lindsay. A true bill was brought in against him Monday. The accused appeared nattily dressed in a grey suit and he was wearing horn-rim glasses.

Louck, a former Peterborough resident and a father of three children, was fatally wounded at approximately 12.30 a.m. November 18 in a wild brawl on Kent St., Lindsay, just west of the Big 20 Cafe.

Three other men received stab wounds from a knife or some other sharp weapon in the scuffling. They were Sidney Risley, 50, of 58 Cambridge St. S., a 12-stitch wound just below the elbow; Thornton Olver, 37, of 25 Division St., a severe nasal cut and a two-stitch wound in the scalp; and Floyd Smith, 27, a Hagersville truckdriver, a scalp wound.

All three were treated by Dr. W. C. Blackwell at Lindsay Hospital and were discharged soon afterwards. And on Tuesday they appeared as Crown witnesses in the case against Yuzwa.

Altogether seven witnesses were called before the court, presided over by Mr. Justice Urquhart, adjourned for the day.

Chief Witness

Chief witness—and the only one to give an account of the Loucks-Yuzwa encounter—was Wesley Aldred, an employee of the Lindsay Parks Board.

Despite the searching questioning of B. J. Spencer Pitt, counsel for the accused, Aldred's estimony remained substantially the same as that he gave at the preliminary hearing on December 16. Mr. Justice Urquhart commented on this aspect as Mr. Pitt returned time and time again to specific Yuzwa with his hand cupped to his mouth the accused seized the injured man's left shoulder and spun him round.

Attacked Smith

After swinging west down Kent St. from directly in front of the Big 20 Cafe, Yuzwa, identified as "the man in the green plaid shirt" and another man in a fawn coat (believed to be James Zohodik) attacked Floyd Smith and left him bleeding about the face. The witness was not sure which of the pair struck the blow but stated Yuzwa was nearest to Smith.

Their next move was toward

LINDSAY, Feb. 22—William Yuzwa, of Hamilton, on trial for the murder of 36-year-old Jack Loucks, in a sidewalk brawl early on the morning of Nov. 18, was not involved in the wounding of Floyd Smith and Thornton Olver.

That was the testimony today of Lionel Tracy, Lindsay contractor.

Two men in fawn coats—otherwise unidentified—were claimed by Tracy to be the assailants.

He was the chief witness heard today in the second day of the murder trial. The crown witness did not see the fatal scuffling with Loucks. However, he did implicate Yuzwa as one of the three men who were manoeuvring about Sidney Risley.

Tracy also said his attention was also drawn to the three men facing Risley by an over the shoulder blow delivered by the accused. He was unable to say if the blow landed.

The move was subsequently described as "more of a slap."

"What did Risley do?" queried Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan.

Tracy replied, that his view was partly blocked and he was unable to see what happened

"But afterwards," the witness said, "Risley walked away up the street blood streaming from his arm.

Floyd Smith, 27, a Hagersville truck driver, was one of the three treated in the Lindsay hospital for various wounds believed inflicted by a knife or some other sharp weapon.

He received seven stitches in his scalp and bruises.

TORONTO, Feb. 22—(CP) — Among persons made homeless by fire at a George Street housing centre Tuesday were the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Payne. The children were taken in by Mrs. William Westergard. Tuesday night one of the children developed scarlet fever and while all three were taken to the isolation hospital, Mrs. Westergard saw her apartment placed under a seven-day quarantine.

No Cash Relief For Ont. Jobless

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP) — Premier Leslie Frost Tuesday told a delegation of unemployed who [illegible] provincial [illegible] tario is spen[illegible] works to provide the Union of Unemployed Workers and the Hamilton Unemployed Association asked the government to "start work projects — housing, road-building and hospital construction," to combat unemployment, to "pressure" the federal government for additional work projects and to amend the unemployment insurance act and that federal and provincial governments co-operate to provide a system of cash relief.

Mr. Frost said he would consider all the delegation's submissions except for the one asking cash relief. That was a federal matter, he said.

Film Board Workers Cleared Of Suspicion

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 — (CP) — Security screening of National Film Board employees has been completed by the RCMP and the employees have been cleared of any suspicion, it was learned today.

The screening first was disclosed in the Commons last November when the House was told that the defence department had refused to permit confidential film work for it to be done by the film board pending a security check of NFB employees.

Neither Resources Minister Winters, minister in charge of the National Film Board, or RCMP officials would say if the screening job had been finished or what the results of the process were. However, reliable sources indicated that the RCMP inquiries had disclosed no evidence to suggest the NFB could not be given confidential work.

Band of Airmen Fly Mercy-Mail Service

Smashing Barriers For Isolated Centres Across Newfoundland

By JOE MacSWEEN

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 22 — (CP). — A band of young airmen-adventurers is smashing the barriers of Newfoundland's ancient loneliness.

A new mercy-mail-charter air service, manned by a small group, whose members hail from India to British Columbia, is providing consistent transport among the villages of Insular Newfoundland and Labrador for the first time in history.

To villagers in isolated outports, inaccessible in winter except by air, the service means that the dread spectre of suffering without medical aid is removed

Managing director of the new service, incorporated last March as Eastern Provincial Airways, is Eric Blackwood, 28, a tireless Newfoundlander.

The Newfoundland and Federal Governments are subsidizing the airways indirectly with mail and mercy contracts. Besides Blackwood, the line has four pilots. It is backed financially by St. John's interests.

Weekly Deliveries

Mail contracts call for weekly deliveries to points along the northern coast of the island and monthly trips to Labrador.

Pilots often work from daybreak to late at night to overcome difficulties of weather, fuel supplies, repairs and maintenance. Four mercy trips a day are usual

Blackwood was a wireless operator in the Second World War at first and then a navigator. He refused to fly in Toronto in post-war days. The others are all ex-Air Force men.

The name of Blackwood has become something of a legend among the northern fisherfolk. They say he is invincible in the air, a reputation built up the hard way in all kinds of weather.

Pilots sometimes are caught "in the soup" and literally grope their way around the mountains and over cliffs. So far there have been several forced landings but no serious accidents

Legislature Undertakes First Steps In Low-Cost Housing Plan

Provision Being Made To Permit Municipalities To Contribute To Provincial Share Of Joint Program

TORONTO, Feb. 22—(CP)—The first step towards a low-cost housing program jointly sponsored by the Federal and Provincial governments was taken Tuesday in the Ontario Legislature. The Legislature gave first reading to a Bill complementing recent amendments to the National Housing Act, permitting Provincial and Federal authorities to undertake joint projects for acquisition and development of land for housing purposes. Cost of the project is divided 75 per cent by the Federal government and 25 per cent by the Province.

Planning Minister Griesinger told the Legislature that provision is being made to permit municipalities to contribute to the Provincial share. Such legislation was forecast in the speech from the Throne at the Legislature opening last week, and the Government has made preliminary surveys in London and Kingston.

The Ontario House also gave first reading to a number of bills sponsored by Attorney-General Porter, dealing with regulation of courts and court officers.

Judges Given Power

Surrogate Court judges would be given power to cite for contempt of court. Under present legislation county judges have this power but not Surrogate Court judges. Another bill enables public officers such as part-time crown attorney and division court officers to retain up to $6,000 of the fees they collect. Present maximum is $4,000.

A third bill provides that a man who deserts his wife and family need not make payments to his dependents weekly as provided under existing legislation. The bill provides the courts may change the method of payment to fit in with the schedule by which the husband receives his wages.

An amendment to the insurance act reduces the maximum amounts for which a child up to the age of 10 may be insured from $100 for each year up to 10 to $200 for each year up to five.

Adjournment of the throne speech debate was moved by CCF Leader E. B. Jolliffe, indicating he will speak first when the debate resumes on Thursday.

Mine Issues Brighten On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP) — Mining issues brightened in moderately active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials and western oil stocks tended lower.

Volume for the first three hours was 480,000 shares.

Brazilian Traction was the feature performer on the big board, turning briskly following news of offering of 200,000 shares at $20 a share. The offering was oversubscribed ten minutes after the opening. Brazilian dropped from yesterday's close of 21⅜ to 20 and then moved ahead in brisk dealings. The offering is not made up of treasury shares.

Steel stocks slipped into the minus column and constructions continued on yesterday's downward trend. Papers and refining oils brightened. Economic investment was ahead 1½ at a new high at 47 following news of an extra dividend.

Consolidated Smelters and Noranda added fractions in the brighter base metal list. A handful of small gold stocks were active and higher. Nicholson, Hasaga and Lake Fortune were among the more brisk issues.

Western oils dipped on losses ranging up to 15 cents in key stocks.

Urges Broadcast

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—Frank Follwell (L-Hastings South) suggested Tuesday night in the Commons that openings of parliament in the Senate at least should be broadcast from coast to coast. It would be good for Canadianism.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:

While Southern Ontario is recovering today from Tuesday's snowfall which ranged in amounts from 2 to 10 inches, another disturbance over Indiana is causing an extensive area of snow, rain and freezing rain extending from Kansas to Vermont. The northern edge of this area lies along the northern shore of Lake Erie and threatens to move northward some 50 to 100 miles today and tonight as the disturbance moves eastward towards the Atlantic

On Thursday the weather will be generally clear and cold over Ontario, although a weak disturbance moving southeast from Manitoba will cause some very light snow in Northern Ontario tonight and early Thursday.

Lake Ontario, Toronto city: Cloudy today. Overcast with intermittent snow tonight. Sunny with a few cloudy intervals Thursday. Not much change in temperature. Winds northeast 15, becoming light Thursday morning. Low tonight and high Thursday at Trenton and Toronto 5 and 15.

Summary for Thursday—Sunny and cold.

Cheese Set-up Asked In Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 —(CP)—Frank Follwell (L — Hastings South, in the Commons Tuesday night called for co-operation between the Federal and provincial governments to obtain a method of merchandising cheese in Canada.

He compared the annual per capita of five pounds by Canadians with the 16 pounds consumed annually on the average in the United Kingdom.

Similar[illegible] said, the problem of apple s[illegible] could be solved by a merchandising plan which would raise Canadian consumption.

Mr. Follwell said he had attended several protest meetings on cheese problems in his constituency. At one he said he had been told that farmers didn't want the "fair deal" that he was sure the government would give them — they wanted 30 cents a pound for their cheese.

Goes To Port Hope

"From Oshawa the dual-lane highway will be immediately extended easterly to Newcastle, then to Port Hope."

The government will acquire the necessary right-of-way "looking to the ultimate easterly extension of the dual-lane highway to the Quebec border," he said.

"An early phase of this project will be the construction of a dual-lane link commencing in the Belleville - Trenton area, then running easterly and passing somewhat to the north of Kingston, Brockville and Cornwall.

"A connecting link will be constructed from the Newcastle district to join No. 7 Highway in the vicinity of Peterborough."

Build Around Centres

General policy would be to build "around the centres of population" in order to relieve "the very trying congestion that has become an acute problem with our municipal authorities."

Improvements also were planned for the Ottawa area. No. 17 Highway, east and west of the capital, would be renovated and brought up to "a high standard." No. 16, from Ottawa to Manotick, Kemptville and to No. 2 Highway near Prescott, would be completely renovated.

"In the general Kingston area, No. 15 Highway will be renovated in a program to improve grades, eliminate curves and otherwise raise the general standard.

Eliminate Bottleneck

"In the important Hamilton area, a $10,000,000 program will include an item of the utmost importance. One of the worst bottlenecks in America, more especially during the tourist season, is the Burlington cutoff. This is a wholly inadequate roadway leading across Burlington Beach, crossing the harbor entrance over a bascule bridge and then on to the Queen Elizabeth Way and to No. 8 Highway.

"The elimination of this bottleneck by engineering practice that is not yet fully determined will have high priority. . ."

Tentatively, $34,350,000 has been earmarked for improvements in northern Ontario, Mr Doucett said.

A new direct route between Parry Sound and Sudbury would be completed as soon as possible

30 Killed, 130 Hurt In Eritrea Riots

ASMARA, Eritrea, Feb. 22 — (Reuters)—Casualties in the two-day disorders in and around Asmara reached 30 dead and 130 wounded today.

As British tanks and troops moved into the Christian-Moslem disorder areas, the United Nations Commission meeting here appealed to the population to cease violence.

The second day of communal fighting began with the explosion of 10 hand grenades outside the Asmara police station near the European quarter.

Tuesday 22 persons were killed at Am[illegible] imposed from dusk to dawn on villages and market places in the Asmara region.

Have More Hogs

OTTAWA, Feb. 22—(CP)—The number of hogs on Canadian farms at Dec. 1 was 18-per-cent higher than the number at the same time a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday. There were 5,412,900 hogs at Dec. 1, compared with 4,604,200 on Dec. 1, 1948.

Negro Prince Rejects Plea Give Up Throne For Unity

LONDON, Feb. 22—(AP)—Seretse Khama, the Negro prince who married a white wife, has rejected a British plea to give up his throne for the sake of Empire unity. He has told the British Government his future is in the hands of the Bamangwato people, who elected him chief last year in Bechuanaland. One of Seretse's advisers said his chief stressed he was willing to carry out any decision at which his people arrive.

The head men of Bamangwato in mid-1949 decided overwhelmingly to give the throne to Seretse and his white queen, Ruth Williams, former London typist

The color-conscious Governments of South Africa and Southern Rhodesia have been pressing Britain to keep Seretse and his wife off the Bamangwato throne, to prevent what they fear may become a major crisis in African nativewhite relations.

Britain officially frowns on racial discrimination. Nevertheless if Seretse were to abdicate, the government would be helped out of a sticky situation.

Two British cabinet officers accordingly pleaded with Seretse to do just that in a two-hour session last Thursday. They were Philip Noel-Baker, head of the Commonwealth Relations Department, and Lord Addison, chief government spokesman in the House of Lords.

The conference reached no final decision. More talks will be held after the election Thursday.

Thornton Olver, 37, Division St., had a deep cut on his nose and a smaller one on his head; nine stitches in all were required to close his wounds.

Sidney Risley, 50, Cambridge St., sustained a 12-stitch slash on his right arm when he raised it to protect his face. None of the three injured men in their testimony Tuesday was able to name his assailant or assailants.

Tracy said he drove up to the Big 20 in his car with a companion Robert Williamson and angle parked directly in front of the cafe door. The panel truck owned by Yuzwa was six feet to the left. As he parked he heard "loud talk and swearing." and Yuzwa took a swipe at Loucks standing beside the truck.

"Did he connect?" asked Mr Justice Urquhart.

"I couldn't say," was the reply.

Tracy said Loucks then walked west down the street and Yuzwa got out of the truck and followed him.

Believed To Be Loucks

Under cross examination by B. J. Spencer Pitt, counsel for the accused, Tracy said he couldn't swear the man was Loucks but believed it was.

He was certain, however, it was not Smith, Olver, Risley or Joseph Kearns.

The witness described the three stabbings. He first saw Olver at the western entrance to the Big 20 doorway and "I saw two men in fawn coats hitting at him." He saw Olver's face was slashed.

His Lordship asked "Did you say they both had fawn coats?"

"Yes," replied Tracy.

Smith, he testified, was just west of the door jamb of the Big 20 and he noticed the same two men, who had hit Olver, begin to hit Smith.

Tracy said Smith was covered with blood. After this attack Smith walked across the 16-foot sidewalk toward the curb.

"Then I noticed he was lying down," said Tracy. "And one of the men in a fawn jacket was kicking him.

The two attacks took less than a minute he said.

"The next man I saw was Sidney Risley. He was standing by the curb west of the cafe. I noticed two chaps in fawn jackets near him, along with Yuzwa. I saw the fellow in the green jacket (Yuzwa) hit Risley. It was more of a slap."

To Mr. Pitt, witness conceded he did not know whether the "slap" connected.

"What did Risley do?" Crown Attorney Jordan asked.

Witness replied his view was blocked. Afterwards Risley walked up the street. Blood was dripping from his arm.

"The two fellows in light jackets then came around the truck to my side of the car as I was backing out from behind the truck. I said "Get the H... out of here." One of them hit me through the window of the car.

Tracey said he backed out behind the truck. He saw the four men climb into it. The truck passed him going on the right side and travelling east with no lights on. It was the beginning of the last leg of their circuit of violence, ending [illegible] rough.

Pearkes Urges Change In Shipping Law

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 —(CP)—In the course of six hours of the Throne Speech debate at Ottawa, everything from cheese and alcohol to the Chinese blockade and the coal shortage was aired in a somewhat subdued Commons chamber.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (PC—Nanaimo) introduced the blockade into the debate when he criticized shipping laws which forced Canadian seamen aboard the freighter Lake Canim to deliver cargo to Shanghai despite attempts by Chinese Nationalist warships to head them off.

Gen. Pearkes urged the government to set up a national maritime board to provide for continuous negotiations on such matters, giving the opportunity for such grievances to be settled.

Canadian seamen, he said, signed aboard with the intention of taking all natural risks. But the Chinese blockade was an "exceptional danger" which they should not be required to undergo without consent.

Wants Answer

Clare Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) took issue with Transport Minister Chevrier's statement that the 25-per-cent curtailment of Canadian National Railways passenger service was the result of the United States coal dispute.

He wanted to know why R. C. Vaughan, former president of the C.N.R., had not obtained coal stocks from mines in the Maritimes which were either shut down or were working only part time.

Mr. Gillis said there was no reason for the curtailment.

He spoke shortly after Mr. Chevrier tabled documents from

Winters Insists Eviction Stands

OSHAWA, Feb. 22— (CP). — Reconstruction Minister Winters was quoted today as saying he cannot allow Gordon Vandewalker, who is not a war veteran, to remain in a housing unit intended for veterans.

Vandewalker, his wife and three children are scheduled to be evicted today from a Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation project here. Mrs. Vandewalker is expecting another child.

Mayor Michael Starr and M J. Fenwick, a representative of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), said they received a letter from Mr. Winters about the Vandewalker case.

They quoted him as saying he sympathized with the family but "could not allow a request that would violate an agreement between Oshawa and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation that makes any vacancies in the housing project available to veterans." He said there are 40 applications from veterans.

Vandewalker asked the union not to proceed with plans to picket the housing project in the event of eviction, Mr. Fenwick said.

Hope Break With Bulgaria Aid Diplomats' Treatment

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) — State Department officials expressed hope today that the American diplomatic break with Bulgaria will bring improvement in the treatment of United States diplomats and their local employees in other Russian satellite countries.

A tragic tale of police terror and death lay behind the Bulgarian break. It was not clear here that American officials and their native aides have been victimized to the same extent in other Communist countries. There was no immediate indication of a further break with any of those states.

There was, however, speculation on the possibility of eventual rupture in American relations with Hungary as a result of the conviction there of Robert A. Vogeler, an American business man accused of being a spy against the Red regime in Budapest. Vogeler was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Attack Hungarian Attitude

Within a few hours after the action against Bulgaria Tuesday the State Department attacked Hungary's handling of the Vogeler trial. The department said the trial was "devoid of justice, inadequate as to evidence and replete with falsehood."

About the same time as the blast at Hungary was issued, the State Department disclosed the secret details of American efforts to protect its last Bulgarian translator, Shipkov, at the American legation at Sofia against probable death at the hands of the Communist authorities.

Last summer the Bulgarian police, according to State Department disclosures, seized three Bulgarian employers of the legation on charges of spying. The Bulgarian government, the State Department said, "permitted the torture and killing" of these three men.

Shortly thereafter, in August, Shipkov was arested when efforts of American Minister Donald R. Heath to obtain an exit permit for Shipkov and his wife and child fell through.

15 Leap For Lives From Flaming Hotel

GLENS FALLS, N.Y., Feb. 22—(AP)—Fire roared through the 100-room Towers Hotel with terrifying speed early today, forcing night-clad guests to leap for their lives.

None of the 45 guests was killed. Four hours after the fire broke out about 4:15 a.m. EST, all had been accounted for.

Nine guests were injured. In addition, a half-dozen firemen were hurt fighting the blaze.

The fire, of undetermined origin, quickly enveloped the brick structure in the centre of the city, 50 miles north of Albany.

At least 18 of the guests were carried to safety by firemen.

Canaries To Warble On Scientific Trip

ROSYTH, Scotland — (CP) — Arctic melodies by Tish and Tosh are on the program of H.M.S Truelove.

The two yellow canaries were aboard the warship when it sailed for northern waters.

Eight volunteers from the Truelove will test a rubber lifesaving dinghy under Arctic conditions.

Officially Tish and Tosh are along to give warning of any fumes which may arise from emergency apparatus being carried to convert sea-water for drinking purposes.

But the volunteers are hoping the canaries will give vent to some cheerful melodies.

and back of the jaw. Dr. Crowe pronounced Loucks dead and directed the body to be taken to a funeral home.

Dr. Crowe estimated a man with that wound would die probably in two or three minutes. He said the artery was about the circumference of a pencil.

Seen In Lakefield

Chief Constable Garnet Samis of Lakefield testified he had ordered James Zahodnik from behind the wheel of the truck at the barrier near Peterborough. He had seen the four men a few hours before in Lakefield.

"They were a little boisterous, but not unduly. The truck was driven at reasonable speed.

Later, Chief Samis joined in the chase of the truck as it passed the Chemong cut-off four miles from Peterborough. Samis was in a Provincial Police car with Constable Joseph Hanson. At the roadblock Samis said Constable C. McGillen ordered Yuzwa from a passenger's seat of the truck. He believed Yuzwa told McGillen to "take his damn hands off the door". Then and later the prisoner acted belligerently.

"When searching him at the police station I found some .32 calibre bullets in his pocket. I asked him where was the gun. He said, "Try and find." Yuzwa was complaining of a cut behind the ear. He said a policeman had hit him.

Mr. Pitt: "Do you know which one?"

Chief Samis: "No."

Suggest Canada Use 4 Regions

By The Canadian Press.

A plan for defining "majority of the provinces" as part of the machinery for control over constitutional amendments was suggested in the Quebec Legislature Tuesday by George Marler, Liberal leader.

Speaking in the throne speech debate, Mr. Marler referred to classification of powers under six headings as agreed at the Federal-Provincial conference last January, one of which includes articles that may be amended on authority of parliament and "a majority" of the Legislatures.

He suggested a logical plan would be to consider Canada as four regions: the four western provinces together, with 27 per cent of the population; Ontario with 32 per cent; Quebec with 29 per cent and the Maritimes including Newfoundland, with 12 per cent.

At Winnipeg the annual report of the Agriculture Department was presented to the Manitoba Legislature. It said that new types of farm implements are being "literally poured on the market" in some cases without thorough tests of their practicability.

To Double Capacity Of Kapuskasing Mill

TORONTO, Feb. 22 — (CP) — Lands Minister Scott Tuesday told the Ontario Legislature that the Kimberly-Clark Corporation has announced plans for $3,000,000 expansion plan to double the capacity of the mill built at Kapuskasing in northwestern Ontario in 1945, for conversion of pulp into finished products.

The amount includes $150,000 for housing. Work will commence immediately on both the mill and townsite expansion of the company's pioneering venture in Kapuskasing.

Home For Aged Below Fire Safety Standards

COBOURG, Feb. 22 (ENS) — The Dept. of Public Works of Ontario has notified the Board of Management of the United Counties Home for the aged that certain alterations are necessary to the building to bring it up to approved fire safety standards. Some of the recommendations are pointed out as requiring immediate attention.

It is estimated that it would cost the counties council at least $25,000 to carry out these recommendations and that the counties council is considering a $60,000 addition to take care of the bed patients.

The following report from the Dept. of Public Works sets forth the changes necessary:

"The present stairways should be fully enclosed with fire-proof material from floor to ceiling on all floors. Notwithstanding that the main portion of the building is of fire-resisting construction, there can still be loss of life through fire and smoke and to reduce hazard further it is recommended that fire doors and partitions be installed in at least one or two of the existing fire walls, which are now open corridors and thus provide a safer horizontal means of exit from one to the other.

"One of the worst features, although fire resistant, is the east stairs, which is not enclosed and tween this building and the north is part of the only corridor beast wing, which is of wood joist construction and wood floors and therefore not fire-resisting and a definitely hazardous occupancy.

Fireproofing First Need

Precedence over a new wing should be the following changes in the non-fireproof wing, particularly on the second floor because lives of the inmates are in danger until this wing is made fire resisting.

"Extend the main eight foot wide corridor directly east the full width to connect to a new eight foot wide corridor to be built in fire-resisting construction throughout the centre of the wing.

"Replace all floors and partitions in the [illegible] with re-inforced concrete floor slabs and tile partitions. Provide a new,fully-enclosed fire stair tower at the extreme west end of the wing corridor, built entirely of fire-resisting construction of approved materials and design.

Separate Laundry

"A new building, separate from the counties home, should be built for boiler and laundry. Any exposed woodwork in the boiler should be covered with fire resisting material. The hose standpipes should be so located that no more than 75 feet of hose is required to reach all rooms. There should be hose connections on all floors and in the basement.

"Steps should be taken at once to build an outside reservoir for a pressure of at least 90 pounds. An automatic fire alarm system should be installed, connecting directly with the fire department."

The counties home was almost totally destroyed by fire in 1934. The main walls were preserved and one wing. In reconstructing the main building, an effort was made to render it fire resistant. However, the old east wing, which escaped the brunt of the fire, was repaired and is now the subject of most of the attention from the Dept. of Works.

State Won't Ask Death Penalty In Mercy Killing

MANCHESTER, NH, Feb. 22— (AP). — The State of New Hampshire is not going to ask the extreme penalty in the "mercy death" murder trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander.

Prosecutor William H. Craig disclosed Tuesday night the government did not plan to seek death by hanging—the maximum sentence for murder in the first degree—in the case of the 41-year-old country doctor.

State charges Dr. Sander hastened the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59-year-old incurable cancer patient, by injecting air into her veins.

Unless the prosecution asks for the most severe punishment, the jury—not yet completed—cannot make such a recommendation.

Under New Hampshire law death by hanging is imposed only on the jury's recommendation. Otherwise, the penalty for conviction of first-degree murder is life imprisonment.

10 Jurors Chosen

Ten jurors had been chosen when the second day of court adjourned Tuesday.

Judge Harold E. Wescott again asked reporters not to report anything on the questions and answers that occur in the examination of prospective jurors.

The purpose of the court-imposed censorship was to make certain prospective jurors yet to be called would not be informed of the nature of the questions.

Seven of the 10 jurors thus far chosen are Roman Catholics.

The cities of Manachester and Nashua—from which most of the Talismen come—are predominantly Roman Catholic. The doctrine of the Roman Catholic church is opposed to euthanasia —or mercy killing.

Car Skids To Ditch After Crash With Truck

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 22 — (ENS)—Hector MacMillan of Campbellford narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday night, when his car crashed the rear of a large truck driven by Ellis Wood of Campbellford.

The accident occurred on the Grand Road near the overhead railway bridge on the south edge of town.

Wood was slowing his truck to discharge a passenger, when the MacMillan car, which was following close behind, struck the rear of the truck. The driver was able to swerve his car to the right just in time to avoid striking the truck squarely. His car skidded diagonally across the highway to the opposite ditch.

He struck the rear duals with the front end of the car, and the rear of the body of the truck crumpled the right door, fender and windshield. The car came off second best in the tangle, receiving about $250 damage, while the truck came out without a scratch.

Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated.

Poaching By Plane

A case in Quebec City court last week aroused wide interest in that province, and has application in Ontario and this Kawartha and Haliburton fishing area. Five men and a pilot took off by plane from Quebec and headed north into the Laurentian district. There was nothing unusual about that, except that an alert game warden force discovered that the pilot, who operates a fishing and hunting club, had acquired that day 200 angleworms. The wardens posted two men at each of the only three airports in the district, awaiting the return of the plane. Two days later when the plane landed to set down two of the passengers at Lac Beauport airport, the passengers were carrying a heavy fur coat. Inside this were 35 pounds of speckled trout. All six were charged and the plane confiscated.

• • •

The Quebec Department of Game and Fisheries prosecuted, and the court fined three of the six implicated men. At the time of writing the plane is still confiscated, although the Government may mitigate the confiscation. As far as we know it is the first case of poaching for fish in which a plane has been confiscated—although a plane was confiscated last year in which hunters in northern Ontario flew across the border into Quebec. Interest in the case is keen, because of the increasing prevalence of air-borne poachers.

• • •

No new law has been brought to bear in this case; it was a matter of the sharpness of the game wardens in detecting evidence of illegal fishing, and the Quebec Department's firm resolve to protect the fish resources and enforce a law already on the books. That law, similar to Ontario's, states that any article may be seized on evidence of illegal hunting or fishing, and on conviction, the article may become the property of the Crown.

• • •

Outboard motors, rifles, boats and even cars have been confiscated in both provinces by Game Wardens; seizing an aeroplane is unusual, and a heavy penalty. However, if these so-called sportsmen, and the plane owners and operators have but this one lesson to instruct them that the Department means business, and is determined to protect wildlife resources according to law, a stop may be put to fish-running, which in some areas is assuming the proportions of a depredation. Taking fishermen by air is not illegal; taking them with the knowledge that they are going to fish out-of season, or in forbidden fishing grounds, is as illegal as rum-running. If a man or company is going to lose a plane when fish-running the operation will be unprofitable, and this illegal practice may be effectively discouraged. As far as we know, there has been no confiscation of a plane in Ontario. The Department of Lands and Forests, and the game-wardens may be encouraged by this Quebec action, to enforce to the hilt the existing regulations.

Co-Ordinating Research In Ontario

The 1948-49 report of the Research Council of Ontario, now published, indicates that this recent permanent outgrowth of a tentative organization is well serving industry and science in this Province. Principal Wallace of Queen's University, President of the Council, notes in his foreward:

"The significant thing that the Council is doing is in providing the means of co-operation to scientists and industrialists to work out the most satisfactory plan of research, whether under Federal, Provincial, university, Research Foundation, or private auspices, for the benefit of our Province and its industrial prosperity. In this the Council has achieved marked success. It can be stated with assurance that the whole field is under constant survey, that all overlapping is safeguarded against, and the industrialists are becoming more and more alert to the service which research can perform for them".

This is an encouraging statement, in these times when practical science, industrial techniques and capacities, seem prime factors in the race for national and human survival.

The Council oversees a budget of more than three hundred thousand dollars. Most of the money goes directly into research projects as rarefied as spectrographic studies ($18,000), as practical as wire rope ($17,907) and sawmilling practice ($3,000). To allow graduates to continue their training in research and to provide for competent and well-equipped workers in the future of industrial and scientific Ontario, the Council awards scholarships. This is perhaps the most important present aspect of its work, for in awarding these scholarships it is selective not only of candidates but also of fields of research. In the first year (1946-47), $10,000 were granted to eleven scholars; in 1947-48, $44,275 to 58. Last year $47,420 were granted in scholarships to 66 research students. In the current year 61 scholars are drawing $50,000 from the Council.

In reporting on the scholarships, the Director of the Council, J. O. Wilhelm, remarks that "it will not always be possible, nor may it be desirable, that all our students remain in Canada." Any superficial criticism we might level at the Council arises from this point: all but 11 of the 66 scholars of the 1948-49 year were studying at Ontario universities. Only seven of the eleven were studying outside Canada. There is a danger of parochialism and inbreeding even in scientific studies. It may be well to send more of the Ontario Research Council's scholars to American, British and European centres.

A second criticism we might offer is not the usual plaint over the disparity of financial assistance for scientific studies and the amount of money available for studies in the humanities. That can be taken as said. We do note, however, the almost complete concentration of Council research on applied science, and the exclusion of pure science. Of course, the Research Council is primarily organized for co-ordinated research into applied science—industrial and commercial science. But from what bases will further advances in applied science be made if pure science is neglected? The abstract study—if it could so be called—of science, is the fountain-head of applied science.

On Married Women Working

We feel that the time has come to draw the discussion on married women working to a close. It has occupied our letter columns for a fortnight, and views on both sides have been thoroughly aired. We shall print such letters on the topic as are now in our possession, but we shall not accept any more for a time.

We hope that all those who have written to us have gained some satisfaction from the expression of their views. The point is not one upon which any final conclusion is possible. The problem is a personal one in every case, and those married women who wish to work will continue to do so, whatever other people may think about it. That is one of the privileges afforded by a free society.

At the risk of bringing the condemnation of theologians upon our head we must repeat our belief that the best place for any woman is the place where she finds the greatest happiness, be it at home or in a job. Only she can weigh the merits and demerits of her own position, and pay the price for whatever it is that she wants. Many women are admirable wives though they lack the talent for domesticity; it is not in every woman's power to make a home. There are women, also, who seem to be able to manage a job and a home without neglecting either. And there are women who are happiest as homemakers. It is impossible to force them all into a single mould without creating unhappiness.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is to be hoped that these predictions of the early end of the world are mistaken. We do not think our nerves are strong enough to survive such an exciting event.

A professor at Yale is teaching a gorilla to talk. When mankind is showing so little common sense a level-headed gorilla might provide just the steadying influence that is needed.

The average Australian, says the head of an Australian book publishing firm who is travelling in Canada, spends twice as much on books in a year as the average Canadian. We wouldn't be surprised if Canada surpassed Australia as a nation of book-borrowers.

An American railroad has ordered Diesels which make a noise like chimes instead of whistling. What Canadian railroads need is a brakeman who makes a noise like English when calling the name of the next station.

A New Orleans dealer has just put 1,000,000 pounds of Canadian potatoes on the market, while the U.S. government prepares to destroy the huge American crop. Any resemblance between this and lunacy can be explained away by economists.

From The Critic's Notebook

THUNDERBIRD by Wallace Havelock Robb, of Abbey Dawn, Kingston. Published by the author.

THIS book, it may be expected from such an unusual person as Mr. Robb of Abbey Dawn, is an extraordinary work. (Abbey Dawn, by the way, is the author's place near Kingston known to thousands of nature-seekers, Indian lore enthusiasts and Queen's students.) The author calls it an historical novel, and the term can be suitably applied. There is no canon of the novel, and indeed, Thunderbird does tell a story—if excursively. It was inspired by Mr. Robb's "discovery of hitherto hidden Mohawk lore on the Kente (Bay of Quinte) . . . The actual conception of the work came with the first really reliable confirmation of the legend of prehistoric Vikings on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence". This the author tells us in his prefatory note.

All the characters have Indian names, such as "Day-ho-de-day", the Silent One, half-Algonquin husband of Ka-je-je-o. These names rather frighteningly spatter the pages of the book, but Mr. Robb warns the readers not to be distressed, for many of them are half-recognizable; for instance, Jo-ne-a-da-ron-do is recognizable as a loon cry of the Adirondacks.

Mr. Robb's poetry and prose styles are shown by the following excerpt. Being lifted holus-bolus from the finale; it gives little hint of the story, but does suggest Mr. Robb's Indian learning:

O-do-ne-o stepped over toward the Sacred Oak, where his white ermine cloak was on the grass. Returning with it, he held it out to her. She stood up to receive it.

"We must keep, forever in our lodge, your airy and rather revealing cape and skirt," he said, chuckling, "for they are sacred, now, tokens of your courage and constancy. See! My symbolic cloak of purity, I, White Eagle, O-do-ne-o, bestow upon you".

He cloaked her in his arms, and sang.

Am-a-we-yo!
Lovely young doe!
Soft and large-eyed O-ska-non-do
Swimming like a doe,
An O-ska-non-do,

On the shore.
See! Fair Am-a-we-yo!
The gentle O-ska-non-do,
Swimming by the shore
See the Silver Stag
Land upon her crag,
And seek her to adore.

My softeyed O-ska-non-do!
Oh! my swimming love doe!
Falling on the shore,
You've reached your crag,
The Silver Stag
Shall love you evermore.

Am-a-we-yo!
Oh! my young doe!
Danger driven O-ska-non-do!
Oh! I love you so!
Your O-do-ne-o!
I adore!

"They are coming", she protested, shyly, sitting down.

"Yes! here comes O-non-no-gar-a, the first time I've see him leave O-nay-go-rah unguarded."

"Boom!" sounded the drum.

Wallace Havelock Rob is an anomaly in present-day Canada. It is difficult to judge now the degree of his service to nature study, Indian research and the Canadian imagination. This book should interest youth with a bent toward romance, others cultivating the esoteric eastern Ontario past, and antiquaries a century or two hence.

Letter To The Editor

CAUSES OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Sir: Have enjoyed the numerous letters re married women working and agree there is a good argument pro and con. But I have another angle to the question not yet mentioned in these columns. I think factory bosses are very lax in not taking an inventory of their employees standing. I know many cases of farmers driving to Peterborough and Lindsay factories who are well established with a full line of implements, stocks, poultry, Hydro in buildings, residing in good paying farms who still continue to hold two jobs during these days of national unemployment. No man can do justice to his farm by being absent 5 days per-week. Something is bound to go neglected unless his wife carries on a double duty at home. The same situation exists at Oshawa. I know farmers personally who drive to Oshawa General Motors every morning twenty miles away and hundreds of Oshawa men tramping the streets. All very well for farm help to flock to near factories when needed. I have no hatred for farmers. I lived on one for 35 yrs so know what I am talking about.

Right now I am trying to carry on on $18.30 per week to provide for a wife and seven children. Laid off last Christmas through no fault of my own after 9 yrs. and 9 months continuous employment I suddenly became one of the vast number of unemployed inside of one minute because my place of employment closed down.

I have canvassed about every firm in Peterborough and the same old line "Sorry but we are not taking any help on." The next day I hear of a certain farmer's son being taken on possibly until spring work begins. In my estimation there are three causes for so much unemployment viz, childless married couples drawing two pay cheques, weekly. Farm help biting into production often times for a few months duration during a slack period. And the never ending stream of immigration still pouring into Canada, many of them securing jobs shortly upon arrival. I could enlarge upon these causes but may later.

ENUF SAID.

SINGING THE "BLUES" . . . .

A Quiet Campaign

By HENRY FAIRLIE

AS was to be expected, as the electoral campaign proceeds, Mr. Churchill throws off each day a little more of the uncharacteristic restraint which marked his first election broadcast. As he reminded an audience at Devonport this is the eighteenth election that he has fought; it is only natural, therefore, that such an old campaigner should find that his blood is racing a little faster as polling day draws near. He is still, of course, the master of invective (though the edge seems to have been blunted a little since 1945) and he still attracts vast audiences wherever he goes. But there is one important difference this time: in 1945 Mr. Churchill was himself an election issue; today he is not.

In 1945 most of the people who said they were going to vote Conservative gave as one of their reasons their desire to see Mr. Churchill remain at the head of the Government; and those who were opposing the Conservatives had to spend much of their time explaining why the great war leader was not, in their opinion, the best person to have as a Prime Minister in peace-time. But today, no one really believes that Mr. Churchill's leadership would of itself solve any of Britains economic or industrial problems; the electors are choosing between the Labour and Conservative policies; and personalities—whether Mr. Churchill's or Mr. Aneurin Bevan's—do not really come into it at all.

But although Mr. Churchill is not an election issue, he still has a way of dictating the temper of a campaign. In his speech at Devonport he threw out a hint that Conservative Government might be able to "increase greatly" the basic petrol ration. Neither he nor any other leading Conservative has ever mentioned such a hope before, and one cannot help noticing that Mr. Churchill did not give any very convincing explanation why such a step should now be thought possible. Anyhow, whatever his reasons and motives, Mr. Bevan was quick to make a reply; speaking, also in Devonport, a few hours after Mr. Churchill, he accused the Conservative leader of trying to bribe the British elector by promising to increase the petrol ration. . . He should be ashamed of himself".

This is all very lively; and it will, of course, please Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers which pathetically complain that the campaign has been much too quiet and gentlemanly.

But when the 34 million electors go to the poll tomorrow, they will be voting on certain well-defined issues, to which most of them (especially the "floating voters") will have given long and serious consideration. This is the impression one gets after talking to ordinary people, whatever their class or occupation. They are conscientiously trying to decide whether the Conservative or Labour Party is the most likely to promote the country's economic recovery, and while debating the issue with themselves are even glancing sympathetically at the Liberal programme.

There can be no doubt that the interest in the Liberal Party is far greater than at the last election. As the left-wing weekly review "New Statesman And Nation" said last week, this interest is to be found mainly in the middle class, many of whose members are wondering whether there is no choice other than rule by the Trades Union Congress or rule by the Federation Of British Industries. Is it not possible to send back a party which is dominated by neither, which represents no sectional interest? This is the appeal the Liberals are trying to make, and everywhere they are being discussed. A Gallup poll recently recorded the fact that 38 per cent of the voters would support the Liberal Party, if they thought it had a chance of forming a Government.

MEANWHILE the many foreign correspondents who have arrived in Britain to report the election complain that it is almost impossible to report it; there is no excitement, no bitterness, no anger, and, except for the Celtic outburst in a broadcast by Mr. James Griffiths (Minister of National Insurance and Welsh miners' leader), hardly any emotion. The issue will be the same on polling day as it was five weeks ago. From day to day the leaders of both sides repeat the same arguments and say the same things, and say them usually without any spirit or humour. What is a poor correspondent to do?

MEETS KAY BELL — Dr. Len Hall, shown above, who takes on Kay Bell in the semi-final match Thursday night at the Brock. The opener will feature Johnny Barend against Barney Bernard. It looks like a battle of science against force in the main event when Whipper Billy Watson tangles with Sky-Hi Lee, the Ozark giant.

Manager Jim Laidlaw received word this morning that Strangler Lewis would be unable to be here to handle the refereeing. However a capable official will be on hand to keep things in order.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Many local hockey fans feel that the team which wins out here tonight will take the series. The OHA senior "B" best-of-five semi-final series betwixt Petes and Legion. They're even now at a game apiece, and this is probably the "crucial" one, as it gives the victor a big edge with but two to go—the winner will then need to win but one of the next two, and the loser will have to take both. A psychological edge in any series, though the dope has been upset before. In any case, it will find both teams fighting their heads off at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, before a full house.

* * * * * *

Don't know who the OHA referees will be this time, but they'd better be tough as the old ice enemies are starting again to lay for each other. They're getting more bitter as the end approaches for one or the other, and there could easily have been several free-for-alls last game. It just needed one extra little push. Bodychecks and even fists are okay with us, if the boys must rough it up, but keep those sticks down—don't blind another player. Better still, just play that sizzling hockey and stay on the ice. Then the customers will really see the game as it should be played by two fine clubs.

Minor Puckists Start

OMHA playdowns await three local puck squads, and the bantam Optimists, the midget Marines and the juvenile IOOF-ers are off tomorrow for Oshawa to open their series. A few fans may find room in the Optimists' bus, leaving the arena at 1.30, by phoning Wally Bent tonight at 2-2666 or 8429. These are two-game series, the tilts tomorrow being from four p.m. till eight, and the return ones here being from nine a.m. till one, the best hours available at both arenas. Go to it, boys, and hop that Motor City hurdle. Later, the PMHA playoffs commence as there's no rush here now with artificial ice.

Frank Buckland advises that the OHA junior "B" group semi-finals, best of three, open here Friday with Kingston Vics playing the Oddfellows. While Belleville opens that bracket in Oshawa on Saturday. Latter team finished first, so they meet the third-place team, while the Triple Links (who ended in second spot) take on the fourth-place Vics. I'll be a tough, tough series at this end, being short and highly important to two young hustling outfits. Return joust is in the Limestone City on Monday and third, if necessary, back here next Wednesday. Be sure and see this opener Friday.

Assembly-Line Action

The recent shindig in Detroit—where Dick Irvin and his Canadiens came out second best—indicates that the NHL race is steaming toward the torrid playoff session. And it also reminds one that the motor metropolis is still a hot sports town. One recalls seeing the fiery Ty Cobb tearing into the bleachers at Navin Field to maul some taunting fan, and also the time big Reg Noble tried to cut off a rooter's head at Olympia. Dick and his players got off rather lightly with only a few fans' punches tossed at 'em, a couple of clips by police billy-sticks and some pushing around by the Red Wings. Though Irvin and Reay were also nicked $50 apiece by Prexy Campbell of the NHL.

Panthers' grid club was disbanded at last night's "Y" meeting and a new setup promised. It will be run on a company basis with 20 directors, each putting in $250 as shareholders. A dozen have pledged themselves so far, and it is now open to eight more. The club will operate along the lines of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, setting aside gate percentages to wipe out their debt, to aid minors, and for other expenses. The 20 directors will meet later to elect a slate of officers and make general plans for the season. These call for a stronger 1950 squad playing six home scheduled games under lights in an ORFU grouping with Orillia, Oshawa and Cobourg.

Lindsay Girls Extend PCVS Cagers

The Collegiate girls' cage squads are breathing much easier today as their winning streaks were nearly cut off abruptly on Tuesday in Lindsay. Miss Doreen Pemberton's seniors fought an uphill battle in the second half to take the nod only 34-31 while Miss Eva Scott's juniors slumped in the second half and nearly lost their tilt 24-19. Both teams therefore remain unbeaten with five league victories.

Jeanne Bell, who was a constant threat in the Peterborough game here a week ago, led the Lindsay attack throughout. Combining with Marjorie Owen, Miss Bell drifted in five baskets in the first half as the Lindsay cagers went ahead 16-12. Mary Braund assisted by Carol Raper and Mary Craw scored six of the 12 Collegiate points in the half.

Snappy passes and clever deceptive plays enabled the PCI'ers to outdistance the Scugog team in the second half. Mary Craw and Mary Braund, top girls for the seniors in scoring, each rattled in 10 points while Jeanne Bell was still holding the Lindsay crew up with 11 points.

Led The Way

Jeanne Bell led the scoring of both cage squads with 21 points while Mary Braund with 16 and Mary Craw with 13 were tops for PCVS. Cath Graham, Donna Howson and Marney Hollingsworth were the pick of the guards.

Pat Nixon, Joan Krogh and Lorraine Derry combined for points in the first half of the junior game as the Collegians managed to nearly double the score on Lindsay 17-9. Martha Walling, Holly Judson and Ruth Gibson were the strong points of the Lindsay attack in the half.

Peterborough slipped in the second under pressure by the Lindsay forwards. Eight points by Martha Walling drew the Lindsay girls up close to the PCI'ers, who slipped in seven points, five by Joan Krogh, to hold their lead of the first half and the game. The final read 24-19.

Martha Walling of Lindsay with 12 points was the top scorer while Joan Krogh with nine and Pat Nixon with seven were the best for the Collegiate squad. Marg Clarke, Audrey McGee and Anne LaPointe were the standouts of the PCVS defence.

SARNIA WINS

H. Karn of Sarnia skipped his rink to victory in the Lambton Loan Trophy finals, feature event of the Blue Water Bonspiel which concluded at Sarnia Tuesday night. Karn defeated another Sarnia foursome skipped by B. MacKenzie 9-7 in the final match.

A Detroit rink skipped by C Dunscombe captured the Silverwood Trophy, defeating W. Dekoning of Chatham 11-10.

SIGHTSEEING ATHLETES — After the British Empire games, some of the Canadian athletes went on a sightseeing tour of New Zealand. Here Elaine Silburn of Montreal, a broad jumper, and Dr. Harold Moody, an English shot-put expert, are beside a carved Maori house in the Rotorua Thermal region.

Donald Wood Comes First In 'Y' Swim Race

Donald Wood took top honors in the weekly 40-yard free style handicap swim of the YMCA swimming club this week. John Boorman placed second with Gerald Armstrong pulling up into the third slot. Other finalists were Jim Starr, Jack Prest and Terry Reid.

Wood also cut 10 seconds off his 200-yard free style time to complete the distance in 2:33.6 minutes. Gerald Armstrong improved his time for the same distance by six seconds, two minutes and 44 seconds. John Mason, a recent addition to the club, turned in a time of 29.8 seconds for the 40-yard free style which is exceptional for an 11-year-old.

At the Minnow Swimming Club, six boys swam the 440 yards with Bill Moore and Paul May clipping 2:11 minutes and 54 seconds respectively off their previous times. The quarter-mile times turned in were: Ronald Beard 16:04 minutes; Robert Stickle 15:59 minutes; Terry Armstrong 11:46 minutes; Jim Brooks 11:10 minutes; Paul May 10:36 minutes.

Spitfires' Reibel Leading Scorer In Junior 'A'

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP) — Earl Reibel, Windsor Spitfires' hard-shooting centre, has kept Toronto Marlboros' George Armstrong from the top bracket in Junior A scoring statistics of the Ontario Hockey Association for another week. Windsor tops the individual scoring race, with four names mentioned in the league's 10 top scorers.

Scoring statistics released on Tuesday show Reibel in first place with 50 goals and 75 assists in 46 games for 125 points. Armstrong takes No. 2 honors with 113 points from 64 goals and 49 assists.

Con Switzer, centre for St. Catharines' Teepees, is third with 107 points. Stankiewicz and Skov, both of Windsor, are in fourth and fifth place.

Don Lockhart, who minds the Marlboro net, heads the goalie list with an average of 2.46 goals a game.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

At the conclusion of each Maple Leaf hockey game played in Toronto, there are three stars awarded, one each to the different players. No doubt many of our curlers would think that three stars could be awarded to such events as the Dominion championship playdowns, the Ontario Tankard, the District Cup games and many other outstanding contests. We have no desire to find fault with their wishes, but as far as we are concerned, not one star but the whole three would go to the local Leads and Seconds 'spiel, which began last evening. Many of these boys are skipping for the first time, and what a swell job they made of it. They called for shots, played shots and made shots that had the critics on No. 8 bewildered.

Making a 15 foot raise was nothing, drawing through "ports" narrower than the stairs was a cinch. They showed how curling should be played. They are the coming curlers of our club and if the competition continues the way it has started off, it will surely be classed as the 1950 curling classic as far as this club is concerned.

Priest Dies Suddenly Attending Hockey Tilt

SARNIA, Feb. 22 (CP)—Msgr Thomas J. McCarthy, 60, one of Western Ontario's best known Roman Catholic priests, died of a heart attack Tuesday night while watching a hockey game between Windsor Spitfires and Sarnia Sailors at the local arena.

The veteran rector of St. Joseph's Church here was elevated to the rank of Monsignor only 10 days ago by the Pope, and had not yet been invested.

Msgr. McCarthy was born on a farm near Monkton in Perth County, and was educated at St. Jerome's College, Kitchener, and Niagara University at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Tigers Knock Off Marlies As Teepees Edge Kroehlers

By The Canadian Press

The way they're going now, the three teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A playoffs will still be playing semi-finals next summer.

They're half way through their 12-game round robin series and they haven't proved a thing Hamilton Tigers knocked off Toronto Marlboros 5-2 last night and that left the two clubs deadlocked with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen with identical 2-2 won-lost records.

Marlboros and Tigers will try again in Toronto Friday night in the seventh game of the series.

In the only junior game last night, St. Catharines Teepees closed out their at-home schedule with a 6-4 win over the eighth-place Stratford Kroehlers. The victory left Teepees in third place.

No Let-up

At Hamilton, the Tigers started off at the six-second mark of the first period and didn't let up until the final whistle. Jack Taylor was top sniper with two goals while Bill Dinning, Clare Shillington and Carl Smelle came up with singles.

Toronto's Red Johnson and Johnny McLellan got one each for the Dukes.

Taylor got the first Hamilton goal when he grabbed the puck on the opening faceoff and worked it into Toronto territory. Then he took a hard rebound and beat Pat Boehmer cleanly. Johnson got that one back at 4:35

Dinning and Smelle got their goals in the second period to give Tigers a 3-1 margin. Shillington made it 4-1 in the third on a 15-foot screen shot. McLellan followed up for Toronto but Taylor drove back and made it 5-2 at 10:40.

At St. Catharines, Teepees were slow in getting started but finished strong, outscoring the Kroehlers 5-3 in the final period. They trailed 1-0 at the end of the first period but managed to tie it up 1-1 by the end of the second.

Buddy Boone led St. Catharines marksmen with two goals. Singles were scored by Jack McIntyre, Obie O'Brien, Con Switzer and Brown. Buddy Watson, Gord Nudds, Bibber O'Hearn and Dunnette tallied for Stratford.

Boucher Has Hopes Of Playoffs

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Coach Buck Boucher of the Boston Bruins still has hopes that his team will make the Stanley Cup playoffs. The Bruins now are in fifth place in the National Hockey League, six points below New York Rangers who hold the fourth and last playoff spot.

"I think we're just as good as the Rangers," said Boucher as the Bruins prepared for tonight's battle against the Maple Leafs at Toronto. The Rangers are entertaining Chicago Black Hawks in the other game tonight.

But Boston has only 15 games left before the regular schedule ends March 26, sending two teams into the discard, and the Rangers have 17. Buck wasn't any too hopeful, but his team is in there fighting to the finish. Boston tied the Hawks 4-4 at Chicago Sunday and suffered a blow when Paul Ronty, the young Toronto player who has blossomed into a great forward, pulled a groin muscle. Ronty will be in the line-up tonight.

Sporting Record

The Rangers take a record of four victories and two ties in their last six games into the fray at home tonight. They'll pay particular attention to veteran Chicago forward Doug Bentley, though he has yet to score against the Rangers this season. Bentley has a total of 199 goals in the NHL right now, and a goal tonight would give Doug membership in the exclusive 200-club of which Montreal's Maurice Richard is the only active playing member.

Clarence Campbell, the NHL president, is reported inclined to dismiss the incidents at Detroit Monday night when Canadiens' coach Dick Irvin, referee Hugh McLean, Canadien players and Detroit fans were involved in a between-period rumpus that also engaged Detroit police.

The Detroit Free Press said that players Ken Reardon and Floyd Curry were hit on the head with police blackjacks, and that Irvin was grabbed by the arm and given a police lecture on inciting to riot. Irvin himself said "leaving Detroit is the only good thing that has happened to me since I arrived," but that he planned no further action. Detroit police said Tuesday they are forgetting the incident.

77 Holdouts In Major League

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (AP) — Seventy-seven major leaguers, including such stars as Hal Newhouser, Howie Pollet, Bob Lemon and Vern Stephens, still have not come to contract terms with their employers.

Many may still be yelling for more dough when spring training begins one week from today.

A survey by The Associated Press showed today that St. Louis Browns have the most malcontents, 15, while New York Giants have none, the only club that can claim that distinction.

Newhouser, one of five Detroit Tigers out of the fold, is reported ready to sign. The brilliant left-hander is reported to have been asked to take a $10,000 cut, reducing his pay cheque to $50,000

Pollet also is reported on the verge of submitting. The St. Louis Cardinal 20-game winner is asking $25,000.

Lemon, who won 22 games for Cleveland Indians last season, is angling for $35,000.

Stephens who bats cleanup for Boston Red Sox, supposedly is peeved over his 1950 contract which calls for the same salary he made last season, approximately $25,000.

Old London Still Sitting On A Load Of German TNT

By H. L. JONES

LONDON, Feb. 22—(CP)—Old London, they say, is still sitting on a load of German TNT. At least 27 "almost certain" bombs—perhaps many more—still lie buried beneath her historic streets and grey stone buildings. Experts say some may be big, some small. Some may now be dead, others still explosive alive. Five years after the end of the war the work of digging up these dangerous relics of the blitz still goes on. No one knows when it will end. Undiscovered bombs keep coming to light as bomb-sites are cleared.

Occasionally Londoners get a nostalgic thrill when street barriers suddenly go up and traffic is diverted. Disposal squads appear and begin digging up the pavement beneath a big red sign saying: "Danger — unexploded bomb."

During wartime big ones that failed to "blow" usually meant evacuation of the area until the bomb was defused and dug out.

Take No Chances

Even as late as last year 1,000 people were evacuated from the vicinity of University College Hospital on Tottenham Court Road when experts dug up a giant named "Rip Van Winkle." Rip had been sleeping undiscovered there for eight years.

Only recently bomb squads dug up the street in Parliament Square and in front of the National Gallery in Trafalgar Square They didn't find anything, but no matter. Every report of a suspected bomb has to be checked.

But bomb digging isn't the job it once was. Because things are considered well under control the last of London's bomb disposal squadrons has been disbanded. It began in 1940 with 400 men and its work now will be carried on by a few former German prisoners-of-war under British command.

With disbandment of the squadron, the army's most experienced bomb-disposal officer leaves his post. He is Maj. S. F. Knight of the Royal Engineers who joined in a bomb disposal unit in Bristol in 1940.

Proudest memory of all for Maj. Knight is the fact that not one of the hundreds of men he commanded ever was killed on the job of recovering a bomb. And when its considered that the major and his men lifted hundreds of them, it's a pretty fine record.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A school for greenskeepers is to be held at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph March 20-22 under auspices of the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

The school has long been a dream of association officials Its establishment is credited to the work of the association's greens section, headed by Dr. A. W. Matthews.

The courses on soils, fertilization and turf management will be open to club professionals, greens chairmen and other persons interested in golf course management.

Instruction will be given by Prof. Lawrence H. Dickenson of Massachusetts University, Amherst, Mass., regarded as an authority on soil management as applied to golf courses; Dr. Frederick Grau of Washington, director of the United States Golf Associations greens section, who will speak on turf research and maintenance; and Dr. O. J. Noer, agronomist of the Milwaukee Sewage Commission, who will deal with aerification of soils on greens and fairways.

Also scheduled are lectures by members of the college staff, by E. I. Wood of the Federal District Commission in Ottawa, and by C. E. Robinson, RCGA greens consultant.

Carl Furillo, a hero in the Dodgers' September pennant drive last season, signed a Brooklyn contract Tuesday calling for a big raise.

As usual, no figures were given out at the Brooklyn press conference. Newspapermen, however figured the strong-armed outfielder from Reading, Pa., will receive $20,000, about a $6,000 boost over his 1949 pay.

Carl, who hit over .400 in the Brooks' mad September dash to the National League championship, wound up with a .322 average for the year, fourth best in the senior circuit. He drove in 106 runs.

Fred Saigh, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, went home Tuesday without the signature of his ace lefthander, Howie Pollet.

Pollet, who lives in Houston, talked with Saigh Monday night and again Tuesday morning.

"We have agreed on a base salary, or could agree in a second," Pollet said. "What we can't agree on is how much a gate the Cards would have to draw to entitle me to the money I believe I'm entitled to. I'll compromise, but I expect Mr. Saigh to do likewise."

Edmonton Mercurys, odds-on favorites to win the world amateur hockey championship for Canada, open their bid for the global title against Switzerland at Harringay Arena in London, Eng. March 14.

Canada plays the other team in its group, Belgium, at Wembley March 15.

The first two teams in each of the three pools will qualify for the final round. Two points will be awarded for a win and one for a draw with goal average deciding any ties in the final standing.

Hydro Man Mushes Lonely Patrol

SLAVE FALLS, Man. —(CP)— Bob Pearson, weather-beaten and silver-haired, is one of 2,634 workers on the permanent payroll of the city of Winnipeg—but the 55-year-old civic employee is the only one to do his work by dog team.

Pearson, a patrolman makes his headquarters at this point, 95 miles northeast of Winnipeg where his job is to inspect electric transmission lines.

He does his work in winter for the multi-million dollar hydro system with the aid of four dogs. His beat of 11 miles west of Slave Falls is in rugged territory, hilly and rough with granite.

"It saves walking," Mr. Pearson says of his dog team. He is the only one of 14 hydro patrolmen to mush through his run. Others cover their winter patrols on snowshoes, skis or foot.

In 1936, Pearson thought it would be a lot easier covering his tortuous route by dog team.

Today his team consists of four dogs: Biffie and Chum (two white huskies), Sandy (a collie) and Niggie (half collie and half husky). Niggie is the lead dog.

"I have never made friends with the team," Pearson said. "If you make a friend with one you'll get in trouble right away. The other gets jealous."

Two Poets Learn They Composed The Same Poem

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON — (CP) — Two embarrassed British poets have discovered that each has published an almost identical poem, though they are extremely similar in word, length and metre, critics uniformly dismiss any suggestion of plagiarism.

"Saint Augustine at 32," written by Clifford Dyment, eminent British poet, was published in 1943 in the St. Martin's Review.

Hon. Victoria Sackville-West wrote a poem published last year in the Poetry Review under the title "The Novice To Her Lover." She says it was written "a long time before—some time in 1942 or early 1943. It was suggested to me by an essay I was writing about St. Therese of Lisieux. I put the poem away."

Galloway Kyle, founder of the poetry Society, which publishes The Poetry Review, attributes the coincidence to both poets receiving the same inspiration, perhaps a "welling up of the subconscious mind. . .Plagiarism with poets of such eminence is unthinkable."

The verse by Dyment runs:

Girl, why do you follow me
When I come to the threshold of the holy place
My resolution falters: it seems a death to enter
When, turning back, I look into your face.
I saw you when I lay alone
And ran from you as from a searching light
Into the gentle, acquiescent
Obscurity of the night.
I crave communion that is not words
And life fulfilled in my call alone;
And you, you come with your lips and your gold hair
And at your feet is a leaf that the wind has blown.

Miss Sackville-West wrote Dy-

Why must you follow me
When I come to the threshold of this holy place?
My resolution falters and it seems death to enter
When, turning back, I look upon your face.
I could renounce you when I lay alone;
I ran from you as from a hungry light
Into the gentle, the infinite, the healing
Clemency of the night.
I crave an eloquence that is not words,
I seek fulfilment in the kiss of stone—
But you, you come with your mouth and your dark hair
And at your feet a leaf that the wind has blown.

Equally baffling is the fact that Miss Sackville—West wrote Dyment in 1944 complimenting him on his poem, not recognizing it as similar to her own. Last November she picked up an edition of his poems which contained the same one and "read with some astonishment a poem which I recognized as almost identical with a poem of my own."

Miss Sackville-West said it was "unthinkable that I or Mr. Dyment should have 'lifted' a poem from one another."

The New Stateman asked editorially whether it might lie in a "common source in some book of memoirs or devotions which both poets had read and forgotten"

Find Fortune In Garden Well

UPPER WICK, Gloucestershire, England (CP).—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris have a fortune in the well in their garden.

Recently they complained of stomach trouble, and when visitors said they felt queer after having a cup of tea they decided to have the water analyzed.

The analyst told them: "You have a spa in your midst. This water contains more mineral than there is in the waters of Harrogate, Bath or Tunbridge Wells."

"They tell me it's marvellous for rheumatism," Mrs. Harris said. "But we haven't got rheumatism and the water is making us all feel ill."

Local authorities, however, believe it has great commercial possibilities.

Omen Of Disaster

LONDON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Superstitious Britons are worried because millions of waxwings, birds usually only found in Arctic areas, have invaded the country. In the old days, the arrival of waxwings in mild weather was regarded as an omen of war, death or the plague.

AIRVIEW made by NEA Correspondent Ferguson from Chinese C-47 shows Chinese mainland (top), the once-busy port of Amoy, and Kulangsu (bottom), all in Red hands. Kinmen stands in their way as take-off points for a Formosa invasion. (See map.)

WITHIN RANGE of Red guns, Mme. Chiang Kai-shek pays tribute at grave of a Nationalist soldier killed in last October's victory over the Communist attempt to invade Kinmen.

Madame Chiang Goes Up Front For Look At China's Battleground

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

KINMEN ISLAND, Fukien Province, China—(NEA)—The C-47 with "Mei Ling" on its nose skidded to a stop on Kinmen's rough and sandy airstrip, and down the steps came a smiling, bareheaded woman in black slacks.

Two and a half miles away the Chinese Reds were dug in on their own island outpost; five miles away was the Communist-held mainland. Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of China's Nationalist leader, was making her first tour of the battlefront since her return to Formosa from America.

To the troops on Kinmen, who must live without any amusements, without electricity, and subsist on food imported from Formosa, Mme. Chiang declared:

"Your role is not only to defend this island, but to fight back to the mainland.

The soldiers already know their first role. Commanded by General Hu Lien, who has been fighting Communism in China since 1928, they fought off a Red invasion attempt last October in which the Communists, according to General Hu's reports, lost 27,000 men.

The invaders came from Amoy and Kulangsu islands, within sight of Kinmen, and when the battle was over Kinmen still stood in the way of the Red amphibious invasion of Formosa by the shortest route — nearly 150 miles of choppy Taiwan strait.

Remote Possibility

"There is only a remote possibility of Formosa being invaded without first taking Kinmen," 56-year-old General Hu said. "The enemy cannot by-pass this island without superior air and naval support, and we have control of both the air and water."

At best, the control is precarious, however. The eight-by-ten-mile island is studded with pillboxes, trenches and barbed wire defenses. But for final victory in the October battle, tanks had to be sent from Formosa, and General Hu has only one of the five LSTs he needs to supply his base.

In the air, Hu's forces carry out bombing and strafing of the nearby Red positions with a single AT-6—a plane used solely for advanced training in the U. S. With two 30-mm machine guns and two 150-pound bombs, Kinmen's one-plane air force flies several missions a day.

But Hu is still confident he can hold off any future invasion attempt. He doesn't expect one within the next three months.

Right now the Red neighbors of Kinmen are quiet. On her tour of the island defenses, Madame Chiang visited fortifications along the [illegible] shore, within range of Communist guns. There was no Red reception.

Later, in the C-47s in which we accompanied Madame Chiang from Formosa, we flew 5500 feet over Amoy and Kulangsu.

Only a few sporadic puffs of anti-aircraft fire floated up, bursting far behind the plane.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—Postmaster-General Rinfret said Tuesday he will advise the Commons later whether the problems of rural mail carriers will be referred to a committee for study during this session. He was replying to Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel).

First UN Structure 39 Storeys High

By NORMAN ALSTEDTER

NEW YORK — (CP)—Gawking visitors are taking over from the sidewalk superintendents at the United Nations new headquarters in Manhattan.

The striking shell of the 39-storey Secretariat Building is completed and is drawing thousands of amateur cameramen — forerunners of the millions expected to visit the U.N. when its new home is ready.

The First $20,000,000 building on the six-block site is oblong—comparable to a candy box standing on end. The east and west sides facing the East River and Second Avenue respectively, are all windows. The narrow, windowless north and south sides are faced with New England granite.

Started in September, 1948, on the site where slaughter-houses once flourished, the structure stands out now in sharp contrast to the rest of New York's skyline.

U.N. employees expect to start moving into their new home in December. But delegates will have to wait until the spring of 1951 at least to hold their meeting at the new headquarters.

Contracts have been let for a $12,000,000 meeting hall building which will be connected to the Secretariat Building. In fact, all buildings planned for the site will be connected with each other and with three underground tiers garages and parking spaces.

Other Buildings

Still in the early planning stage is a General Assembly Building which will include the main assembly hall, restaurants and lounges. Original plans called for a fourth building—for delegates' offices, but this has been deferred indefinitely. It is one of the economy drives to keep cost of the headquarters down to $65,000,000.

Other deletions from the planners' first dreams include a network of pneumatic tubes to speed messages everywhere on the site, a rest and recreation centre for U.N. employees, and six extra storeys for the Secretariat Building.

The entrance to the assembly hall will have a massive array of marble pillars. One official describes the lobby-to-be as a "cathedral of peace." Stone steps will taper up to three stone tiers—entrances to the hall itself will be dome-shaped.

Working in the new headquarters will be a big change from that at the temporary headquarters at Lake Success—the remodeled section of an aircraft-instruments factory—where almost all offices are on one floor. The Sperry Gyroscope Company still operates in one section of the structure manufacturing bomb sights and other instruments.

Traces Ancestry To King Edward I

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N. Z., — (CP) — Gordon Deed, owner of a 70-acre dairy farm near here had a vague idea that his family had titled ancestors. He has learned that his family tree is probably unrivalled in New Zealand.

He wrote to Cyril Hankinson, editor of Debrett's Peerage, who advised him that the Deed family is descended from a nobleman who was one of William the Conqueror's chief supporters in the invasion of England and that he is a direct descendant of King Edward I of England and King David I of Scotland.

Mr. Hankinson stated that he had never encountered a case a tenth as interesting as that of Mr. Deed in his long experience of genealogy.

The London insuiry showed that the Deed family until 1800 was known as Dade and was descended from Aubrey de Vere, who was granted large estates by the Conqueror for his services in the invasion of Britain. It also traced links back to the Fitz Alans, descendants of Alan Fitz-Flaad who accompanied Henry I from Brittany.

Debrett's research staff continued their investigations and found direct evidence linking the Deed family through 19 generations with Edward I and descent through another line with the Kings or Scotland.

Deed's family has been farming in New Zealand for 80 years. He says he does not know of any estates to which he can lay claim but recalls that his grandfather had referred to an unclaimed property in England. He hopes to go to England some day investigate these matters.

Canadian Mines Big Source Country's Money

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The money in your pay envelope, or the profits in your business—where do they come from?

They come from many things, but a big source is Canadian mines: this whether or not you work in them, whether or not you are even near them.

For they are sending out a stream of dollars through all Canadian life.

A news letter of the Canadian Metal Mining Association says that producing metal mines alone now are paying some $151,000,000 a year to other Canadian industries for supplies, or nearly 50 cents of every dollar they earn.

How much is this, in familiar terms? It is, says the letter

$31,000,000 for freight and express, enough to send a fully-loaded extraordinary train 274 miles long from Halifax to Vancouver.

$10,000,000 for hydro-electric power, enough to supply the industrial city of Hamilton for two years.

Heat Every House

$15,400,000 for coal and coke, enough to heat every house and apartment building in Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Edmonton for one year.

$12,000,000 for lumber, timber and building products, enough for 3,500 five-room houses.

$7,000,000 for electrical equipment, enough to buy an electric washing machine for every family in Ottawa.

Other principal items purchased include tools and machinery, mine cars and locomotives, other iron and steel products, reagents and chemicals, petroleum products, explosives.

These figures are for producing gold and non-ferrous base metal mines (such metals as nickel, copper, lead, zinc, but not iron.)

They do not include materials bought to bring a mine into production. For instance, says the letter, Campbell Red Lake Gold Mine in northwestern Ontario spent $3,000,000 before an ounce of gold was produced, much of it on materials; and East Sullivan, a base metal mine in northern Quebec, similarly spent $5,500,000.

Developing iron and titanium mines are expected to spend another $150,000,000 for materials within the next few years.

So wherever you are and whoever you are, chances are that a substantial part of your earnings come from them and from the cycle of business and payrolls which they keep in motion.

Staff Buys Business Hires Former Owner

TORONTO —(CP)— A Toronto employer sold the controlling interest in a business to his employees. Now he works for his former staff as manager.

W. R. Sachs made the arrangement in 1948. Employees of the Garage Supply Co., Ltd., took over the firm by cash purchase of 80 per cent of the stock. Since then, the plan has proved satisfactory to the workers and to the former owner.

Donald Sutherland, one of the shareholders, says the deal was similar to that of the firm of Parmenter and Bulloch of Gananoque, Ont., taken over by its employees several years ago.

No employee need buy stock unless he wishes and there is an understanding that no person can hold more than 10 per cent of the stock. If an employee leaves the firm, he must offer his stock to the other shareholders at the value given in the latest financial statement.

If the shares are not bought by persons still with the company, the former employee can sell them to whom he wishes and at any price he can get. In the case of the death of an employee-shareholder, his widow may at her option retain her late husband's shares.

Approve Indian Loans

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—The Indian Affairs Branch approved loans totalling $36,947 during 1949 to help Indian bands, it was shown Tuesday in the annual report of loans made by the branch. The return was tabled in the Commons by Citizenship Minister Harris, whose department now administers Indian afairs.

THIS ISN'T A LOT OF HORSE NONSENSE. While Eastern Canadians literally raced between cars and trams and their offices to beat the sub-zero temperatures, at least one old Dobbin grew a bunch of Arctic whiskers fast. If he looks slightly congealed, who didn't during the cold spell.

Make New Immigrants Feel At Home Harris Asks

OSHAWA, Feb. 22 — (CP) — Immigration Minister Harris Tuesday urged Canadians to make new immigrants to the country feel at home "and to welcome them into our Canadian family."

Nearly 400,000 immigrants had come to Canada since the end of the war for whom Canada meant "hope for freedom and hope for promise," he said on a free-time CBC political broadcast.

Mr. Harris said the eagerness of the Immigrants was matched by their capabilities and they "have brought many new skills and new industries to Canada and have enriched our cultural life in many ways."

It would be difficult, however, for many of the newcomers. An immigrant "will have to become familiar with new customs and traditions, and he may have to learn a new language. In view of this I hope that all of us who have new Canadians in our communities will do everything we can to make them feel at home, and to welcome them into our Canadian family."

The immigrants came to Canada with an earnest desire for new opportunities. "Most of them have a firm belief in their ability to grasp these opportunities by their own efforts. No one should try to set a limit on their progress by their individual effort."

Belleville Sets 60-Mill Rate

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 22—A tax rate of 60 mills was struck by city council at a sepcial meeting held Monday night. The rate is an increase of 13 mills over the 47-mill rate in 1949.

Increased expenditure in almost every city department was responsible for the sharply increased rate with expenditures for the year estimated at $1,079,412. The assessment for the general rate is $15,232,309.

Education will take a total of 19.8 mills, the general rate is 30.55 mills and hospital charges will take 5.1 mills. Public works will cost the city $139,600. The police department will cost $76,351 and the fire department $103,000.

Religious Riot

ASMARA, Eritrea, Feb. 22 (AP) —Sword-wielding Moslems and Christians clashed Tuesday in a bloody religious riot. Incomplete casualty figures indicated at least 11 dead and 50 wounded, and fighting still was raging late Tuesday night. British troops, occupying this former Italian colony in East Africa since the war, rushed to the riot scene to reinforce hard-pressed police.

Withdraws Charge

COOKSVILLE, Feb. 22 (CP)— An assault charge against Stephen Hewick was withdrawn on Tuesday by Elizabeth Stilby, a schoolteacher who said he swore at her, shook her and struck her arm because she sent his two sons home from school for their books. She said Hewick apologized.

Clarence May Dies

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP)— Prominent in business circles here for many years, Clarence R. May, died at his home Tuesday night following a heart attack. He was manager of the London office of the prices board for the last eight years, and prior to that had been local manager of Dun and Bradstreet for some years.

Hospital Conditions Charged Disgraceful

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 22 —(CP)— City Council was told Monday night it is impossible to keep sufficient trained staff at Greater Niagara General Hospital because of "disgraceful" working conditions.

Harry F. Garwood, newly appointed hospital superintendent, invited aldermen to visit the hospital which, he said, is dangerously overcrowded.

The hospital trust has been kept under fire at Council sessions because a new wing has not been opened and patients are placed in corridors.

Mr. Garwood said one department has to make supplies in a lavatory used as such, and another has to work in a room kept for dying patients. He said the building is obsolete. Staff dining rooms, change rooms, and rest rooms were either non-existent or unsatisfactory.

Funds For Aluminum

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) —Britain Tuesday received $8,000,000 in Marshall Aid funds to buy aluminum from Canada, the Economic Co-operation Administration announced. The aluminum will be purchased between now and July 31 and it is to be delivered by [illegible] ECA said.

Senator In Hospital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)— Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.) is in hospital for what his physician, Dr. R. F. Owne, terms "minor diagnostic procedure." Aides said they expected Vandenberg, who underwent a lung operation last fall, to be out of the hospital in a day or two.

Actress Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22 (AP)— Her married life was a long series of night clubs, actress Ann Dvorak charged Tuesday. Suing for divorce from her Russian-born dancer husband of two years, Igor Dega, Miss Dvorak said his engagements took him into too many night spots. That, she added, constitutes cruelty.

US Must Continue Aid To Europe After ERP, Acheson Warns Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) —State Secretary Acheson served notice on Congress Tuesday that American spot aid would still be needed after the four-year European Recovery Program ends in 1952.

There has been talk of such a need, but this is the first time the administration has made it official.

The secretary also warned that Russia was showing signs of increasing boldness in pursuit of the Kremlin's design for world dominion.

Acheson did not set a figure for spot aid to follow the Marshall plan, which already involves nearly $12,000,000,000 for the first three years. But he made it clear that he considered the United States had no choice but to continue its foreign aid.

The post-1952 assistance, he said, will be required to get individual countries over the economic hump.

Gives Testimony

Acheson spent most of the day on Capitol Hill, first testifying before a joint session of the Senate and House Foreign Committees in support of the administration's budget plea for $3,100,000,000 to aid European recovery for the third year.

Then he went before the House Foreign Affairs Committee in a lively two-hour session in which a barrage of questions drew from him the statement that the end of American aid is not yet in sight.

The United States, he continued, must encourage the import of foreign goods to provide other countries with dollars even though it hurts at home.

He agreed with Representative Jacob Javits (Rep. Liberal, NY) that cutting off Economic Co-operation Administration help to France and Italy would provoke inflation, unemployment and slackened production—conditions made to order for communism.

Loucks who was facing the oncoming pair and who was about six feet south-west of Smith. The man in the fawn coat was about two feet from Yuzwa who stopped directly in front of Loucks, according to the Aldred version.

"I saw the back of Yuzwa's elbows go forward as he stood directly in front of Loucks," said the witness, whose view was partly obscured by the back of the accused.

"You saw his elbows and lower arms push forward?" queried His Lordship.

"Yes," replied the witness.

Grabbed Mouth

Mr. Aldred continued: "As soon as Yuzwa's hands went out, Loucks grabbed his mouth with his left hand and swung away to the north... Yuzwa seized Loucks by the left shoulder and swung him to the right."

Then the victim staggered toward the curb spewing blood.

The pair then approached Smith and Yuzwa took a swing at him. Smith ducked back after the blow and ran back to the Big 20, but the witness was unable to say whether or not the Hagersville truck driver was struck.

At this point "the man in the fawn coat grasped the prisoner's left arm and elbow so he could not go any further," Aldred related.

Next Victim

Thornton Olver, about three feet away from Smith, was apparently next singled out for attack. Aldred testified he saw Olver's head sink down on his chest. (He was later treated for severe cuts on the nose and head.)

Fourth victim was Sidney Risley, caretaker, who said he was standing on the sidewalk when the companion of the accused approached and said: "What the hell are you doing here?"

Risley tald the court he replied that he was minding his own business.

"If you are you'd better get the hell out of here if you know what's good for you," was the reply. Risley stated he was then struck but he did not know by whom. He raised his left arm to ward off the blow and received a slash that penetrated his coat sleeve and took 12 stitches to close.

"What did you do then?" asked Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordon.

Gets Away

"I beat it," said Risley emphatically.

Origin of the quarrel with Loucks is still obscure.

Aldred stated he arrived shortly before 12:30 a.m. and pulled his bicycle up to the curb in front of the Big 20, preparatory to going in and having a cup of coffee.

At that time, he said, the accused was sitting alone in the truck in the right-hand seat. The three Zahodniks were in the cafe.

Aldred's first indication that anything was amiss was when he heard Joseph Kearns, a companion of Smith and Olver, say to the accused: "You ..... why don't you get out and fight like a man"?

Olver, Loucks and Risley were all standing nearby, he said. Loucks was on the sidewalk in front of the truck which was parked diagonally against the curb.

Yuzwa left the truck and started to walk across Kent St. in the general direction of the Benson House and when he got about half way there Loucks called out: "Where are you going now you ....."?

Walks Up To Car

Before the accused returned Loucks walked up to the vehicle, seized the handle of the door and said jocularly to the others: "What do you want boys?"

Then Loucks turned away, walking a short distance down the street in a westerly direction.

When Yuzwa returned he is alleged to have said: "I own this truck and you fellows keep the hell away from it . . . You think you're smart you ..... but come over now and tell me what you are saying."

Loucks replied he wasn't afraid and walked up to the truck, Aldred testified. Yuzwa swore at him once again, the witness said.

The window of Yuzwa's truck was rolled down to the level of the door frame and the forearm of the accused man was resting on it. Two "cracks" were heard when Yuzwa took a backhand swipe at Loucks.

No Blood Then

"Loucks walked away but there was no blood on him at that time," said Aldred. A silence of two or three minutes followed.

Aldred continued his long testimony by saying, in reply to a query from Mr. Pitt, that he had shifted his position to get a better look at Loucks.

"I din't notice anything wrong with him at that time," he said.

"But when Loucks left you had a suspicion he was hurt"?

"Well I heard two cracks and I though perhaps he might be hurt, but I didn't see any marks on his face."

Waiting For Pals

The witness said he thought he heard Yuzwa saying, as though to himself, "wait till my pals come."

When the three Zahodnik brothers stepped out of the doorway of the Big 20 Yuzwa leaped from the truck and rushed to meet them. He spoke to them excitedly and one of the brothers was reported to have replied, "Whoa! Just a minute."

It was then that the Yuzwa and "the tall one," presumably James Zahodnik, detached themselves from the other pair and started down the street. The mission ended in four men being stabbed—one fatally.

None of the witnesses who was stabbed was very specific on the nature of the attack on himself. Nor could they say for sure that Yuzwa had a knife or any other sharp weapon in either hand.

The case is expected to continue till late Thursday or Friday.

Mr. Vaughan and his successor, Donald Gordon, who took over the C.N.R. presidency Jan. 1. Both Mr. Gordon and Mr. Vaughan said the work stoppages in U.S. mines were the basic reason behind the curtailment of passenger services.

Mr. Chevrier said he was tabling the documents in view of comments that appeared in the press following his statement to the Commons last Friday.

Limited Stockpile

In that statement, Mr. Chevrier the C.N.R. in October, 1948, approved an objective of 2,365,000 tons of coal for stockpile as at Dec. 31, 1949. This represented about a 4½ month supply. In June, 1949, Mr. Vaughan gave instructions that the stockpile be kept at approximately three months supply.

The events in the coal industry, coupled with Mr. Vaughan's decision, had the effect of reducing the stockpile objective to 1,043,000 at Dec. 31, 1949. This meant a condition of emergency and a reduction in services was ordered.

Mr. Chevrier also stated that no curtailment would have been necessary if all the coal ordered in the United States had been delivered. The documents from Mr. Vaughan and Mr. Gordon also expressed that view.

Mr. Gillis said the Commons railway committee should be established so Mr. Gordon and Mr. Vaughan could be questioned on the railway's fuel policy.

Mr. Chevrier said it always was government policy to use as much Canadian coal as possible.

Combats Alcohol

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) brought alcohol into the discussions by urging the government to assist organizations attempting to combat excess consumption of alcoholic beverages, particularly in Ontario and Quebec.

He favored a health department campaign to show the perils involved in excessive drinking.

At the opening of the sitting the Commons was subjected to its first formal vote of the 1950 session.

Over Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit opposition, the House voted 154 to 48 to adopt a government resolution clearing the way for an early start on consideration of estimates this year.

Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) objected to the resolution, contending it was improper to set a peace-time precedent by starting consideration of money matters before completion of the Throne Speech debate.

Square Bottles For Milk To Make Debut

Square milk bottles will make their debut in Peterborough this week. A city dairy has ordered its first consignment of several gross which will be included in the regular supply for delivery to Peterborough homes.

Within the next four years there will be a complete change over to the square bottles, C. L. Upper, vice president and general manager of the De Laval Company, forecast this week. There is a saving of 22 per cent in space both to the householder, who can get more bottles in the refrigerator and to those handling them in larger quantities.

There are two types of square bottles being produced at present. The one which will be distributed in Peterborough has the same sized opening as the round bottle, but in the past few weeks manufacturers have started producing a bottle with a longer neck and narrower opening. This latter type will probably become the most universal, in time, Mr. Upper says.

FINE THING—Rep. Fred L. Crawford (R., Mich.) pays a $25 fine for assault in Upper Marlboro against the county's bail-fixing practices. Doctor's Car Damaged Monaghan Rd. Crash

Two cars smashed together doing considerable damage to both Tuesday night on Monaghan Rd near Weller St.

Constable Louis Rodreque reported that the driver of one car, Dr. John A. McNeill, 1319 Monaghan Rd. was driving north on Monaghan Rd. while Edward Courneya, 63 Oliver St., was driving south.

The constable said Courneya told him he saw he did not have room to pass the approaching McNeill car because of cars and a city bus parked on the west side of the street. He braked his car, skidded on the slippery street and collided with the other car.

Damage to the McNeill car, the left front bumper, the grill, a headlight and a front tire, amounted to approximately $100. The Courneya car had a damaged front bumper, grill, front fender and steering column.

Heed The Stop Signs! Police Are Watching

Peterborough car drivers who slip into second gear and drive through stop signs are in for some special attention from city police constables, Chief Constable John Thompson said today.

The school, under the directorship of Provincial Police Inspector W. H. Clark, was opened about one year ago to municipal police who wanted to take advantage of the specialized training.

Chief Constable John Thompson said he hoped to send several of his men in the succeeding courses to be held from now until the late spring.

Peterborough Fishermen In Florida Sun Have Fish And Convivial Tales To Tell

The most valuable fish Bert Arnott ever caught was the one that carried a $5.50 jackpot in a recent winter angling effort.

Satisfaction of gathering up the money deepened by the fact he had to go all the way to the Gulf of Mexico to show that he had a rightful place in the same company as Dr. Jack Green the 1949 local piscatorial ace. Dr. Harold Long and various other gent of the hook and line fraternity.

"We went out on a fishing boat from Clearwater, Florida," Mr. Arnott said. "Each one chipped in a quarter for the man or woman landing the biggest fish. Mine was a 15-pounder. We were the only people from Canada on the boat. The others were from the northern States. They said they'd squate accounts by taking biggest muskie in the Kawarthas next summer."

Mr. and Mrs. Arnott were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Arnott and William Andrews.

"We met Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Braund in St. Petersburg, and Eddie Hanson at Dayton Beach. We had just three weeks of it and it was a fine trip. Cost of travel can be geared to any purse. You can get a first class cabin, gas heated and all the rest, for $3 a night. Some better cabins elsewhere for $4. At Miami there are all kinds of hotels. You can imagine the rates.

"It was continuously sunny weather. Florida appears to be having a good season. Thousands of northererns have flocked down there from the States, and you can see a lot of Ontario cars."

Mr. Arnott does not intend to rest on the Florida laurels of Clearwater "champ" for one day, and a Canadian who took the cash from 21 Americans right on their own pond. He will be out again this season in the usual places around Peterborough and far down No. 7 Highway.

15 House and Shop Breakins Believed Solved By Police 26 Charges Have Been Laid

A junior crime wave of 15 house and shop breakins and thefts is believed stopped with the arrest of five juveniles, all boys aged 13, 14, and 15. Four of the youths have been formally charged and remanded in county jail, and with the Children's Aid Society until Juvenile Court, Friday with the possibility that there will be a further week's remand. The fifth boy was charged and remanded in the custody of his father.

26 Charges Laid

So far a total of 26 charges have been laid against the boys.

Since late November there have been a series of breakins into homes, shops and schools which often had many elements in common. Often burnt matches were found littering the floors; in many cases entry was made by the use of skeleton keys; or through basement windows. In almost every case, the breakins took place in the area bounded by Charlotte, George, Lansdowne Sts. and Monaghan Rd.

The boys, who usually operated in pairs, were after money and valuables left lying around were seldom touched.

The break came Sunday night, when two boys were noticed hanging around Dale's Meat Market near Sherbrooke and Rubidge streets. The police were called.

Two Hiding Under Car

Constables Gordon Trennum and Robert Menzies were dispatched to investigate. They found a basement window had been kicked-in at the back of the meat market building. Then Constable Menzies spotted two boys hiding under a car.

They were brought to the police station and the story began to unfold. Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke and Detective Sergeant John Stevenson took over the questioning and soon a tale of 16 breakins unfolded. Others boys were implicated.

Those who were questioned soon told their part in the affair.

$40 Taken From Store

Saturday night the boy who is charged with taking part in eight breakins, kicked open a cellar window of Jerry O'Toole's store at Sherbrooke and Rubidge Sts.

It was reported that $40 was taken from the store.

A week ago the home of William Jeffries, 1266 Clonsilla Ave. was broken into, but only a package of cigarettes was taken.

During the same weekend, the home of Frank Braithwaite, 527 Rose Ave., was opened up, but nothing taken. The house and all the drawers were ransacked.

Although nothing was taken from the home of John Vilneff, 628 St. Catherines St., when it it was broken into the same weekend, one of the gang had struck several matches across a dresser badly scoring the finish.

Stole Purse From Church

Two of the boys deviated from the usual pattern when they stole $10.50 from a woman's purse Sunday at Knox United Church.

Through the weeks, they broke into building after building mostly on the weekends. Most of the time there were no more than two or perhaps three on any one job.

Feb. 12, they entered through a window into Prince of Wales school at Sherbrooke St. and Monaghan Rd. taking $9 and four pens valued at $7.

From Jack Wilson's store on Penrose Ave., they took $25 in silver and coppers Jan. 29.

In December they took $52 from the home of Roy Norrad, 149 Stewart St. using a skelton key to get in. Two days before Christmas one or two of them used a key to get into the home of Thomas Nolan, 99 Aylmer St. N. taking some insurance and other important papers along with a necklace and some earrings. The insurance papers were burned in the home of one of the boys.

Earlier in the month some of them took 25 cents from the home of Albert Poolman, 538 Sherbrooke St; $10 from the home of Mrs. Helen Fowler, 506 Wolfe St; and $11 at the the end of

CHARLES LACHEUR

Charles Lacheur Postmaster 26 Years, Dies

Postmaster in Peterborough since 1924, Charles Lacheur, 550 Gilmour St., died Tuesday night after an illness of several months.

Mr. Lacheur had been absent from his office since the beginning of December for a rest advised by his physician. In recent weeks he was able to be out again and had expected to resume his work. In the meantime it was found that a rather rare operation was necessary from another physical cause. A subsequent attack of pneumonia was the cause of death.

Upon the retirement of the late John Corkery in 1924, Mr. Lacheur was advanced to the responsibility of postmaster, and had been highly successful in all his relations with the public and with the post office department.

47 Years On Postal Staff

Mr. Lacheur had been 47 years on the postal staff in Peterborough. He was first engaged as a clerk and gradually advanced to the position of assistant to the late Mr. Corkery. He was thoroughly experienced in all phases of the post office service, and was prominent among the postmasters of the province. Mr. Lacheur's diligence in the performance of his duties was an outstanding characteristic that was generally recognized, and especially by business firms and others to whom the postal connections were an important detail of their affairs. He will be remembered by a host of friends for his kindly, sympathetic personality, his interest in the progress of the community and the place of the post office in Peterborough's steady expansion.

Under his management Mr. Lacheur had invested his office with the sincere interest of his sense of duty and also with the atmosphere of his friendly disposition. He had brought the post office in Peterborough close to the people and with an efficiency they fully recognized and appreciated.

Born In Peterborough

Mr. Lacheur was the first postmaster to be appointed by the direct authority of the Civil Service Commission. He was born in Peterborough 62 years ago, son of John Lacheur and his wife, Ann Jane Armstrong, and lived here all his life. He leaves his wife, the former Arleigh Stuart, two daughters, Mrs. John McMillan of Toronto, and Miss Marjorie Lacheur at home; four sisters, Misses Mary and Elizabeth Lacheur of Peterborough, Mrs. E. Catchpole and Mrs. J. Lancaster (Louise) of Toronto; and one brother, Robert of Arcadia, Cal.

One of the activities of Mr. Lacheur was as trustee of Nicholls Hospital Trust as representative of the members of All Saints' Church. With the organization of Peterborough Civic Hospital he was on the committee which was appointed to draft plans for the organizing of a civic hospital in Peterborough.

Mr. Lacheur was a devoted member of All Saints Anglican Church since his boyhood, was Rector's Warden in 1926-27 during the pastorate of Rev. Canon J. D. Patterson, and had been on the parish council many years. In Masonry he was a member of Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. & A.M., Corinthian Chapter R.A.M., Moore Preceptory Knights Templar, Lodge of Perfection Scottish Rite and the Sovereignty of Rose Croix.

The body is at Comstock's funeral home, 305 Water St., until Friday when the service will be conducted at All Saints' Church at 2.30 p.m. by Rev. Canon Patterson of Toronto. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Judges Now Have Outside Advice Custody Cases

In deciding who shall have the custody of children under 16 when divorce is granted, High Court judges are to receive the assistance of evidence presented by independent, trained social workers. This is provided for in recent provincial legislation. In the past, the only evidence on which a judge has been able to base his decision has been evidence presented during the divorce action.

The Children's Aid Society has been appointed the official agency in Peterborough to make these investigations. Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, told the Board of Governors Tuesday.

For some years consideration has been given by the Children's Aid Societies of Ontario to the welfare of children whose parents were separated by divorce. The plight of some of them, left unprotected, has been a matter of grave concern. Representations were made by the Association of Children's Aid Societies and the Bar Association, to the Attorney-General of the province, for protective legislation requiring investigations to be made, in the case of every child under 16 whose parents were parties to divorce actions.

Recent legislation now requires the investigation to be made in the case of all children under 16 whose parents are seeking divorce.

Comic Book Producers Ask Ottawa To Ease Ban

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—Canadian comic book producers on Tuesday asked the federal government to reduce the severity of a law passed last year by parliament banning crime comic books.

A brief placed before Justice Minister Garson by the Comic Magazine Industry Association of Canada suggested:

1. That the law be amended so that, while it still would be illegal to sell crime comic books to children, this would not apply to adults.

2. That before any one is prosecuted under the law, the provincial attorney-general should give consent.

3. That the prosecution be required to prove the bookseller or distributor knew of the contents of suspected crime comic books.

The brief said the association had been set up to screen all comic books to assure that they did not break the law. In this way it said, it was co-operating with the government.

Unfair to Readers

It contended that it was unfair to adult readers to ban crime comic books from sale altogether. The ban should be applied only to children.

The act passed last session provided that any person could bring action against a distributor or producer of crime comic books The association thought this was too broad since even the prosecution, without a conviction, could be harmful to a magazine. Thus, it said, the provincial attorney general should have the last word on whether prosecution should be instituted.

The act, first suggested by Dave Fudton, PC, Kamloops, and later adopted by the government, also provides that it is not necessary the bookseller knew the magazines for the prosecution to prove that he sold were crime comics.

"We suggest that it would be more realistic and more consistent with the principles of British justice, that no such bookseller or distributor should be fixed with a presumption of knowledge of the contents of a comic magazine," the brief said.

The brief emphasized the importance of the comic magazine industry to Canada's economy and reported that the dollar value of exports of the magazines to the United States was $172,177—more than 20 per cent of the value of exports of all newspapers and magazines exported to the U. S. last year.

Doctor Charges Diabetics Abuse Insulin

MONTREAL, Feb. 22 (CP) — Dr. I. M. Rabinowitch, associate professor of medicine at McGill University, said Tuesday that too many diabetics are taking insulin because they are not following their proper diet.

If the diet were followed, only one in four would need insulin, if it is not followed, three of four need it.

"Diabetics are abusing insulin and not following the diet," he said.

"Insulin makes the patient feel so well that he disregards his diet."

Dr. Rabinowitch, a recognized authority on diabetes, was commenting further on a paper he presented last night before the Montreal Diabetic Association.

(The Canadian Press last night erroneously said Dr. Rabinowitch sharply attacked wide use of insulin by a large percentage of diabetics.)

"Its use should be as wide as necessary and no wider," he said.

Use of insulin in many cases masked serious degenerative changes that could be prevented by diet, the physician's paper said. Dr. Rabinowitch stressed he had no intention thus slowly but surely producing ments.

Further Comments

The paper, based on investigations, said further:

"The extent to which insulin without proper dieting, is capable of masking conditions may be seen in diabetics who had developed the diabetes in childhood and who have had the diabetes for 15 years or more. For the first 10 or 15 years, and, at times, even 20 years, such diabetics may look well and feel well; they may even gain weight and, in fact, in every way appear to be developing normally.

"During all this time, however, their arteries are degenerating and thus slowly but surely producing cataract, blindness from hemorrhages in the eyes, kidney disease, high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis terminating in such conditions as coronary thrombosis, a condition generally expected in people past middle life. These dengenerative conditions have thus replaced diabetic coma as the major problem in the management of the young diabetic."

2 Embassy Men Return To Soviet

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—Two members of the staff of the Russian Embassy and their families have left Ottawa to return to the Soviet Union, an embassy spokesman said Tuesday.

He declined to give the names of the men, saying they were minor members of the staff.

The spokesman believed the party sailed from Halifax Monday aboard the Polish liner Batory. He said their departure was a routine transfer.

External Affairs Department officials said they had not been informed of the move. They added, however, that it was not customary for any embassy to notify the department in advance of a transfer involving minor officials.

Job Still To Do

Addressing the fifth meeting of a two-week convention of VLA officials, he said the most veterans had returned to Canada and civilian life, claiming re-establishment credits and settling down.

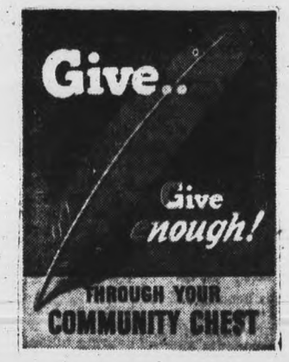
How Much Is Your Eyesight Worth?



In Peterborough City and County there are 86 persons who would pay almost any amount of money if it were possible that their sight be restored; as well as others whose sight has been impaired by accident.

These people or a number of them, have become useful citizens through the teachings and help of the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

In Peterborough an association called the Peterborough Advisory Board to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind maintains a Braile Library and a "Talking Book Library", books which have been recorded being played on a specially adapted machine.

The Association maintains contact with all people registered with the Association—Services practically all those who are registered with them—Administers concessions, employment and maintains a "Home Teaching Service". At present there are six blind people employed in industrial firms in this city.

The Association also provides at least one picnic a year, sends Christmas boxes. The I.O.D.E. supplies a lunch at the Blind picnic — and the people at Fee's Landing do much to help at this affair.

Plumber Loses Court Fight Against Union

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—William Newell, Hamilton plumbing contractor, Tuesday lost his fight against a plumbers' union which, he said, was responsible for his losing a big contract.

The Supreme Court of Canada rejected an appeal from a decision of the Ontario Appeal Court dismissing his damage action. He asked $35,400 in damages from H. Barker, Hamilton, and John W. Bruce, Richmond Hill, officials of the United Plumbers and Steamfitters of the United States and Canada (AFL-TCL).

Newell claimed Barker and Bruce conspired with members of Local 67 of the union to injure his business which resulted in the cancellation of a large contract.

He said he had signed a contract with the union each year from 1920 to 1934 but was not asked to sign a contract after 1935 and operated an open shop from then on.

The union claimed that Newell's contract with the Cooper Construction Company specified that union plumbers would be employed on the job.

Newell was not a member of the Hamilton Master Plumbers Association, which had an agreement with the union saying the employers would use only union men and the union would work only for members of the association.

Ottawa Junior Theatre Has Entry In Eastern Ontario Competition

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 — (CP) — Children don't pull punches with criticism. That's the reason actors in the Ottawa Drama League Junior Theatre must keep on their toes.

"Children are completely uninhibited and they have a very accurate critical faculty," says Julia Murphy, one of the Founders and a director of the company. "As an audience we find them more stimulating than grownups who clap politely whether or not they like a play."

For the last two years the Junior Theatre has been making drama part of Saturday afternoon entertainment for Ottawa youngsters. This week the theatre will make its bow to a drama festival audience at the Eastern Ontario Regional Competition.

The group has chosen a one-act version of the well known children's tale, "Rumpelstiltskin," adapted for stage by Marion Taylor, co-director of the company.

As it is Canadian-written, the play will be eligible for the Sir Barry Jackson Trophy, open to the best Canadian-written production in any of the regional festivals.

There are at least two other Canadian-written entries — "The Voice of the People," to be produced by Peterborough Little Theatre, and "Overlaid," entered by the Faculty Players of Queen's University, Kingston.

Both of these short pieces were written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner. The prominent playwright also has a hand in the production of the festival. He is director of J. M. Synge's "The Tinker's Wedding," second entry of the Peterborough group.

The Kingston company's second production will be a translation of Euripides "The Medea."

"The Circle of Chalk," a fantasy based on a Chinese legend, will be the opener tomorrow in the week-long festival to be held in the Little Theatre, home of the Ottawa Drama League.

The five-act play will be produced by Deep River Players of Deep River, Ont. It is one of the nine plays in the festival, preliminary to the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary in April.

Two Main Awards

The two main awards of the festival will be hte Davies Trophy for the best full-length play and the Fulford Shield, awarded the best one-act presentation. Prizes also go to the best actor and actress.

Other entries in the contest include Ottawa Drama League's production of Terence Rattigan's drama, "The Winslow Boy." The ODL Workshop has entered O. S. Forrester's "Payment Deferred," adapted for stage by Jeffrey Dell, of Ottawa. The Civil Service Recreation Association group will produce Lesley Storm's "Tony Draws a Horse." Final entry will be Brockville Theatre Guild's production of Thornton Wilder's three-act play "Our Town."

Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Lady Astor Helps Three Sons Fight Election

LONDON, Feb. 22 — (AP) — Busiest mother in Britain this election campaign is American-born Lady Astor. Still energetic and gay at 70, she's helping three sons fight for Conservative seats.

The former Nancy Langhorne knows all the campaign tricks. She was the first woman to win a seat in Britain's parliament. Elected in 1919 from Plymouth, she held the seat for 25 years until her retirement in 1945. She was and is a Conservative. She's stumping her sons' districts as though she were running for election herself.

Swinging her eye glasses in one hand, she ticked off the family political situation with the other:

"Now there's Jakie—that's J. J. —he's 32 and fighting for a seat in a Plymouth division. He's the youngest, you know. Then there's the oldest, William. He's 42 and campaigning in High Wycombe. In between is Michael who's 34. He's battling for the seat he won in 1945—Surrey, Eastern Division."

So Much To Do

"There's so much to do, so much to say about those old geese, the Socialists," Lady Astor said in an interview as she paced in front of a roaring wood fire in her Mayfair home.

"Everyone but a blind man can see that socialism and democracy don't work. Even if the Socialists should win this election, they're bound to go out eventually because they can't keep England shackled. Socialism would end either in dictatorship or starvation"

"I don't mean to say that I don's believe in social reforms and in the Labor unions. But the Socialists have married themselves to Kark Marx. The first thing he did was to separate politics from God and then separate men. We've got to put religion into politics and not the reverse."

A RATTING EXPEDITION—These Eskimo girl guides at Aklavik, NWT, set their own traps and get from $2 to $2.50 for each muskrat pelt. They are taken on such expeditions by their teachers. The flowered-cotton print dresses are worn over their heavy parkas.

Have Girl Guide Company 200 Miles Inside Arctic

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP). — Two hundred miles inside the Arctic Circle, the world's northernmost company of Girl Guides is preparing for a big event.

Dorothy L. Robinson, former Ottawa school teacher, is leader of the Girl Guides and Brownies and Scoutmaster as well. She has her 20 little Eskimo and Indian girls practising their calls, knots and songs for the visit next month of officials from Edmonton.

A description of the Brownie and Girl Guide companies in the North West Territories was given in an interview with Dorothy S. Hooper, executive secretary of the Girl Guides of Canada, Toronto.

The company at Tuttayaktuk is one of a dozen companies and pack in the North West Territories with 132 Brownies and 89 Girl Guides.

Most guides and brownies in the Territories are native Eskimo and Indian children. Gradually, with the opening of new camps and outposts, white families are moving in. Many bring their guide and scout traditions with them and the companies are growing.

Thriving Community

This is true, particularly of Aklavik at the McKenzie River delta which has grown from a fur trading post to a thriving community with a school, mission, hospital, RCMP post, and military installations.

The young girls at Aklavik follow the same guide practices as the other 68,000 guides and brownies throughout the country, with a few interestings variations of their own. Camping out to them is less of a novelty. They are accustomed to following their parents on their periodic hunting trips in the Arctic snows.

They wear the blue uniforms as other Canadian guides, but add a fur-lined parka and — typically feminine — add a flowered cotton outer dress, gay with color, over the parka.

DRAW-STRING waistline on Alfandri sheer wool dress gathers two floating panels that sway as model walks. Yoke at shoulder-line point to rounded shoulders.

Snuggies' Battle Goes to Co-eds Doctor Loses Out

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP)—The doctor should have known better.

Toronto's medical health officer, Dr. Gordon P. Jackson, took it upon himself to defend "a certain undergarment known as 'snuggies.'" Then five university co-eds put him in his place.

With the mercury hovering around zero, Dr. Jackson termed the woolly feminine unmentionables "not only very necessary in winter but very comfortable."

"Well, well, well," said Shirley Mode of Cornwall.

Mary Stackhouse of Ridgeway, Ont., just chuckled.

"Not on a bet," declared Sally Evans of Port Credit.

"Glamor comes first," echoed Carol Wilbur of Toronto.

A fifth co-ed, who delicately declined her name, pointed out that snuggies may be all right outside, but they're a little too comfy indoors.

"Who has time to put snuggies on and take snuggies off between classes?" she demanded.

"Imagine telling the professor you were late because you had to change your snuggies?"

Relationship with In-laws Major Factor in Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do we treat the in-law relationship so casually, since it is one of the most important factors in determining our happiness? I have in mind two instances of how lives can be cursed or blessed by the proper attitude toward in-laws. In one a mother who disliked, for no reason, the man her daughter married fought with her son-in-law for fifty years. In the other a young woman adapted herself to her husband's family and was loving and affectionate to them and became the favorite daughter of the house.

J. M. W.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: It is part of the silly sentimentalism with which we surround the whole business of marrying that makes us entirely ignore the in-law end of the proposition, but one of the first things that young benedicts find out is that they have not only espoused each other but each other's fathers and mothers and sisters and brothers, and that whether they are going to be happy or miserable depends, to a large extent, on how they can get along with their new relatives.

Can Be Helpful

Nothing does more to promote domestic happiness than for there to be good feeling and affection between in-laws. For in-laws can be mighty good friends and an ever-present help in times of trouble. Many a father-in-law and mother-in-law come to the rescue with personal and financial help when the matrimonial bark of a young couple is about to be wrecked. And many an old man and woman have their last days made happy and comfortable by the love and devotion of a daughter-in-law or a son-in-law.

The in-law relationship, then being such a vital one, it is strange that we should be so stupid as to regard it lightly, and to think that it is a matter of chance whether we get along with our in-laws or not. Such is far from being the case. The matter rests entirely in our own hands and depends upon the adroitness, the good feeling, the good sense and the tact with which we handle the situation.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have met a girl with whom I have fallen deeply in love. Before meeting her I never took a girl out without expecting a lot of petting, but this girl seemed so different from the others that I was afraid to broach the subject for fear she wouldn't go out with me again. Now I have gone with her for eight months and I have never even kissed her or told her that I love her. She is just as impersonal about our relationship as the day I met her. Why is it so hard to make love to a girl you really care for when it is so easy to hand girls you don't care for a big line without a word of truth in it? What shall I do?

MISERABLE

ANSWER: The thing to do is to tell the girl how you love her and find out how you stand with her. Her impersonal attitude toward you need not discourage you. That is her defense as a lady against your silence. She is too refined and self-respecting to throw herself at your head, and she is simply waiting for you to speak. The average girl does most of the courting nowadays and so when you meet one who waits for the man to do it you don't know how to take it. That is all of your trouble.

The reason why it is hard to make love to a girl you really care for, but easy enough to string one along when you are just playing at love, is because in the one case everything is at stake, and in the other nothing it at stake.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man who is everything I could desire in a man, except that he is bald. I don't mind it, except that people are always commenting on it and that gets on my nerves. Will this ruin our married life if I marry him?

MARY

ANSWER: It will ruin your married life if you are silly enough to let the young man's lack of hair make you ashamed of him. But why should you let a little thing like that worry you? It is not what is on the outside of a man's head but what is on the inside that counts, and if he lacked brains instead of hair you would have a right to be mortified.

"I was always afraid that sooner or later a rather unpleasant personal note would creep into Trudi's campaign literature."

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

Readers have been writing to me about insufficient initial melds so today I'm going to explain a number of rules applicable to varying situations:

Q—Will you please clear up for our club members the rule on the proper procedure when an insufficient initial meld has been made?

A—If you are playing two-handed Canasta, there is no penalty for an insufficient initial meld. Simply pick up the cards and put them back in your hand. There are no penalty cards in two-handed Canasta.

Let us say, however, that you are playing four-handed Canasta. You draw a card from the stock pile, and you meld 3 kings, 3 tens and 3 sevens. Your side has more than 1500 points on the score. You have melded only 75 points, and you are required to have an initial meld of 90 points.

If attention is called to an illegal meld before the player has discarded, he may correct all or any part of it by rearranging the meld and/or by adding more cards to it. He cannot take back any cards that were down on the table and put them in his hand.

If the player is unable to complete a legal meld, that is, increase it (in the case mentioned above) from 75 to 90, then every card down on the table becomes a penalty card.

If the opponents call attention to the illegal meld after the player has discarded but before the next player completes his play, all of the cards in the illegal (insufficient) meld become penalty cards. If the next player completes his play before calling attention to the error, this condones the error.

If the player rearranges his meld and adds more cards to it to meet the minimum requirement, any cards down on the table that he does not use in the meld must remain on the table as penalty cards.

Returning to our case of the player who melded 3 kings, 3 tens and 3 sevens, and attention is called to the fact that he has only 75 points down, and needs 90—if he has no cards in his hand that he can add to the meld to fulfill the minimum requirement, the 9 cards down on the table become penalty cards. The player must discard them one at a time at his turn to play.

However, he has a perfect right to use them to pick up the pack; or if he drew a joker, for example, on the next round, he could add this to the 2 sevens left on the table, in which case he would no longer have any penalty cards. He could add the joker to the kings or tens, in which case the 2 sevens would remain as penalty cards unless he could put down another seven or a wild card from his hand to complete a legal meld of sevens.

Although penalty cards are left face up on the table, they must be treated as though they were in the player's hand. They count against him in case any one goes out. His partner cannot use them for melding purposes.

Remember that as long as you have penalty cards on the table, you cannot make a discard from your hand. You must discard one of the penalty cards. You may discard any one of them that you wish. The opponents cannot tell you which one to discard.

Here is a question from one of my readers which asks if you can put your opponent in the red. My answer should give you a good tip to how to do just that.

Q. An odd situation came up the other night. It was the first hand of the evening. Our opponents had drawn a red trey and put it down on the table, but before they could make an initial meld we went out. The opponents had a total of 260 points in their combined hands; so I said they were minus 260 plus 100 for the red trey they had on the table, or a total minus score of 360 points.

The opponents claimed that this was ridiculous. They said you could not be minus in Canasta—in other words, you could not take away points that they did not have. They pointed out that the score sheets have spaces for basic meld and total scores, but no place for a minus score. Who was correct?

A. You were correct. Tell your friends to look at law 15 in the Official Canasta Laws of the National Canasta Laws Commission. They will find that we consider a minus score even for initial melds. This law states that with a minus score, the points needed for an initial meld are zero. The lowest point requirement for an initial meld is 50 and that applies when the score is 0 to 1495.

One of the real thrills of the game is to catch the opponents with two or three red treys on the table. This often happens when they need 120 for their initial meld, and they are then minus not only the value of the cards in their hands, but minus also 100 points each for their red treys. I have seen a partnership caught with four red treys down on the table, with the other side going out before they could make an initial meld; and of course, they were minus 800 points plus the value of the cards in their hands. This situation frequently reduces a plus score to a minus score.

Q—Here is a question that comes in almost every day in one form of another. You have a completed canasta, and the opponents discard a card that matches your canasta. Many players claim that you cannot take that card.

A—It is true that some people actually play Canasta that way. The idea originated through a misinterpretation of some early writings on Canasta, to the effect that if the pack was frozen, and a player had a completed canasta he could feel fairly safe in discarding a card matching his canasta.

Possibly some writers even neglected to mention that this was true particularly if the pack was frozen. From this some players took it for granted that a discard that matches a canasta acts as a stop card for the pack. This is not the case, but it is certainly more difficult for the other side to pick up such a card, especially when the pack is frozen.

Servels Are Back!
Yes, back at last because they are now built-in CANADA. Come see new DIFFERENT Servel now. DIFFERENT because it is BETTER. BETTER because it has NO MOTOR. NO MOTOR means no machinery to wear or cause noise. NO MACHINERY means absolutely silent operation, trouble-free operation, service free operation. SERVICE FREE because it has no motor, no moving parts, nothing to wear, nothing to cause noise.
Lasts many years longer because there are no moving parts to wear—no machinery to break down — no motors! That's why Servel offers two types, one for electric operation —(uses a tiny heating element instead of machinery). One for kerosene or coal oil, where you are out of reach of hydro—(a small built-in Aladdin lamp does the job). See this Miracle of Ice From Heat Now at was Friday night, when some of them went into King Edward School via a second story window reached via a fire escape and took $8.

Detective Sergeant Clarke pointed out that it is through the co-operation of the citizens that these sprees of outlawry by young boys and girls can be stopped before they get very far.

Doubly Hard For Police

When the culprits are not known criminals, the job of catching them is doubly hard for the police because it is impossible for them to be everywhere at once. But if citizens, who see young people acting suspiciously, or have any cause for alarm, would contact police immediately, said the detective, then aspiring criminals can be stopped in their careers before it is too late.

One of the most interesting things about these kids, Sergeant Detective Clarke said, was that they greatly admired the fictional tough boys portrayed in the film "City Across the River" which was the film version of the book, "The Amboy Dukes."

They were "real sharp characters" according to the boys arrested. What they had forgotten completely, the detective said, was that the Amboy Dukes come to a disastrous end.

While this gang was being as active as possible, other Peterborough and district juveniles were not idle.

One boy was charged before the juvenile court recently for firing a rifle at a train. The bullet went through the window of a coach of the train just missing a railroad official.

Sunday three boys, one armed with a rifle and one with a shot gun, went shooting in Jackson's Park. The boys with the rifle put a bullet through one of the skis of a skier.

Coming up to the skier who had taken off his skis, the shotgun wielder, put the gun against the skier's back and said something to the effect, "Now you're going to get it."

Then one of them shot the tassle off one of the other's hats. The boys are being handled by the provincial police. They are expected to be charged in juvenile court as well.

The square bottles can be cleaned and sterilized just as efficiently as the round ones. Mr. Upper says. Although most housewives wash their empty bottles before returning them to the dairy, they are thoroughly cleaned again before fresh milk is put into them. With the aid of modern dairy equipment this can be done without any difficulty.

Charges Ottawa Pre-judged Transportation

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP)—G. M. Parke, president of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, said today the Federal government "pre-judged" the issues being studied by the Royal Commission on Transportation.

Mr. Parke, addressing a convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association, referred to a speech here Monday by Transport Minister Chevrier.

He quoted Mr. Chevrier as saying: "I think that the present-day development of highway trucking is a very serious threat to the well-being of our railway system. If it is left unchecked, it will undoubtedly impair the efficiency of our railroads and destroy the economic advantages which we still enjoy."

Mr. Parke commented:

"At the very moment that the Royal Commission on Transportation strives to complete an impartial study of Canada's transportation problem, the Federal government, which appointed the commission, flouts its own inquiring body by pre-judging the issues at stake . . .

"If the statements of the minister of transport represent the viewpoint of the Federal government, the insincerity of the government's approach regarding an impartial review of Canada's transportation problems is manifest to all. It is an approach which is resented as much as it is regretted by the trucking industry."

Mediation Fails To Improve Phone Strike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) —Government mediation of the country-wide telephone dispute ran into stone-wall resistance today. Quick White House intervention seemed the only way to head off the walkout of 100,000 workers Friday.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the communications workers of America union (CIO) told a Nashville, Tenn., audience Tuesday night that the walkout seems inevitable.

Conciliation director Cyrus S. Ching reported the stalemate in peace efforts to the White House Tuesday night.

His plans for bringing the Western Electric Company representatives into the same room here with the communications workers were rebuffed. The company said it would negotiate only in New York, where it has been meeting for weeks in fruitless bargaining sessions with the union.

Refuse to Return

The union representatives, who stood by all day Tuesday while Ching, a native of Prince Edward Island, argued with company officials to sit down with the union in his office, refused to return to New York for talks here.

The hours ticked away toward the deadline for a country-wide telephone strike at 6 a.m., local time, Friday.

The CWA's uniform demands are for a 15-cent hourly boost in a "package" — including higher wages, shorter hours, and shorter training periods. The company insists the union is not entitled to any increase, but that each unit of the parent American Telephone and Telegraph Company should bargain locally. It has opposed arbitration.

Gulp Blades In Jail Just Want Attention

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP) — Prisoners who swallow razor blades, knives and scissors are not would-be suicides, says Dr. John J. Lander. They really are fond of life, he maintains, and either want to dodge debt or just attract attention.

"Very rarely," he wrote in the Journal of Mental Science, "did a swallower even suggest that he wanted to commit suicide and all of them were most anxious to have medical and surgical treatment."

Their line, he says, usually is that they are not being well treated, that they want to cause trouble, or else "they are in debt to other prisoners and unable to pay."

"In prison the creditor is not expected to press for payment after the debtor has had an operation."

He Shocked Regina Portrait Makes News

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP)—The Royal Academy has purchased an oils portrait of 70-year-old Matthew Smith who has been described as Britain's most tempestuous painter and whose work once shocked Canadians.

It was one of Smith's pictures, "The Reclining Nude," which was not considered proper in Regina in 1947 and was banned from an exhibition.

The Smith portrait is by painter Augustus John and will be shown in this year's summer exhibition of the Royal Academy.

Red Cross Gets Funds From Crokinole Party

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 22 (ENS) The Red Cross sponsored a crokinole party Friday under the leadership of Mrs. O. J. Dunford. Crokinole was followed by lively games and stunts. Refreshments were served.

Proceeds will be used to buy cotton batting and linings for quilts. Prizes had been donated and were won by Mrs. Bernard Preston, Mrs. Clarence Johnston, Mrs. Bert Visee, Mr. Ernest Kelk and Mrs. W. Shaw.

Britons Will Go To Polls On Thursday

LONDON, Feb. 22.— (CP).— Britain chooses tomorrow between more Socialism and less Socialism, and the world awaits the results. Thirty-four million registered voters in 622 constituencies will decide among three major parties in selecting the 39th Parliament of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the world's oldest Legislative Assembly.

Polling booths will open from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m. GMT Thursday (2 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST). Results from about 240 ridings should be known election night with the balance excepting four remote Scottish constituencies, Friday morning.

Chief personalities are Prime Minister Clement Attlee, at 67 more popular than ever before in his own Labor party and Conservative leader Winston Churchill, embodiment of eternal England, at 75 fighting his 13th election in the same zestful way he fought his first 50 years ago.

Clement Davies, 66 last Sunday, leads 474 Liberals in his party's biggest bid since 1929. The size of the Liberal vote may tip the scales in what is generally regarded as an extremely close race between Labor and Conservatives, both contesting nearly every seat.

Fourth Largest

The Communist party, headed by boilermaker Harry Pollitt, is fourth largest numerically with 100 candidates in the field. From there the entries shade off into some 30 party labels, representing a variety of political hues and including two Sinn Feiners, opposed to Northern Ireland's allegiance to the British crown, campaigning from behind prison bars.

Labor came exuberantly to power in July, 1945, registering a net gain of 209 seats and displacing a Conservative party which had broadly dominated British politics for 20 years.

At dissolution last Feb. 3, Labor held 390 seats, Conservatives 201, National Liberals 13, and Liberals 10. There were five Labor Independents, two Communists and 19 from other parties.

The emphasis in early stages of the election campaign was largely on domestic issues—homes, food and jobs. Labor stood pat on a record of full employment and fair shares. The Conservatives promised to reduce taxes and to whittle away state controls where possible.

Both parties accepted the essentials of a welfare state, nationalization was seldom mentioned.

Too Much Fiddle Fingers 'Knit'

[illegible] 22 (CP)—A year ago Edward Armstrong, violinist in Bournemouth Municipal Orchestra, was told his playing days were numbered unless he underwent a difficult plastic operation.

The fingers of his left hand were "knitting" together. Too much violin playing had caused tissue to form between the fingers which were indrawn toward the palm.

"The surgeons have given me, so to speak, a new palm which more or less frees my fingers," said Armstrong. "I must concentrate on getting them flexible enough for violin fingering."

Suggests Hippos River Dredges

DURBAN, South Africa, Feb. 22 (CP)—If South Africa would make more use of the hippopotamus it could save many of its rivers from silting up, says Canadian game expert Martin Woolcombe, who has just completed a tour of the country.

He said that breeding colonies of hippos and placing them in many rivers, the watercourses could be more easily controlled.

The animals would eat as river dredges in keeping the channels open.

The hippo is not a dangerous animal unless it is annoyed, he said. It rarely strays from the river grasses on which it feeds and the cost of fencing off areas as protection would be small in comparison to the benefit derived from their dredging activities.

Selling Ideas Main Purpose Of Salesmanship Club Told

Salesmanship has gone past the stage of selling a product to the new aim of selling ideas, in the way that a grocer no longer sells breakfast cereal, but "championship performance on the athletic field," said Weston Smith, executive vice president of the Financial World, to members of the Sales and Advertising Club Tuesday.

With the product sold, goes an illusion, the sort of illusion which takes off the disagreeable edge of actual experience and makes life more palatable, Mr. Smith said.

Supplying this needed illusion is the field of public relations, in business, in community living and in the home, the speaker declared.

He defined public relations as the constructive handling of relations with the public by the individual, the retailer, the manufacturer, and the labor unions or any organization.

Today we woo the public, Mr. Smith stated. The policies of a public relations program in a company, he said were to build and maintain confidence and good will in the company (its management and employees); the products and/or services offered; the industry and its affiliations; the free enterprise system.

Public relations men do not operate merely through finding and creating favorable news about their company to be transmitted to the public through the medium of the press, magazines and the radio. He said they can operate through trade associations, chambers of commerce, clubs, fraternal groups, political organizations, churches, schools, welfare agencies and community projects.

Advertising was but one aspect of public relations, Mr. Smith stated. Although it was a key activity in the successful conduct of a business, it would amount to nothing if the product or service for sale did not measure up to the advertising.

Must Have Good Product

A company must have a good product to sell and its employees, especially those selling the product, must make a favourable impression on the public if the company is to succeed.

When the company, in all its activities, is doing a good job, then public relations can set about winning the confidence and respect of the public which eventually results in increased sales.

Beyond all possible challenge, the group exerting the strongest influence on the public impression of a business are its employees. In its relationships with this group, the management's actions mean everything and their words practically nothing, Mr. Smith declared.

The emphasis in labor relations is beginning to turn to social security: pensions, sick leave, vacations and other forms of insurance, he pointed out.

Actions, Not Words

Just as relations with employees are determined by actions not words, so the whole general impression which various segments of the public gain about the company, come not from the words of the company, but from its actions.

If the retailer sells products which enjoy public acceptance and advertises them in a manner which invites public approval, then he should conduct his business in accordance with the favourable impressions the public has formed of his services, Mr. Smith stated.

From this concept a new form of advertising has become prominent. It is public relations or institutional copy. It is frequently used at a time of controversy when the company wants to make an announcement to the public or employees. This quite often happens at the time of a strike.

Buying advertising space in the newspapers, the company interprets its cause in terms of the public's interest.

All these new activities of companies are but the work of public relations, the speaker intimated.

Mr. Smith was thanked by Eric Howard and introduced by Joseph Burns.

Only 2 New Out of Wedlock In 22 Children Under CAS

Twenty two new cases came to the attention of Peterborough Children's Aid Society during January, Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, reported to the Board of Governors Tuesday. A total of 367 cases were on the society's books.

Of the 22, 17 were family situations, three children were admitted to the care of the society and two were unmarried parents cases.

One child was made a permanent ward, one a temporary ward during the mother's illness and one was placed privately for adoption. One adoption was completed.

Special Permits Given 28 People

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP) — Twenty-eight persons, normally barred from entry into Canada were given special temporary permits to enter Canada last year Citizenship Minister Harris reported Tuesday.

He tabled in the Commons a report giving the case histories of the 28 allowed to enter for limited periods under special permits. Tabling of the report is required by the Immigration Act.

Included were 10 German scientists whose entry was sponsored by individuals or companies who said the services of the scientists were urgently needed in Canada.

Also included was a 13-year-old French-speaking citizen of the United States, granted a permit to enter Canada and take medical treatment at a hospital in Quebec Province.

Six arrived on refugee ships and first were refused admission because it was considered likely they would become public charges. The cases were reviewed and all were granted temporary permits to see if they could find jobs in Canada.

Another was a man with a criminal record in the U. S. whose entry was permitted because "his record since his release from reformatory has been good."

Seditious Libel Thorny Issue

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 — (CP). — Seditious libel, a subject which has not been ruled on by an Appeal Court since 1820 in the history of British law, is a thorny issue before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The Court was asked on Tuesday to give a clear-cut interpretation of seditious libel by the Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which claimed the Court should reconsider a decision made last December. Judgment was reserved.

Glen How, Toronto, counsel for the sect, asked the Court to rehear the case of Aime Boucher, of St. Germaine de Dorchester Que., one of a number of Witness followers jailed in 1947 for distributing a pamphlet entitled "Quebec's Burning Hate." He claimed it was in the interests of the public to clarify the definition of seditious libel.

The Supreme Court decided the case by a 3-2 decision, ordering a retrial of the one-month sentence on Boucher on the ground the trial judge misdirected the jury. The minority of two judges agreed about the misdirection, but would have acquitted Boucher at once without retrial.

The two dissenting judges claimed seditious libel must be likely to induce violence or unlawful acts. On these grounds, they said, Boucher had no evidence against him which could have been put before a jury.

Fined $10 And Costs

Quick Freeze Chicken To Sister In England

A broiler chicken which Vincent Grainger sent by air to his sister, Miss E. A. Grainger, Birmingham, Eng., for her birthday dinner arrived in time and in "excellent condition".

It was one of the quick freeze chickens Co-Op process and put on the market. Mr. Grainger, an employee of the plant, packed it in a specially insulated carton, and turned delivery over to the C.P.R. express. Apparently some delay by storm was encountered but the chicken arrived on Miss Grainger's birthday.

Miss Grainger wrote her brother that she had never tasted a chicken like that one, even compared with the accustomed fowl at home before the war.

"I couldn't recommend it as a weekly gift," Mr. Grainger remarked. "The bird cost $1,89 at the plant and the express charge for shipment by air was $5.06, but it was worth it, in the surprise and delight it afforded my sister."

Safe-Driving Courses Suggested For Schools

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 22 — (CP)—A proposal for safe-driving courses in Ontario High Schools was presented to the Safety Council of St. Catharines Tuesday night.

Dr. J. L. Poirier, representing the local Board of Education, said it is the duty of the provincial government to institute courses in safe driving. "Let them appoint experts and give us a curriculum that we could institute here in our High Schools."

Dr. Poirier urged that the Safety Council get in touch with every city council and board of education in the province.

Close Battle Predicted Pritt Riding

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP)—"Only Pritt can beat the Tories," proclaims a massive poster.

"Only Tomney can beat Pritt," flings back a Labor sign not far away.

Thus are the electoral lines drawn in Hammersmith North, scene of a crucial test for official Labor policy in Thursday's vote.

Since 1935 Hammersmith has been the unassailable parliamentary fortress of Denis Pritt, a stern-faced, heavy-jawed lawyer with a record of diligent toil on behalf of the constituents in this largely working-class quarter of southwest London.

Pritt was elected on a straight Labor ticket, but had to take a rain check. In 1940, party leaders objected to Pritt's views on Russia and Finland. He was promptly expelled, becoming the first of the so-called "Labor Independents."

Lost Deposit

The official Labor Party tried to blast Pritt out of his prepared position in the 1945 election, and lost the £150 ($465) deposit for its pains.

Pritt rolled home with 18,845 votes compared with 7,516 for the Conservative candidate and only 3,165 for his orthodox Labor opponent.

This time Pritt is suavely confident as ever. His Labor foe is Frank Tomney, a former Neon glass blower and trade unionist. The third man in the ring is Conservative Thomas Gee, a miner's son and former switchboard operator.

Pritt's opponents take heart this time from the claim that he embittered many of Hammersmith's 7,000 Roman Catholics by his pro-Russian stand during the trial of Cardinal Joseph Mindszenty of Hungary. Pritt is chairman of the Society for Cultural Relations with the USSR.

Junk Shop Yields 50-Year-Old Epic For Film Library In London

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Eng. — (CP)— There is a museum for almost everything in London—and movies are no exception. At the National Film Library on Shaftesbury Avenue a half-century of film history has been faithfully preserved.

It includes "The Great Train Robbery," first shown in London in 1904; an early Tom Mix western, "The Stage-Coach Driver and the Girl," produced in 1913; some of Charlie Chaplin's first comedies and D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" (1914).

These and other old-time epics are now being shown at a West End movie theatre and lots of people are paying to see them — jerks, flickers and all.

Since the library was founde in 1935, between 50 and 75 new films have been selected by a panel of experts every year and filed for posterity.

It's a Hard Job

But finding the early films is a harder job. Usually it is a case of tracking them down among private collectors, but occasionally an old movie turns up in more romantic circumstances.

Take "The Great Train Robbery," produced in the United States in 1903. It was the start of the American movie industry, the first important story film and the first of the westerns.

For a year the National Film Library sought it in vain. Then, in 1936, a schoolteacher named Carson found it at the bottom of a bin in a Glasgow junk store.

A few months later a young man found some old films in a trunk left to him by his uncle. One, he said, was a record of Queen Victoria's funeral in 1901.

The film would have been filed as such, only one of the librarians noticed that several women in the procession were wearing white. It then proved to be a souvenir of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee in 1897 — an important find.

"We have picked up other old films on secondhand stalls in the Calendonian market," an official of the National Film Library said, "and many have been donated to us. Today we have about 5,000 films stored away in heat-controlled vaults."

Looking after the films is an expert job. One of the rules is that no original copy must be projected, as wear and tear would reduce its life. Copies are made and these are available to movie theatres, schools and members of the library for a small fee.

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

FOREWORD: This is a frank attempt to give you" in non-technical language certain information regarding a widespread and personally annoying physical condition. A condition which not only afflicts countless thousands, but makes these thousands suffer untold discomfort, pain and embarrassment. Far too often this condition—at first superficial in itself—can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe every man or woman who suffers from this condition owes it to their own personal comfort to read the statement below.

Leonhardt Proprietaries, Ltd.

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have carried on a ceaseless war. Not only to save human lives, but to relieve,—or, better still, prevent some of the physical afflictions of humanity and the incalculable human misery they cause.

Thus, when a famous physician or a noted scientist makes an important therapeutic discovery or perfects a new surgical technique, the news rings round the world. Yet, even while these front-page discoveries are taking place, some of the most widespread human maladies—"hay fever"—"the common cold"—"athlete's foot"—certain digestive disorders—are undergoing constant scientific study and laboratory scrutiny by men the public never hears of . . . simply because these "everyday" maladies do not seem serious.

Among these seemingly commonplace afflictions are "piles". Those who suffer from this amazingly widespread trouble are burdened with a double hardship.

They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it —merely because of "false pride"; the sheer embarrassment of seeking advice or treatment often makes it preferable to suffer in silence. There is no "drama" about piles. No glamour —no glory—no front-page fame for the man who finds a way to help pile sufferers. The subject itself is mostly taboo . . . it is seldom, if ever openly discussed. But no man or woman who has known, or now knows, the agonizing, embarrassing torment of itching, burning piles—the loss in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality and sheer enjoyment of life—will deny that a safe and efficient method for relieving this condition, could well be a far-reaching contribution to human health and comfort.

WHAT ARE PILES?

Piles, as such, are not a primary ailment but result from some condition preceding or associated with them. The contributing conditions that cause piles never originate in the parts affected.

In their early stages, piles are inflamed, distended rectal veins—actually, "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. One of their primary causes—surprisingly often, in fact—is hepatic congestion or torpidity of the liver which results in common, everyday constipation. In ordinary layman's language, here is what happens:

1. When the liver is unduly congested and its normal function is slowed by sluggishness the flow of blood to the liver from the lower bowel is retarded and dozens of small rectal veins become swollen and distended with blood.
2. This sluggish, congested liver action usually causes constipation.
3. With the start of constipation, hard clogging masses form in the lower bowel and colon.
4. These hard masses press upon and irritate or bruise the sensitive, distended rectal veins.
5. Blood thickens and stagnates in the bruised area. The tiny veins become greatly inflamed, over-sensitive, lumpy and thus excrutiatingly painful.
6. The pain from these blood-swollen veins, plus aggravation of the constipation itself, is "self perpetuating". The condition increases the itching, burning pain and soreness, which in turn further increases the constipation—which in turn tends to further enlarge and irritate the swollen veins which then become pile tumors. It is a vicious circle.

This is why, from the very onset, piles are sheer torment—as their victims know all too well.

• • • • •

But the agony and embarrassment of piles are only the beginning—really Nature's first call for help.

If help does not come in time, if the vicious circle is not broken, there eventually may be only one answer—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife. A big price to pay for lack of knowledge!

• • • • •

Yet, today in many cases, radical action may not be the only answer. More than half a century ago an able and qualified professional man began an intensive study on the whole subject of piles—their cause and effect. He found a means by which this vicious circle may be broken. This man compounded and tried, in his own practice, many different combinations of ingredients. He finally devised a formula of medically proven elements which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 consecutive cases that came to his personal and professional attention. Proving that piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause—his final formula was an internal remedy, small tablets taken by mouth.

• • • • •

Now, we have been asked by many well informed persons "how in the world can small tablets taken with a glass of water three times a day help my piles?" But just stop and think as we repeat—"piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause. Therefore it is sensible to attack piles from the inside where the trouble starts. To combat piles you need internal medication that actually relieves hepatic congestion, stimulates the liver and bile, gently and effectively eases constipation and works to improve the circulation of blood in the lower bowel. And as proper treatment improves blood circulation in the lower bowel the healing forces of Nature take hold and promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. That is why you need internal medication if you want to relieve the unnatural congestion that is the real cause of piles. It is on that sound reasoning this man originated an internal treatment for piles.

• • • • •

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid and began to use it, not only in his own practice, but also to furnish Hem-Roid to his friends and acquaintances. Several years later, in 1904 to be exact, he sold the formula and name. Hem-Roid was then offered to the general public.

• • • • •

The remarkable results through the use of Hem-Roid are a matter of record extending over the last 50 years. Millions of packages have been sold in various countries throughout the world. Hundreds of users have testified to its quick and efficient action.

• • • • •

SPECIAL NOTE: The makers of Hem-Roid sincerely believe that pile sufferers everywhere will welcome this information. Of course some persons, in very old, long standing, neglected cases should consult a physician. But for the average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the action and results you desire.

• • • • •

ACCEPT THIS SPECIAL OFFER NOW

We want Hem-Roid to prove itself to you in your own case, so we make this generous offer. Secure from any drug store a package of Hem-Roid, 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment, at the amazingly low cost of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If, at the end of that time you are not delighted with the results you get, return the unused portion of the package to the druggist and your full purchase price will be refunded without question—you are the sole judge. So you risk nothing—not even the small cost of Hem-Roid, (a few pennies a day,) if you are not completely satisfied. And you do stand to gain quick and immeasurable relief from the pain, discomfort and embarrassment you have endured. So why suffer? Why risk costly and perhaps more radical methods when inexpensive Hem-Roid may give you quickly, easily and pleasantly just the help and benefit you seek?

• • • • •

It would show a serious lack of interest in your own personal comfort for you to continue to suffer the pain, itching and soreness of piles when so good a remedy as Hem-Roid may be had at such a small cost. And it is rare indeed that more than 10 days' use are needed to prove its merit. Try it and see for yourself.

Tyrone Power To Continue Travelling Ways

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22 (AP)—Tyrone Power, a Marco Polo among movie stars, will continue his travelling ways.

Hollywood's most travelled actor is working here for the first time in two years. He has made films in Mexico, Italy, North Africa and Britain. And he leaves next month to make a picture in the Philippines. I asked him when he would give up his globe-girdling and settle down.

"There's time enough for that," he answered. "In my travels, I've seen too many old people sitting around on the decks of boats and trying to enjoy trips they had waited too long to take.

Still Young

"Naturally I'm lucky to be able to take these trips while I'm still young enough to enjoy them. I'm not letting the opportunity pass by."

Besides his film-making jaunts, Ty has made extensive air tours of South America and Africa in the post-war years. Since he has been to the Orient through courtesy of the Marine Corps, that leaves Scandinavia as the only major area he hasn't visited.

Ty said he has his travelling habits down to a system so moving from one spot on the globe to another is almost painless. He can travel light, since on his picture jaunts he spends most of the day in a costume. He admitted that it was a different matter with his wife, Linda Christian.

A Vacation

"She may start out travelling light," he said, "but she has a knack of finding places to buy things, no matter where we go."

After he returns from the Philippines, Ty will have three unreleased pictures and will be in line for a vacation. Where will he take it

"Probably right here. Other people go away for a vacation; I come home for mine."

Ask Government Help Tame Wickedest River

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 (CP)—The government was asked Thursday night to help tame "the wickedest river in Canada."

W. J. Bruneau (L, Prescott) gave that title to the Nation River which runs through his Eastern Ontario constituency.

Speaking in the Throne-speech debate, Mr. Bruneau said the river overflows its banks every year and floods surrounding communities.

He suggested the government should either undertake a reforestation plan to eliminate flooding or else accomplish the same thing by artificial structure.

Not Square Deal

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP)—Roy G. Cole of Wentworth, director of the Ontario Good Roads Association, said Tuesday that the federal government takes $45,000,000 a year in taxes from road users in Ontario and leaves the burden of maintaining them to the province. Speaking at the association's 48th annual meeting here he said "it is time for a revision of the financing of roads and highways."

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

DISASTER AT SEA is depicted in this reproduction of a painting by German artist Willy Stoewer of the sinking of the 66,000-ton Titanic, proud British luxury liner and greatest ocean vessel of her time. The Titanic, bound for New York from Southampton, struck an iceberg off Newfoundland on the night of April 14, 1912, and carried more than 1,500 persons to their death. It was the maiden voyage of the $7,500,000 floating mansion. Of a new type construction, she was called the world's first truly unsinkable ship. Some 700 passengers survived, thanks largely to wireless distress signals flashed to nearby ships. The world knew little of the great tragedy while it was going on. It was 24 hours afterward before detailed news began reaching New York.

No Midnight Nuptials Under Marriage Law

TORONTO, Feb. 22 — (CP) — Toronto judges and magistrates said Tuesday night they would not permit any "Hollywood type" marriages — weddings in the middle of the night—when proposed changes in the Ontario marriage laws come into effect. The Ontario Government has announced it will introduce amendments giving judges and magistrates the right to perform marriages, at present restricted to ministers of a church.

County Court Judge T. H. Barton said York County judges are so rushed with work they would not have time to perform marriages. "Couples certainly would not get me out during the night to marry them," he said.

YuzwaDenies Aldred Story Loucks Attack

Never On Sidewalk Prisoner Says In Giving Evidence

By DAVE WHITE

LINDSAY, Feb. 23—William Yuzwa, 37-year-old Hamilton salesman charged with the slaying of John Loucks here Nov. 18, last, began his defence testimony before noon today in the progress of the Supreme court trial with Mr. Justice Urquhart presiding.

The prisoner followed James and Paul Zahodnik who were called jointly by the crown and the defence on the direction of the court. They could not be located until Wednesday night.

Yuzwa denied the testimony of Wesley Aldred who had sworn that he had seen Yuzwa and one of the Zahodniks walking west on Kent St. It has been adduced in evidence that the fatal attack on Loucks ensued.

Loucks died of a hemmorhage from a deep knife thrust under his right ear.

"I was never on the sidewalk," the prisoner said. His story was that he twice left his truck at the south curb of Kent St. He had been sleeping in it. He said he crossed once to look for his three companions, and the other time was when he greeted them as they came out of the Big 20 Cafe.

James and Paul Zahodnik asked for protection of the court before testifying, lest their evidence incriminate themselves. They denied having seen Yuzwa strike anyone, and said the lapse of time between coming out of the cafe and driving off in the truck was only one to two minutes.

Had Been Lost

Yuzwa told the jury he had "a couple of drinks" before reaching Lindsay. It was not till the next day he knew the name of the town he was in that night. All four said they had lost their way and did not know where they were.

The prisoner said some man he could not identify reached in to the truck and shook him as he was lying on the front seat. "I don't know who he was."

Polish Treasure Embarrassing

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—Canada could be placed in a "very embarrassing position" if Poland took the Polish-treasures case before the international court of justice, an External Affairs spokesman said today.

However, it had been indicated to him that Poland would not take the issue to the court, but would be merely contented with distributing "distorted" booklets and other printed matter.

The spokesman noted that within the last few days Poland had distributed a booklet to some Canadian newspapers in which it charged that the Canadian government had accepted responsibility for the 30-odd chests of treasures early in the Second World War.

The spokesman said this was not true. He had a letter on file in which Canada specifically told Poland when the treasures were brought over that the government would accept no responsibility for their welfare.

Britain Authorized Buy Canadian Wheat

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Britain today received authority to buy $45,000,000 worth of Canadian and American wheat under the Marshall Plan.

Of the total, $30,000,000 will be used to buy wheat in Canada, the announcement said. The remaining $15,000,000 is earmarked for wheat and wheat flour from the U. S.

The Economic Co-operation Administration announced the recovery spending approval in new foreign aid allotments to seven European countries.

100 Million Target

CALGARY, Feb. 23—(CP)—George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Wednesday that 100,000,000 should be a figure kept in mind as Canada's future population. Mr. Drew added, in an address to the Canadian Club, he didn't want anyone to expect an early jump to that figure. It was merely a target to shoot at.

Drifting Snow Isolates Many Centres

TORONTO, Feb. 23 — (CP) — Scores of outlying communities still are isolated by drifts left by the winter's worst storm.

Hardest hit by the final blast of the blizzard were communities in Eastern Ontario, which Wednesday night experienced the driving snow that earlier tied up traffic in the Toronto and Hamilton areas.

In the Cornwall district, blocked roads forced closing of high schools at Maxville, Avonmore and Finch. Attendance fell off at rural schools which did hold classes.

However, the Ontario Highways Department reported all provincial highways open. Snowplows and sanding crews worked most of the night to restored the roads to normal winter driving conditions.

Trains Late

Drifting snow piled more than a foot deep in sections of Ottawa, where the storm raged all night. Trains were late and bus services between Ottawa and Montreal were cancelled.

A bus taking 40 children home from a hockey game plunged into a ditch in the Orono-Whitby area at 1 a.m. It remained stranded until dawn.

Light flurries are forecast for the area around the rim of the Lower Lakes late today but no more heavy snowfalls are in sight for the present.

"Normally, we can expect some snowstorms after this date," said a forecaster at nearby Malton. "But with this last big blow, the worst of the winter should be over."

Ten inches of snow had fallen at Wiarton on the Bruce Peninsula during the 24 hours ending this forenoon. During the same period, London had 5.7 inches of snow, Toronto 3.3 and Windsor 2.3.

Ross told his parents he had walked to Cobourg, seven miles from Port Hope, following the railway tracks.

Cold from his walk in sub-zero weather, he went into an apartment house and spent the night in the hall. Tuesday morning he helped a milkman who gave him his breakfast.

Fumes In Bus Overcome 14 Students

Take Hockey Players To Hospital, 16 Others Unhurt

ORANGEVILLE, Feb. 23 — (CP)—The driver of a school bus, stopping to check on a headlight defect, Wednesday night found two of his youthful passengers overcome by carbon monoxide fumes and four others gasping for breath.

The six boys, plus eight others who later complained of feeling ill, were rushed to Lord Dufferin Hospital here and given oxygen. All were reported out of danger today.

The driver, Wilson Pacey, said exhaust fumes might have been blown through rear floor-boards of the bus. Police mentioned the possibility that the exhaust pipe was plugged with snow.

Pipe Damaged

The 14 affected by the fumes were part of a load of 30 youngsters, members of the midget and juvenile hockey teams of nearby Shelburne, en route to Erin, another neighboring community, for two games. Orangeville is 40 miles northwest of Toronto.

George Ragg, principal of Shelburne public and high school and owner of the bus, said today the bus had been pushed earlier Wednesday by a tow truck and the exhaust pipe damaged.

Driver Pacey said if the boys "had been in that bus 15 minutes more, they would have needed an undertaker."

Jobless Benefits Get Precedence

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—The Commons will give precedence today to a resolution calling for increased unemployment insurance benefits in the hope that the bill may be passed in time to start the increased payments March 1.

Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated this Wednesday when he announced that the leaders of all four parties had agreed to put the resolution ahead of other business.

"I understand that the Department of Labor, anticipating that the amendments probably will be enacted, has [illegible] completed and will be ready to pay the supplementary benefits as soon as the legislation is passed," Mr. St. Laurent said.

"We would like, as the first order of business Thursday to call this resolution and see how far we can get with the legislation necessary to make these payments possible."

There has been no official indication of the details of the extended benefits. However, it is believed that the loggers of all Canada will be brought under National Employment Service.

Government To Prosecute Match Price-Fixing Combine

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—(CP). — Prosecution evidence now is under preparation against an alleged price-fixing combine in the Canadian match industry.

The Federal government's decision to launch court action against the Eddy Match Company of Pembroke and its supsidiaries was announced in the House of Commons Wednesday by Justice Minister Garson.

The government's case will be based on a report prepared by rettired Combines Commissioner F. A. McGregor. The report, one of six post-war reports prepared by Mr. McGregor, said the Pembroke company and four subsidiary companies had sttifled competition and illegally fixed the prices of wooden matches.

Named as subsidiaries participating in the combine were: Commonwealth Match Company of St. Johnns, Que., Canada Match and Federal Match of Hull, Que., and Valcourt Company of Montreal.

While Mr. Garson was announcing the government's decision in reply to a question by Stanley Knowles, CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre, the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association was drafting a resolution urging the government "to prosecute more effectively any and all agencies which are operating to restrict free competition."

The resolution was passed unanimously by 30 editors and publishers attending the final session of the two-day semi-annual board of directors meeting of the Association. The directors said the "freedom of the press in Canada is integrally related to the operation of the free competitive system."

2 Ambulances, Fire Truck Help Stork Beat Storm

BRANTFORD, Feb. 23—(CP)—Two ambulances, a fire truck and a taxi early today helped the stork battle the winter's wildest storm to take an expectant mother to Brantford hospital. Shortly after her arrival at 1.15 a.m., Mrs. D. Maracle gave birth to a baby girl following a harrowing 22-mile trip from Aldershot.

Heading for the Indian hospital at Ohsweken, a taxi that started the trip stalled in a snowdrift. An ambulance was summoned from Brantford and while awaiting its arrival, Mrs. Maracle sought refuge in a nearby home.

Bucking heavy drifts, the ambulance was halted on the Cockshutt road by a car which had become stalled in a big drift.

Recently equipped with two-way radio communication, an emergency call for assistance was relayed from the ambulance to the fire hall here and a fire truck was sent to the scene to break a path through the snow-blocked road.

Start Again

Plunging through behind the fire truck, the ambulance started out again in its race against time. When it became stalled once more another call was radioed back for another ambulance. Before it arrived, the first ambulance reached the spot where the taxi had stalled.

Firemen W. Robertson and A. Groome, who manned the ambulance, hurried with a stretcher to the home where Mrs. Maracle was waiting. They carried her about 300 yards through deep snow to the road and the return trip was made without incident.

The ambulance reached the hospital only a few minutes before the baby was born.

Both mother and baby were reported doing well this morning and one suggestion was heard that an appropriate name for the baby might be "Gale."

Truman Won't Seek Parley With Stalin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP).—Evidence piled up today that the Truman administration is dead set against seeking an atomic peace conference with Russia at this time.

From President Truman himself came a warning that the United States "must not be misled by the vain hope of finding quick and easy solutions" for the world's difficulties—of which the atomic arms race is one of the greatest.

The vice chairman of the Senate-House of Representatives Atomic Energy Committee, Representative Carl Durham (Dem. N.C.), meanwhile, directly attacked the idea of an atomic conference with the Soviet Union.

In a speech here Wednesday night, he declared:

"The pressure which is building up for a conference of some sort with the Soviet Union, in my opinion is dangerous; it would immediately place us in a position of despair and defeatism."

Waite Estate Tops 3 Million

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—An estate of $3,462,000 was left by J. H. C. (Ike) Waite, prominent financier and mining engineer who died last Jan. 3, at the age of 61. His will was filed for probate today.

Bulk of his estate was in stocks, valued at almost $2,500,000. The remainder was in real estate and personal property.

His widow will receive an annual income of $20,000 and life use of his Toronto Forest Hill and Lake Simcoe homes. She is also beneficiary of his life insurance worth $150,000.

His son Philip of Toronto, was bequeathed $20,000.

The residue of the estate will be held in trust until the death of his widow, when it will be divided equally among his surviving children.

At his death he was survived by his widow, two daughters and two sons. He is a brother of Dr. C. B. Waite, Peterborough.

Soviet Prisoner Safe With Family

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP) — Adam Faller, Yugoslav barber, was re-united with his family on Wednesday night after 4½ years in a Russian prisoner of war camp.

Memories of barbed wire and search lights were washed away as he greeted his wife, son Henry, 11, and daughter, Rose, 14, for the first time in six years.

Mrs. Faller and the children were released from a camp in Yugoslavia two years ago.

The years of separation began when the Germans marched into the Yugoslav town of Apatin. Mr. Faller was drafted into a German labor battalion and was captured in 1945, a year later, by the Russians.

He was sent to one of two closely-guarded camps near the Turkish border. He said the 7,000 to 8,000 inmates had dwindled to 3,000 when he left. Many starved to death and those who survived were forced to build factories.

Rescue 2 Boys

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP) — Two 10-year-old boys who drifted out into Lake Ontario on an ice-floe were rescued about one-half mile off suburban Port Credit today by two men in a row-boat. Police said one lad is Kenneth Hoade. He and a friend were playing on the ice on their way to school when the pack drifted away from shore.

Heavy Voting Marks U.K. Election

Liberals Offer Back Labor Party If Nationalization Out

LONDON, Feb. 23—(CP)—Drizzling rain dampened most of Britain late today, but failed to stop the flood of general election voters in what was believed the heaviest poll in years.

With the after-work rush still to come, scattered estimates were that between 30 and 35 per cent. of the electorate had voted before the clear skies of morning and afternoon began to cloud.

From all country areas of the south coast came reports of exceptionally heavy voting, with women out in force.

In Hastings and Rye it was estimated that 60 per cent. of the electorate had polled before dark. The area was the last to be hit by rain.

The voting was expected to be close. Victory or defeat for Labor—in power since July, 1945—hangs chiefly on domestic issues.

For these people of England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland neither party promised any relaxation of the austerity under which Britons have lived since wartime. And no party has suggested dropping the ambitious social services established after Labor came to power in 1945.

Many Britons were at some of the more than 5,000 polling stations before opening time in the gray winter dawn at 7 a.m. BST (2 a.m. EST).

The air ministry's special election morning forecast was for occasional rain everywhere in Britain at some time during the day.

Rain May Be Hindrance

The pro-Labor weekly News Statesman and Nation had predicted that rain would hurt Labor and help the Conservatives.

The magazine argued the workers usually wait till nightfall to walk to the polls and might stay at home if the weather is bad. Polls close at 9 p.m. (4 p.m. EST) and final results are expected sometime Friday afternoon.

Political observers predicted that 75 to 80 per cent of the qualified voters—everyone over 21 except peers, convicts and lunatics—would cast ballots.

In the last election in 1945 more than 25,000,000 people, or 73 per cent of the electorate, voted.

A last-minute statement Wednesday night by the Liberal party—which won only 12 seats in 1945—declared it would support the Labor party in parliament if Labor failed to get a big enough majority. But the Liberals attached one big condition—that Labor drop plans for further nationalization of industry.

Severe Food Shortage Faces 3 Villages

TRAIL, B.C., Feb. 23—(CP)—Severe food shortages face more than 300 persons in three isolated communities near lower Arrow Lake, about 20 miles north of here, an urgent telephone appeal for help said Wednesday. Residents of the communities, Renata, Deer Park and Broadwater, are considering butchering their fodderless cattle for fresh meat, Walter Waldron of Renata said in a telephone call to the Trail Times Wednesday.

Take Two Years

NORTHWAY, Alaska, Feb. 23—(CP)—Lt.-Gen. Nathan Twining, Alaskan military chief, said Wednesday night it will be at least two years before the build-up really starts on Alaska's currently "inadequate" defences. He added the over-all plan for guarding the area is integrated with Canada's planning for northern defence.

Canada Wants Early Start On Jap Treaty

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—Canada wants an early start on drafting of a peace treaty with Japan, with or witthout participation of Russia and China. External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons Wednesday the government would like to see the two Communist powers take part in drawing up the Japanese peace treaty. But he asserted that Canada would not tolerate dictation by China and Russia. If they persisted in being difficult, the other countries should go ahead without them.

Speaking in the Throne-Speech debate, Mr. Pearson gave the House a detailed review of his recent far-east journey which included the Colombo, Ceylon, conference of Commonwealth Countries on foreign affairs.

He described Asia as the current centre of gravity in international affairs.

The abbreviated Wednesday sitting—three hours instead of the usual six—also heard Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) and Carl Stewart (L-Yorkton) take part in the throne-speech debate.

Curtail Information

During the question period, Prime Minister St. Laurent told Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), acting leader of the opposition that Canada has received an intimation from the United States that exchange of atomic information between the two countries will be curtailed.

In his international review, Mr. Pearson said gains made in Japan in building up democratic feeling might be lost if attempts to draft a peace treaty were too long delayed.

Mr. Pearson emphasized Canada's interest in the Far East. Summing up his impressions of his trip, he said:

"I am certain . . . that a great tide is moving in the affairs of more than one-half of the population of the world who live in Asia, a great tide which also, if it sweeps in the wrong directions, can lead to chaos, reaction and destruction.

"But whatever the result, our own country, Canada, which once may have seemed to have been so remote from these matters and which now stands on the threshhold of such great development will be deeply and directly affected by the outcome of what now is going on in Asia."

Makes Recommendations

Mr. Pearson said his recommendations of possible recognition of the Communist Chinese government are still before the government. He could not say when the decision either way might be announced.

While he could "say no more on this question," he could "condemn" the action taken by Russia

US About Ready To Grant Emergency Loan To Tito

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — (AP)—The United States is reported about ready to grant an emergency loan tto Yugoslavia The idea is to keep the Yugoslav economy from being strangled by a trade boycott led by Russia.

American officials said the loan—which would be second by the U.S. to Marshal Tito since he broke with Moscow—would be relatively small. It might be $10.000,000 or $15,000,000 to be used for the purchase of U.S. cotton, petroleum and other urgently needed raw materials.

The State Department believes a loan is essential to keep Tito in power as a symbol of resistance to Moscow domination. Nevertheless top officials were considerably annoyed by his unexpected blast by the western democracies last week-end.

Tito challenged the west to make good on its "promises" of economic aid. He added defiantly that Yugoslavia would "rather go barefoot" than sacrifice its Communist principles in return for outside aid. State Department officials commented that Tito was never promised anything except "sympathetic consideration" for his loan requests.

The first American government loan to Tito was granted last fall. This was for $20,000,000.

No Reason For Anxiety General Says

Believes Bomb Value Lies In Surprise Use In Concentrated Area

OTTAWA, Feb. 23—(CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, one of the world's foremost atomic authorities, said today that the western world at present has "no reason for undue anxiety" over the threat of an atomic attack by Russia.

But he warned in an address prepared for delivery before the Canadian Club at Ottawa that the west must "press forward patiently and persistently in the fuller organization of the United Nations as the only real alternative to the fear of a war which might destroy our civilization."

Tracing the repeated efforts made by the western powers to reach agreement with Russia on the question of setting up some means of international control of atomic energy that contained acceptable safeguards, Gen. McNaughton said some progress had been made, but not enough.

All members of the Atomic Energy Commission, made up of Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States, France, China and Russia, "now clearly recognize . . . that in a war of long duration it would probably not be possible to prevent the use of atomic weapons, that the worst danger to be feared is the surprise use of these terrible contrivances and, in consequence, that the real objective to be sought is to free the world from secrecy in atomic matters and to allay suspicion by giving a certainty of warning to the world should any nation start to prepare atomic war."

Hooded Bandits Raid Millionaire

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23 (AP)—Six hooded bandits boldly burst into the spacious home of multi-millionaire William G. Mather early today, slugged his wife and got away with jewellry valued at between $200,000 and $800,000.

Moving with commando-like precision, the robbers were armed with a sub-machine-gun and revolvers.

Mather, 93-year-old honorary board chairman of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company, slept through the entire operation.

The robbers entered a second-floor bedroom, where the 60-year-old Mrs. Mather was asleep and flashed the beam of a flashlight in her face. She awoke to find a man standing over her with a sub-machine-gun. She screamed. This woke Walter Mussell, 72, a male nurse, who had been sleeping in a room adjoining the aging Mather.

To stop her screams, the man with the sub-machine-gun struck her on the side of her face. Then Mussell came running into her room.

Two of the robbers forced him to his knees and bound and gagged him with adhesive tape.

Two Shots Fired In Village Melee

PICKERING, Feb. 23 (CP) — There was a fight, two shots were fired and one man was arrested Wednesday night in a melee on Kingston road near this village 20 miles east of Toronto.

Police Chief Jack Irving of Pickering township said a passing motorist, Vincent O'Carr, stopped to help two men push their stalled automobile. When he finished the two men beat him up.

O'Carr escaped and called police. Meanwhile, said the chief, the two men tried to break into Lawrence Davidson's store. Davidson fired two shots at them, but missed. When police arrived they charged Harold Hayes of Toronto with wilful damage.

Will Use Force To Curb Reds If Necessary-US

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 23.—(AP) — President Truman Wednesday delivered a stinging denunciation of communism as an armed threat and a modern tyranny far worse than that of any ancient empire. If force is necessary, he said, then the United States stands ready to use force to combat the deadly attack of those who would destroy freedom.

Describing his message as a straight-from-the-shoulder talk on US foreign policy, Truman left no doubt that his remarks were aimed directly at Russia and her satellites.

"The great danger of communism does not lie in its false promises," he said. "It lies in the fact that it is an instrument of an armed imperialism which seeks to extend its influence by force."

Major Points

The President spoke at ceremonies marking the unveiling of a 17-foot statue to the first President of the United States at the George Washington National Masonic Memorial. His major points:

1. "We in the United States are doing and will continue to do all that lies within our power to prevent the horror of another war.

2. "We are working for the reduction of armaments and the control of weapons of mass destruction."

3. "But—the United States will not accept any sham agreement that does not include a workable international system for control of atomic weapons.

"This (communist) threat of force is a challenge to all peoples who are free or wish to be free. The fundamental issue is whether men are to be free to choose their own way of life, or whether they must live under a system imposed upon them by force."

Truman insisted that the United Nations is the proper forum in which to reach agreement on atomic controls, thus rejecting assertions in Congress and elsewhere that top-level talks with Prime Minister Stalin might solve the problem.

Turning to the Orient, where communism has been on the march, Truman said:

"On the continent of Asia and the islands of the Far East, in Africa and the Near East, are millions of people who live in poverty and who have never known real freedom or democratic government. In their present condition, the immediate benefit of steel plowshares, or smallpox vaccinations, has more appeal than abstract ideas of democracy.

"The communists are saying that they will bring food and clothing and health and a more secure life to these poverty-stricken peoples. We know they will not do so, but the idea appeals to the people.

Provide Two Rooms If Family Evicted

OSHAWA, Feb. 23 (CP) —Assurance was given Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vandewalker by Mayor Michael Starr Wednesday night that at least two rooms will be provided for them and their three children, if they are evicted from their home.

An official of the sheriff's office is expected to go ahead with eviction proceedings, threatened for several weeks, before next weekend on orders of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which claims Vandewalker is an illegal occupant of the wartime housing unit since he is not a veteran and had sub-let the dwelling.

Mayor Starr said he did not intend to see any family put into the street in mid-winter and he arranged with the welfare department to have accommodation ready for the Vandewalkers. Mrs. Vandewalker expects her fourth child soon.

Robert H. Winters, minister of resources and development, who was informed of the case by district representative Michael Fenwick, United Steelworkers of America, said in a letter he could not stop the eviction.

said "we believe there is still, at least a little time left which can [illegible] the process of education and persuasion."

"We must use this time to the best advantage to seek an agreement which will give security and in an endeavor to carry conviction to the peoples of the Soviet that our proposals are as much in their interest as in our own."

Soviet proposals for atomic energy were not acceptable because they provided no method by which each nation could be assured that other nations were not secretly arming for atomic warfare. The Russians had vetoed the western plan containing such safeguards on the grounds that the proposed means of control would invade Russian sovereignty.

Surprise Attacks

While atomic and hydrogen bombs have vast destructive power, said Gen. McNaughton, they are only fully effective when used in a surprise attack on concentrated targets.

"It would not be efficient to use nuclear explosions against an army deployed in the field or against a naval force in open battle order.

"Atomic weapons do not therefore replace conventional armaments by land and sea and the usual vehicles and mechanisms of war continue in their relative importance.

"The circumstances in which the effects of atomic bombs is to be most feared is when unsuspecting people are concentrated in great cities, when harbors are congested with unwarned shipping and in closely developed manufacturing areas before measures can be taken to disperse important large industries."

Yuzwa Denies

Previously, two of the Zahodniks had testified they had left Yuzwa sleeping in the truck at his request, while they went into the cafe for coffee.

Continuing his story Yuzwa said the man who had shaken him said: "What are you doing here?"

"I said 'why?' He said: "Why don't you get out of the truck?"

I said "I've got some friends here."

Yuzwa said he told the man he did not know where his friends were. He then got out and crossed the street toward a light in a store window on the north side. He said he was looking for his companions. He returned to the truck and leaned across the passenger's seat.

Another man whom Yuzwa could not say was the first one or not, called in at him: "Where are your friends?"

Yuzwa replied that he did not know.

This man said, "Why you —— don't know what you're talking about and jumped toward the door, which was slightly open."

Yuzwa demonstrated how he gave a backhand swing toward the window of the door to ward off any blow.

"The man said: 'You dirty —— why don't you get out and fight like a man.'"

Yuzwa said about eight men were grouped around the truck. One of them yelled "coward."

Then he saw the three Zahodnik brothers emerge from the cafe James was first followed by John and Paul. Yuzwa said he unlocked the door and walked toward them and asked, "Where have you guys been?"

One of the brothers said they thought he was asleep but he informed them that some men were bothering him.

"Let's go," suggested Paul, and took him by the left arm and nudging him toward the truck.

"I told you I'd get him if it's the last thing I ever do," was the comment Yuzwa heard from among the number of spectators gathered around.

Yuzwa said he didn't know to whom the remark referred.

Denies Striking Anyone

"Did you at any time you were in Lindsay strike anyone?" queried E. J. Spencer-Pitt, defence counsel.

"No," replied Yuzwa and he added no one struck him.

"Did you have any instrument such as this in your hands?" asked Mr. Pitt referring to the blood stained knife.

Again Yuzwa replied that he did not. The accused said he was asleep during the trip to Peterborough.

He woke after shots were fired and the truck was stopped. He heard a voice say "Put hands up and come out."

"What happened?" he asked turning to the driver's seat where James had been sitting a few minutes before. But James Zahodnik had already left escorted by police.

When he got out of the truck, the prisoner said, he was struck a blow on the head. This was the incident described Wednesday afternoon by Constable Claire McGillen of Peterborough.

Referring again to the stabbing in Lindsay, Mr. Pitt asked, "Did you follow the man who approached you in the truck west along Kent St. as indicated in Aldred's evidence?"

"No, I never went on the sidewalk," was the answer.

Yuzwa was dressed in a grey suit, red and purple tie, and a white shirt, with his sandy hair neatly brushed back.

At each recess his attractive young wife sitting immediately behind him would confer with him while he lit a cigarette. Escorting officers waited at a discreet distance.

When he entered witness box James Zahodnik, 33, of Hamilton, asked for the protection of the court on his evidence. Together with his brothers, Paul and John, he had a charge of murder dismissed against him at the Dec. 16 preliminary hearing.

Who drove the truck from Lindsay to the point where the police stopped you on the outskirts of Lindsay, Mr. Pitt asked.

"I did," replied Zahodnik.

When driving to Lindsay Yuzwa was in the passenger's seat and Zahodnik's two brothers were in the back of the truck.

"Where was Yuzwa when you entered the Big 20," asked the lawyer for the defence.

"He was lying down across the driver's and passenger's seats."

"How long were you there?"

"Fifteen or twenty minutes."

"When you came out where was Yuzwa?"

"He was standing out in front."

Zahodnik said he didn't hear Yuzwa say anything. The witness walked to the rear of the panel truck and a fellow sitting in a car six to eight feet west of the truck said "What the hell's the matter with you, you bunch of zombies."

"I walked over to him and said 'look Mac, who the hell is bothering you, why don't you blow' The man then began to back his car out with his front left door open 12 to 18 inches. I then went back to the truck."

"What was the next thing you did?" asked Mr. Pitt.

"I started up the truck."

The witness said he didn't see Yuzwa move from the spot he had originally seen him at in front of the Big 20 and he added that the accused climbed into the truck about the same time as himself.

"That's all you know about this, then," said Mr. Pitt.

"That's all I can tell you," replied the witness.

Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan then began cross examination. Zahodnik said he was wearing a fawn jacket and a white shirt.

"Where was that shirt torn?"

"Out side of Lindsay." He had known Yuzwa since 1937. The quartet had started out for a hunting trip to Quebec.

James Zahodnik then said they had been to Peterborough earlier in the evening and then they had gone to Lakefield. He claimed he was lost when he left the village.

"Does that look like your knife?"

"I had one like it, sir."

The handle was like it but the blade was five or six inches long."

"Is it your knife?" asked Mr. Jordan.

"I wouldn't say it was mine," he replied.

Under questioning by Justice Urquhart and Mr. Jordan, Zahodnik said he brought his knife with him on the trip. It was placed in a drawer in a studio couch carried in the truck.

Naturally on a hunting trip you took some liquor along with you.

"Yes."

"Was any body intoxicated?"

"No, I wouldn't say so."

The three brothers came out of the cafe he said. He noticed people standing around but nobody was doing anything.

"I saw Yuzwa standing in front of the truck. He had apparently seen Paul, as Paul came out."

"What was the last you saw of Yuzwa?" asked Mr. Jordan.

"When I walked around behind the truck."

He said there was a stranger standing on the sidewalk leaning on the front fender and he was about three or four feet left of Yuzwa.

"Did Yuzwa say anything to you?"

"He said, these fellows are bothering me."

"Was he angry?" asked Mr. Jordan.

"No." Yuzwa was standing talking casually with Paul and John, Zahodnik testified.

"When you went over to that car did you notice anything happening on the street?"

"No," replied Zahodnik.

"When did you next see the accused and your two brothers?"

"After I told these fellows in the car to blow."

John Zahodnik was nearby when he said this and when he turned around to go back he noticed Paul and the accused getting into the truck from the passenger's side.

"A matter of seconds less than a minute" was the length of time it took for the two to leave the cafe and pull away in the truck Zahodnik said.

"At any time did you have a knife in your hand after you came out of the Big 20?" asked Mr. Jordan.

"No, sir."

"Did you hit at anybody?" asked Justice Urquhart.

"No, sir." Witness said after they left Lindsay until they were arrested they did not speak a word. He said all of them were mad because they were lost.

Yuzwa seemed normal, Zahodnik testified and he noticed nothing unusual on the floor.

"Did you wonder what it was all about when the police fired at you on the outskirts of Peterborough?"

"Yes, I did wonder what it was all about."

"Is there any reason why Yuzwa didn't go into the Big 20?"

Paul Zahodnik asked the accused to go in the cafe, the witness said, but Yuzwa said he wanted to be alone as he wanted to sleep.

"Did you vomit on the front floor boards?" asked Justice Urquhart.

"No, sir."

"Did you see Yuzwa vomit?"

"No," he replied.

Paul Zahodnik, 28, next took the box. He said that he, James and John went into the cafe for coffee when they came out he saw the accused arguing with an unidentified man.

"Wasn't he one of the witnesses at the preliminary hearing?" asked his Lordship.

"No." "These fellows are bothering me" he quoted Yuzwa as saying.

I came between this man and Bill and asked Bill to get in the truck. He did so immediately. I went back and got in the truck myself.

By that time James was in the truck and we drove off.

Mr. Jordan then began a cross-examination.

"How long have you known Yuzwa" asked Mr. Jordan.

"Approximately two years".

Witness confirmed James' version that the accused didn't want to go into the cafe but preferred to sleep instead, when Zahodnik last saw him, he was lying down on the front seat.

"Did there seem to be much of an argument between Yuzwa and the other men?"

He thought it a minor one. "I suggest to you that when you and your brothers came out of the cafe Yuzwa rushed over to meet you."

"Not that I saw".

"Was there more than one man involved with Yuzwa."

"Not that I saw".

"Why did the accused say "these fellows" there must have been more than one man arguing with him".

The witness said he didn't know but he saw one only.

"Was Yuzwa angry".

"Yes, I guess he was."

"Why did you take him by the arm?"

"I don't know. Just a habit I guess".

Paul Zahodnik then volunteered the information that the accused had never been in trouble before.

None Saw Knife

None of eyewitnesses called by Mr. Jordan, claimed to have seen a knife in the hands of the accused or any of his three companions. And Chief Constable Arthur Webster of Lindsay testified he did not ask Yuzwa whether or not the knife was his.

Wednesday's evidence saw some seeming contradictions in the testimony of two eyewitnesses summoned by the prosecution. On Tuesday Wesley Aldred described stabbing attacks on Floyd Smith, 27, of Hagersville; Loucks, the fatally-injured man; return attack on Smith; another on Thornton Olver, 37, of Division St., and finally one on Sidney Risley, 50, of Cambridge St. S.

The two aggressors in this wild affray that saw Loucks fatally in-

Home Offensive Against Reds Senator's Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 — (CP). — Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conseravtive Leader in the Senate, Wednesday proposed more active counter propaganda against Communist preachings in Canada. He called for an offensive at home rather than abroad to counteract Communists who want to "wreck our system."

Senator Haig said his native Winnipeg had as large a Communistic vote as any city in Canada. The Communists in civic politics kept urging more expenditures, apparently not in good faith, but in an attempt "to break down the municipal government."

The propaganda that "whatever is short should be made up by the government" should be cleared up. Communism from within could not overthrow the country, but something was lacking in Canada's system if such propaganda could not be combatted.

He said he disagreed with persons who said that Communism could be killed by providing adequate food and wages for everybody. The Communists wanted to destroy the government by asking for more and more.

While he did not object to spending another $400,000,000 this year on defence, he stressed that within 10 years this money would be lost, with nothing to show for it. However, Canada "must be ready to take her place in the struggle against aggressive nations if necessary."

Western Oil Stocks Brightening Slightly

TORONTO, Feb. 23 — (CP)— Western oil stocks brightened slightly in an otherwise easier session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity was brisk with more than a fourth of the volume turned over by a single mining issue.

Volume for the first three hours was 741,000 shares.

In Western oils Royalite and Foothills gained 10 cents and Pacific Petroleum was ahead 5 cents.

Lake Fortune Gold Mines highlighted an otherwise dull mining list, trading more than 200,000 shares in the first three hours for a fractional advance. The stock sells at around 7 cents.

Base metals slipped from early firmness.

EYE TOPICS

THINKING EYES

Man has eyes that combine the best features of all the eyes ever evolved. With the help of his eyes, man absorbs more of the world about him than any animal possibly could. His crowning advantage is that he can interpret what he sees.

Man is able to achieve this because of a superior brain. His is a combination of all the brains that nature ever devised. The regions that control seeing are at the back of a brain lying behind his high forehead that distinguishes man. With this he does his thinking and his reasoning about what he does.

There are many mysteries which even our ingenious forebrains have not solved. How the eye distinguishes color, why we see things rightside up, although the images formed on the retina or background of the eye are upside down, how the optical centres in the back of the head deal with signals sent by the retina, how the brain and eye act together, so that we interpret what we see immediately we see it; these are some of the questions still unanswered by science.

We know much about the eye as an optical instrument—how images are formed on the retina, how the iris opens to let in more light in darkness and closes to a pinhole in over-brightness, how winking cleans the eye. We know too, that the eye is a miracle-worker that brings us the beauty and wonder of the world and more than three-fourths of our knowledge.

The human eye is a priceless gift to be guarded and cared for throughout our lives.

Unemployment Lively Topic At Legislature

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, CCF opposition leader, leads off for the opposition today in what may be one of the Ontario Legislature's liveliest throne speech debates, highlighted by discussion of government plans to reduce unemployment.

The speech from the throne at the opening last week described a $25,000,000-a-month public works program which the government hopes will reduce unemployment. Premier Frost elaborated on this Wednesday, prefacing an announcement by Highways Minister Doucett of a $150,000,000 highway building plan over the next five years.

Opposition members indicated their mood when they tried to turn the Premier's remarks into a debate on unemployment. Premier Frost met a barrage of questions, most of them ruled out of order by the Speaker, M. C. Davies.

W. H. Temple (CCF-Toronto High Park) asked "in view of the great unemployment in Toronto

4 Million Deal In Brazilian, Demand Good

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The fast conclusion of a $4,000,000 transaction in shares of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., Ltd., as taken as indicating a strong demand for the stock, and as confirming its recent firm stock-market quotations.

As stock deals of this size are relatively rare, the mechanics of operation may be of interest Here they are:

A. E. Ames & Co. Ltd., an investment firm, Tuesday bought from a shareholder or shareholders (name or names not disclosed) a block of 200,000 shares.

This was a private transaction, not carried out through stock exchange facilities (on a large scale it is like Joe Doakes having a share of Brazilian and selling it direct to Bill Smith at a price agreeable to both; rather than having a broker sell it on the stock exchange at whatever price it may bring.)

So, having bought the 200,000 shares of Brazilian, Ames and Co. set about to sell them.

Use Finesse

However, they couldn't say to the world at large on Tuesday that they had 200,000 shares to sell; because, if they did, people holding Brazilian stock might get worried.

They might get panicky and a lot of them might start offering their shares on the stock exchange at any price they could get and cause a price-drop.

So Ames and Co. presumably kept their secret Tuesday until 3 p.m.—stock exchange closing time. Then they invited a group of other top-level investment dealers to share in the purchase. (This spreads any risk.)

From here the offering spread out. The banking group, with Ames and Co., as managers, sent wires Tuesday evening from coast to coast offering the shares to other investment firms.

The firms receiving these wires are called the selling group, because they are the ones who sell to the general public. (Actually, at the risk of being confusing, the banker group may also be part of the selling group.)

On Open Market

At least some of these shares must be offered on the open market and this was done at Wednesday's opening on the Toronto and Montreal exchanges. The offering was heavily over-subscribed by overnight wire orders, and the exchanges were advised at 10:10 a.m. (10 minutes after opening) that the books were closed and no further offerings could be made.

The selling group got the shares for $19⅝ and must make any sales at $20. Also, the shares offered on the stock exchanges were at $20.

This was pretty attractive because the Toronto closing price of Brazilian Tuesday was $21⅜.

Altogether it was of necessity a fast-moving transaction. Something like $4,000,000 was being put up by the banker group of investment houses and it was within the realm of possibility that they could take a beating if anything panicked the market on Brazilian.

What led up to the shares becoming available has not been disclosed. Rumor calls it a sale of British interests.

Mad Peasant Kills Three Wounds 23 In Shooting Orgy

FILOTTRANO, Italy, Feb. 23.—(Reuters) — Battle-equipped police Wednesday night ordered terror-stricken inhabitants of the villages of Montoro and Filottrano to keep within doors while they combed surrounding woods for a 23-year-old mad peasant who has killed three people and wounded 23 others in an orgy of shooting.

Villagers barricaded themselves in their houses as 50 Caribinieri aided by peasant volunteers with hunting rifles, hunted the countryside for the maniac, Cetunillo Lillini, believed armed with a revolver and shotgun and ready to fight for his life.

Lillini burst into the house of his fiancee, 17-year-old Maria Mammoli, Tuesday night, killed her with six shots at point-blank range, then rushed into the streets of Filotrano firing at random.

Two neighbors tried to stop him, but Lillini shot them dead.

He fired two more shots at Maria's mother and seven-year-old brother as they fled from the house in panic. Both fell in the street badly wounded.

For five hours Lillini roamed through the streets, shooting at any one who ventured out of doors or peered out of his house. Three Caribinieri tried to arrest him. He picked them off one by one and left them gravely wounded in a ditch.

As dawn broke, Lillini escaped into the woods between Filottrano and Montoro, taking a supply of ammunition with him.

Propose Amendments To Tree Cutting Bylaw

COBOURG, Feb. 23 (ENS)—A number of amendments to the by-law governing the cutting of trees in Durham County have been proposed as a result of the operation of this by-law during the past year.

The suggested amendments will be studied by the reforestation committee when the June session of counties council meets. The proposed changes govern the minimum diameter of cedar trees which can be cut and also the conditions under which an owner of a woodlot can cut trees.

Talk About Splitting The Vote!

Every time we have a general election in Canada there is a good deal of groaning because there are three or four parties in the field. If only the C.C.F., and the So-Creds, and the L.P.P. would go and drown themselves, we hear, a really uproarious and decisive battle could be carried on between the Conservatives and the Liberals, our oldest and, to some minds, divinely ordained parties. The splinter parties merely split the vote and weaken Parliament. The fact of the matter is, of course, that we do not really know what a split vote is. In Britain today there will be no less than thirty-eight parties in the struggle!

• • •

We cannot attempt to list them all. The Conservative, Liberal, Labour and Communist parties are familiar to everybody. But there are also the Welsh and Scottish Nationalists, the Welsh Republicans, the Home Rulers, the Sinn Feiners, the Independent Scottish, and the Irish anti-Paritionists. There are Labour Independents, Independent Liberals, Independent Labour Party and simple Independents. There are Independent Christian Democrats, Independent Pacifists, Independent Progressives, and Social Crediters. And there are Conservative-Liberals, National-Liberal-Conservatives, Conservative-National - Liberals, Liberal - Conservatives, Independent Conservatives, Liberal-Unionists, Unionists, Unionist-Nationals, and Unionist-National-Liberals. Every one of these strangely named parties has at least one candidate in the field, and some of them have half-a-dozen or more.

• • •

Most of them will be defeated. Most of them, we venture to say, will lose their deposit of £50. But we must admire the spirit which refuses to regard a cause as hopeless, and which walks boldly to defeat in order to uphold a principle or a point of view. The people of Britain have been famous for centuries for their independence of mind, and they never show it more forcefully than at election time.

Dual Highway To Port Hope

This district hails the Ontario Minister of Highway's promise of continuing Number 2 dual highway, now extending from Toronto to Oshawa, through to Port Hope. In an address given yesterday afternoon to the annual meeting of the Ontario good roads association, Mr. Doucett said that the extension to Newcastle would be started "immediately", and that later the work would continue to Port Hope. We therefore cannot expect to be driving for two or three years all the way from Port Hope to Toronto on a dual speedway.

Many other road projects are being undertaken at the same time—to the tune of $150,000,000 in the next five years. For instance, a new dual highway is planned from Windsor east through Chatham, London, St. Thomas, Ingersoll, Woodstock and Brantford areas, where traffic is very heavy, particularly from the port of entry, Windsor. Highway 2 as a dual road is expected to be completed in the five-year period, right to the Quebec border, where it will link up with the Quebec provincial highway, now a splendid dual road on the island of Montreal. The provincial monies being asked for in this very large program (which includes extension of rural roads, $34 million for Northern Ontario, subsidies to municipalities and the like) will be augmented by grants from the Federal Government when Ontario decides on the Trans-Canada highway route through this province.

We note with satisfaction that of the total $150 millions which the Department of Highways is proposing to spend in the next five years, $27,900,000 is earmarked for the Peterborough-Belleville-Kingston area. This large sum should ensure a splendid road system to serve the area, particularly if the Department is not subject to political pressures and job-lot work, by men with teams of horses or trucks, looking for gravy.

Ontario is building some of the finest roads in the world; there should be no political whims and pre-election impulses dictating where or how they should be built. The first importance is that the roads be built well, where most needed, and with scrupulous care that full value is received for every penny spent.

Postmaster Lacheur

Charles Lacheur, whose death Tuesday at the age of 62 has saddened a host of Peterborough friends, was a good steward, a devoted servant of the Crown, and a warmly considerate citizen. He was a post office official in Peterborough for 47 years, and Postmaster for the last 26. His appointment to the latter position in 1924 was a departure from all preceding post offi practice, for he was the f[illegible] Peterb[illegible] ceive the appoi[illegible]ment not because of political favour but through the Civil Service because of his own knowledge of the work and his personal worth. It was a test appointment, and so well did he discharge it, that no government would consider again making the Postmastership a party award.

He gave quiet, sincere attention to the smallest details. Enquiries about the service always had his sympathetic ear, and patient, thorough consideration. He gave humanity to a position and function which could have been coldly impersonal. Thousands of people in city and county knew, respected and valued Mr. Lacheur through their contact with him at the Post Office. He took an active part in community welfare and church and club activities.

Charles Lacheur typified the best moderate citizen and Canadian. Peterborough can be thankful for his full, faithful life amongst us, and proud that he was native to the city. It can regret that he did not live to hold office in the chimerical new Federal Building, which all through his postmastership, was a castle in Spain. It still is, and perhaps Charles Lacheur would not have felt at ease in a castle. He was a man of humility, as well as humanity.

Flower Of The Lily Licenses

The province of Quebec is canny in advertising itself to tourists. Its 'old world charm', it habitants and spinning-wheels, its language differentiation are the stock of posters and advertisements to lure American dollars, and even filthy-rich Ontarians. We have not seen a Quebec tourist advertisement in the last decade which has not a prominently poised acute accent over the first 'e' in the word Quebec, even though neither an English-Canadian nor a French-Canadian ever says KAYbec. The latest tourist eye-catcher is the heraldic lily of the royal arms of France, the fleur-de-lis, on motor car license plates, between 1950 and the word Quebec (with the acute accent). This little device is intriguing, and certainly more quietly fetching than American practices of putting a bear on a palm tree or even the words 'America's Vacationland' on the license plate.

We had not realized how fond the Quebecois were of the fleur-de-lis, the coat of arms of royal France which discarded their ancestors and the colony in 1759. And what say the million or so English-Canadian residents of Quebec who have to drive around with a fleur-de-lis at the front and rear of their cars (incidentally, Quebec this year has returned to the two-plate system)? But we must not forget that Ontario drivers tour around on The King's Highway (a clever slogan revived from old times by the late G. Howard Ferguson's regime), with royal crowns on road posts, and—yes, have you not noticed? a discreet crown on the license plates fore and aft, between the word Ontario and the 1950.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Prisoners in an English jail are reported to be studying Nature. Some of her rock formations, possibly?

A geologist says that "the continents are floating around on the earth's subcrust". What's to prevent us paddling this one a little more to the south?

North Dakota has passed a law forbidding a man to go to bed with his boots on. Does it also insist that he wear both parts of his pyjamas?

The maximum sentence Dr. Fuchs can expect is 14 years. And if he gets a bundle of old magazines or a basket of fruit from Moscow during that time we shall be surprised.

A type of feminine undergarment popular in the '20's called "Teddies" is to be revived, we see. Perhaps it is time men brought back the restraining cord on the summer straw hat.

Reports of robins, butterflies, and other unseasonable manifestations, due to the mild weather, have been common in recent weeks. We refuse, however, to believe the report that the weather was so warm in the Niagara Peninsula that a seed catalogue started sprouting.

Republicans Shape Election Plan

By NORA BELOFF
From Washington

A RESOUNDING conservative manifesto two weeks ago inaugurated the Republican Party's campaign, aimed at recovering control over the United States Congress at next November's elections. The American people were promised a balanced budget, lower taxes, protection from foreign competition and above all "liberty" against socialism and planners. Mr. Truman's 'Fair Deal, the British Labour Government and "Iron Curtain" dictatorships were all lumped together as the modern danger from which the Republican Party would rescue the American nation.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE document is considered here as a victory for the businessmen who finance the Republican Party and has disconcerted the party's liberal wing, ably represented in Congress, which fears that in the interests of conciliating their moneyed backers, the Republicans have neglected to conciliate their unmoneyed electors.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR the past twenty years, the Republican party has been continuously out of office and the foreign policies as well as the domestic reforms of the 'thirties and 'forties are, therefore, all identified with Democratic leadership. Senator Flanders of Vermont, associated with the party's more progressive wing, recently told me that this state of affairs has divided the party between the "die-hards", who hanker for 1928 and the political realists who believe that if the Republicans turn their back on twenty years of history, the country is likely to turn its back on them. There is real fear among Senator Flanders' friends that, if this trend persists, the United States will soon become a single-party nation, a condition incompatible with western notions of democracy.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE overwhelming emphasis of the new manifesto is on retrenchment of federal expenditure and reduction of the economic powers of the central government. The first task of the Party would be to eliminate the deficit in the budget on the grounds that "liberty cannot breathe the air of bankruptcy and live". Its second task would be a general reduction in taxes to encourage private enterprise.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE general principle that government interference in the national economy, particularly through planning, is "socialist", is subject, however, to the important exception of agriculture. The manifesto promises the farmer continued state hand-outs in the form of price supports, rural electrification, soil conservation, educational and research projects and improved living conditions. In fact, the farmer's are the only section of the country to get any specific assurances. Labour has the prospect of the continued application of the Taft-Hartley Act limiting the unions right to strike. Minorities have a general assurance of equal opportunities for education and employment, though only in general terms. War veterans are to continue to receive the nation's gratitude in the form of benefits and economic privileges.

◇ ◇ ◇

MEASURES of general welfare are to be subordinate to the need of lower taxes and balanced budgets, but where the money is available it is to be spent on extending social security. Compulsory health insurance, however, is specifically barred. There is no suggestion of federal aid to education, despite alarming reports in new official surveys of grave shortages of school buildings and qualified teachers.

◇ ◇ ◇

A CONSIDERABLE section of the manifesto —and one which is certain to become a focal issue in the election campaign—relates to the suppression of Communism. The Republicans promise intensified checks on the loyalty of federal employees, and increased preventive measures through the F.B.I. to withstand "the threat to American security" constituted by Communists and their sympathisers. The recent conviction of Alger Hiss on charges of spying for the Russians and the arrest of Dr. Fuchs, the atomic research physicist, in Britain are expected to become favourite topics in Republican campaign oratory. The manifesto's declaration: "We denounce the soft attitude of this Administration towards Government officials who hold or support Communist attitudes", is plainly an allusion to the recent declaration of the Secretary of State, Mr. Dean Acheson, that he would not "turn his back" on Alger Hiss after the latter's conviction.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE manifesto achieves a compromise on international affairs between the isolationist wing, who would scrap foreign aid, and the proponents of the bi-partisan foreign policy who share Mr. Acheson's view that the foreign aid programme offers the highest safeguard against Soviet aggression. Setting out the conditions of aid, the manifesto says it would only go to countries "resisting Communism" presumably this would exclude Tito who has recently received an American loan); that it would be kept within the limits which America could afford, (presumably it would be pared down to fit into a balanced budget), and finally that it would only be forthcoming if there were plans for "progressive reductions" in the amount of aid. The Military Aid programme, for which the Democratic administration is asking more this year than last, would presumably be revised in accordance with those conditions.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN promising American industry protection from the products of "underpaid foreign labour", the Republicans return to their traditional protectionist philosophy. As all foreign workers are paid less than American workers, presumably all foreign products fall into the category against which protection is promised. Once again, however, the farmers are not to be victimized: although there is no clear indication of how the outside world would earn dollars to purchase American commodities, the manifesto promises that export markets for surplus agricultural crops "would be developed".

Letters To The Editor

REBUKES LITTLE THEATRE

Sir: Having watched with interest the plays which formed this season's bill of fare in the annual presentations of the Peterborough Little Theatre, I should like to compliment the teachers and their directors on the superb staging which characterized each one of the trio. What an amount of time, energy and interest must have been expended in preparing such an elaborate presentation as "The Play of the Weather", for instance. The stage settings, the costumes and the general colorful effect of all three plays made them outstanding in the realm of dramatic offerings in Peterborough.

The "Weather" play needed an explanatory epilogue. The unfamiliar wordage, the very fast tempo at which the speeches were delivered and the manner in which the actors appeared to be talking for their own benefit instead of the benefit of the audience, did a great deal to queer the effect of an unusual, but still pompous and prosy piece.

The farcical skit "The Voice of the People" was real, down-to-the-ground material for comedy, well calculated to evoke the interest of those who appreciate homely happenings presented with a light touch.

As for "The Tinker's Wedding", it created a strange impression. 'With such a wealth of other dramatic material from which to choose, why pick out a play which could not fail to offend the sensibilities of any Catholic who watched it? In this day and age, when the twin threats of atomic energy and "the bear that walks like a man" are the chief bogies of the human race, when the Catholic Church is one of the strongest bulwarks against the advance of atheism, when people generally are confused, weary and fearful, why add your ten cents' worth of mischief? Why choose a play that holds up to ridicule a Roman Catholic priest? True, there is no doubt that such priests may have existed, or do still exist, in Ireland. As, doubtless, there may be ministers and parsons of low calibre to be found in England, Scotland and Wales, even, in sooth, in our own land of Canada. But why present such a spectacle on a stage as a prelude to Fellowship Week? And, although I was not born in Peterborough, I wonder by what crass inversion of reasonable thinking do you imagine that the descendants of the original Irish settlers here, who were mainly Roman Catholic in faith, would be interested in, or pleased to see, such a caricature of priestly dignity, and a cleric of their church held up to public contumely and ridicule.

I notice that the programme "Note about the Plays" describes a satisfactory evening of one-act plays as something in the way of a novelty, something of real literary worth, and a comedy. Then it lists the novelty as "The Play of the Weather", and certainly 'The Voice of the People" is the comedy. That leaves "The Tinker's Wedding" as the offering of real literary worth. This is strange. The play abounds in earthy dialogue such as might be expected from a roving tinker, his mistress, his drunken mother, and the author's rude conception of a priest who is treated with great indignity. To talk about "imagery, poetry and folk pathos" in this connection seems to the writer comparable to the effort of a daffy hostess who prepares a dish of limburger cheese and then sprays it with perfume before assuring her bemused guests that it is a dessert quite out of this world. They may be pardoned if they still regard it as definitely odorous cheese.

IRISH PROTEST

Sir: We attended the plays at the Peterborough Collegiate last week and we wish to raise our Irish voices in protest. We are referring of course to the play of J. M. Synge "The Tinker's Wedding".

On the back of the programme was a Note About the Plays and we quote "In choosing this play for performance this year the Little Theatre is not unmindful of Peterborough's rich Irish heritage, or of the fact that this is the city's centenary year". Are we to understand that this play was to be a source of amusement and edification for the Peterborough citizens of Irish descent? We were not amused at the antics of a renegade priest, a drunken old woman, a wanton gypsy and a thievish tinker, however well those roles were played.

Although we are parents of young children and living on a limited budget, we have done our best to support any effort to bring worthwhile entertainment to Peterborough. We thoroughly enjoyed the ten plays we managed to attend last summer and also the first two of last week's group.

We feel this play was an unhappy choice from most people's viewpoint but especially so for the Irish-Catholic element in the city. Don't you think that all religious groups have an innate sense of respect and even reverence for the men who administer their religion and to see a person representing a priest, being mauled and ridiculed, even on a stage is not at all amusing.

The fact that The Tinker's Wedding is perhaps the least often seen of J. M. Synge's plays is quite understandable as far as we are concerned.

Yours very truly,
(MR. AND MRS.) WM. G. O'TOOLE.

BEGS FOR END OF DISPUTE

Sir: Please! Mr. Editor, for God's sakes, Mr. Editor, an end to this bickering over the question, "Should wives work?"

Surely it must be obvious that there is now no hope that any woman will view this question objectively.

Indeed I think that it is fundamentally impossible for a woman to think objectively about matters of their own personal concern. I think too that it is well known that they are interested in nothing else.

Since, therefore, it is to be expected that this windy tussle of female fuss budgets will end eventually in a draw, who not now?

In the past it has been interesting sometimes pleasant to read your editorial page, and I hope that it will be so again.

Naturally everyone enjoys a controversy especially when the subject is really of current interest as this one could be. But since if has disintegrated into a free-for-all hair-pull, with the original idea completely lost among the personal side issues.

O.T.

THE BLACK DUSTER

Sir: Having noticed that the question of a distinctive national flag for Canada is still troubling some of our busier diplomats in Ottawa, I sincerely hope that these gentlemen will not take into consideration the Black Duster which droops from the Peterborough Post Office.

I suggest something a trifle brighter would be more acceptable, although I hasten to admit that there is probably no other nation in the world which boasts a flag remotely resembling our Post Office Ensign.

Yours, etc.,
J. GILCHRIST.

Will Give Away Inheritance For Peace Fund

BELOIT, Wis., Feb. 23 (AP)—A Beloit College professor says he's going to give away his inheritance of a life income from one-third of a $2,000,000 trust fund.

Marriott C. Morris Jr., who says he'll never take a penny for his own use, added he'll probably give the money to the cause of international peace.

The $2,000,000 trust fund for Morris and his brother and sister was provided in an order in Philadelphia Orphans' Court Monday distributing the estate of their father, who died in 1948.

"I feel that I have not earned the money," the 49-year-old Beloit associate professor of modern languages said. "I have, I suppose a responsibility to try to help advise what shall be done with it, and I hope to do the best that I can in that respect. That's all there is to it."

He said his being a member of the Society of Friends (Quakers) "might help to explain my feelings."

Shouts Drive Off Three Holdup Men

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 23 — (CP)—An unidentified trio Wednesday were driven off by the shouts of the proprietor when they attempted to hold up the store of Peter Bedrosian.

When one of the men pointed a revolver at him, Bedrosian called to his wife in Armenian. Mrs. Bedrosian's first name is Proosz, and the hold-up men may have thought he was calling the police.

Nothing was taken, but the three men bought and paid for three soft drinks before they attempted the robbery.

Mrs. Wm. Elmer Widely Mourned

MILLBROOK, Feb. 23 (ENS) —The funeral of Mrs. William Elmer who died at her home in Cavan township on Friday was held on Monday at the MacPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook.

The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. Garnet Husser B.A., B.D., with emplacement in the St. Paul's mortuary chapel.

The casket-bearers were six nephews, John and William Lunn, Kenneth and Gerald Thirtle, Vertil Kennedy and Wesley Armstrong. The flowed-bearers were all grandchildren, of whom she had seven, and also three great-grand-children.

Mrs. Elmer was the daughter of the late James Kennedy and Eliza Jane McGill. She was born in Clarke township 88 years ago on November 7th, 1862. She was united in marriage with William Elmer by the Rev. Mr. Thomas, in Millbrook, on May 24th, 1887.

For a few years they made their home in Clarke, then came to their present home in Cavan about 1890. Mrs. Elmer was well-known throughout the community, taking an active interest in all that went on around her, and though gradually failing in bodily strength, her mind was clear, and she had the enjoyment of all her faculties up to the last. She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, and of the W. A. and the W. M. S.

She was also a very enthusiastic member of the Daughters of Cavan L.O.B.A. No. 1066, and 1949 was the first time she had not marched in their church parade, and July 12th celebration.

She is survived by her husband, three sons William, Norman and John and two daughters Mrs. Claire Westerly (Mary) and Mrs. Fred Rowe (Sarah Jane).

CITY CARPETBALL

Sickness struck a blow at the league schedule and the president's cup playdowns, as no games have been reported from the latter and there are still three league games not reported. The doubles competition, however, has been played to date, due to the substitution rule.

Ass all playdowns should be completed in a month, the executive would like to know the feeling of members relative to a banquet to close the season and present the cups, etc., to the various winners. From inquiries made, the cost would run from $1.25 to $1.50 each. Skips should ask teammates and let the executive know their opinions.

The draw for the semi-final round of the Gracie Memorial doubles for Tuesday, February 28 at the Legion Hall is: F. Leether and F. Parsons v. D. Bartley and W. Sorrie at 8 p.m., R. Ralston and A. Bromley v. A. Robinson and G. Brown at 8 p.m.

The results of the third round of the doubles played February 21 are: E. Nicholas and G. Fullbrook won the first fame 9-7 against A. Robinson and G. Brown, then lost the second 6-10 and also the final game 5-10. R. Ralston and A. Bromley defeated G. Foster and W. Wilson by taking the last of three games played. The first was by a score of 15-2, the second went into overtime of two extra ends with the latter team on top 8-7, and the third game was moving along in a tight manner when all at once the former team scored a 7-end and won 14-8.

V. Reed and J. Douglas were defeated by F. Leether and F. Parsons by scores of 19-7, 4-7, and 2-12; the latter team lost the first but won the last two.

SOE were guests of the Anglicans at the washrack and proved victorious in tow tight games, taking the first 10-8 after being tied in the 11th frame, and when the second game was tied in the 10th went on to take it 16-10. This was a battle royal for the league championship. Those Quakermen had as their opponents Legion 6 and the Ful-O-Pep team went on to take the first game 12-8, and although they scored a 7in one end of the last game, they lost out 11-12.

The Fire Fighters visited the Big Bens at the Legion, and after a tight game won it 15-10, but lost the second game 8-10. The game scheduled for the week of February 6 has been claimed by Legion 6 from Legion 7 by default. The President's Cup playdowns published last week should all be played this coming week. Neutral grounds are the rule, but if teams are in agreement, any hall will be okay.

Toronto Swimmers In Meet At YMCA

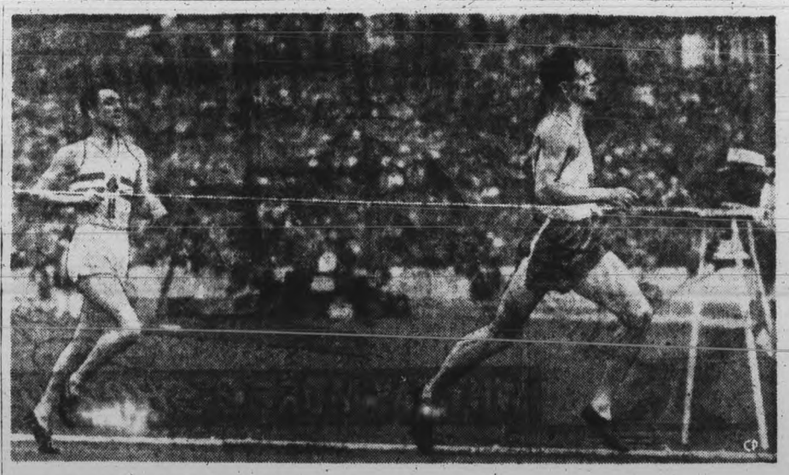
Toronto Broadview YMCA will provide opposition for the local YMCA swimming club as they meet Saturday night in the locals' pool. This will be the second meet this winter for the local club, which were edged on points by Toronto West End YMCA, a strong swimming club.

Coach Gord Minty said Wednesday that the meeting will be chiefly a senior members' meet. The older boys will compete with Broadview "Y" in the 40-yard, 100-yard and 200-yard free style events, the 40-yard breast stroke, 40-yard back stroke, the 120-yard medley relay, and the 160-yard free style relay race. The junior swimmers will have some handicap events to enter and some of the visiting clubs are expected to compete also.

Younger Boys

Between events the boys of the non-swimmers club, the Tadpole Club, the Minnow Club and the Junior Club will give a demonstration of the efforts to learn to swim properly. Gord Minty will conduct the demonstration.

As a diving feature for the meet, Dick Douglas of Broadview "Y" team, one of Canada's leading divers and former Queen's university star, will perform. Peterborough's Stew Heffernan, better known as Gus Sassafras, who performs at the C.N.E. waterfront show each summer, Canada' leading aquatic clown, will go through some trick dives and swimming.



CANADIAN SETS RECORD—Bill Parnell of North Vancouver set a record of four minutes and 11 seconds when he won the mile at the British Empire games. He is shown winning the event at Auckland, NZ, with Len Eyre of England coming second several yards behind.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Have you entered a rink in the men's bonspiel Wednesday, March 15 for Ostrander's Trophy? The list is filling rapidly and 28 rinks is the limit.

We notice that the Keene Curling Club have quite a membership—22 men's rinks and 14 ladies' rinks—and only a young organization. Nice going, Keene.

We have a somewhat varied program Friday night — one ice reserved for the Stenson-Smith group playoff. Two ices at 7 and 9 p.m. for the leads and seconds; and then four ice for the visitors, two rinks from Keene and two from Lakefield.

It begins to look as if some of the boys wish they had never seen Watson's book.

Optimist bantams walloped Omemee 12-1 in an exhibition puck tilt here, playing fine all-around hockey. Pagett, Kane and Gardner each scored the hat trick with three goals for the winners. The latter, Stewart, Pagett and Parry were in on several assists apiece, also. For Omemee, Thornton got the one goal from Mitchell. Teams:

Omemee—Goal, James; defence, Maunder, McKenzie; centre Parker; wings, Mitchell, Thornton; alternates, Broom, Blake, Hyland, Whitmore, Collins, Laidley.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Likely quite a list of basketball games around and about this week-end again, though we haven't all the information as yet. Two girls' games at the YWCA tomorrow night, Nurses Srs. playing Nurses Jrs. at 8.15, followed by Neill's against the Electrics. This twin bill winds up the schedule; the rather complicated playoffs starting next week. At Collegiate on Saturday, return games of group semi-finals will be played between Port Hope and the PCVS junior "A" squad, and betwixt Cobourg and the bantam PCI-ers, and PCVS seniors and Marines. Likely some City League action, also, at the YMCA. PCVS girls are at home Friday.

Three Peterborough minor puck squads are off to the wars this aft, playing in Oshawa from four till eight. The bantam Optimists, the midget Marines and the juvenile IOOF-ers. Return jousts at Civic Arena from nine a.m. till one this Saturday. These PMHA teams earned the right to go into OMHA playdowns in stiff local series, and they should give a good account of themselves against outside victors. We hope the fans will turn out in large numbers for future OMHA playdown frays, as plenty of fast and exciting hockey will be seen.

* * * * * *

Kingston And IOOF

Speaking of fast and exciting puck play, don't pass up that OHA junior "B" group semi-final opener here tomorrow eve at 8.30 in the arena. It's between Kingston Vics and the local Oddfellows, first of their best-of-three series. Winner will meet the survivor of the Belleville-Oshawa duel in about another week. When you recall that guys like Ted Collins and Don Pagett of the senior "B" Petes were in junior "B" last year, you will realize that the Triple Links have real talent there. So have the Vics, and it's bound to be a swell playoff scrap at a hot clip.

* * * * * *

Just about everything seen in that senior "B" scrap at the arena last e'en. Swell, even hockey for two frames, and then Legion staged one of their third-frame fighting finishes to win out 8-4. Started off rather rugged, but it was held down to exciting hockey by good refereeing till out in the third. Then, the old enemies started evening up grievances and it pretty nearly finished in a free-for-all. Which player is to blame when a fight starts between these teams? That's mighty hard to tell, because these things build up like a feud, and a guy who gets a rough deal sometimes is guilty of earlier getting away with something. These teams play each other for keeps every time.

* * * * * *

No Drones Observed

The goaltending generally was good, and all players on the rival squads battled terrifically throughout. Rochetta was the big gun on the attack for Legion, with Godfrey, Hill and Crowley in on a pair apiece. Fife and West went best for the Petes. The younger puckists for the Foley flock are coming along fast and are full of fight, too. Jim Ellis was sick and couldn't make it, but Cy Withers took his place as acting coach. Game was held up with less than a minute to go when some fans threw programs on the ice and they had to be swept off—the programs, that is, not the fans. Next tilt is Monday.

Frank Shine advises us of a couple of changes in the Industrial Hockey League playoffs. At Civic Arena tonight at nine, Keene plays Quakers as scheduled, but this one is followed by Ventilating Shades and De Laval to end their sawoffs. Friday, Quakers finish their series with Keene at 8.30 in the Otonabee arena, but Westclox tackle Brintons at 7.30 in Norwood. [illegible] will be cleared for the [illegible] to go into league semi-finals next week, these semi-windups being best two out of three games. One thing, the industrialists are seeing a lot of the district this peculiar season.

Omemee In Draw

Trojan juveniles tied Omemee Hornets 2-2 on the latter's ice last evening. Church rifled in the first and Millen made it 2-0 on Ed Dunn's pass. In the second, Omemee's passing clicked and Morrissey got the first one neatly from Lytle. In the third, Omemee had a slight edge to sew it up on a goal by Fox. The Trojan midgets may take on the Omemee Hornets next week, these teams being eliminated lately in playoff games by a single goal. Teams:

Trojans—Goal, Jones; defence, Fairley, Tyndall; centre, Tucker; wings, Walling, Sloan; alternates, Church, Delahaye, Dunn, Millen, Deyell.

Omemee—Goal, Lanciault; defence, Brown, Fisher; centre, H. Fox; wings, D. Fox, Stephenson; alternates, Crawford, Morrissey, Evans, Lytle, Lucas, Ellis O'-, Donnell, McGuire.

Legion Puckists Go One Up In Series With The Petes

Legionnaires went one up on the Petes in their OHA senior "B" group semi-finals here last night, driving hard in the third period to earn an 8-4 win. A big crowd saw Legion put it on ice in the last heat to lead two games to one in the best-of-five sawoffs, the fourth fixture being Monday night. It was 1-1 in the first, the Petes led for a space in the second, but the chukker ended 2-2, and the winners had a 6-2 scoring margin in the third. Play was fast and furious all the way, but kept well in hand until bitterness broke out in the open in the dying minutes of play. The Petes drew 11 of the 21 penalties passed out, and play was held up near the finish till the ice could be swept clear of programs thrown by fans.

Rough Stuff

As usual between these teams, there was plenty of butt-ending, cross-checking and roughing. Several fights threatened and a few did break out, a free-for-all being narrowly averted. Tompkins, Crowley, Rochetta and Pagett were all chased for fighting with seconds left to play. Tompkins earlier drew a major for high-sticking, and Fife and Doug Mortimer nearly mixed it several times. Vitarelli and McMaster got it for fighting, too.

Joe Rochetta shone for Legion, scoring three goals and helping on another, as well as being thefted several more times. Bert Hill, Bill Crowley and Johnny Godfrey were in on a pair apiece, as singletons went to Parnell, Coombs, Freddy Mortimer, Reg. Stewart, Al Burns and Montgomery. Murray Fife stood out for the Petes, scoring two and helping on another. Junior West also going good to tally twice, Garvey and Leonard each having an assist.

Scores First

Parnell got the first one from Fred Mortimer, West later tying it up. McMaster and Legrow drew tripping penalties in the initial inning. Horton and Fife got it for butt-ending, with Montgomery and Parnell each guilty of cross-checking. Fife put the Petes ahead in the second, aided by Leonard and Garvey, but Rochetta later tied it at 2-2 with Godfrey aiding. Greenlaw drew a high-sticking penalty, Pagett one for slashing, as did Crowley, Coombs for cross-checking and McMaster for tripping as play kept hot, fast, and quite even.

Legion had an edge in the third Coombs and Rochetta counted early goals, Stewart and Godfrey helping on the first, with Burns and Crowley in on the other. West got one back from Fife, the latter later scoring another after Hill scored from Montgomery and Crowley tallied from Rochetta. Hill added one with Doug Mortimer assisting, and Rochetta got the last as he skimmed around Ray Harding, who came well out of his net. Doug Mortimer went off for slashing, Bill McMaster got it twice—once for interference and again for fighting—Montgomery for holding, Tompkins twice (high-sticking and fighting), Vitarelli for mixing it, and then Crowley, Rochetta and Pagett in that last tangle, along with Tompkins.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Tompkins and McMaster; centre, West; wings, Garvey and J. Mortimer; alternates, Leonard, Legrow, Fife, Pagett, Collins, Griffin, Jopling and Horton.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Referees, J. Crombie and L. Heffering.

Toronto Leafs Whip Boston 3-1 As Rangers Blank Black Hawks

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

No team is breathing down their necks as yet, but the question of whether Detroit Red Wings can maintain their season-long leadership of the National Hockey League is being given more serious thought these days.

At Toronto Wednesday night the second place Maple Leafs easily whipped Boston Bruins 3-1 to cut another two points off the Detroit margin and bring it down to the slimmest lead in months. The win put the Leafs within six points of the leaders with Detroit having 15 games left and Toronto 13.

In the only other game Wednesday night, the New York Rangers blanked the last place Chicago Black Hawks to strengthen their hold on fourth place. The Rangers are eight points ahead of the Bruins and 11 in front of Chicago.

The Rangers, hottest team in the circuit of late, saw goalie Chuck Rayner record his sixth shut-out as they virtually clinched the last play-off spot. Tony Leswick scored two goals, Nick Mickoski getting the other. Among the Hawks that couldn't beat Rayner was veteran forward Doug Bentley, gunning for the 200th goal of his NHL career.

Small Crowd

The smallest crowd in years, 8,887, huddled in Madison Square Garden to see the Rangers stretch their non-losing streak to seven games, their best in three years.

At Toronto young Sid Smith scored two goals and big Harry Watson got the other in the Leaf win over Bruins. Johnny Peirson spoiled a shut-out for Turk Broda in the Toronto nets.

Rookie Jack Gelineau in the Boston cage played a brilliant game, Toronto having 35 shots on goal compared to Boston's 19. But after stopping shots in quick succession while Boston was short-handed, Gelineau didn't look so hot on Smith's second goal, that came in the last minute of the final period.

Watson and Fern Flaman of the Bruins were given five-minute major penalties in the second period for fighting in front of the Boston bench.

Boxing Comeback Ends Disastrously

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) — Lavern Roach, free-swinging young Texan who three years ago was acclaimed boxing's brightest prospect, battled death today after being knocked out in a comeback try.

The Plainview, Tex., middleweight was in "critical" condition in hospital, unconscious and in an oxygen tent.

Roach, 159, who turned 25 on Wednesday, was smashed to the canvas twice in succession by George Small, 159½, of Brooklyn in the last round of a bloody 10-round melee Tuesday night.

Referee Frank Fullam stopped the fight at 1:57 of the round. Roach hauled to his corner talked with his handlers and several times attempted to leave the ring under his own power. Soon however, he passed out.

Windsor Belts Marlies 5-1 As Kroehlers Trip Teepees

On to the playoffs.

It all ended Wednesday night as far as three teams are concerned in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League. For the other six it meant the start of a long and hard quest for the Canadian junior honors and its resultant award—the Memorial Cup.

In the feature attraction Wednesday night, Toronto Marlboros and Windsor Spitfires, first and second place finishers in the loop played what Windsor fans would like to consider a playoff preview, the Spits belting the league leaders 5-1. The two clubs will open the Junior A playoffs on Saturday.

Stratford Kroehlers salvaged something from the season's wars by Belting the third slot St. Catharines Teepees 8-4 and Oshawa Generals, cellar dwellers for the first time since 1936, swamped St. Michael's College 10-3.

Oshawa and Stratford now will join Galt Black Hawks on the sideline.

Personal Triumph

Last night's contest was also a personal triumph for Windsor's first string centre star, Earl Reibel. The diminutive puckster scored one goal to bring his seasonal output to 129 points, the highest ever scored in Junior A ranks. Reibel will receive the Eddie Powers Memorial Trophy, emblematic of scoring supremacy.

Reibel's 53 goals and 76 assists topped the mark set last year by Windsor's Bert Geisbrecht, 94 points.

Eddie Stankiewicz picked up two goals for the winners with singles going to Erwin Grosse and Earl Johnson. Lorne Pirie scored the Marlboro goal.

Doug Williams paced the Stratford attack in the Kroehler's last game of the season, scoring three goals, while Bud Watson, a Junior B replacement, clicked for a pair. Earl Clements, one of the most dependable Kroehler players this year, also came up with two goals with Bob Armstrong scoring a single.

Leads Snipers

Norm Corcoran led the St. Catharines snipers with a pair of counters while Obie O'Brien and Moon Mullen garnered singles.

St. Michael's had its Junior B goalie, Ed Young, between the pipes in its final game.

The Oshawa crew finished off the season the same way they started it, beating the Irish. Lou Jankowski led the winners with a trio of markers with Ted O'Connor, Esno Zannatta, Frank Hooper, Rio Caron and Hall coming through with singles. Bob Holden clicked for two. Will Marshall, Leo Labine and Bob Sabourin were the collegian marksmen.

The OHA is idle until Friday when Hamilton Tigers and Toronto Marlboros meet in the seventh game of the Senior A round robin semi-finals.

B.E. GAMES FENCER — Robert Desjarlais, of Montreal, was an outstanding attraction at the British Empire Games in Auckland, N.Z. His specacular style contributed greatly to the full houses at almost all sessions of the fencing events.

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—Officials of Thorncliffe Raceway Wednesday signed a contract for the construction of stables for 400 harness-race horses. Cost is more than $100,000.

Herb Hatch, president of the raceway and of the Canadian Trotting Association, announced that work will begin at Thorncliffe Park as soon as the weather moderates.

In addition to the new barns, the Raceway will build a new half-mile track with a racing strip 90 feet in width. A training track will also be constructed east of the present Thorncliffe oval and a new lighting system and an electric totalizer will be installed.

Otonabee Puck Tilts

Tonight at Keene, Optimist midgets meet the Keene puckists, at seven, followed by a Rural League double-header. On Friday at seven p.m., St. Peter's juveniles play Keene, and at 8.30 Quakers meet Keene in Industrial League playoffs.

There will be PMHA peewee games in the morning there and skating in the afternoon and evening. Monday sees a Rural League double-header, while Tuesday night has a game between the business men of Otonabee and the farmers.

Harness Racing Going Places

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP) — Harness racing—a sport as rural as a fencepost and as Canadian as a maple leaf—is perking up in its native country after making sophisticates in the United States sit up and beg for more.

Plans are afoot for a 42-day meeting under floodlights in Toronto next summer with purses ranging from $500 for dashes to $15,000 for top stake races.

Whether the meeting comes off depends on the Ontario government.

The promoters plan to equip Thorncliffe track with a totalizer for pari-mutuel betting. Premier Frost has said he thinks the 160-day flat-racing season in Ontario offers enough opportunities for wagering. Harness race wagering—at the 100-day winter meeting in Toronto or at summer meetings in dozens of other centres—is handled normally by bookies.

Harness racing engages possibly more persons than any other sport in Canada except hockey, softball and baseball. James Brown of New Liskeard, Ont., president of the Canadian Trotting Association, estimates there are 50,000 breeders in Canada — about half of them in Ontario.

London Crowns One New Champ

LONDON, Feb. 23 (CP) — At least one new champion will be crowned at the world figure skating championships which open here March 6.

When entries closed Wednesday the world pairs title was left undefended. It was won at Paris a year ago by Andrea Kekesy and Ede Kiraly of Hungary.

Kiraly is back but only in the men's singles division where he is aiming at the title owned by Dick Button of Englewood, N. J. The Hungarian won the European singles title at Oslo last weekend but the 22-year-old Button will be heavily favored to keep the crown.

Carrying Canada's colors will be Toronto's Suzanne Morrow, Dominion senior champion for the last two years, and Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., runner-up to Miss Morrow at the 1950 title meet in St. Catharines.

The Kennedy kids—Michael and Karol—of Seattle, Wash., probably will be favored to win the vacant Paris title. They have cleaned up all North American opposition but never have been victorious in world competition.

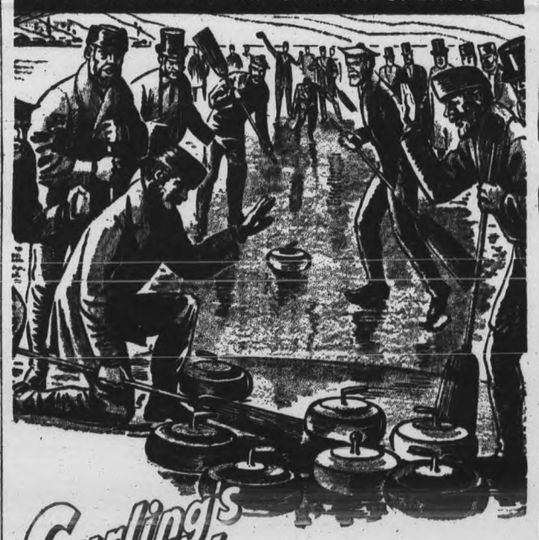
SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"



Curling's first!
It was a big day for Canadian curling when East and West first met!
From Quebec City to Kincardine, Canada's pioneer curlers had gathered on the ice of Burlington Bay. It was a crisp February day in 1858 and the brothers of the broom were meeting for the country's first East-West Bonspiel.
Thirty-two rinks—or teams—shouted their encouragement round the tees. Many easterners used heavy iron "stones", the westerners had granites. Bonneted figures brushed the ice with new vigour as the scores grew closer. But when the last stone skidded to a stop, the westerners sent up a cheer. They had won by 14 points.
Today the East-West Bonspiel is one of our major sporting events. With its keen competition and team spirit it's an example of good sportsmanship. And together team spirit and sportsmanship keep our opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

This year's East-West Bonspiel will be held at Vancouver, March 6th to 9th. The West are the present champions.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At London, Edmonton Mercurys had enough scoring chances to win half a dozen games on Wednesday night, but had to settle for a 2-2 draw with Harringay Racers of the English League.

The Mercurys, prepping for their engagements in the world hockey championships which begin here in March, swarmed around Harringay goalie Lorne Lassier for nearly 50 of the 60 minutes. The Racer netminder performed brilliantly to turn aside all but two Edmonton shots.

The result gave the Racers an 8-5 edge in the two-game total-goal series with the Mercurys and won them a souvenir trophy presented by R. A. McFarlane, agent-general in London for the Saskatchewan government.

Rinks from Montreal and Hamilton advanced Wednesday to the third round of the United States Women's Curling Association championships tournament with easy victories in their second round matches.

Mrs. R. W. Cross' strong Hamilton foursome romped to an 18-6 triumph over an Appleton, Wis., rink skipped by Mrs. Nick Engler and a Montreal rink led by Olive Rogers defeated Mrs. Edward Herte's Wauwatosa, Wis., rink, 8-6.

A third Canadian rink, skipped by Mrs. L. E. Wooley of Toronto, bowed out of the tournament, losing their second round match to Mrs. Henry French's Wauwatosa rink 10-7.

Outfielder Vic Wertz Wednesday signed his 1950 contract with Detroit Tigers, reducing the club's list of unsigned players to four.

General manager Billy Evans announced the signing after Wertz made a quick trip to Briggs Stadium. Contract terms were not disclosed, but the outfielder is reported to have received a good increase.

Cecil Jackson,s rink from Hamilton captured top prize in the first draw of a one-day invitation bonspiel at the London Curling Club Wednesday.

Play was continuing in the second draw, with 12 rinks still in the running, including J. D. Patterson of Ayr, D. Sturgeon of Welland and W. R. Blinkley of Stratford.

Lou Brissie Wednesday came to terms with Philadelphia Athletics. Brissie was one of two major contract balkers on the A's payroll. There was no announcement of his salary, but it was reported Brissie's contract calls for an annual salary of about $15,000.

Evacuate Schools, Warn Towns As Mersey River Dam Breaks

LIVERPOOL, N. S., Feb. 23 — (CP)—Workers battled furiously Wednesday night to strengthen an earthen dam on the Mersey River after a roaring torrent of water broke through a 100-foot gap, tearing away construction equipment and causing two schools to be evacuated.

The stored waterhead was being diverted into other channels. Other dams on the river, one of the most developed hydro sources in Nova Scotia, held back most of the overflow.

A small hole was first noticed in the new dam early Wednesday. Later the water had breached a 100-foot break and carried away a temporary boiler installation, a cement mixer and other power equipment. A workman's shack was demolished along with a quantity of tools. This damage was estimated at about $5,000.

Although the break was not considered dangerous, residents of this south shore paper town and Milton, a community two miles inland on the river, were warned. Two schools situated near the river banks were emptied.

Extensive Damage

The dam was completed late last summer and work was progressing on installation of a new generator. Water and silt spilled around the generator and damage was expected to be extensive, although no investigation could be made Wednesday night.

Pulpwood stored on the river for use at the paper mill at the river's mouth spilled along the river banks with the onrushing water. Lowlying land below the dam was flooded in some places.

Town council called a special meeting to discuss emergency measures if the break worsened but power company officials said they believed this possibility was remote.

Three birdges, two traffic and one railway span, cross the river, but none was damaged.

EDMONTON, Feb. 23 (CP)—President Robert Newton of the University of Alberta has warned that high spirited students will face expulsion in future for such offences as dormitory raids and hamstringing. At a recent meeting between the deans' council and a committee from the students' union, faculty members told the students they must take action to curb and control the student body. Dean R. M. Hardy said that at times there was "almost anarchy on the campus."

Russia Set For Big Purge East Germany To Be Like Hungary, Bulgaria Regimes

(Ed. Note: This fine analysis of Soviet techniques by one of Britain's foremost international observers, points to a ruthless purge in East Germany.)

By W. N. EWER

The past few weeks have seen the rapid development of a "purge" in the Soviet zone of Germany. But this is in no way related to any recent events. It is an operation planned months ago, when the decision was taken to establish a "peoples' republic" in the eastern zone. It follows a text book pattern for the evolution of a "peoples' democracy."

The pattern itself derives from the Yalta Conference and from the days when the Soviet Government still found it advisable to profess a belief in democracy and to repudiate a desire for revolution.

At Yalta, Stalin pledged himself to the principle of enabling the countries of Eastern Europe to "create democratic institutions of their own choice" and, as a preliminary to this, to the formation of "interim governments broadly representative of all democratic elements in the population."

How, under democratic and "broadly representative" institutions, was power to be concentrated in the hands of a small Communist group staunchly subservient to Moscow? The Soviet political tacticians have certainly been successful in devising an answer which averts any need for violent revolution or open use of Russian armed force.

Coalition First Step

The first step in any given country was the formation of a broad democratic program. All appearance of Communist control would be avoided. There could be, as in Hungary or Romania, a non-Communist premier or, as in Czechoslovakia, a non-Communist president. But all the key posts involving control of the police and armed forces would be carefully vested in the hands of Communist or "trusties."

As soon as the police apparatus was properly organized the operation would commence. It is curious to notice how little variation there has been. First, the leaders of the non-Communist parties would be criticized as "reactionary" or "anti-Soviet" while others of their colleagues would be induced, by skilful appeals to their patriotism, to their ambition or their fears, to continue collaboration. So the non-Communist parties would be divided, or merged with the Communists, or forced into opposition and then accused of treason, and suppressed.

Party Purges

The next stage is the purging of Communist parties themselves, the liquidation of the Rajks, the Kostovs, the Gromulkes, so that all power is closely in the hands of devoted servants of the Kremlin. By then, the apparatus of dictatorship is complete. All pretence of democracy can be abandoned and all opposition of any kind ca be ruthlessly suppressed. The "broadly representative" institutions have been converted, without any armed revolution, into dictatorship of a purged and obedient Communist oligarchy. And the effective force behind the whole operation—the implicit menace of the Soviet army—has never had to appear openly.

How complete the evolution is can be seen from an article written a few days ago by Mr. Chernikov, the new Bulgarian premier. He explicitly denies all real authority either to Parliament or even to the cabinet. The supreme authority is the central committee of the Communist party. "Not a single important decision must be adopted without agreement and confirmation of the committee. This must become the iron rule for everyone." It should be noted that the central committee in East European countries are not elected but nominated bodies, chosen not by party conferences, but by the party leadership—and ultimately by the Political Bureau of the central committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. The master party has not even troubled to hold a party conference for over twelve years.

Now In East Germany

This is the process which is now beginning in the eastern zone of Germany. When the peoples' republic was set up last autumn, the Christian Democratic Union and Liberal Democratic parties were allowed seats in the Assembly, posts in the cabinet and in the provincial governments. A month later, attacks began on selected leaders of each party. Now the CDU is purging itself. The purge is being carried out by Dr. Dertinger, Secretary-General of the party and Foreign Minister of the puppet government. By what means he has been persuaded to this folly we cannot know. For one thing is certain. Dr. Dertinger when he has purged his colleagues and destroyed his party, will himself be purged. Stalin believes in liquidating any agent—or for that matter any comrade who has ceased to be useful to him. Already Otto Grotewohl who engineered the split of the Social Democratic party and was rewarded with the titular premiership, has faded obscurely into Russia. Herr Ulbricht, Communist deputy premier, fills his place.

The purge has begun and will spread on "textbook" lines. All the preparations are there. The political police has been organized and well screened. A record is being made of the past political history of every German in the zone. It can be the basis for any desired accusation. Reports are being spread of widespread sabotage and of the machinations of "spies" and "agents of Western Imperialism." It is all entirely to pattern. Elections have been promised for next October. By then it may be expected that the last remnant of democracy will have been eliminated. The "Socialist Unity party" will be sure of an overwhelming vote in a "single list" election. And Eastern Germany, having followed the same road, will have a regime like that of Hungary or Bulgaria.

THESE PUPILS OF ABERDEEN SCHOOL in Montreal, all of European parentage, turned up in classe sa few days ago, in national costumes to remind fellow students to think of less fortunate children in foreign countries. It is part of a province-wide observance to mark the current $3,000,000 appeal throughout the Dominion by the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Fewer Eggs In Storage Suggest Higher Prices

MONTREAL, Feb. 23—Possibility of an increase in egg prices later in the year arose this week when a report was issued showing that accumulations of eggs in storage are substantially under the year ago comparisons, coupled with the fact that large producers are said to be cutting back production.

The marketing service of the Dominion department of agriculture reported that to the week ending Feb. 11, a total of 39,159 cases of eggs were stored compared with 88,485 cases to the same date in 1948. At that time the British food contract was in effect; today the British are taking no Canadian eggs.

Storing started earlier last year. In the two weeks from Jan. 30 to Feb. 11. 62,642 case were stored against 38,499 this year.

The Ottawa Government is committed, under its price support program, to buy up surplus eggs at 38 cents a dozen for Grade A-large, plus the costs of storage, at the end of the 1950 season. However, trade sources believe that due to the drop in production, plus the increase in domestic consumption, the Government may find itself with only a relatively small quantity of eggs on hand. The agriculture department states that the apparent domestic use for the Jan. 30-Feb. 11 period was 173,109 cases compared with 143,920 cases a year ago.

During this period last year eggs were selling at the retail level at 50 to 57 cents a dozen, compared with 43 to 47 cents today.

Trade sources state that the current high prices of feed and grain discourage many producers from not only raising hens for egg purposes but also poultry Feeling that the price-support program is inadequate, large numbers of producers have been reported to be cutting down on their flocks. The net result, of course, could mean an insufficient supply of both eggs and poultry later in the year.

Even the British election has entered the picture. One source in the trade suggested, optimistically that if the Conservatives should win, they migh reconsider U.K.-Canada trade policies and once again take Canadian eggs. He admitted, however, that this was probably wishful thinking.

Nick Hilton Approves Wife Working

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23 (AP)—Nick Hilton, who is to marry Elizabeth Taylor May 6, is not much of a movie fan. In fact, he had never seen his bride-to-be on the screen before meeting her.

The son of hotel magnate Conrad Hilton told me he had been catching up on Elizabeth Taylor movies.

"I saw 'National Velvet' over at the studio," he remarked. "Also 'A Date With Judy," or maybe it was 'Julia Misbehaves.'"

The 23-year-old Texan said he had seen photographs of Miss Taylor and naturally wanted to meet her. The meeting happend by chance last October when Nick was visiting Paramount studios The romance began immediately.

She Said 'Yes'

"There has hardly been a day since then that we haven't been together," Nick related. He popped the question in early January Elizabeth had to think it over and later answered yes.

What kind of a guy is Nick? Well, he is about six feet, weighs 170 pounds, has short brown hair and a ruggedly handsome face.

Nick approves of Elizabeth working.

"I think when girls give up their careers to get married, they get bored sitting around the house. When the husband comes home, they take it out on him. Of course, when children start to arrive, that's another matter."

Britain's Civil Servants Martyrs of Welfare State

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 23—(CP)—Whitehall's "Two Million Bureaucrats," sometimes called the world's finest civil service, rank among the martyrs of the welfare state. In an age when Social justice is a recognized aim of goverment, the state makes greater demands upon its administrative talents to try to ensure fair shares for all.

Through controls, rationing and planning, pressure upon government employees increases. At the same time, the government's desire to equalize incomes acts against the Civil Servants' claim for more money for more work.

Leading ministers recognize the irony. In an election speech, Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross said:

"I do not think there is any other section of the community which works harder or more loyally for small rates of pay than the Civil Service has been doing for the last 10 years."

Grossly Overworked

Glenvil Hall, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, told the House of Commons:

"The Civil Service is, of course, not perfect, but in my view and, I think, in the general view, it is the finest in the world. The staffs are now grossly overworked. There is not the slightest doubt about that."

Appreciation of Civil Servants is less general among press and public. The Society of Civil Servants, campaigning against what it called cheap press attacks, said that "any grade III clerk has contributed more to the national wealth than the whole staffs of some Fleet Street org—s."

One Cliche Whitehall would like to silence forever is "two million bureaucrats," a phrase which gained wide circulation after an economic survey showed that persons employed in the public service in December, 1946, totalled 2,130,000.

The figure, it developed, included local government employees, police and teachers. The service proper—that is, non-industrial servants of the crown—employs about 700,000, twice as many as in 1939.

Proper Diet, Less Insulin Best Remedy For Diabetes

MONTREAL, Feb. 23—A Montreal doctor—a world-recognized authority on diabetes—said last night that "there is probably no better example of abuse of a great medical discovery than the manner in which insulin is now being used by a large percentage of diabetics."

He said that the use of insulin was in many cases "making" serious "degenerative changes" in diabetes victims. But he introduced a note of optimism into what, he said, might otherwise have been a "frightening" address by stressing his belief—based on recent investigations, the results of which he reported last night—that these degenerative changes could be treated by proper diet.

In a paper expected to arouse wide interest in medical circles, delivered before the Montreal Dietetic Association at the Montreal General Hospital, Dr. I. M. Rabinowitch, associate professor of medicine at McGill University and director of the Institute for Special Research and Cell Metobolism at the Montreal General Hospital, warned strongly against "the increasing practice of allowing the diabetic to eat as desired and attempting to control the diabetes with insulin alone."

He said that his investigations clearly showed that "by proper dieting only about one diabetic of every four requires insulin; whereas a random sample of any large population of diabetics will show that about three of every four diabetics are now using it."

"But," he added, "two of every three are ignoring diet with immediately good results, but disaster some years later."

He said also:

"The extent to which insulin, without proper dieting, is capable of masking conditions may be seen in diabetics who had developed the diabetes in childhood and who have had the diabetes for 15 years or more.

"For the first 10 or 15 years, and, at times, even 20 years, such diabetics may look well and feel well. They may gain weight and, in fact appear in every way to be developing normally. During all this time however, their arterioles are degenerating gradually, slowly but surely producing cataract, blindness, kidney disease, high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis, terminating in such conditions as coronary thrombosis a condition generally expected in people past middle life.

"These degenerative diseases have thus replaced diabetic coma as the major problem in the management of the young diabetic."

On an optimistic note Dr. Rabinowitch said that he was "unable to agree" with the "consensus of . . .authorities" that these degenerative conditions were inevitable and that present-day treatment was incapable of averting them.

Sees Incidence Cut

He said that improper dieting produced these degenerative changes and that careful testing by the physician and proper diet could prevent them "in an appreciable percentage of cases' even with presently available knowledge.

He added: "If advantage is also taken of the findings to be reported here—(as a result of his investigation) — I believe it will be possible to reduce the incidence still more."

He said that, as a result of such findings about the control of degenerative conditions, "for the physician the management of the diabetic has become more complicated."

Many and careful tests to detect early evidence of degenerative changes were necessary and "examining of blood and urine merely for sugar thus no more suffices."

The dietitian also "has her part to play in the prevention of these conditions and in their treatment when they are present," he added.

He said, in conclusion that "not withstanding all of the present pessimism about the future of the young diabetic" he himself saw "good reason to believe otherwise."

"But only," he warned, "if the patient will take full advantage of this new knowledge, and this is possible only by careful attention to the treatment prescribed."

Crib Catches Fire, Baby Burned

KINGSTON, Feb. 23. — Laura Jean Marchand, 14-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Marchand, 152 Pine St., was severely burned Wednesday on the face, neck, both arms up to the elbows and both hands when her crib caught fire. The fire is believed to have been caused from a short circuit in an electric extension cord dangling near the infant's basket crib.

The mother of the child, and Margaret Marchand, Mrs. Marchand's sister-in-law, were in the house when they heard cries from the baby's upstairs room. They went to the bedroom and saw the crib in flames. Mrs. Marchand was helpless with terror as she watched her baby being burned, but Miss Marchand snatched the child from the flaming blankets.

jured and the three others wounded, according to Aldred, were Yuzwa and one of the men in a fawn coat. Presumably this was one of the Zahodnik brothers.

But Lionel Tracy, a Lindsay contractor, whose testimony occupied most of Wednesday morning, stated that the pair who attacked Smith and Olver were both dressed in fawn coats.

However, he testified he saw Yuzwa, in company with two others, hover around Risley, and he saw Yuzwa aim an over-the-shoulder blow though he could not say whether or not it landed.

Blood On Arm

Later he observed Risley going up the street with blood streaming from his arm. Tracy added that he saw nothing of the scuffle with Loucks.

What is believed to have been the death dealing weapon was found lying on the front floorboards of the panel truck after the three Zahodniks and the accused were captured November 18 on the outskirts of Peterborough.

The stubby bone-handled knife with blood stains on both sides was lying between James Zahodnik in the driver's seat and the accused on the passenger's side. Length of the blade was 1⅝ inches and width ⅞ of an inch.

Discovered by Provincial Constable Roy Feeley, the weapon was reported to be "closer to the passenger's side than the driver's.

Provincial Constable R. Bell, assisting Feeley in a preliminary search of the vehicle in the Peterborough City Police garage, spotted the knife at about the same time. He described the location as "a little bit left of centre."

Chief Webster of Lindsay removed the knife for examination shortly after 3 a.m. when the truck had been locked in the garage of the District 8 HQ of the Provincial Police. He thought it was lying about in the centre line between the two front seats.

Human Blood

Miss Verda Vincent, in charge of the medical-legal laboratory attached to the Attorney-General's department, identified human blood on the weapon from an analysis of scrapings she had made.

She also examined a pocket knife, the property of John Zahodnik, and a "Boy Scout knife" and a pointed can opener found in a tool box under the panel truck's front seat. None of them had any traces of blood, she said.

A "cake saw" was also found in the miscellaneous assortment of goods in the truck but it was considered new and unused.

Dr. W. L. Broadfoot, who performed the post-mortem on Loucks, verified the opinion of Coroner, Dr. W. R. Crowe, that the victim had died due to the "severing of the large external carotid artery in the neck."

He said the neck wound was 1⅜ inches deep. The gaping hole, he said, could have been made by an instrument such as the broken-blade knife.

This professional opinion was confirmed by the testimony of Dr. Carmen Blackwell, who attended the other three stabbing victims.

At Road Block

Constable Claire McGillen, of the Peterborough City Police, testified he was at the road block on the outskirts of Peterborough where the truck was trapped after fleeing from Lindsay.

He tried to flag it down by waving a flashlight but the truck continued for another 35 yards. He drew his gun and fired two shots at the rear tires. Chief Constable Garnet Samis, of Lakefield, talling the fleeing quartet in a Provincial Police cruiser, also opened fire.

McGillen rushed over to the stopped vehicle and put his hand on the door handle of the passengers' side..

"Take your hands off that you —" Yuzwa is reported to have said.

Ordered Out

Stepping back about eight feet McGillen pointed his gun toward the accused and ordered him to come out with his hands up.

Yuzwa made a sudden rush from the cab toward him, McGillen testified. "When he came up to me I struck him behind the left ear with my gun."

That blow apparently ended the dispute but Yuzwa protested vehemently about it subsequently in the Peterborough police station.

The head of the accused was slightly cut behind the left ear and his hands became bloody from touching the spot. Provincial Constable Feeley testified that at the station Yuzwa was under the impression Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey, also in on the arrest, was the officer who struck him.

"Did you strike him just because he called you a s——"? asked Mr. Pitt.

Taking No Chances

"No," replied McGillen. "I just wanted him to come out in a reasonable manner, not with a rush toward me, and with his hands up."

"You then were deciding what was reasonable and what was not," continued Mr. Pitt.

"That's right," said the constable.

Among the contents of the truck were three rifles, a revolver, some ammunition, clothing and a bottle and a half of whiskey.

Mr. Pitt took exception to the two lineups arranged by Chief Webster to see if Crown witnesses could pick out the four murder suspects. Since then the three Zahodniks have had the murder charges against them dropped.

Allowed To Mingle

The four were allowed to mingle with 11 others to see if they could baffle the witnesses. Chief Webster said another man, somewhat similar in build too Yuzwa was included. He wore a green and black checkered shirt, similar to that of the accused.

Mr. Pitt pointed out that the Yuzwa "twin" was only 16 years of age while the accused was in his 30s.

In the first lineup on November 18 James and Paul Zahodnik and Yuzwa were identified. On the second, two weeks late, all four were identified.

Only Olver and Risley of the chief witnesses made no identification on the 18th. None of the witnesses guessed wrong.

Chief Webster said he was not sure if any of them made wrong choices the second time.

Ages of the 11 participants were: 16, 21, 18, 17, 29, 38, 56, 30, 25, 57 and 52.

Of the Zahodniks James is 34, John 37 and Paul 28. Yuzwa is 32.

Found No Damage

"Did you find any damage to the clothing of Yuzwa?" asked Mr. Pitt.

"No," replied the Chief.

"And the clothing of James Zahodnik?"

"He was wearing a torn white shirt," said Chief Webster.

Twice the jury were asked to retire when questions of law arose. Justice Urquhart said James Zahodnik should have been brought as a witness if the Crown wished to explain how his shirt was torn.

Guards, 4,500 Prisoners Take Courses; 2 New Pens Youth Plan: Commissioner

Modern prisons are aimed as much at reforming inmates as at punishing them because crime is for the most part the result of the inmate's inability to adjust himself to his community, Joseph McCulley, M.A., Deputy Commissioner of federal penitentiaries said to a So-Ed audience at the Normal School Wednesday night. In the course of his remarks he revealed that, contrary to popular belief, 88½ per cent. of penitentiary inmates are native-born Canadians, not foreigners. And our prison population has grown in the last decade by 20 per cent. to a total in penitentiaries alone of 4,500. Mr. McCulley said that the post-war peak has not yet been reached.

Some prison inmates who have deliberately chosen an anti-social life of crime and there is little hope of rehabilitating them, Mr. McCulley said.

The purpose of prisons is to protect the general public, he said. This can best be done, modern penologists think, if the man turned out of the prison is better equipped and has a better chance of taking a law-abiding place in society. To this end, as Deputy Commissioner in charge of training and education of inmates and officers, he is instituting a program of education, vocational training, education of prison officers and segregation by classification of prisoners.

Archambault Guide

The way was pointed out by the report of the Archambault Commission in 1938. Because of the intervention of World War II the suggestions of the report were not put into practice until 1947.

Mr. McCulley said it was not yet possible to carry out the full program indicated by the Archambault Commission because of a lack of adequate facilities.

It is proposed to develop two institutions specifically for treatment of young offenders and reformable types of prisoners and to provide special facilities for vocational training at the Collin's Bay penitentiary in Ontario and the Saskatchewan penitentiary in the west, Mr. McCulley stated.

Already in some of the penitentiaries, courses are being provided in carpentry, bricklaying, tinsmithing, plumbing, drafting and related academic training.

What a prisoner will spend his sentence doing is determined initially by an interview in which his "reformability" is determined and his capacity to benefit from educational, social and mental help.

Education covers everything from teaching of illiterates to giving some inmates university courses through the universities' extension departments.

Library facilities are being expanded and the average circulation per convict during the year ending March 31, 1949, was 96. Sports also have been introduced with good results although the facilities in many cases are not yet adequate, Mr. McCulley said.

Snow Clearing Bulldozer Sinks Through Ice Into Lake

Bulldozer driver Fred Coones of Charles Young Construction company, Young's Point, had a quick cold dip in Clear Lake on Wednesday afternoon when his ten-ton 'dozer plunged through 15 inches of blue ice, 30 yards out from the wharf of South Beach Hotel.

The machine had been hired by Joseph Parberry of Lakefield to clear snow before starting ice-cutting operations. Driver Coones had completed his job and was asked to clear off a final spot, over which he had run several times, when the heavy machine disappeared in eight feet of freezing water.

Fortunately for Coones, he had the door of the covered cab open in case of emergency. He sank in with the machine and shot to the surface to be grabbed by Parberry and his brother, and hauled to safety.

Due to insufficient thickness of ice, equipment owners say they will not risk salvaging the machine by hoisting up on gin poles but rather, will cut an ice channel to shore and winch it out.

Although the heavy machine is water covered, part of the scraper blade is exposed above surface. Owners have every confidence that the machine will be in immediate working order as soon as it is "drained" and dried out.

Took Excessive Rent; Fined $50

Mrs. Terence Low, 710 Water St., was fined $50 and costs on four charges laid under the Wartime Leasehold Regulations in police court before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, today. She pleaded guilty to all the charges.

Mrs. Low was charged with taking a rent of $10 a week on accommodation on which Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials fixed a $6.75 maximum. She was also charged with collecting $8 rent a week when the maximum was fixed at $6. Two other charges were of failing to apply to have rentals fixed within 30 days of renting the rooms. It was said restitution had been made.

Three Cars Tangle On Aylmer Street

Three cars were involved in an accident as one was starting to make a left turn into a company yard on Aylmer St. near Brock St. Wednesday.

Louis Lanys, 594 Donegal St., was driving south on Aylmer St., he told Constable W. A. Scott, and was just opening his door to signal a left turn when the collision came.

Driver of the other car, I. E. Merrill, 482 Reid St., told Constable Scott that he was following Lanys about 20 miles an hour. When he saw Lanys start to turn he put on his brakes, but skidded into the collision. His car bounced off the Lanys car and hit a panel truck parked on the west side of the street.

The running board on the Lanys car was damaged and both front fenders of the Merrill car.

Engineers Hear Advances Made

Forty members and their guests of the Peterborough Branch of Engineering Institute of Canada met in the Public Library auditorium on Tuesday evening to hear E. S. Lee, executive engineer, general engineering and consulting laboratory of the CGE, Schenectady, N.Y.

The subject of Mr. Lee's lecture was "What is new in science and engineering." He told of recent developments in measuring devices and their application in general industry. Among several examples he explained the use of electric gauges in the refrigerator production, the use of X-ray gauges in steel mills whereby production was increased and the application of atomic energy to industrial use. Rubber, paper, textiles, metals and many other products are making use of this energy to increase production, Mr. Lee said.

The speaker was introduced by institute chairman James M. King and Dr. G. R. Langley, chief of the engineering division, and was thanked by assistant divisional engineer Herbert Sills.

Local Council of Women Sponsors Drive UEFB Aid

A province-wide drive to gather foods and used clothing under the auspices of the Ontario executive of the United Emergency Fund for Britain has been launched by headquarters in Toronto. This was the result of a meeting which was largely attended by the presidents of Local Councils of Women and the Women's Institutes of the province. The president of the Peterborough Local Council of Women, Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss, and the immediate past president, Mrs. W. Addyman, were both in attendance.

The purpose of the drive is to ensure a supply of food parcels and clothing for distribution in the British Isles for Easter. This is done with the co-operation of an adivsory council in Britain. The recipients are largely old-age pensioners and the youngest and oldest people who are badly in need of such assistance.

The Peterborough Local Council of Women has arranged for the drive in this district to take place on Monday and Tuesday of next week, February 27 and 28. Through the kind co-operation of the Salvation Army, the receiving depot will be at the Salvation Army headquarters on Simcoe Street, and all who desire to have a share in this good work, should take their donations there on either of these days. A special committee of ladies from the Local Council of Women will be there to receive them. These will be suitably packed and forwarded to headquarters for transportation overseas without delay.

The foods specially recommended for these parcels consist of: Lunch tongue, 12 oz., butter, 1 lb., tea, ¼ lb., package cheese, 8 oz., bulk candy kisses, 5c for the top layer, powdered milk 1 lb., sausage, 14 oz., salmon, 8 oz., cake mix, 14 oz., desserts powders, 8 oz., and 2 chocolate bars for the bottom layer. This makes up the recommended size parcel of 8 lbs.

Posters displaying these parcels may be seen in some of the grocery stores in the city.

Clean, discarded clothing that still has real wearable value will be welcomed, and forwarded at the same time.

This is an effort in which all should be able to participate, since any contribution, no matter how small and inexpensive, can play its share in spreading goodwill at Easter to those most particularly in need.

While this effort is one that particularly belongs to all the women of the city who have affiliations with the Local Council of Women, it also has the support of the local branch of the UEFB, which has been operating for some time, and the assistance of any citizen who cares to help is urged by this committee.

Deputy Reports Market Site Much Too Small

Erection on Charlotte St. of the postal-customs building is likely to be begun in the fiscal year commencing April 1, 1950.

This information was received today through two mediums from the same source of the Department of Public Works.

Senator J. J. Duffus sent the Examiner a copy of a letter which he wrote on Wednesday to Dit Clapper, who was the Liberal candidate in the federal elections last year.

Senator Duffus reported that Hon. Alphonse Fournier, Minister of Public Works, told him on Monday that "this building would be erected during the next fiscal year, that is, beginning April 1, 1950. Plans and specifications are now under way."

Mr. A. H. Lewis, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, today showed the Examiner a letter of Tuesday, Feb. 21, written by E. P. Murphy, Deputy Minister, enlarging the information from Senator Duffus.

The text of this letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Lewis: The market site in Peterborough, which was suggested as a suitable one for the public building, has proven to be of insufficient size, and it is accordingly the intention to proceed with the construction of the building on the government-owned site at the corner of Charlotte and Louis Streets.

"Sketch plans are now completed, and have been forwarded to the various departments for their approval. Upon receipt of this approval, it is the intention to forward them to the architect who has been appoined for this work in order that he may proceeed with the necessary working drawings and specifications. It is expected that the sketches will be in his hands about the first of March."

Visited Ottawa

Mr. Lewis said that he had recently accompanied Mr. Clapper to Ottawa on several occasions about local matters requiring departmental consultation.

In regard to the postal-customs building, the suggestion of a deal with the government, trading the Charlotte St. site for the city property at Water and Simcoe Streets, extending into the market area, was discussed.

The city building will become vacant when the new city hall is completed at George and Murray Streets.

The reply of Deputy Minister dismisses that possibility, which was unofficially recommended here in the quest of a Memorial Community Centre location.

"Mr. Clapper has been in touch with the Department," Mr. Lewis said, "and this idea of the market alternative did get consideration. We mentioned it in Ottawa shortly after it was broached here."

Senator Duffus mentioned in his letter the background of the postal-customs building. When the late J. Hampden Burnham was Peterborough M.P. in 1914, the Department bought the corner at George and Sherbrooke Sts. The project was then shelved by the first world war. Subsequently it was sold to the city, who in turn sold it to Dominion Stores, as highest bidder for the property.

The Charlotte St. location was bought in 1938 when Senator Duffus was Member of Parliament. The second world war intervened, [illegible] taking which is now definitely fixed for the Charlotte St. site.

The city banks' clearing house figure for the week ending today is $2,088,242.

WINTRY ROBIN

A robin, making an unseasonal visit to the city, greeted Wilfred Tyndall, 516 King George St., as he left the CGE early this morning after working a night shift.

ANSWER TWO CALLS

Firemen answered two calls Wednesday afternoon. The first was at 3.07 at the home of J. A. Post, 133 Romaine St. where some pipes were over-heated. The second was a false alarm call to box 29 at the corner of Aylmer and McDonnel Streets.

ENTER DRAMA FESTIVAL

In the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival at Ottawa the Peterborough Little Theatre will be represented by "The Voice of The People" and "The Tinker's Wedding". Competing groups will appear not only from Ottawa but also from Deep River, Kingston, and Brockville, and plays will be presented on Saturday afternoon. The adjudicator is Mr. Maxwell Wray.

Fire Victims Need Furniture

Losing nearly all the contents of their home when their duplex apartment at 185 Murray St. was burned Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Edwards, Lynne aged three and David two, have only a few pieces of furniture to put in the new home which was made available to them after the fire by Central Mortgage.

The new house is 737 McKellar St., but the family, is unable to move in because they have not the necessary furnishings to set up home. They have only one bed between them; they lost all their kitchen-dining room furniture china, cutlery, linens, clothes, etc.

The Edwards are at present staying with Mrs. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Weatherstone, 272 Woodbine Ave., but conditions are somewhat crowded.

"If people in the city would go through their furniture and give a few articles they don't want, we would be very grateful," Mrs. Weatherstone told The Examiner today.

"We have fixed the children up with clothes, but my husband and I can't afford to buy new furniture for them," Mrs. Weatherstone said. "There must be odd chairs and furniture which people keep at home when they don't have any use for it," she said.

Find Ski Slopes In Fine Condition

Skiing is excellent on all the slopes in the Peterborough district. Some hills are reported slightly wind-blown and icy at the top. Otherwise the Peterborough area has from [illegible] to eight inches of fresh snow on a thick crust. Bush skiing is at its peak with deep drifts in the open paths.

This week-end is set aside by the clubs of the Southern Ski Zone for the annual club championships. The Peterborough Ski Club started their championships last week-end with the jumping and downhill events and on Sunday will hold the slalom events at Bethany.

Club officials said that no one from this area will attend the Ontario Federation of Secondary Schools Association meet in North Bay Friday and Saturday. The meet there is a four-way meet, cross country, downhill, slalom and jumping. The schools will be skiing for the Munro Memorial Cup which is awarded to the team obtaining the highest number of points.

About 50 skiers used Kempt's Hill Tuesday in spite of the cold. Another large crowd was out Wednesday afternoon. There will be skiing from 7.30 until 10 p.m. tonight.

McDonnel St. Site Appears To Be Final Choice For New Memorial Centre

By HARRY THEOBALD

Memorial Community Centre is winging westerly to Monaghan Road at McDonnel St. if council opinions indicated this week settle into shape at the committee of the whole meeting next Monday night. Although said to be more inaccessible than other suggested sites to the majority of people who have not cars it has the material advantages of prospectively costing the city $10,000 instead of some alternative sum variously estimated at $40,000 to $100,000.

Furthermore, its thin layer of soil covers solid rock. There might be some excess of cost in construction by having to blast out foundations instead of mucking in the reported bog at George and Townsend Streets.

But, first of all factors of consideration is the release of the council from the problem of trying to make some site stick, rather than have to chase it all over town.

These are impressions gleaned from cursory discussion of the Memorial problem by the council this week. Of course, no member of the council would admit publicly that he was weary of this trying to get a location for a Centre; but the group is just human, and after chasing the restless site matter for the last six or seven years, anybody would be glad to get rid of it.

Operating Loss

If any person about town has been thinking of prospects of a job of managing the Centre or of some other responsibility in its operation he had better forget it soon unless he likes red ink and the blame that goes with it.

There is not one sound reason related to the operation of the Centre and its favorable financing year by year that could persuade any business man to dump it down on Monaghan Road near Jackson Park. If everybody is content to take the long odds on breaking even out there, apart from showing any annual surplus then the Centre might as well be built on that edge of the city as anywhere else.

And, the bigger the building, the more the annual expense and prospect of deficit chargeable to the taxpayers year by year when they have other borrowing, millions of it, to repay.

Moreover, if anybody expects cash trade from the west end folks it is not somebody who keeps an eye on the buyers of tickets at the wickets and where they live.

It might be suggested to the committee of the whole that if they wish to know where the bulk of the support for the Park St. Arena is coming from they should ask Cecil G. Upper, chairman of its management board. And from all the evidence and reports Mr. Upper is making a grand job, so far, of directing that board.

He is the kind of executive who is right on the job. You see him about the place often, indicating that he knows what is going on—from the ice-making plant and to the front office.

The Examiner has not asked Mr. Upper his opinion about the rink and its revenue, but if it did, the expectation is strongly inclined to a reply that most of the customers are from the south half of the city.

You see them at the Arena just as you see them at the Rotary-Lions-Kiwanis carnivals, the Peterborough Exhibition, the softball games. These are the people who keep alive all the places of amusement. They are the steady customers, not the occasionals

Maybe that might not be Mr Upper's observation, but it is [illegible] together likely that he has been at the Arena and elsewhere the evidence that the south end of the city is the broad quarter that keeps life in the public and popular enterprises.

Other Sources of Revenue

It was Ald. Doug Miller who brought to the council from a trip of enquiry that information that in St. Catharines or Guelph, a community rink-auditorium took in more money from roller skating and dancing than they did from hockey. It was something like that, suggesting operations throughout the year. And you don't get that kind of trade, in volume, on the outskirts. If you did, the theatres could hit for the fringe of the suburbs.

Reply of the council to all this unofficial advice is that central properties involve costs commensurate with their proximity to the brightest lights. Such cost is immediate and somewhat bulky. But the prospect of deficits in operation could be annual accumulating in time to much more than the extra expenditure for a central location.

These comments are only superficial. But the simple axiom of the business of entertainment is pitch your stand where you find your public.

Still, if you had been wrestling for six years with a problem both elusive and bristling with difficulty you'd be happy to dispose of it in any direction. That may be an actuating factor in the wishes of the council, first to get something started; and second to avoid heavy initial expenditure for property.

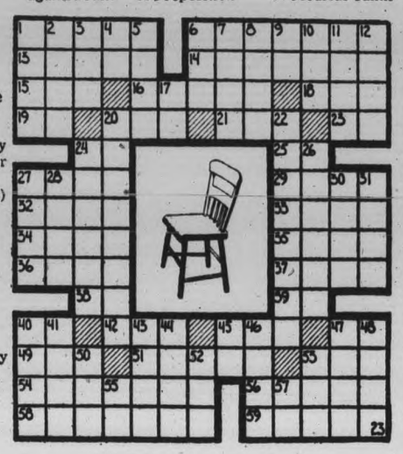
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Moral Re-armament Ideology Changes German Communists

In 1949 a German cast played "The Forgotten Factor" to 75,000 workers, trade union officials, industrial and political leaders in the Ruhr and Western Germany. As a result, communist trade union officials from the coal mining and steel areas of the Ruhr came to Caux this summer for training in the Moral Re-Armament ideology, including a number of miners' leaders.

All these communists, with their wives, were changed at Caux, and went back and made an official report to the German Communist Party of Western Germany. The party executive were much concerned at the change in these men because they had been members of the Communist Party for twenty-five years, and they sent another Communist official, an area secretary, to Caux to investigate what had happened. He also was changed, and made a further positive report how Moral Re-Armament was the answer today for East and West on the basis of moral change.

The official Communist newspaper in Western Germany, on October 6 came out with a major article, on Moral Re-Armament. It attacked Moral Re-Armament for "recommending to the masses a new ideology of the heart and conscience" and for "confusing the masses by making use of Christian-social phrases, such as the possibility of overcoming the class war by means of a moral renewal of people; by propagating a new teaching for the prevention of new wars". It said: "The dangerous activity of Moral Re-Armament has been underestimated by the district executive and by the regional executive of the party, and has led to ideological uncertainties and to confusion in certain units of the Party."

One Communist who had been to Caux stated at a mass meeting in the Ruhr: "For twenty-six years I have with passion and enthusiasm sung the Internationale but never seen it. In Caux I saw it." Then he went on to say, "Can hatred ever build an international? Hatred divides. Hatred has never forged the international." He said, "In my quiet time yesterday I saw that you cannot fight for peace if you regard war as inevitable and our fate. It is no good if I think I have changed, but if other people say 'Paul, you have changed,' and they tell other people about it, then I have really done something great. Moral Re-Armament with its ethical and moral standards is just the thing that until now has got lost in history. We are fighting for a new world because we experience every day that the old world must be remade."

A Communist leader in the Ruhr, who had written a pamphlet against Moral Re-Armament, got changed and said later: "It is without doubt possible to find in both classes those people who are ready to go the new road, the recent road, and together to create conditions as they should be created, in which everybody can be given that which is due to him in life."

Another Communist miners' leader described what happened when he returned from Caux. He said: "Our fellow workers made a great fuss when Adolf and I got back. The going was hot. We listened to it all quietly—the longest speech has to stop some time. When ten men talk at once one of them cannot tell what the others are saying; ten men can sing together, but they cannot talk. When Adolf and I began telling them about Caux and explaining it, I said 'Caux is an experience. Caux is unique, a dream become reality. The goal of our fight is reached. Class distinctions have been dissolved. The exploitation of man by man has been stopped. It is all true.' The loud voices have become quieter and quieter. They were all listening quietly, thoughtfully. And I would like to know what decent honest man can reject the four standards. No one. And so we found good listeners. Our lecture was so instructive that our chairman, when I spoke of Moral Re-Armament in the Markenkontroller the other night, so far on that one might have thought that he had been at Caux himself! I let him talk and so could devote myself to my other colleagues who also showed interest. It was a good beginning."

At elections held recently for shop stewards in the coal mining areas of the Ruhr, the Communist Party put up a bitter opposition to the men who had been to Caux, but in every case these men were re-elected by an increased majority on the previous year.

Editorial Staff Returns To Work

TORONTO, Feb. 23 — (CP) — Editorial writers of the University of Toronto student daily, The Varsity, have returned officially to their positions after resigning Feb. 16 when the students' administrative council passed a motion curbing the powers of the editor.

The council claimed that Stan Fillmore, Varsity editor, had removed contract advertising from the paper without permission of A. E. MacDonald, business manager. The staff of the paper resigned although they agreed to work under protest until March 2.

Bob Hetherington, Council member who proposed the original motion, Wednesday night brought forth a conciliatory motion which read: "Before any scheduled advertising is removed from he Varsity there must be consultation between the editor and business manager."

Paymaster Parachutes With Dollars For 'Pats'

NORTHWAY, Alaska, Feb. 23—(CP)—A Canadian Army paymaster will parachute to a lake near here today with several thousand dollars tucked away in his equipment.

With him will come a company of parachutists from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the leap that will be fitted in with a co-ordinated ground assault on this airstrip to bring Exercise Sweetbriar to a close after 11 tough days.

The paymaster, Capt. George Kendall of Winnipeg, a qualified parachutist, will carry $5 for each member of the PPCLI to turn them loose in the United States Army Post Exchange — a little general store run by the forces where they will get dollar for dollar on their Canadian money.

Not only the parachuting company but the three ground companies that have moved 350 miles north-westward since February 13 will get in on the chance to buy US cigarettes at 15 cents a package, cigars at 9 cents, electric razors, watches and even radios at prices much lower than they would be on the market.

Northway became the centre of operations yesterday as the Pats crossed the border from the Yukon and moved 40 miles to draw near this air strip which normally has a few men around it. Staff officers and troops were already on hand for the final battle between aggressor and counter-attacking Canadian-American forces tomorrow.

Trans-Canada Important Bond

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—The Trans-Canada Highway is more important as a bond in Dominion-Provincial relations than as a project, Resources Minister Winters told the Ontario Good Roads Association Wednesday night.

"Construction of this highway, important for a great many reasons, will prove that the provinces and federal government can work together," he said at the association's annual banquet.

Soviet Russia Losing Grip Over Albania

For some months the small Communist Republic of Albania has been faced with a serious political and economic crisis, the solution of which is likely to have an important effect on Soviet influence in eastern Europe, writes a London Times correspondent.

Defection by a second Russian satellite, only 18 months after Marshal Tito's example, would constitute a major defeat for Communism with repercussions which cannot yet be estimated. Yugoslav propaganda has shown clearly that Tito is well aware of the economic and political importance of having a friendly state on his southern frontier.

Formerly Friends

Complete accord exists between Yugoslavia and Albania from 1941 until the expulsion of Yugoslavia from the Cominform in June, 1948. For these seven years the Albanian Communist leaders relied on directives and advice from Tito. It was Tito's emissary, Miladin Popovitch, who was mainly responsible for persuading the rival Communist groups to unite and form the first Albanian Communist Central Committee in 1941, and friendly relations reached their peak in 1946 when the two governments signed a 30-year customs and economic agreement, bringing the economic plans of both countries into line. As many as 3,000 Yugoslav technicians arrived in Albania to supervise the operation of a five-year plan, which was to revolutionize the backward economic system of the country.

This close co-operation, however, came to an abrupt end when the Albanian government denounced her economic agreement shortly after Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform. The switch of Albanian allegiance from Belgrade to Moscow was rapid. Portraits of Tito were removed overnight, Yugoslav technicians were ordered to leave and the frontier was closed. The official reason for the volte face was that Yugoslavia had persistently tried to "colonize" Albania.

Forced Isolation

In breaking with Yugoslavia the government set the seal on Albanian isolation. At the time the government no doubt counted itself fortunate in finding that the salvation of Albania coincided with the existing requirements of Soviet foreign policy. For nearly a year Russian ships arrived at Valona and Durazzo, bringing food and medicine for the civilian population as well as transport and large quantities of military supplies for the Greek rebels. The Albanian government followed Soviet directions faithfully. The army conveyed the Russian supplies to Greece, assisted the civil war, and promoted hostile incidents on the Yugoslav frontier.

When the Greek civil war drew to its close in August of last year Tito's position became, if anything, stronger. Soviet shipments to Albania diminished and the government soon found itself in its present embarrassingly isolated situation.

Broken Promises

Internal conditions deteriorated rapidly. Repeated promises of Soviet assistance have not been fulfilled. More than one attempt has been made to check the division of opinion in the government over policy toward Yugoslavia, but efforts to stamp out deviationism are hampered by the fact that all senior government officials, including the prime minister, are wholly compromised by their earlier collaboration with Marshal Tito. Two scapegoats were found to shoulder responsibility for the failure of the five-year plan. The minister of the interior, Koce Xoxe, who was trained in Moscow, was executed for pro-Tito sympathies and the minister of industry, Gogo Nushi, himself a member of the Albanian Politburo, was dismissed for the same reason.

The threat of Soviet intervention in Albania is still sufficient to prevent Tito from taking action to secure his southern frontier. However, Tito is not altogether inactive. By spreading ideas of deviation in north Albania he hopes to frustrate any Soviet-Albanian attempt to stir up trouble among the large Albanian minority in the Kosovo region of Macedonia.

Although the Greek government has shown marked restraint in its policy toward Albania, its claim to northern Epirus provides Premier Enver Hoxha with the one point he needs to secure nationalist sympathy for his Communist foreign policy.

Meanwhile, the Free Albanian Committee, established in August last year and composed of the acknowledged leaders of anti-Communist resistance in exile, has returned to Italy after visits to London and Washington. This committee hopes for a revolt inside the country which would overthrow the Communist dictatorship and allow the establishment of a provisional government.

Whatever happens in the future, much will depend on the restraint exercised by Greece and Yugoslavia.

Atomic Energy Force Behind New Submarines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — An informed source disclosed today that the United States is pushing plans to start construction of what it hopes will be the world's first atomic-powered submarine.

This source said that discussions are under way in regard to construction of a submarine hull in which could be installed an atomic energy reactor that may be developed by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The discussions were described as so far advanced that quite likely Congress will be asked to add an appropriation for the work to the 1951 Navy budget for the year beginning July 1. Some lawmakers said a week ago that a race between the U.S. and Russia to be first to develop an atomic-powered sub was a possible complication in efforts to produce a hydrogen bomb.

The Atomic Energy Commission in a report last month revealed that considerable progress has been made toward developing reactors suitable for submarine or ship propulsion. Study is also being made on a proposed reactor for aircraft.

Nuclear reactors are machines for putting nuclear energy to work under controlled conditions. In contrast, an atomic bomb explosion is instantaneous, an uncontrolled nuclear reaction.

Under controlled conditions, scientists say, the amount of nuclear fuel that is destroyed in a small fraction of a second by an explosion may be utilized for months and perhaps even for years to give off useful energy.

Some lawmakers believe that a nuclear-engine submarine might well revolutionize naval warfare. Such a sub might have an almost unlimited range of action.

Disclosure that discussions are on in regard to building the hull of a submarine may indicate that a "suitable" atomic power unit for watercraft now is in the design or construction stage.

Designs for a land-based prototype of a thermal reactor suitable for submarine or ship propulsion are being developed, the A.E.C. report said.

"This reactor will be a single-purpose machine, designed specifically for the purpose of producing large amounts of heat under conditions that will permit conversion to power for naval vessels," the report said.

It added that the research and development work is well advanced, "and detailed engineering design of a ship propulsion reactor is scheduled to begin during 1950."

Board Advises Company Offer

TORONTO, Feb. 23—(CP)—A conciliation board in a majority report has recommended the company's offer be accepted in the dispute over a pensions scale between the Ford Motor Company at Windsor and the United Auto Workers' Union (CIO-CCL).

The union sought a monthly pension of $100; the company offered $55. The company's offer was recommended by two of the board's three members, C. P. McTague, chairman, and J. C. Adams, the company nominee. A dissenting report was submitted by the union representative, Drummond Wren.

The company's offer was $55 a month at the age of 65 for employees with 30 years' service. Under the company plan employees must have had at least 15 years' service to become eligible for any part of the pension at age 65.

The official reports, majority and minority, will be in the hands of the company and union at Windsor today and although a strike has been threatened in the dispute, further negotiations are expected between the union and the company. The union has previously asserted that anything less than $100 would be unacceptable. The pensions dispute directly affects 11,000 workers in the Ford plant at Windsor.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—Two widely-scattered work stoppages accounted for 80 per cent of all time lost as the result of strikes and lockouts in January. Total time lost, 39,488 man-working days, was slightly higher than in December, the labor department reported Wednesday.

Judge Suggests Reassessment Of Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 23.—Recommendation for a reassessment of the City of Belleville to eliminate inequalities under the present system, has been made by Judge W. S. Lane of Picton in upholding the assessment appeal of seven home owners in the Parkwood Heights district here.

Judge Lane ordered assessments on seven properties reduced by amounts of $600 to $620.

All of the appellants whose appeals were heard by Judge Lane in December are owners of bungalows in the newly developed Parkwood Heights district. Their homes cost from $7,000 to $7,700.

They claimed their assessments on these properties were higher than for one and a half story and one and three quarter story homes in the same area and costing more money.

Present assessment for homes in the city is on a square foot basis with the yardstick for bungalows being $2.75 per square foot, taking the outside measurement of the house. The rate for story and a half houses is $3.25 and for story and three quarters $3.50 per square foot.

In his reasons for judgment Judge Lane said the houses were inequitably assessed in that their assessment was higher and out of proportion to better homes in the same area.

Peterborough Factory Runs Campaign For Cleanliness

CLEANLINESS IN MANUFACTURING of paper food container products is being stressed in a special clean-up and health drive at Canadian Sealright company, Peterborough. Typical of girl operators who handle some of the products is Estelle Litterick, UPPER LEFT tubing milk bottle caps. Modern hand-washing units have been installed throughout the plant within 30 feet of each employee's working position and in UPPER RIGHT, Winnie Barker and Carmel McGrath, demonstrate their willingness to co-operate in the cleanliness program. In LOWER, the company's general manager Sam Whitehouse displays a container to lecturer Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health, while superintendent Alex MacGregor looks on. (Examiner Staff Photos)

Another step in its drive for cleanliness was taken by the Canadian Sealright Company Peterborough this week when the employees heard the first of a series of lectures.

For the past year since the company took over the full plant space formerly occupied by Nashua Paper Co. a campaign of cleanliness has been in progress. By means of paint, varnish, soap and water a transformation has taken place. Instead of a dingy dark factory which it was a year and a half ago it is now bright and up-to-date.

In most of the departments where the containers for ice-cream, cheese and other products are made the floors have been scraped thoroughly and varnished until they look like new.

For the employees' safety floor markings in yellow paint path the way for employees around the machines where accidents might happen.

To ensure the customers that the containers are as perfect to being germless as possible the management has placed special washbasins throughout the plant. Every employee is within 30 feet of a basin. They are instructed to wash their hands as soon as they appear dirty. The washrooms have been modernized.

Sam Whitehouse, general manager called a shut-down of the plant Tuesday for the first talk on the importance of cleanliness in the plant. Cleanliness is the job of all, he told the assembled employees. Every shipment of containers is tested for bacteria and every container which has too high a bacteria count is discarded, he said.

Mr. Whitehouse told his employees that if confidence in sanitation is built up in customers, orders will be increased and these are their bread and butter.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, congratulated the company and the employees on the change of the conditions. He added that they have responsibilities not only to the company and to themselves but to their customers and thence the general public.

Expect Danny Kaye Exhibition Feature

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition likely will have Danny Kaye, film comedian as headliner for its grandstand show next fall in place of Olsen and Johnson, New York comics.

Olsen and Johnson put on the show for the last two years, and drew criticism on the grounds of "poor taste." Elwood Hughes, general manager of the CNE, said at the exhibition's annual meeting Wednesday that Olsen and Johnson will not be back. But he added "I can assure you that in the long run they did not hurt the exhibition in any way."

Hughes said he had been negotiating with Bob Hope, Al Jolson and Gracie Fields in addition to Kaye, and had found Kaye's price within the CNE's ability. He declined to state the amount involved. The deal was to be approved by the CNE board of directors next Wednesday.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (CP) — Some 70 officers from the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston, will tour the foundry and car divisions of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Ltd., here today.

Carpet Made by Queen Mary Symbol of Life of Service

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON, —(Reuters)— Thousands of Britons filed past a carpet flood-lit in Victoria and Albert Museum.

To the British public it was a symbol of 82-year-old Queen Mary who still makes her strong influences felt in British daily life.

The 12-panelled signed carpet, measuring 10 feet two inches by six feet, nine and one half inches, the making of which has been Queen Mary's chief relaxation for eight years will be sold to the highest bidder in the United States or Canada where it goes on tour next month.

Characteristically the Queen Mother has again shown her sense of duty, one of the qualities which has helped to endear her to hearts throughout Britain and the Commonwealth.

In great pain with sciatica she worked feverishly to finish the last corner of the carpet so that it could be seen by the British public before its overseas tour.

Stalwart of the British monarchy, in 39 years of queenhood, Queen Mary still wields an immense national influence from her London home, Marlborough House, to which she returned in October, 1936, 26 years after she had left it to become Queen.

Her husband, George V, consulted her. Now her second son, George VI, and Queen Elizabeth consult her, knowning that she will give common-sense advice when they need it.

Queen Mary has known great personal sorrow but never has she lacked courage. When her eldest son—The Duke of Windsor—abdicated the throne less than a year after the death of her husband, she went about her Christmas shopping much as usual, successfully concealing her anguish.

Memorable Message

With dignity she sent a message of gratitude to the people of Britain, saying: "I need not speak to you of the distress which fills a mother's heart when I think that my dear son has deemed it to be his duty to lay down his charge, that the reign which had begun with so much hope and promise has suddenly ended."

Her youngest son, the Duke of Kent, was killed in an aircrash in Scotland during the war.

But never did Queen Mary allow personal grief to interfere with the hard work she set herself or with the consideration of others. On many occasions she has displayed a calm in crisis, an ability to be amazingly business-like and complacent outwardly when she is suffering inwardly—to act in a way that inspires confidence in others.

To the older generation she stands for courage and endurance To younger people the upright, regal figure in toque and furs, leaning slightly on a cane or parasol, is British history.

Paradoxically, Queen Mary is also one of the most modern-minded women in the country. No one could be more wholly part of the century — closely in touch with any mechanical improvement, new device, problem play, controversial book.

Queen Mary has a great knowledge of antiques. Her own private collections are chiefly of Chinese porcelain, jade, Georgian silver, 18th-century furniture, and Victorian papier mache tables and chairs.

Much prized are Queen Mary's relics of her own children's infancy. Among them is the Duke of Windsor's first baby tooth, mounted in gold.

EAST LONDON, South Africa —(CP)—Some vain men in East London are taking beauty tips from women.

They get permanent waves at women's hairdressing salons, have their nails regularly manicured, and visit perfume counters for beauty aids and hints on how to use them.

One hairdresser said, "The number of men who are interested in such things because they want to beautify themselves is surprising."

But since men's barbers won't cater to East London's vain males it is left to women's establishments to take care of their beauty requirements. A few years ago one beauty establishment even set up a special department for men. But the trade is falling off and it is believed that many old customers now use home permanent outfits.

According to one hairdresser, it is quite simple to tell whether a man's curly hair is natural or machine-set.

"If it is fussy, the chances are that it has been permed."

Smart Footwear Sought By Women With Large Feet

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AIRTON, Yorkshire, Eng. —(CP) — Letters from Canada, France, Malta, the Channel Islands and many parts of Britain, have been sent to Mrs. Phyllis Crone, who lives at Airton.

Why? Because she has started an Association of Women with Large Feet.

Big-footed herself, Mrs. Crone says: "We want to be able to go to a dance in comfortable, stylish footwear, not as now, with our large feet either squashed into evening slippers sizes too small or wearing large mannish-looking stout leather brogues."

Since the formation of the association Mrs. Crone has received more than 650 letters. She sits far into the night answering her mail.

"Most of them have come from girls and young women complaining of the complete lack of any smart footwear which they can get their feet into.

"Their experiences have been similar to mine. I've trudged miles round shops in Yorkshire towns and in London seeking 9½ shoes for myself and 7½ for my 10-year-old daughter Susan, who is following my proportions.

At the moment, the only way for large-footed women to get smart shoes in Britain is to have them made. This means a cost of 16 guineas ($52.07) for a nice pair and about £5 for cheaper ones—more than most women can afford.

Makers Interested

"Letters have come from manufacturers who are interested," says Phyllis. "My aim now is to present them with hard-and-fast statistics of the numbers of women who need big sizes and details of the types preferred.

"At the same time I am tackling the stocking manufacturers because they don't seem to have realized that some women have longer legs than others."

Mrs. Crone is also thinking of getting into the question of clothes, hats and gloves.

"An outsize dress, for example, is now made for an enormously plump woman. To get one of the necessary length for myself it has to be as wide as a tent. Yet, like all the others who have written to me, I am normally proportioned, only on a bigger scale all-round than average."

Mrs. Crone is campaigning to get shoes made up to size 10 (American size 12); stockings to 11-inch feet and longer in the legs; gloves up to size 8½ and correctly-proportioned clothes for women between five feet eight inches and six feet.

Lady Members Of Commons Disappointment

LONDON, — (CP) — Britain's first woman King's Counsel has a low opinion of women members of parliament.

Mrs. Helena Normanton, first woman barrister to be briefed at the High Court of Justice, told a meeting of the Suffragette fellowship that women have been a disappointment in the House of Commons.

"They come and they go— but what do they do?" she asked.

Mrs. Normanton advocated a separate woman's party to work for the "great issue" of peace.

Lady Astor, first woman to take a seat in the Commons, also expressed disappointment.

"What I think of 22 Socialist women in the House is not fit for you to hear," she said. "They have done things that we have fought against for years."

At question time, Mrs. Normanton said women members could focus attention on urgent problems by resigning.

"Not a single woman M. P. has ever resigned," she said. "It's disgusting. None of the women has had the guts to do it."

Fashion Flashes

NARROW AS AN ARROW dresses mark the scene at smart Southern resort gatherings. Slim, simple dresses in white linen, in silk ribbon knit and in sheer wool all register. Some dresses have deep neckline and are sleeveless and have short, dolman-sleeved jackets

◇ ◇ ◇

NO WONDER the bonnet is a perennial favorite, for it is one of the most youthful and becoming of hats. An early spring bonnet type is of cream white felt, and has points at the sides. The round crown is partly concealed by big, flat medallion rosettes of grosgrain ribbon in oyster white, beige, cocoa and gold. One flower [illegible] points upwards.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE USUAL SLIP won't do at all for the evening dress with an uneven hemline or for the suit or dress with deep slits in the skirt. So back comes the short-slip chemise or chemise-slip, so popular in the 20's. The fabrics range from various weaves of silk to various nylon weaves, and many are lace trimmed or embroidered in silk.

◇ ◇ ◇

REGISTERING AGAIN as the prime favorite spring color is navy blue. It is the color used for a handsome faille suit, cut on slim lines. The tailored jacket has rever insets and pocket flaps of the red polka dotted white silk crepe used for the bow-tied blouse.

◇ ◇ ◇

BETTER THAN EVER is the verdict on the ribbon-trimmed hat for late winter and early spring wear. Camel beige fur felt is used for a close-fitting hat with a slanted, draped brim, the side slant accented by a cluster of bows in green-brown shot taffeta ribbon.

◇ ◇ ◇

WITHOUT FAIL, every resort and late spring-into-summer collection features pique. A simple frock of white pique with a deep neckline that stands away in back and frames the face, has short sleeves with sloping shoulders. It is trimmed with inset scrolls of white net outlined in embroidery. This detail appears down one side of the bodice and in a sort of half-arc on the skirt.

Toronto Chorus Male Teachers Varied Program

A scattered audience heard the Toronto Men Teachers Choir at the Collegiate Wednesday night. The choir of approximately 62 men presented a program of religious, classical and modern numbers under the auspices of the Students' Council of the collegiate.

Under the direction of Eldon Brethour and accompanied by Alec Turner, the choir opened the concert with a group of religious numbers: a fourth century plainsong, Divinum Mysterium, A Mighty Fortress Is Our God, Richard De Castra's Prayer to Jesus and the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

The second group included the rollicking sea shanty High Barbary, Handel's gracious Where'er You Walk, Adoramus Te by Palestrina, and "Russian Picnic" by H. Enders.

Modern Songs

An arrangement of I Wonder As I Wander, a Christmas carol from the Kentucky hills, opened the selections of the last half of the concert. This was followed by the Negro spiritual arranged by Noble Cain, Roll, Chariot. The teachers closed their third group of selections with Son of Mary, by Diack, Brahms' Lullaby, and Border Ballad, by Cowan.

Lyn Murray's arrangement of Mary Had a Little Lamb was most enjoyed in the fourth group of numbers.

Some Enchanted Evening from Hammerstein - Rodgers' "South Pacific" (currently on Broadway), a caricature, Jingle Bells by Pierpoint and arranged by W. Howarth, Sea Gypsy by R. Hovey-Palmer Clark, and Now Thank We All Our God by Winkworth-Rinkart and arranged by Mueller, closed the program.

Between the groups of numbers by the Toronto teachers' choir local violinist Robert Hutchinson played Meditation from Thais by Massenet, and Czardas by Monti and Maxwell Clark, pianist, played the selections Etude De Concert in D flat by Liszt, and Golliwog's Cake Walk.

Organizing Whiz Grandma Stays Real Young

NEW YORK—(CP)—At 83 and six times a great-grandmother, Mrs. Ella O'Gorman Stanton still isn't an old lady—not even a Grand Old Lady.

Refered to as "Grand Old Lady of the Bronx," she objected promptly. "I'd rather it would be the Grand Young Lady. . ."

Mother of nine and widowed in 1912, Mrs. Stanton has been active in civic and welfare work for 50 years, serving on countless committees.

"Organizing is just as simple for me as pouring a cup of tea," she said. "I can always get a lovely committee together."

Her activities have brought her honors of one kind or another, but none that she prizes more than being named in 1943 the typical New York City Mother.

"That means more to me than any of my titles."

And what does she think of today's young folks? Well, she sidestepped that one neatly:

"Got to keep in step. Can't be an odd one. The minute my children come in the house I put my hat on and say, 'Where are you taking me?' "

Robinson-Beatty Vows Taken In Trinity Church

Snapdragon and fern formed a setting at the altar in Trinity United Church Wednesday afternoon for the wedding of Edna Viola Beatty and Raymond Wesley Robinson, at which the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon officiatted. The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Hazel B. Beatty and the late Archie H. Beatty of Peterborough. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Robinson of RR 6, Peterborough.

An afternoon dress of navy silk tissue faille and navy accessories were the bride's choice and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. She was given in marriage by her mother and attended by Mrs. Ronald Stark of Toronto. The latter wore a yellow jersey dress and matching hat with navy accessories and carried a nosegay of Talisman roses with mauve sweet peas.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Harold Dixon of Otonabee.

During the signing of the register Mrs. D. B. Gordon sang "O Perfect Love" and the wedding music was played by Miss Mabel Clarry.

Only the immediate families attended the reception which followed in the church parlour. For the occasion the bride's mother wore a black moire dress, the groom's mother was in navy petit pointe crepe, each with black accessories and corsage of red roses.

The bride's going-away outfit was a black pinwale faille suit, a parrot green coat with mink trim and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will live on Mark St.

"It Must Have Been An Extra Large Washing that made my back ache so terribly last wash-day," writes a reader. "Believe me, I was a first-class candidate for the 'Wash-Day Blues' 'til I remembered what you'd said about SLOAN'S LINIMENT in your column. I went right out and bought some, then my husband patted it on my aching back. It worked like magic! . . . Many thanks for the tip!" Yes, Sloan's soothing, penetrating heat goes right to the heart of the hurt! It brings welcome relief to folks suffering from back-ache, sprains, stiff neck, rheumatism or neuralgia. Why Do Visitors to Country Leave Manners Behind?

DEAR MISS DIX: Why do people who are well-behaved and who observe the conventions in the city apparently leave all of their good manners at home when they go to visit in the country? I dread the summer because of the city vandals who descend upon me, who lie on my beds with their shoes on put their feet on the furniture, drive their automobiles on the lawn, pull branches off the trees, uproot flowers and shrubs and in every way show utter lack of respect and consideration for my property. Why do people who know better seem to think that anything goes in the conutry?

ANSWER: It would take a better psychologist than I am to explain why people's manners and morals seem to suffer a sea change as soon as they get in the country. Maybe it is the warm weather that melts them down. Maybe it is the hoodlum in them that a vacation seems to bring out as it does in so many.

Forget Rules

I Don't know why, but I do know that never a law of God nor man, nor even common decency, rules with many people beyond the city limits, and that when they go to the country they are guilty of a lack of consideration for others that they would be incapable of in town.

Take, for example, the common custom of city people inviting themselves to the houses of anyone they know who happens to live in the country. They would not dream for a moment of dropping in unannounced at a friend's house for a meal. But supposedly well-bred people have no hesitation in stopping at the country house of even a casual acquaintance at lunchtime and demanding to be fed.

Sundays, instead of being days of rest and relaxation for country people, are days of horror when the women who does her own work spends her time over the cooking stove preparing food for ravenous unexpected guests, and when the woman with servants expects any minute to have them to give notice and quit because of the extra work imposed upon them.

There is no excuse to be made for these deadbeats, because every road is lined with good restaurants and soft-drink and sandwich stands, where they could refresh themselves before going to call upon a friend. Country people have not forgot how to write or telephone or telegraph and any one may rest assured that if he was desired as a guest he would receive a specific invitation.

As for people's disregard of one's property, that goes equally for country or town and is probably no worse in one than in the other and is a peculiarity of human nature that no one can explain.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am the mother of three children, a girl aged 8, one boy of 4 and one of 1½ years. They are healthy intelligent children, but as soon as they reach the age of 3 they become nasty and impudent to me. Talk back and laugh at me when I try to correct them. I have tried spanking, but it doesn't work with them. This morning my son of 4 threw a spoon at me and cut my head. It breaks my heart to think that the children I love are growing up with no respect for their mother. What can I do?

ONE WHO NEEDS YOUR HELP

ANSWER: When children are impudent to their parents it is invariably the parents' fault. It is because the children have not been taught to respect their father and mother.

I am opposed to the beating of children, but I am very sure that regeneration and reformation depend upon judicious spanking when children are too little to reason or know the nature and quality of their acts and when they must be taught not to do certain things by having it impressed upon them that they will suffer for it if they do. If the first time one of your children was ever impertinent to you you had laid him over your knee and applied the hairbrush where it would do the most good until he howled for mercy, no 4-year-old would have hurled a spoon at you and cut your head open.

Your children will respect you exactly the way you demand. If you are weak and vacillating with them you cannot control them. If you have no laws that they have to obey you will have no authority over them. If you let them tease you into doing something they should not they will soon defy you. If you will stand for it they will insult you.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a girl and we wish to get married, but I have two sisters who make their home with me and who I support. My sweetheart refuses to marry me and have my sisters live with me, as they have always run the house and would expect to continue to do so, but I hate to tell them that they will have to look after their own home and support after this. What shall I do?

PERPLEXED MAN

ANSWER: There is no reason for you to sacrifice your life to your sisters. Help them get jobs and tell them they will have to stand on their own feet after this. Your duty is to the girl who is in love with you.

What's Right

When a dinner guest, you are offered a food that you do not care for.

WRONG WAY: Refuse it.

RIGHT WAY: Take one serving. The only excuse for not accepting food served you as a guest is if it is a food you cannot eat because of your health.

"I've got election fever!"

BRIDGENORTH SCHOOL

The second birthday of Bridgenorth Home and School was celebrated Tuesday evening in conjunction with a Founder's Day program in memory of Mrs A. C. Courtice, founder of Home and School Associations. An impressive candle-lighting ceremony was enacted by Mrs. C. Hartman, President, Mrs. J. Hardill, Mrs. K. Blewett and Mrs. R. Jopling who lit the candles in memory of the founders of the organization, good homes, sound health, and active spiritual faith, "Blest by the Tie that Binds" was sung and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. C. Telford.

The guest speaker was Mrs. E. Chambers, district chairman for Peterborough, who spoke on the founding of the Home and School Association. She said that the purpose of Home and School is to bring the parents and the teachers together and to work together for the good of the child. Good health conditions including good lighting and sanitation are as necessary in the school as at home, she said.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Chambers by Mrs. E. Whitehill.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. J. Murray, social convener and her committee.

FANCY FOOTWEAR

May heaven's winds blow softly,
O'er that sweet and hallowed plot
Where one I loved lies sleeping,
Who will never be forgot.

Prison Guard's Course

One of the fundamental reforms introduced under Mr. McCulley in January 1950, has been a program of education for the prison officers where the men who have charge of the prisoners take a six weeks' schooling, covering courses such as psychology, psychiatry, penology, prison administration, social problems, physical training and others.

"At the present time, considerable attention is being devoted to the medical psychiatric needs of inmates, such as treatment required for sex offenders, drug addicts, and chronic alcoholics," the deputy commissioner said.

Attention is also being directed toward the prisoner when he leaves prison. The Department of Justice last year made a grant of $25,000 to help the work of prisoners' aid societies such as the John Howard Society, the Salvation Army and others. Fullest cooperation is also given these societies, Mr. McCulley stated.

Crime Permanent

"Crime is a permanent phenomenon of society and is not likely to be eliminated entirely," the deputy commissioner said, but through progressive administration of penitentiaries, much could be done to "cut down the number of repeaters, to forestall the development of criminals and reduce the overall cost and tragedy of crime to society."

Much had been learned he said in the field of crime. Evidence has shown that making punishment more severe for crimes has never cut down the number of crimes committed. It has been commonly accepted by progressive thinking people that harsh punishment will not deter others from committing crimes. The criminal mind is essentially a vain mind. Each criminal thinks he is too smart to be caught and that what happens to others does not apply to him, he declared.

88 Per Cent Native Born

Mr. McCulley said the general public had many wrong ideas about prisoners, one of the most popular belief that most were foreign born. He said that of the 4,225 inmates in Canadian penitentiaries at the end of March last year, 88½ per cent were native born. Another four per cent were born in the British Isles and about one third of the remaining seven and one-half per cent were born in the United States.

But he said almost 72 per cent of the prisoners did not get beyond public school and the great bulk advanced no further than Grade 5 or 6. A large number, 35.47 per cent were under the age of 25. Of the 1,843 admitted to start their terms of at least two years during the last fiscal year 309 were under 21 and 125 were first offenders.

Since the end of March 1949, the penitentiary population has climbed to about 4,500 persons and the post-war peak has not yet been reached, Mr. McCulley said.

Mr. McCulley was introduced by Ralph Standish, president of the Peterborough Law Association and thanked by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw.

$8,486 Allotted To Landscape Hospital Grounds

Landscaping the grounds of the Civic Hospital is allotted $8,486 in the estimates of the Parks Committee of the Council which were sent on to the Finance Committee Wednesday for a total requisition of $58,491.88.

Parks Department spent last year $52,800. Work at the hospital becomes a new responsibility of the Parks Committee. Design of the proposed landscaping was prepared last year. Part of the project will be carried out ths season.

The estimates as tentatively approved Wednesday were: General work in the care of parks, boulevards and so on, $35,505; playgrounds, $2,100; planting and trimming of trees, $7,850; rinks, $4,450, of which $2,000 was spent this winter since January 1; and $100 for work on bathing beaches the supervision of which is an affair of the Recreation Commission.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, said most of the grading at the new hospital has been done. "We hope to get the main seeding job done this year in building up the lawn of the grounds."

The laying out of the entire walks at the hospital may not be completed until 1951.

Ald. Herbert Young presided. The other members present were Aldermen Gillespie, Burrows, Dewart and Mayor Swanston.

New Truck Tire Ripped When Vehicles Collide

A new $90 truck tire was ripped up and a fender was torn from a car in an accident at Aylmer and Simcoe Sts. to which Constable Andre Dalton was an eye witness Wednesday.

Constable Dalton said he watched a car driven by Irwin driving west on Simcoe St., slow almost to a stop at Aylmer St. then turn north into Aylmer St.

He was almost round the corner when he met in collision with a truck being driven north on Aylmer St. by Earl Trotter, Apsley.

The right rear dual wheel of the truck caught the left front fender of the car. The fender and headlight were torn from the car and one tire of dual wheel was ripped and cut.

Few Risked Driving From Country In Storm

Drifted lanes in the country kept rural members of the Exhibition Board at home Wednesday night. Prospect of trouble on return from the city, especially from highways into their own yards, advised absence.

Don Milburn, vice-president, was one of those who took a chance on the weather. Besides, the lane at the Milburn home is only a short stretch. Burritt and Clarence Mann were others in from the country. And for John Kitney it was also safe venturing.

Mr. Milburn presided in the absence of the president, Hugh Stewart. Business was light. Committee work on the prize list was deferred.

The Horticultural Society has decided to concentrate on the flower show at the Exhibition next August. Their intentions were reported to the board and approved.

Lindsay Ousts New Pumper After Bad Show

Lindsay Fire Department's new pumper gave such poor service Tuesday on its first big assignment, when a terrace of three rooming houses on Cambridge St. was totally destroyed, that it was abandoned in favor of the old smaller truck.

Fire Chief Arthur Webster has made no official report yet of the cause of its unsatisfactory performance but says he will make public the results of his investigations.

Allegations that the nearest hydrant was frozen have also caused a stir in Lindsay but a denial was issued Wednesday by Robert Reynolds, waterworks superintendent.

The fire occurred almost opposite the fire hall and although quick action was taken as soon as the department was notified, the water was slow in starting to flow into the hose.

Hydrant Checked

Although it was slow in starting it did eventually come through, Mr. Reynolds says as proof that it was not frozen.

The hydrant on Cambridge and Kent St., had been checked on Monday morning, the day before the fire, and was found in good working order and there was no reason to believe it was frozen, Mr. Reynolds says. When it was used on Tuesday, the temperature was 10 degrees below zero.

Fire Chief Webster says the hydrant may have been slow in starting because of a possible mechanical defect or the delay could have been the result of the sub-zero weather.

The new fire truck's performance has been a great disappointment to the department and to Lindsay residents. It was purchased only a short time ago and was expected to meet more adequately than the old one, the needs of the town.

Inspection Awaited

The fire chief will not be able to obtain an authentic report of the failure until an inspection by a Lindsay garage has been completed. The mechanics will make a full report of their findings.

Two unofficial reasons given are that the engine had not been thoroughly run in or that it was pumping at full speed but being supplied with only a fraction of the amount of water it was capable of taking.

Fire Chief Webster says the department was summoned by Mrs. Jack Allan, tenant of the house in which the fire started, after she had been unable to get through on the telephone.

Truck Came Quickly

The new truck was being moved into position before the fire bell had finished ringing for the first time. Firemen entered the house with extinguishers, following up with hose and water.

When the Chief turned a hose up into a partition on the south side of the Allan house, charred embers fell from above, indicating that the fire had advanced well up into the wall before the department had arrived. Smoke was pouring out of the upper storeys when he and his men went into action.

The pumper was operating at a fraction of its normal capacity until it became apparent that all the department could hope to do was to keep the fire confined and dampened down. At this point the heavy unit was sent in for repairs and the smaller pumper was brought out.

Two Cars Collide Behind Stationary Bus

When a city bus stopped to discharge passengers on George St. between Ware and Romaine Sts., Wednesday, two nearby cars collided.

Driver of the bus was Ivan Cunningham, 688 Lundy's Lane. Dr. G. R. Scott, 33 Manning Ave., the third city doctor to be involved in an accident this week, was driving behind the bus.

He reported to Constable W. A. Scott he was able to stop his car in time after he saw the bus halt. But W. B. Tucker, Norwood, driving behind the doctor, wasn't so lucky and banged into the rear of Dr. Scott's car.

Neither the bus nor the doctor's car were damaged, but the Tucker car suffered a bent grill and a broken headlight.

Manitoba Gov't Accorded Confidence Vote

By The Canadian Press

Manitoba's coalition government was given an overwhelming vote of confidence Wednesday as the first challenge was disposed of in throne-speech debate. The amendment by E. A. Hansford, opposition C.C.F. leader, alleging failure to cope with aid to municipalities, unemployment, housing and loss of agricultural markets was defeated by 44 to 8.

That paved the way for another non-confidence motion still under debate in the Manitoba Legislature. This one by George Renouf (PC—Swan River) who leads the Independent Manitoba Democratic movement's group, would censure continued coalition as "violation of the principles of Democratic government."

Mr. Renouf said the coalition of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives, formed in Manitoba during the war, "has outlived its usefulness."

Freight Rates Again

At St. John's, Premier Joseph Smallwood told the Newfoundland Legislature that he will ask the Federal government to "carry out the intention of Confederation" on the issue of freight rates. The Premier sharply disagreed with the decision of the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa Monday, when it rejected Newfoundland's contention that the Canadian National Railways is violating the terms of union.

The Quebec Legislature was in debate on the Throne Speech Wednesday, with Lionel Ross (L—Montreal Verdun) criticized government education policies. Provincial Secretary Omer Cote replied that the Quebec Government spent $41,000,000 on education between 1944 and 1949.

Ask Australia To Outlaw Reds

CANBERRA, Feb. 23 (CP) — Australia's new government gave notice Wednesday it plans legislation to outlaw the Communist Party in this country and to ban future nationalization of industry or commerce unless the voters wish it.

The legislation program was outlined at the opening of the first parliament under the new Liberal-Country Party coalition headed by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies. The Labor Party was defeated by the coalition in last December's election after eight years of power.

Details of legislation to ban the Communists were not disclosed, but it is generally believed the Communist Party will be declared unlawful and that Communists will be barred from Government posts and trade union.

Besides anti-Communist action, the legislation called for an amendment to the constitution to ban nationalization without the people's consent by referendum. Nationalization of several industries was carried out by parliamentary voted during the Labor administration.

The speech said that the government is exploring all means to encourage Australian exports to dollar areas. Meanwhile import restrictions would continue to goods purchased in dollar-area countries and the whole effort directed toward bettering the position of the sterling bloc.

British Election Highlights

LONDON, Feb. 23.—(CP).—Member of the royal family, who cannot vote in today's general election, will sit by their radios tonight and tomorrow, getting news of results like millions of other Britons.

On Friday afternoon, when most of the polls have been declared, the King can expect an urgent request for an audience from Prime Minister Attlee.

Unless there is an election deadlock, it will then be the King's duty either to invite Attlee to form a new Labor Government, or to receive his resignation and send for Winston Churchill, the Conservative leader.

Among counting agents at Walthamston, Prime Minister Attlee's constituency, tonight will be Mrs. Attlee.

"I shall sit opposite the man who is counting to see that my husband gets all the votes he ought to get," the Labor prime minister's wife told reporters, "and I'll be there as an official counting agent and not as the candidate's wife."

The result of the election in Winston Churchill's constituency of Woodford, Essex, will be among the later announcements. Counting will not start until 9:30 a.m. BST (4:30 a.m. EST) Friday.

Toronto - born Mrs. Agnes Scott is election agent for Liberal Candidate Heather Harvey in Esher, Surrey. As Agnes Healey-Rider, she worked for a Hamilton radio station in the early 1930's and during the war as a Red Cross worker.

The Home Office has ruled that men and women serving short jail terms may vote in the general election. Persons serving more than 12 months are ineligible.

When polling started Prime Minister Attlee and his wife had already cast their votes by mail. This was a new facility for electors unable to attend polling stations owing to distance or pressure of work.

Princess Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the throne, will listen to the broadcast results at her London home, Clarence House. Her sister, Princess Margaret, will shun all parties and remain with her father and mother.

At least one Londoner had no doubt that Churchill was bookmaker [illegible] residence at 10 Downing Street.

He chalked a notice, "To let from the twenty-third" with the "V" sign on Churchill's house at Hyde Park gate, London.

In Wales black-faced coal miners marched straight into the polling booths after coming off the night shift—in working clothes, helmets and all.

Some men had other things besides the election on their minds.

One Bristol voter returned his ballot paper to the election officer.

"Sorry," he said, "I thought I was filling in my football coupon. I always do it on Thursday."

He had marked his form "1-2-X," a formula used in Britain's multi - million dollar system of betting on soccer results.

Ottawa Holding Week-Long Drama Festival

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 — (CP) — Eastern Ontario Little Theatre groups began moving into Ottawa today for one of the longest regional festivals in their history.

Five full-length plays and five short productions are scheduled for the week-long competition from which one company will proceed to the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary in May.

The festival will open tonight with a performance of "The Circle of Chalk," a Chinese fantasy to be presented by the Deep River Players of Deep River, Ont.

The five-act play has a cast of 20 and the company has brought along a back-stage crew of 23 to handle the elaborate scenery.

Four Ottawa companies and four out-of-town groups are taking part in this year's contest with plays ranging from Euripides "Medea," by the Faculty Players of Queen's University, Kingston, to a production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," by the Brockville Little Theatre Giuld.

Brockville Veterans

When it comes to winning regional festival honors, the Brockville Players aare veterans. Last year they walked off with the Fulford Shield for the best one-act presentation. This year they're hoping for a crack at the Davies Trophy, awarded for the best full-length production.

Nothing "highbrow," but "good straight-forward theatre," is what Maxwell Wray likes to see amateur groups producing.

"Leave the experimental work to more experienced hands," said the British actor and producer on his arrival here Wednesday."

Mr. Wray will adjudicate the festival, the sixth of the regional contests he has judged in the two months he has been in Canada.

Fire Threatens Block In Drumbo Village

DRUMBO, Feb. 23.—(CP). — Firemen from Drumbo and Princeton successfully fought blaze Wednesday night in this village northeast of Woodstock. The blaze threatened the business section of the village.

The fire started in the basement of a restaurant under four apartments. Three families were forced to flee in their night attire in face of flames and smoke. An egg grading station, flour and grist mill, garage and cold storage plant in the block was threatened.

The fire was discovered by Richard Morrow, after being awakened by his eight-year-old son Grant. Mr. Morrow ran barefooted through the snow and zero weather to turn in the alarm. Estimate of damage is not yet available.

This Modern Age!

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(AP)—A Missouri cave man Wednesday asked the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, United States government agency, to lend him $1,000,000 to fix up a five-level hole in the ground as a modern Noah's Ark. It would come in mighty handy if somebody started flinging hydrogen bombs around, Lester Dill, owner of the Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., told the government. While Dill said the cave would be a good site for an emergency seat of government or a war plant, he emphasized its possibilities as an atomic refuge for scientific, industrial, educational and medical leaders.

Says Syntona Is Best Medicine She Ever Used

Suffered Long Time With Stomach, Kidney Disorders, Had Backache, Headaches, Dizzy Spells. "Feel Like Different Person Now", She Says.

MRS. R. PITT

"After taking Syntona Herbal Compound only a short time, I do not hesitate to say it is the best medicine I ever used," said Mrs. R. Pitt, 318 King Street East, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"For a long time I suffered with stomach and kidney disorders. I could hardly eat a meal without having gas indigestion and sour acid risings afterwards. I would get heartburn, dizzy feelings and sick headaches. My kidneys disturbed my sleep often at night, and I had a dull, aching pain across my back.

"I cannot tell you how pleased I am with the grand relief I got by taking Syntona. Although everything else I tried had failed to help me, this medicine has given me the most wonderful relief from the symptoms I had.

"Am now able to enjoy my meals with no distress afterwards and I am free of headaches and dizziness. Also my kidneys do not disturb me as they did before, so I am getting sound, restful sleep and I have more strength and energy to do my work. I would gladly recommend Syntona to any one suffering as I did."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Snack Bar Theft Results In Term In Reformatory

A five months definite and four months indefinite term in the Ontario Reformatory was imposed on Robert C. Young, 19, of 41 Jackson Ave., today, when he pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of breakin, entry and theft of about $11.50 cash Tuesday night from Joseph Crowley's snack bar, 71 Park St. S.

In police court Wednesday, 16-year-old Ronald Bryan, 735 Herman St., was charged with a similar offence. The charge was laid against Bryan as the result of an investigation by Constable William G. Scott and Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum, who found Crowley's Snack Bar had been broken into.

Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke testified Young confessed to the theft and said he had burned a $33 cheque he had taken with the money. The money, he said, was found under a mattress of a bed in Young's home.

Detective Sergeant Clarke said entry had been made into the store through a broken basement window. Young denied breaking the window.

He was on two years suspended sentence as the result of being convicted of stealing a diamond ring in February, 1949.

Bullets, Bombs And Leaflets Help Hainan Hold Off Reds

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HAIKU, Hainan Island, China (NEA).—With airborne bullets, bombs and leaflets, the defenders of Hainan have set back the Communist timetable a bit since the dismal Nationalist retreat from Liuchow peninsula, barely five miles away, last December.

Weather will be an added weapon unless the Reds attack soon. Otherwise, conditions for invasion will be unfavorable until October.

Until then, the second largest stronghold left to the Nationalists may be able to keep on harassing the mainland Reds—and battling the 20,000 Red guerillas holed up in the middle of Hainan's hills.

From Hainan's airbases, 600 miles south of Formosa, I flew with a Nationalist B-25 bomber over Liuchow on one of the constant missions against invasion shipping. Late in December, 3,000 sampans and junks dotted the peninsula coast, according to our pilot; now less than 1,000 remain.

Reinforce Reds

Most of them are buried in sand or submerged during the day to prevent destruction from the air. But under cover of February darkness and fog, some of them slip through to reinforce the Red guerrillas.

Like Chusan, the vital outpost that blockades Shanghai and the northern approaches to Formosa, Hainan is defended by a handful of battered AT-6s, P-51s, B-25s and British Mosquitos. But Hainan's fliers face much heavier anti-aircraft fire — and better marksmanship — than Shanghai had to offer on an earlier mission on which I flew from Chusan.

Against it, besides bombs and bullets, the Nationalist planes are laying down a heavy screen of leaflets — a "warning to fishermen, citizens, merchant ships and junks that Liuchow peninsula will be a graveyard for the Communists because they will bury themselves in the Hainan Straits."

Both Marshal Chen Chi-tong, island governor, and General Hsueh Yueh, defence commander, are confident that what they say in the leaflets is true. But there is a big if—

"If we get air and naval support and supplies, we can hold out indefinitely," Gen. Hsueh said.

There have been no major supplies recently, however, and Hsueh's soldiers are building their pillboxes from sod, earth, wood and empty gas drums because there is no cement or steel.

In addition, there is a food shortage. Hainan's chief assets is its rich mineral resources, particularly iron. Iron alone could supply funds for Hainan's food and defence, and there are many nations, including neighboring Japan, which could use the ore. Shipping and salesmanship are the bottlenecks, and today Hainan's mines are shut down.

Despite the optimism of Marshal Chen and General Hsueh, and the daily missions of their air force, experts fear Hainan may become such a drain on Formosa's shaky resources that it will fall to the Reds by default.

HAINAN: Chiang's biggest outpost is precarious.

LACK OF SUPPLIES from Formosa puts this Hainan defender in a pillbox mode of sod, earth, wood and empty gas drums.

Unemployment

how does the Premier expect these men to live until such time as he can make a deal with the Ottawa government or until these public works are started?"

New Place To Sleep

J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.—Toronto St. Andrew) waved a newspaper photograph of unemployed men sleeping on the floor of a Toronto mission and asked if the Premier would consider providing cash relief for these men "even on a temporary basis—just to give them a place to sleep."

The speaker of the chamber reminded opposition members who tried to discuss unemployment that the proper time to do it is during the Throne Speech debate or the budget debate.

Mr. Jolliffe speaks first today as the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne is resumed. The opposition leader customarily is followed by Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver and A. A. MacLeod, leader of the two-man Labor-Progressive group.

The debate had been adjourned Tuesday after Hugh Reynolds (PC-Leeds) moved adoption of the address in reply, seconded by Marcel Leger (PC-Cochrane North).

Public Works Answer

Premier Frost Wednesday told the Legislature "the best assistance the province and the municipalities" can give to increase employment is "a public works program which is integrated with the Dominion effort." Cash relief did not lie within the capabilities of the municipalities or the province if they were to retain financial solvency

Ontario's public works had attracted unemployed from other parts of Canada. It was unsound for the province with a large public investment program to attempt to deal at the same time with cash relief for unemployed.

Public works have not been pushed ahead to the detriment of other undertakings such as housing construction. In 1949, for instance, Hydro development required "almost the complete output of the available cement plants for three months." Highway construction had to be held back to leave enough supplies for house construction.

Will Go Limit

Ontario was "prepared to expand our public-works program to the very limit if it is necessary in the general picture of things to do."

The federal government had not asked Ontario to go ahead with public works.

"In fact the Prime Minister, Mr. St. Laurent, is reported on Tuesday as stating that in this last year the gross national product was $16,000,000,000 and he has estimated the gross national product for 1950 will be about $16,250,000,000."

This would indicate "a very high level of employment," Mr. Frost said.

"If such is the case, quite obviously some of the plans which we have for public works will have to be held back, otherwise they would be carried out in direct competition with the normal expansion of the province."

Concerted Action

If there were general unemployment, however, "then in our opinion it requires concerted federal, provincial and municipal action."

He had informed Mr. St. Laurent in a letter Feb. 3 that the fact that a Dominion-Provincial conference had been called for the Fall "need not stand in the way of discussions between the Federal Government and the Government of Ontario relative to a wide variety of subjects," including public works.

In an interview later, Mr. Frost said the government works program will proved a "tremendous" number of jobs but it should not be considered "mere pump-priming."

The work would have to be done eventualy but when it was done would be governed by the employment situation and the immediate need of public services.

Minister Accepts Parry Sound Call

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP)—Acceptance by the Rev. Norman Caswell of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, London, of a call of St. Andrew's Church at Parry Sound was announced on Wednesday by London Presbytery. He will be inducted in his new charge February 28.

Pending appointment of a successor, the Rev. John R. Waldie of St. George's, London, will be interim minister at the local charge.

Ordained a United Church minister in 1936, Mr. Caswell came to London in 1945 shortly after being received into the Presbyterian ministry. He is a graduate of Albert College, Belleville, the University of Toronto, and Emmanuel College, Toronto. He held a United Church charge at Markdale for some years.

LABOR PARTY WINS

Nine Canadians Win Seats In British House In Exciting UK Election

Bonar Law's Son Heads Victory Parade
Aiken and Macdonald Included In Dominion Folk Making Good

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP)—Nine Canadians and persons of interest to Canada by late today had won House of Commons seats in British election results. None among the 18 in this category had been defeated up to this time. Richard Law, son of Andrew Bonar Law, only Canadian to become prime minister of Great Britain, registered a Conservative gain over Labor in Haltemprice, a subdivision of Kingston-Upon-Hull. Law sat in the last House for Kensington South.

Sir Peter Macdonald, born in Nova Scotia, was returned as Conservative member for the Isle of Wight.

William T. Aiken, nephew of Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook retained Bury St. Edmunds for the Conservatives with a majority over his Labor opponent of 4,129. Max Aitken, Lord Beaverbrook's son, was a member for the last Parliament but did not stand for re-election.

Anthony Hurd, former London correspondent of the Montreal Star, was re-elected for the Conservatives in Newbury.

Return Baxter

Beverley Baxter, Toronto-born Conservative member for Southgate, was returned with a 19,000 plurality.

Leonard D. Gammans, a professor at the Royal Military College, Kingston, from 1918 to 1920, successfully defended his Hornsey, North London, seat with a Conservative plurality of 11,095 over Labor, Liberal and Communist candidates.

Lady Tweedsmuir, daughter-in-law of the late Governor-General of Canada, retained Aberdeen South for the Conservatives.

Frank Collingridge, former Canadian coal miner, won Barnsley for Labor with a large majority.

F. P. Bishop, known in Canada as the manager and president of the Newsprint Supply Company—an agency through which British newspaper publishers ration newsprint among themselves—won a strong Conservative victory in Harrow Central.

Capt. E. H. C. (Ted) Leather, formerly of Hamilton, registered a Conservative gain over Labor in Somerset North. He is a new candidate

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE whose government was returned by a narrow margin in Britain's general election Thursday.

Fine Billy Reay For Punching League Referee

MONTREAL, Feb. 24—(CP)—Billy Reay of Montreal Canadiens was fined $100 today by President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League for a game misconduct penalty incurred at Detroit Feb. 20 when he "punched" Referee Hugh McLean.

Reay at the time was given the game misconduct following an ordinary misconduct, meaning Reay must pay $125.

Coach Dick Irvin, of Canadiens, who hopped to the ice to protest that a major penalty should be given Ted Lindsay of Detroit for drawing blood from Doug Harvey's nose when struck by Lindsay's stick, drew a $50 fine from the referee at the time.

No further action was taken today by Campbell regarding Irvin.

Senator Haig Taken To Task

OTTAWA, Feb. 24—(CP)—A joke's a joke, but be careful, pardner, when you suggest Newfoundlanders aren't civilized. And smile when you say it.

That's what the Senate's Progressive Conservative Leader, John T. Haig, found out in the Upper Chamber Thursday.

Two Senators from Canada's youngest province called him to task for remarks he made Wednesday during the Throne-Speech debate.

Senator Ray Petten said he hoped the opposition leader had been misquoted by Hansard. The official record of debates had reported him as quoting someone as saying Newfoundlanders "are very nearly civilized."

Another Newfoundland Senator, A. B. Baird, scrambled to his province's support. He said people reading these remarks in Hansards sent to Newfoundland would get "a very bad impression." He asked if there were not some way the remarks could be deleted.

Ontario Labor Bill Introduced Tuesday

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—Ontario's new labor bill likely will be introduced in the Legislature next Tuesday, Labor Minister Daley said today.

Mr. Daley said in an interview that there was still some "tidying up" of the bill to be done.

Present Ontario labor legislation is virtually a copy of the Federal Labor Code.

Garson Makes Big Mistake Glass Firms Prosecuted

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 (CP)—An announcement in the House of Commons that prosecutions will be launched against an alleged illegal price-fixing combine in the match industry was all a big mistake.

Justice Minister Garson admitted that fact Thursday as he rose to tell the Commons he was wrong Wednesday when he told the Commons the prosecutions would be instituted. He had meant an alleged combine in the flat-glass industry would be prosecuted.

No decision has been made on whether or not the match industry will be prosecuted, he said.

Mr. Garson said he had mistaken a question asked by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre).

Mr. Knowles question was can the Minister of Justice "say whether a decision has yet been reached in the matter of prosecuting those connected with the alleged combine in the match industry?"

Mr. Garson's terse reply was "The answer is yes, a prosecution will be launched."

Speaking in calm, judicial tones Mr. Garson told the House on Thursday he had misunderstood the question. He had thought Mr. Knowles was referring to the flat-glass industry.

Mr. Garson said he noticed this error when the report of Commons proceedings was sent to his office for correction.

Both industries were the subjects of reports completed by F. A. McGregor, former Combines Investigation Commissioner. He retired after a dispute with the Federal Government over publication of a report he made on an alleged combine in the flour-milling industry.

Lewis, Miners Up In Court, Layoffs Spread

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24—(CP)—John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers Union was called into court today to explain why a federal judge's back-to-work order has been defied by 372,000 striking coal miners.

With negotiations toward ending the great strike apparently bogged down once more after a brief period of optimism Thursday, the effects of the walkout piled up across the United States.

Thousands more were laid off in coal-dependent industries. There was violence in the coal fields. Steel mills and coal-burning railroads were hard hit. Householders ran out of fuel for heating.

Still the miners clung doggedly to their "no contract, no work" stand, indicating strongly that even hospitals would have to get by without coal until Lewis and the soft coal operators agreed to a new contract.

Third Trip

For the UMW lawyers heading for a date today with Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech it was the third trip to court in three years in answer to contempt charges.

Twice the UMW has paid fines, enriching the Federal Treasury by a total of $2,130,000. On both occasions, the union was found guilty of disobeying a court strike-halting order.

This time the union is to "show cause" why it shouldn't be held in contempt—could point to Lewis's urgent pleas to the miners to comply immediately with the 10-day injunction handed down by Judge Keech Feb. 11.

Today's was a preliminary hearing, with trial set for next Monday.

On the basis of past performance, a guilty verdict might mean a whopping assessment against the UMW treasury—estimated to contain between $13,000,000 and $20,000,000. The fine levied in 1946 totalled $710,000; in 1948 it was double that amount

4th Snowstorm Hits Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—The fourth snowstorm in a week hit Southern Ontario today, bringing to 15 inches the total fall in most sections since last Sunday.

By mid-morning the latest storm had begun to taper off in the Windsor area. Moving east, it was expected to end in the Toronto region by mid-afternoon and in eastern sections by evening.

But the fall will continue most of the day in the province's "snowbelt," from Lake Huron and Georgian Bay east to the Caledon hills about 60 miles north of Toronto.

Today's new snowblanket added to the task of digging out from heavier falls earlier this week.

Main highways remained open but sideroads were in bad shape in many sections.

Near Cooksville, 20 miles west of Toronto, a Gray Coach bus left the road today but none of the 15 passengers was injured. Blinding snow was blamed for the crash.

Yuzwa Case Closed Goes To Jury

Prisoner Denies Wielding Knife On Night Of Slaying

By DAVE WHITE
Examiner Staff Reporter

LINDSAY, Feb. 24—Pointing to discrepencies in Crown testimony and branding the key Crown witness evidence fantastic counsel for William Yuzwa, charged with the slaying of JaJck Loucks on November 18, asked the trial jury to find the accused not guilty.

Spencer Pitt spoke for two and a half hours in his argument for the accused.

The final argument of Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan was concluded shortly before 1 p.m. The summation of the evidence and the statement of law will be given to the jury this afternoon by Mr. Justice Urquhart. Yuzwa's fate went to the jury shortly after 3 p.m.

Mr. Pitt bitterly assailed Wesley Aldred, the only eye witness to the slaying, and said his evidence showed signs of "imagination, exaggeration and lying".

He was particularly critical of witness's testimony that after Yuzwa's arms went forward in a waist-high motion, Yuzwa then spun the victim to the right by seizing his left shoulder.

This second action was not discussed at the preliminary hearing on December 16, Mr. Pitt said.

Why Not Called

Mr. Pitt intimated that Joseph Kearns who was seen arguing with Yuzwa should have been called by the crown. Kearns, according to Aldred, called out, "You —— why don't you get out and fight?" And after the slaying Kearns was seen laughing in the middle of the road.

"Kearns was on the sidewalk and I suggest to you he would be in a better position (than Aldred) to tell what was going on."

Continue Search For U.S. Airmen

VANCOUVER, Feb. —An air-sea search for five United States air force personnel continued today around rugged Princess Royal Island, 400 miles northwest of here, where a flaming B-36 bomber was abandoned by its 17 passengers.

Twelve of those leaping by parachute from the stricken craft Feb. 14 were rescued. The others are sought, although it generally is believed they perished either in the icy waters of surrounding Hecate Strait or the dense rock and bush terrain of the island.

The Canadian destroyer Cayuga arrived at Esquimalt, B. C., base early today after standing by directing rescue operations. The land search was called off two days ago but planes and boats, mainly U. S. craft, are still seeking traces of the missing five.

Court Rules Liberal Member Not Elected Federal By-Election Likely In Annapolis

HALIFAX, Feb. 24 (CP)—A Federal by-election in the Annapolis Valley riding of Annapolis-Kings appeared imminent today following a Nova Scotia Supreme Court ruling that the Liberal candidate now sitting for the riding was not duly elected.

The court ruled Thursday that Angus A. Elderkin was not duly elected and therefore the election was void.

Both Mr. Elderkin and George Nowlan, the Progressive Conservative candidate who opposed him in the June 27 Federal election, have eight days to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Until that time, however Mr Elderkin will still have the right to retain his seat in the house.

Mr. Elderkin took his seat after a recount showed him to have a four-vote majority. He polled 13,202 votes against 13,198.

Mr. Norlan, who won the seat in a 1948 by-election, claimed in his petition that some service votes had been incorrectly included in the count. These votes, he said, should have counted in the servicemen's home ridings. The appeal contended that 130 of the 197 service voters should not have cast ballots in the valley riding.

Attlee Government Conceded Victory In One Of Closest Races In History

Conservatives Down 26 Seats In Latest Report

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP)—The Press Association reported tonight that Labor had been returned to power by a narrow margin in the general election.

The concession was based on Labor's 310th victory, which assured it of a majority over Winston Churchill's Conservatives who then had gained 286 seats in the House of Commons.

But the Liberal Party had seven seats, sufficient to combine with the Conservatives unless Prime Minister Attlee's followers won 313. With 22 still to be reported at that time a small Labor advantage seemed certain.

Subsequently Labor gained another seat to bring its total to 311.

At 7:45 p.m., (2:45 p.m. Est) Labor won its 312th seat and needed only one more for an overall majority.

It was obvious that whatever happened Labor's hold on the House of Commons would be extremely insecure and talk of another general election was widespread.

After the 1945 election Labor had a majority of 202, sufficient to assure passage of its Socialist program in the House of Commons.

Nearly Beaten

Labor was forced to the brink of defeat by a sudden burst of Conservative victories. The Conservative spurt came after Attlee's followers had established a lead of 61 and Labor spokesmen were talking confidently of a solid Socialist victory.

For a time the Conservatives and the third-party Liberals drew even with Labor. At one time during the afternoon they even seemed to be taking a lead. But slowly Labor drew ahead again and into the clear.

Even before A. C. Manuel gained a narrow win in the Scottish county seat of Central Ayrshire which clinched a Labor victory Conservatives were admitting their own chances of taking over from Attlee appeared "quite hopeless."

One political analyst summed up the general feeling by saying: "Whichever government wins, it will not stay in power long."

Churchill, who at 75 waged a spectacular campaign at the head of a smooth-working party machine, said: "It is obvious parliament is going to be in a very unstable condition."

CHURCHILL'S FUTURE—Politics or painting? With victory several times within reach during this morning's see-saw reports, it looked as if the doughty Conservative champion would have little time for his hobby of painting. With the Conservatives again in Opposition, though a very strong one, will Churchill hand over the reins as Opposition and Party leader, rest on his war-time laurels, and devote himself to painting and memoirs? London opinion is that the great Briton has fought his last General Election.

Only Small Enemy Attacks Foreseen In Arctic Areas

NORTHWAY, Alaska, Feb. 24—(CP)—Canada's Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday exercise Sweetbriar generally confirmed the concept Canada's defence planners have of northern warfare and methods for guarding the Arctic. In the wake of the 11-day joint Canadian - American manoeuvre, there appeared to be broad agreement to support the belief that, for geographic, climatic, military and other reasons, Canada need worry about only relatively small enemy attacks in the foreseeable future.

It demonstrated that troops could fight in the sub-Arctic, could operate under tough conditions, that they could be supplied and aircraft could support them. It also emphasized the importance of air power and airborne striking forces.

The exercise, described by Mr. Claxton as "perhaps the greatest flowering of our joint defence planning," concluded Thursday on this airstrip 40 miles west of the Yukon boundary. A spectacular co-ordinated parachute and ground assault by hundreds of Canadian and American troops "defeated" the aggressor forces they have been fighting since Jan. 13.

A company of 107 parachutists from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry under Lieut. Leslie Basham of Vancouver descended in light, soft snow on a

Choose 12-Man Jury From 108 Candidates

QUEBEC, Feb. 24 (CP) — The 12-man jury for the trial of jeweller J. Albert Guay, accused of wife-murder in a Sept. 9 plane crash which took 22 other lives, was completed at 10.35 a.m. today the second day of his trial.

To obtain the jury 108 candidates were called.

Ten jurors were chosen Thursday and today's rounding-out of the jury by the selection of another two jurors was faster than had at first been anticipated. Early forecasts were that it might take a week to obtain jurymen for this trial which has caught imagination of this old capital.

As soon as the jury was completed Judge Albert Sevigny adjourned court to 2.15 p.m.

Most of Cabinet Been Re-Elected Two Men Lose Out

LONDON, Feb. 24—(AP)—Most of Attlee's cabinet members have been re-elected in the British election held Thursday. Only two, Arthur Creech Jones, former Colonial Secretary and Sir Hartley Shawcross, Solicitor General have been defeated to date.

Communist representation in the House of Commons was wiped out when Willie Gallacher, who represented West Fife in the last Parliament, lost the riding.

His only colleague in the House, Philip Piratin, was beaten Thursday.

Harry Pollitt, General Secretary of the party, was defeated as he had been in the 1945 election. His wife also failed in her bid.

Fifty-nine of the 100 Communist candidates were accounted for in the first part of the election count. Fifty-eight failed to gain one-eighth of the vote in their districts.

Each candidate in the election had to deposit £150 ($465) as a guarantee of good faith. A candidate failing to get one-eighth of the vote loses his bond.

Strangely Silent

The Communist Daily Worker came out today with some brief comment on how the Liberals were losing their deposits. It did not mention the Communist deposits.

In 1945 the average Communist candidate's vote was 5,000. The average vote this year was running around 800. In 1945, the Communists had only 21 candidates in the field.

Labor made a special effort this year to beat down the Communists, and it paid off.

Main Cabinet men re-elected so far are:

Clement Attlee, Prime Minister, re-elected.

Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, re-elected.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, re-elected.

Herbert Morrison, President of the Council, re-elected.

Crippled Dog Saves 4 Lives

TORONTO, Feb 24 (CP)—The frantic barking of a crippled dog Thursday night was credited with saving the lives of a family of four as a total of 10 persons were reported overcome by coal-gas fumes in different parts of the city.

In suburban East York Lassie, paralysed in the hind legs by a recent accident, wakened Mr and Mrs William Boyle and their two sons. The house was filled with coal gas fumes.

Two sons in an east-end home took ill at the same time when fumes from the furnace filled the house. The collapse of one son roused the other three occupants.

A tractor operator, John Doust was taken to hospital and placed in an oxygen tent when fumes from the tractor caused his collapse.

Lewis' Brother Shot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 24 — Thomas A. Lewis, 61, brother of John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, was found shot to death today in his home here.

Deputy Coroner Catherine Rutherford said he had had shot himself because of ill health.

Mrs. Rutherford said Lewis' wife, Leonore, discovered her husband's body in the bathtub on the second floor of the home. A revolver was lying near the body.

The deputy coroner said that Lewis, a retired immigration service employee, had been in ill health for some time and suffered a severe heart attack Thursday.

Report Travis In Canada Despite Ban On Entry

TRAIL, B. C., Feb. 24 (CP) — John Clark, international president of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union said in an interview Thursday that Maurice Travis of Chicago had been in Trail during the wage policy conference of Canadian locals.

Travis is international secretary of the mine union.

Clark told a Trail Times reporter, shortly before leaving for Chicago, that Travis' presence in Trail had nothing to do with the conference. He denied an earlier report carried in the Trail Times that Travis had entered Canada under an assumed name and had been deported.

Purpose of the international secretary's trip, Clark said, was to discuss financial budgeting in connection with the present fight against the United Steelworkers of Ameriga (CIO) who have been given CCL permission to take over mine-mill jurisdictions in Trail and other parts of Canada.

Travis left the country voluntarily when requested to do so by the RCMP and immigration officials and had not been under police guard, Clark said. He did not say why Travis had been asked to leave. He is reported on the list of leftist labor leaders denied entry to Canada.

Travis is a former president of the Mine-Mill Union, serving prior to the election of Tom Clark and in 1941, C. I. records show, was expelled from the USW for leftist leanings.

During his three or four years in Trail, the Times said Thursday Travis remained secluded in his hotel room and did not attend conference sessions.

100,000 Jobless To Get More Insurance Aid If Bill Passes Commons

Those Earning Between $3,120-$4,800 Year Now Covered By Act; To Increase Contributions By Cent A Day

OTTAWA, Feb. 24—(CP)—Parliament today will debate the principle of a bill to give Unemployment Insurance benefits to an additional 100,000 unemployed Canadians. The complicated measure extending the scope of the Unemployment Insurance Act was given first reading Thursday night after four hours of debate on a resolution containing the changes in general terms. By general agreement the Commons is giving precedence to this measure because of the unemployment situation. The number of unemployed is currently estimated by the Labor Department at more than 375,000.

The Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties indicated support of the Bill Thursday. However, they emphasized they didn't think it went far enough or that it could be considered a solution to the unemployment problem.

These are the main effects of the bill:

1. 90,000 workers earning between $3,120 and $4,800 a year—who did not formerly pay unemployment insurance—now will be covered by the act.

2. Contributions of employers and employees will be increased by one cent a day each.

3. In special cases where persons do not qualify for regular benefits they will get special supplementary payments amounting to 80 per cent of normal benefits.

4 Classes Qualify

There are four classes of workers who qualify for these supplementary payments which will be in effect up to April 15 this year and between Jan. 1 and March 31 in future years.

Following are the four classes:

1. Those who have exhausted their regular benefits in the current fiscal year. (The fiscal year ends March 31.)

2. Those who have not made enough contributions (180) days to qualify for regular benefit but who have 90 contributions in the fiscal year.

3. Persons who have worked in lumbering and logging for at least 90 days during the preceding year-and-a-half, providing those 90 days fall within a period of 12 months.

4. Persons whose jobs have been brought under employment insurance in the 12 months prior to their claim for benefits.

The 17 pages of amendments also reduce the waiting period before first unemployment insurance benefits can be paid from nine days to eight.

The amendments set out the length of time the supplementary benefits can be paid during the first three months of each year.

For a person whose benefits have been exhausted, supplementary benefits can run for the same length of time as regular benefits.

In the other three classes the maximum is one-fifth of the number of days of employment during the 12-month period.

Drop Small Crown Off 1951 Car Plates

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—The small crown on Ontario automobile licence plates since 1937, the Coronation year, will not appear on 1951 plates, Highways Minister Doucett said today.

Mr. Doucett said the crown was so small that it was not generally recognized as a crown, "particularly by non-residents of Canada."

The new plates will carry the word "Ontario" in large letters across the top

"This should serve to better advertise our province, especially in the United States where thousands of our cars travel each year," the minister said.

The plates are manufactured at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph. Some 1,165,000 plates of various classes will be made for 1951.

Prices Turn Upwards On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—Prices slowly turned upwards in active dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Early uncertainty faded in industrials and a wide list of market leaders chalked up gains ranging from fractions to a full point.

Volume for the first three hours was 778,000 shares, about 37,000 shares more than Thursday's similar period.

Small mining issues again accounted for much of the share volume. Lake Fortune, a feature of Thursday's session, traded more than 214,050 shares in three hours for a slight change. MacLeod-Cockshutt gained seven cents at $2.97 and Roybar uranium was active for a small advance. Other utilities and foods led industrials into higher ground in continuation of Thursday's late firming. Canadian Vickers gained $2 at $98 and Abitibi paper featured the big board, trading heavily for a gain of ⅝ at a new high at 24½.

Noranda led a firming tone in base metals, adding $1 at $71 in continuing recent strong gains. East Sullivan was brisk but settled under pressure of profit-taking on Thursday's 30-cent advance.

Western oils were very quiet.

Family Of Five Get 2 Rooms

OSHAWA, Feb. 24—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vandewalker and their three small children, facing eviction next Monday from their wartime housing cottage, will return to their former dwelling, half of a four-room apartment which they left last September when authorities said the quarters were too cramped.

Mrs. Vandewalker, whose fourth child is exepected soon, said they would share the apartment with her mother, sister and brother.

She was told definite eviction action would be taken by the Sheriff next Monday on orders of Ctnral Housing and Mortgage Corporation, which owns the wartime house. The family sublet a dwelling from a veteran and moved in with him last September. When the veteran left, Mr. Vandewalker, who is not a veteran, was ordered evicted.

Yuzwa Case

Counsel said that Yuzwa entered the witness box of his own free will and testified he had never killed Loucks. And even Aldred, Mr. Pitt continued, did not say he saw a weapon.

Paul Zanodnik partly corroborated the accused man's evidence he said. He suggested the jury disregard Paul's admission that he was forced to step between Yuzwa and a man with whom he was arguing. Zahodnik said Yuzwa swung his arm over his shoulder in the direction of the other man.

Originally the three Zahodniks —James 31, Paul 28, and John 37 —were charged with murder along with Yuzwa. They were acquitted at the preliminary hearing on Dec. 16.

Said Deliberate Act

Mr. Jordan described the killing as "a deliberate act" and done "with deliberate purpose."

"It may not have been the purpose to kill, but to inflict bodily harm. Some person was going to pay for bothering Yuzwa."

Mr. Jordan cast doubt on the evidence of the prisoner and the Zahodniks.

"I think you must have found," he said to the jury, "the accused was on the sidewalk of Kent St. and did actually turn west. The evidence of the two independent witnesses should be believed in preference to that of the Zahodniks.

"We have established that every where Yuzwa went that night, even if there were no blows, blood was seen. He was standing directly in front of the victim, and we have the definite statement of Tracy that Yuzwa struck at Risley, and there was blood."

William Yuzwa, defendant, dressed in a grey suit coat and wearing horn-rimmed spectacles, testified he had neither struck nor received a blow in the early morning Kent St. brawl.

Speaking with a pronounced accent, and much gesticulation, he told the court he was trying to sleep on the front seat of the truck when he was twice disturbed while the vehicle was parked in front of the Big 20 Cafe.

Twice, however, he raised his arm, he said.

The first time was in self defence when he thought an unidentified man was about to strike him through the open window on the passenger side of the truck. And the second time was when he waved his arm angrily in the air in the general direction of a group of men who were "bothering" him.

In the latter case he was explaining his argument with the unidentified man to the three Zahodniks.

Altogether the counsel for the defence, B. J. Spencer-Pitt called five witnesses to complete his case: James and Paul Zahodnik, with the accused on November 18; Stanley Carley, one of those in the police lineup, and Yuzwa himself.

Mr. Justice Urquhart adjourned court for the day at the completion of Yuzwa's evidence. Today court resumed at 9 a.m., an hour earlier than usual. Still to be completed were the closing arguments of counsels and the summing up for the trial jury by Justice Urquhart.

Zahodniks Appear

Surprise witness first thing Thursday morning were James and Paul Zahodnik. Both the crown and the defence co-operated to locate them as a result of the direction of Justice Urquhart, it is understood.

The pair caught the 2 a.m. train to Peterborough early Thursday and defence counsel was not aware of their presence till shortly before court resumed.

The witness said he saw James and John Zahodnik near a car about six or eight feet to the left. A conversation was ensuing and he heard James subsequently tell the driver to "blow."

Paul and he entered the panel truck, he testified; he in the front passenger's seat and Paul in the rear section. Shortly afterwards

Conservatives

A complete report from all seats will not be available for several days. Four remote Scottish constituencies do not report until Monday. Two were held by Conservatives, one by a National Liberal and one by a Labor man in the last house. Voting in a Manchester division has been deferred to March 9 due to the death of a candidate.

The Conservatives stormed back from an early deficit of 61 seats to move neck-and-neck into the stretch.

Morgan Phillips, general secretary of the Labor Party, told an interviewer that Labor "needs a majority of 30 seats to function effectively as a government."

After the 1945 election the Labor Party was 202.

Liberals have made a tentative offer of alliance with Labor, but even if Attlee accepted their terms their representation is so small it would be of little help.

Rural Vote Changes

The swing toward the Conservatives became apparent soon after counting of rural constituency votes began this morning.

The first 266 seats counted during the night had given 163 to Labor against 102 for the Conservatives and their allied National Liberals.

Today the Labor lead quickly dropped to 43, then to 24. For a time Labor showed signs of hanging on, but the Conservatives steadily narrowed the gap.

Conservatives, at first inclined to be pessimistic picked up spirits as the day wore on.

They were doubly cheered when Winston Churchill, wartime Prime Minister, scored an overwhelming victory in Woodford, Essex.

After the result was announced Churchill told a cheering crowd the election had been "a model of the way things are done irrespective of party feelings in our Island."

Thursday's voting resulted in a record 85 per cent poll, and voters seemed to divide their choice evenly between Conservativs and Labor with little thought for the Liberals and other minority groups.

Like Attlee and Churchill, Liberal Leader Clement Davies scored a personal victory. He retained the Welsh county seat of Montgomery with an increased majority.

Romford, a middle-class London district which gave Labor a 5,777 majority in 1945, went Conservative by 1,269. Hendon North, which Labor took by 4,664 in 1945 gave the Conservatives a 2,555 margin.

The biggest Conservative surprise in the London area was a 139-vote victory in working class Woolwich West, on the capital's eastern outskirts. Labor won there by 8,884 in 1945.

Make Advances

The Conservatives similarly had edged up a bit in other big cities which in 1945 had been almost solidly Labor. In Liverpool, with nine seats, the Conservatives won four as against three in 1945. In Birmingham the Conservatives won four, against three in 1945.

Re-elected to the Commons were Prime Minister Attlee; the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, apostle of hard work and self sacrifice; Health Minister Aneurin Bevin, who supervises housing and the National Health Service; Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, the Deputy Prime Minister, Herbert Morrison, and most other ministers.

But Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones lost to his Conservative opponent by a slim 81 votes. Solicitor-General Frank Soskice also was defeated. So were L. J. Edwards, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, and David Rees-Williams, Undersecretary for Colonies.

Randolph Churchill Out

Among the defeated Conservatives were Randolph Churchill, son of the Tory leader. Duncan Sandys, Churchill's son-in-law, was elected in Conservative Streatham.

Churchill, who at 75 has fought possibly the last big political battle of his lifetime, sat up until the small hours receiving the returns by direct teleprinter at his home near London's Hyde Park.

Sir Stafford Cripps trounced his Conservative opponent by more than two to one. Commenting on this, the man whose name is synonymous with austerity told his supporters:

"The results show that the people are determined to hang on to what they have won in the past. We have done all sorts of things in the Labor Government which have not been popular, yet you are coming along and supporting the most unpopular man of all." He referred to himself.

Health Minister Bevan, denounced by Churchill during the campaign as "minister of disease" won by 4-to-1 in Ebbw Vale, Wales.

Foreign Secretary Bevin polled 26,604 votes to 14,234 for his Conservative opponent, J. B. Campbell.

Isaacs Returned

Labor Minister George Isaacs was returned to Parliament from the new district of Southwark, working-class area south of London Bridge. He polled 35,049 votes to 12,671 for the Conservative.

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, a member of Churchill's "Shadow Cabinet," spoken of for Labor minister if the Conservatives win, was elected in the West Derby district of Liverpool, by a vote of 27,449 to Labor's 25,417.

Canadian-born Beverley Baxter, well-known journalist, was another winning Conservative. Oliver Stanley, former Colonial Secretary, was elected in the new division of Bristol West with a 12,243 majority over his Labor and Liberal candidates.

Lady Tweedsmuir Elected

A total of 120 women were seeking election. Among those who were successful was Lady Tweedsmuir, married to the son of Canada's one-time Governor-General, the famed novelist John Buchan. She ran as a Conservative.

Another successful woman was Dr. Edith Summerskill, sharp-tongued parliamentary assistant to Food Minister John Strachey.

The Labor Independents who broke from the party in a disagreement over foreign policy—D. N Pritt, Harold Hutchinson, and John Platts-Mills—were defeated.

Harry Pollitt, general secretary of the British Communist Party, and his wife were among unsuccessful Communist candidates.

Pollitt was defeated in the Welsh mining constituency of Rhondda which W. H. Mainwaring retained for Labor with 26,645 votes to the Communists' 4,463. In 1945 Pollitt, with a poll of 15,761, was only 972 votes behind Mainwaring.

Sees Prosperity For Canada During 1950

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 24 (CP)—Continued prosperity on the whole is in prospect for Canada in 1950, the United Nations was told Thursday.

Uncertainty in foreign trade was stressed, however, by Raymond Eudes, Liberal MP for Montreal Hochelaga. He spoke during discussion of the world economic situation in the UN Economic and Social Council.

Eudes said Canada's overall exports should be only a little below last year's, if reduction of exports to overseas countries is offset by exports to the United States.

"Productivity should . . . continue to rise if there are markets to absorb our gains in output," he said.

Canada had to emphasize her reliance on United States markets, Eudes said. But simultaneously she acknowledged the debt owed by the world to the United States for "generous and effective leadership."

Recognizes Problems

He said Canada recognizes the potential problems to be faced as a result of slackening of the consumer demand which had been built up by wartime shortages. But Canada hoped for protection from this development in the vitality and adaptability of her economy.

Most of the economic effects of any decline in exports would be offset by a strong domestic demand boosted by price-support measures to help farmers—most affected by decline in foreign demand.

Eudes cited the following factors making for a confident Canadian outlook: More real income is being earned by consumers; a recent survey showed that about $3,600,000,000 would be spent on capital plant, machinery, equipment, and housing, giving another record-level investment year.

Eudes agreed with the U. S. that there was a tendency toward over-simplification in the UN report on major economic changes in 1949. The report said the drop in US imports was largely the case of toughening trade problems in 1949.

Cost Six Million

Within two hours, after dogfights, simulated battle noises, and manoeuvring in the snows, the red flares went up that signalled the end of an exercise that cost possibly $6,000,000, brought 5,000 to 6,000 troops into this bitterly-cold, mountainous Alaska-highway area.

Lt-Gen. Stephen J. Chamberlin, chief of the U.S. Fifth Army and over-all Sweetbriar commander, and Maj.-Gen. M. H. S. Penhale, head of Canada's Western Army Command, were the two leading figures in a sick parade that produced more than 50 hospital cases. Gen. Chamberlin, like a number of others, got the flu. Gen., Penhale went into Whitehorse Military Hospital Thursday with a touch of pneumonia.

But medical men said casualties were fewer and less severe than anticipated and they marvelled that there was not a single severe injury in eight aircraft crackups. There were no fatalities.

2 Board Members Back Ford Offer

WINDSOR, Feb. 24 (CP)—The Windsor Daily Star today publishes the report of a conciliation board which rejected the $100-a-month pension demand of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Two of the three members of the board recommended that the $55-a-month offer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., be accepted. The third conciliator a union nominee, said in a minority report, also published by the Star, that he thinks the $100 should be approved.

Both amounts are intended for the 11,000 Windsor employees of Ford at age 65.

Rhys M. Sale, Ford president, said in a statement "there are recalculations of cost which must be made before we can reach any decision on the board's recommendations."

Jolliffe Wants Ontario Help Restore Trade

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the CCF opposition, called on the Ontario government Thursday to reduce unemployment by sharing the responsibility for restoring world trade.

Mr Jolliffe and Premier Frost spoke in the throne-speech debate the CCF leader moving an amendment to the motion to adopt the address in reply to the speech from the throne. The amendment is in effect a motion of non-confidence in the government.

Premier Frost said that two recent by-elections in Leeds and Cochrane North showed the people still have confidence in the Progressive Conservative government.

The CCF leader told the Legislature that Britain could not continue buying from Canada unless the Dominion increased her purchases in the United Kingdom. The Ontario Government and its agencies as one of the biggest—if not the biggest—purchasers in the province should lead the way.

Breakdown Services

The breakdown of world trade was one of the main causes of unemployment, Mr. Jolliffe said that Ontario had no relief service "worthy of the name."

"In recent months I have noticed an increasing number of men on the streets asking for money for coffee or some such trifle That is public begging."

Five Rebel Laborites Defeated At Polls

LONDON, Feb. 24 (CP)—"The Pritties" are no longer sitting pretty.

Five rebel Labor members, who sat as a group in the last House of Commons, were washed out of Westminster as British voters narrowed election issues down to a straight case of socialism versus anti-socialism.

The five sat as Labor Independents and took their nickname from Denis Pritt, K.C., their nominal leader.

The others were Konni Zilliacus, John Platts-Mills, Leslie Solley and Lester Hutchinson.

They were expelled from the Labor party between 1940 and 1949 for following a pro-Russian line in foreign affairs.

Merchants Say Dual Highway Bad For Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 24 (ENS) — Cobourg businessmen are viewing with considerable alarm the gradual approach of the two-lane highway, which is to start on its second lap this year from Oshawa to Port Hope. As the highway will by-pass this town, and also Port Hope, merchants can see a great deal of tourist trade slipping away. With the present highway going through Cobourg's main street, many tourists stop for meals and shop during their stay in Cobourg.

"We don't mind the traffic congestion of No. 2 highway going through town. What we are worrying about is the fact that a great deal of that congestion means business to the merchants that will by-pass Cobourg when the highway gets down this far," says John Ewart, prominent King St. merchant.

"We are going to have to advertise Cobourg all over the province so that tourists will want to come here and not keep on going via the dual highway by-pass. It is a challenge to the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce to see that Cobourg is well-advertised so that we will not lose our summer tourist trade," he says.

Great Ore Deposit

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Feb. 24 — (AP)—Uranium ore and valuable rare earth oxide discovered near here has been termed "the greatest known deposit in the world" by its explorers. The strike was announced at Sundance by A. J. Katches, Duluth, Minn., mining engineer, who said he made the discovery last August while investigating fluoride deposits. An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman announced in Washington that the AEC will examine in the spring the source of the radioactive ores submitted to it.

Frost Damages Peaches

VANCOUVER, Feb. 24 (CP)— Bud-killing frost has severely damaged the 1950 peach and apricot crop in the Okanagan and Similkameen valleys, it was learned Thursday. Official estimates of damage have not yet been released, but it is believed all peach and apricot buds in the areas have been killed. Cherry buds have suffered sharply and Bartlett pear production is expected to be down 10 per cent.

Attlee Arrives First At Office

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Looking well and cheerful, Prime Minister Attlee was the first Labor chief to get to party headquarters today.

He wore a big rosette in his overcoat.

He commented: "I didn't get to bed until about 6 o'clock this morning but I managed to put in a few hours' sleep and the results so far have helped to keep me fit."

Attlee won a personal victory in his own riding of Walthamstow West.

The lean, scholarly 67-year-old prime minister had toured his district by automobile Thursday, then proceeded to the district's main voting booth, where counting of ballots began at 9 p.m. Thursday night.

After a nap and a light dinner, he spent the night at Transport House with cabinet colleagues, where results were flashed on a large screen.

The group will also travel to Ottawa, where they will confer with government officials.

ForecastUranium Production In Saskatchewan

REGINA, — (CP) — Production of uranium may begin in Saskatchewan within two or three years, it is estimated by officials of the provincial mineral resources branch.

So far some 50 deposits have been located in the province. These officials say that, on the basis of "general engineering estimates," 13 of the finds are outstanding.

Some 35 companies involved in the uranium hunt are expected to spend at least $1,000,000 this year in exploration and development. That is double the amount spent in 1949.

Prospecting activity in northern Saskatchewan is expected to be at a record level this summer.

The 50 uranium discoveries of the last 15 years indicate the existance of three uranium fields Beaverlodge - Goldfields, Black Lake and Lac la Ronge. Experts claim some of the finds compare favorably with ore deposits in producing areas in other parts of the world.

Started In 1935

The first discovery of radioactive ore was made in 1935 three miles east of Goldfields. During the Second World War, Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., a federal crown corporation, took over the development of Saskatchewan's uranium deposits and made 12 more discoveries.

Then, in 1948, prospecting for uranium was thrown open to anyone. In two years another 37 claims were recorded.

The Beaverlodge-Goldfield area contains eight of the discoveries considered "important" by the provincial mineral resources branch. The Black Lake district has three, and the Lac la Ronge field has two.

Development Slow

So far Saskatchewan's mineral development has been small. Inaccessibility of the richest areas, in the far north, has been largely responsible for slow progress.

For 20 years most of the province's mineral output has been made by Hudson's Bay Mining and Smelting Company in their Flin Flon operation which straddles the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border.

Hodgetts, who retired this year after 18 years on the Cobourg Collegiate Board, of which 12 years were as chairman, was presented with an engraved wrist watch at a dinner in his honor Thursday at the Fielding House. The presentation was made by A. R. Wilmott, KC, a member of the board.

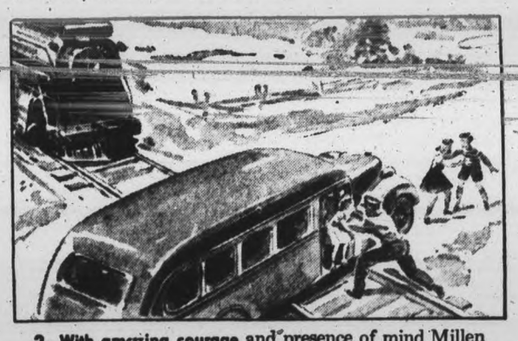
SIX CHILDREN OWE LIVES TO COOLNESS OF BUS DRIVER

Russell Millen, of Huntingdon, Que., evacuates bus in nick of time

1. At New Erin, about 5 miles from Huntingdon, Russell Millen's bus stalled on the railway tracks — and a fast train was approaching! After a vain attempt to push the bus off the tracks, Millen quickly went to work to save his precious cargo of 6 school children.



2. With amazing courage and presence of mind Millen rushed back into the bus and calmly got each and every one of the children out. The train, its whistle shrieking, was almost upon them as Millen hurried the last youngster to the side of the tracks.

3. Within seconds after the rescue, the train smashed into the bus — dragging the mass of torn and twisted metal for half a mile! Russell Millen's daring, quick-thinking action had saved six lives. We are proud to pay him deserved tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Landscaping The Hospital

An item of $8,486 for landscaping the new civic hospital grounds appears in the estimates of the Parks Committee of the Council. This is not a large sum for the area to be attended and the work required to rescue it from the gravel of bull-dozers, the mess of construction workings, and the stubble and waste of the ground's normal state. It is as important that the building be set in good, pleasant natural surroundings as it is that its exterior be handsome. Particularly with a hospital is it desirable to have the grounds really beautiful, so that there will be pleasure for the eyes of the patients.

* * *

Some months ago an official suggestion was made that the section from the hospital grounds to the highway (Clonsilla street) be acquired by the city and converted into a park. It seems, however, that the price of the property bordering the road has become very high, being in private hands which have already advanced the exploitation of it as building lots. This is an unfortunate situation, which might have been avoided had the council of ten years ago used foresight. We suggest that the proposal be not abandoned. Even if property bordering Clonsilla were not expropriated, the land behind could be had, with access from Sherbrooke street west, and from a western extension of Charlotte. This would provide, in conjunction with the hospital grounds, a garden-park in keeping with the city's master plan and be a civic pride and joy for centuries.

Premiership Is Healthy?

Exactly half of all the Premiers whom Ontario has had in its entire history as a province are alive today—eight of the sixteen. Six of them were present at the opening of the Legislature last week: Mr. E. C. Drury (Premier from 1919 to 1923, following Sir William Hearst), Mr. George Henry, Mr. Gordon Conant, Mr. H. C. Nixon, Mr. T. L. Kennedy, and or course Premier Leslie Frost. The two living former premiers not present were Mr. George Drew and Mr. M. F. Hepburn. It would seem that with half of Ontario's premiers still living in the Ontario scene, premiership is a healthy occupation, making for longevity. But not all of these gentlemen are as old as Mr. Drury now 86, who was born three years before Confederation and Ontario's becoming a Province. Further, nine of Ontario's eighteen Premiers have held office in the last thirty years. The only Premier since 1919 who has gone to his grave is the late George Howard Ferguson.

Somebody is sure to ask us who were the other Premiers. We forestall the question with the following complete list: Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, (Lib.) 1867-71; Hon. E. Blake, (Lib.) 1871-72; Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat, (Lib.) 1872-96; Hon. A. S. Hardy, (Lib.) 1896-99; Hon. G. W. Ross, (Lib.) 1899-1905; Hon. Sir J. P. Whitney, (Con.) 1905-14; Hon. Sir Wm. Howard Hearst, (Con.) 1914-19; Hon. Ernest Charles Drury, (United Farmers) 1919-23; Hon. G. H. Ferguson, (Con.) 1923-30; Hon. G. S. Henry, (Con.) 1930-34; Hon. M. F. Hepburn, (Lib.) 1934-42; Hon. G. D. Conant, (Lib.) 1942-43; Hon. H. C. Nixon, (Lib.) 1943-43; Hon. George A. Drew, (P.C.) 1943-48); Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, (P.C.) 1948-49; Hon. Leslie M. Frost, (P.C.) 1949-.

Movies, Books and Juvenile Delinquency

An interesting point about the five boys who have been arrested by the Peterborough police for robbery is that they admitted a keen interest in the film City Across The River, which was made from the book Amboy Dukes. Readers will recall that this book was the subject of a trial in Brantford recently, in which the bookseller who sold this book was charged with selling improper literature. The book and the film deal with a group of boys who have an extensive criminal career before they are captured by the police.

This gives colour to the frequent charge that such books and films encourage crime. It certainly looks as though these Peterborough boys have learned certain methods of criminality from the film, and perhaps also from the book.

What interests us in this matter is that a great number of boys must have seen City Across The River when it was shown here, but apparently only five boys were moved by it to experiment in crime themselves. The other boys either paid no attention to the film because they are too sensible and well-brought-up to wish to become crooks, or because they were impressed by the ending of the film, in which the young criminals were caught by the police and put away. Most boys admire daring and adventure, but they do not admire the kind of hoodlum conduct which was exhibited by the Amboy Dukes. But in five boys the criminal content of the film found fertile ground.

This suggests to us that these five boys were ready for crime before they saw the film or read the book. Otherwise they would have dismissed it from their minds, as other boys did. Why were these boys ripe for crime, and ready to take the criminal lesson contained in a piece of entertainment? Certainly City Across The River did not make crime attractive to any intelligent or decent boy. Why did crime appeal to these boys?

That is the problem to which, so far, social students have not found an answer. What predisposes people to crime?

A Wink And A Nod

The American coal miners have been ordered back to work under the terms of the Taft-Hartley Act; no sooner did President Truman have resort to this legislation that John L. Lewis telegraphed orders to every branch of the miner's union to obey. It is said that he did so with a wink and a nod. In any case the miners have disobeyed him.

When American miners disobey John L. Lewis the situation is so startling that it arouses suspicion that Mr. Lewis is talking out of both sides of his mouth at once. He has told the miners to work in order to be on the right side of the law, but it is possible that he has also told them to pay no attention, in order to further what they believe to be their own interest. It is not so long ago that the miners were very heavily penalized for disobeying a national order; Mr. Lewis does not want them to be penalized again, and so he is playing the part of a man whose authority has been defied. But the public has never seen Mr. Lewis' authority defied before, and it is not inclined to believe in that defiance now.

The situation has, however, gone beyond the point where even the great authority of Mr. Lewis can ever restore the coal-mining industry. At present the miners are the highest-paid manual workers in the U.S.A., for they earn over fifteen dollars a day—when they work. But they do not work enough in a year to maintain a very high standard of living, and it looks as though many of them would never work again. Every time Mr. Lewis pushes up the miners' wages, new industries turn from coal to electricity and gas to supply their needs. Official U.S. figures now show that two-thirds of the coal industry, working full time, could supply all the coal that the country now uses. That means that in normal conditions a third of the miners would be without jobs. Full production in the mines would quickly bring about a coal surplus.

Such a shrinkage in the coal industry would strike powerfully at the miners' union, and its system of welfare funds. It would also drive many men—probably the younger and more adaptable men—into other work, leaving the older workers to carry the whole load. The fact is that the coal industry in the U.S.A. is in a decline.

Much sympathy must go to the miners. Theirs is miserable, dangerous work. Their loyalty to Lewis commands admiration, even though it may seem that this same loyalty is cutting their own throats and weakening their industry. Nor can we see much evidence that the mine owners have ever attempted to meet their workers on any ground of common interest. Every concession has been wrung from them by John L. Lewis. The history of the coal-mining industry has been one of wretchedness and discontent from its earliest days, and in another fifty years mining, as we know it, may be a thing of the past.

Meanwhile, there will be much misery as the industry shrinks, and Mr. Lewis, who is seventy and apparently in excellent health, will doubtless live to fight the rearguard action.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A member of the U.S. Congress describes Einstein as "an old faker" who is speaking "bunk" on the subject of the hydrogen bomb and its dangers. We regard the honourable gentleman's opinion merely as a few bubbles rising to the surface from one who is well out of his depth.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: You seem to be something of a local antiquary. At any rate, you'll not have to go far back in Peterborough history to answer this: Did any Peterborough ladies ever wear bloomers?

ANSWER: You are referring, of course, to the 'Bloomer Girls', the Women's Righters of the last quarter of the last century, who were allied with the suffragette movement. I have made discreet enquiries and hear gossip that there was a brave quartette of young ladies of good family locally who espoused bloomers, but only at their own private tea-parties, never in male sight or in public. It was a private (among the four) act of female assertion. I did hear a juicy bit of gossip from one source: that Miss X, the ringleader of the quartette, did one summer evening venture out in her bloomers, and that a near-public scandal was only averted by Poppa's intervention with the police, and his sending his daughter away for a six-month's tour of Europe.

For my readers unacquainted with the term 'bloomers', I may say that the name was given to a type of feminine trousers which an American woman, Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer (1818-1894) invented as a measure of dress reform for women. She was a prominent champion of women's rights, and also a zealous temperance advocate (i.e. prohibitionist). Girls and women nowadays would not of course be bothered to wear pantaloons as voluminous as bloomers.

ALPHA: Is there any difference between a rabbit and a hare, other than that the former is wild, the latter cultivated?

ANSWER: There is a difference, and not the one you suggest. Rabbits are not always domestic.

Rabbits differ from hares in living in burrows and producing numerous naked young. They also have shorter legs and ears. (It's a March Hare in Alice in Wonderland; remember its big ears? No mere rabbit!) The hare is also a rodent. It does not burrow, but lies up in a clearing of grass called the 'form', in which the young are born covered with hair and with the eyes open. Most species of hare turn white in winter (but not in Australia or Madagascar). The jack-rabbit is a hare.

Incidentally jugged hare is to be avoided by all pure-palated Canadians. It is an English delicacy. One time when I was a student in England a friend's father arrived and took his son and pals out to dinner. He was stinking rich, so we all ordered the very best on the hotel menu. "Jugged hare" struck my eye, and the price was sufficiently high, so I ordered it. I found the dish extraordinarily high. It is hare which has been hung upside-down in the sun for a couple of weeks until the skin moults and the flesh begins to putrefy. Then it is stewed in a closed container (jug) with various kinds of seasoning. Had I not had some good Bordeaux I could never have kept down the first and only fork-full.

QUESTION: Is it true that they are making big guns again down at the C.G.E. Peterborough plant? I have heard talk of it.

ANSWER: I have made careful inquiry about this. The answer is: No. The reliable authorities whom I asked did not hedge or say, well, if we were, it would be kept quiet. They said flatly, No. So it's No.

DEAR ALPHA: Do you think women are becoming less beautiful and attractive, more mass produced; less desirable, more dispensable except as child-bearers?

ANSWER: That being the sort of question I cannot trust myself to answer, I have given your question to a young women of discernment and charm. She answers: "Sometimes I think it must be nice to live in a state like Russia where everybody is brought up the same way and does the same things. Then they'd be all alike and think alike and you'd never have any problem wondering what a person was thinking, or going to do, because you'd just have to think 'what would I do', and you have the answer.

"And yet it wouldn't be very good for women. Men are too p[illegible] now to say 'they're all alike'. Actually women are getting more alike and I think are plotting their own downfall. Gone are the days of the great beauty whom men adored and showered with gifts for a look alone. Fashion put an end to that; with the elevation of the uglies there came a levelling down of beauty, until now it's even better to be 'interesting' looking than beautiful. Now a woman has to do a lot more than just look lovely, or do good deeds, or think beautiful thoughts. That doesn't get her anywhere and the race for attention in love or business is such that every spark of natural, easy, womanly niceness is turned to low conniving. I shouldn't tell you all this, but, so help me, I think women are on the way out."

SIR: I notice that when Parliament opened last week the Governor-General was given a 21-gun salute, instead of the usual 19. I understand that this is because of the new Letters Patent and the consequent position of the Governor-General not as a governing viceroy but as the King's personal representative. What I would like assurance on is this: when a 21-gun salute is fired what does it mean? Do 21 guns fire?

ANSWER: The Governor-General now is accorded a full royal salute of 21-guns. In practice, 21 guns are not lined up in rows merely to fire one shot each. A few guns, as few as two or three, are used, and all told 21 rounds are fired, 21 booms boomed.

NOTE: I have run out of questions this week (readers—have you no further Queries to put?) so here is a Note—after all this column is called Notes and Queries. It is a do-re-me note.... A true music lover is a man who, hearing a blonde singing in her bath, puts his ear to the keyhole.

FOR THE RECORD:

Oft expectation fails and most oft there
Where most it promises, and oft it hits
Where hope is coldest and despair most fits.

Ergo! It seems Peterborough, after more than thirty-six years of hopes and promises, is verily to have a new Federal Building according to yesterday's announcement. W. Shakespeare says our piece for us—All's Well That Ends Well, perhaps.

Letters To The Editor

THE LITTLE THEATRE REPLIES

Sir: The letters censuring the Little Theatre require a reply from that body. No theatre group would go to the trouble and expense of preparing a play for public presentation if it seriously thought that it would offend a portion of its audience. In presenting "The Tinker's Wedding" by J. M. Synge the Peterborough Little Theatre sought only to offer the best short Irish play within its range. The choice is not unlimited, for we have to consider our actors and our resources. The name of Synge is in itself a guarantee of high literary worth, for with the exception of Yeats, Ireland has produced no comparable playwright. We were encouraged, what is more, by the warm praise which we received for our presentation of the same writer's "Riders To The Sea" in December. That play, we should like to point out, presents the Roman Catholic faith with the warmest sympathy, but no Catholic saw fit to comment on this aspect of it at that time.

Our attitude toward the play can best be expressed in the words of Synge's own preface to it: "The drama, like the symphony, does not teach or prove anything.... Of the things which nourish the imagination humour is one of the most needful, and it is dangerous to limit or destroy it. Baudelaire calls laughter the greatest sign of the Satanic element in man; and where a country loses its humour, as some towns in Ireland are doing, there will be morbidity of mind, as Baudelaire's mind was morbid.

"In the greater part of Ireland, however the whole people, from the tinkers to the clergy, have still a life, and view of life, that are rich and genial and humorous. I do not think that these country people, who have so much humour themselves, will mind being laughed at without malice, as the people in every country have been laughed at in their own comedies."

The Catholics in our audience are our friends and fellow-citizens. They know us and we know them. They are by no means lacking either in humour or a sense of proportion. Many of them, no doubt, were aware of the fact that "The Play of The Weather", which was first on our evening's program, was the work of a devout Catholic, John Heywood, a relative of Sir Thomas More (whom the Catholic Church has declared to be a saint) and one who suffered for his belief. They may have been pleased that the Peterborough Little Theatre gave his play its first hearing in Canada. As for "The Tinker's Wedding", we think that they took it in the good-humoured spirit in which Synge wrote it.

Faithfully yours,
R. J. BOLTON,
President,
The Peterborough Little Theatre

MALE PRIDE HAS A COUNTERPART

Sir: Methinks you must have had tongue in cheek when you printed that colossal monument to smugness signed "Proud Male". You must have known it would add a little fuel to the fire already raging between the sexes.

I wish "Proud Male" would let his wife write a letter in too. It makes one wonder. Would he permit such a thing? It's obvious he is the domineering type, a real throwback to the midvictorian, heavy-handed, master-of-the-house era. Would anyone else be so dense as to fail to see that it is the female counterpart of that pride he boasts of that is moving the women to action? Would his male ego allow him to be forced into a boiler factory if he were a top-notch carpenter? Would he allow a woman to browbeat him into a bakeshop if he were a deep-sea fisherman? Yet this irksome male with the inflated ego believes it is man's right to wave a stick at a woman and say thou shalt do no manner of work but to administer to my comfort.

Pshaw, the man should have been born in the middle ages! He must be like a fish out of water in this day and age.

Surely intelligent people do not believe there would be a mass migration of women into the factories if the way were left open to them. The majority of us are still happy to make our homes our lifework. But we will not be dictated to by egotistical males just to satisfy their vanity. We intend to maintain the right to choose the job best suited to our talents as individuals not just as servants to the so-called stronger sex.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,
A VERY PROUD FEMALE.

LET 'EM WORK!

Sir: What is all this fuss about women working? In a recent issue of a certain magazine we have "On Java, women work in the fields as a religious duty. To cultivate one hectare of rice land, a Javanese wife works 674 hours, her husband 285 hours and their water buffalo 59 hours."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples, saying, The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat: all therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do: but do not ye after their works: for they say, and do not....

Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgement, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. (Matt. 23: 1-3, 23.)

❖ ❖ ❖

The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool.... The Lord hath sworn, and will not repent, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchizedek. (Ps. 110: 1, 4.)

❖ ❖ ❖

For this Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him.... Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually....

If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?.... For it is evident that our Lord sprang out of Juda; of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood.

And it is yet far more evident: for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there ariseth another priest, who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life. (Heb. 7: 1, 3, 11, 14-16.)

Cage colleens go on two fronts here tonight, a twin bill at the YWCA—Nurses Srs. vs. Nurses Jrs., and Neill's vs. CGE — and a doubleheader for PCVS girls 'gainst lakeshore lasses at the Collegiate. Three boys' games up there, also, on Saturday, starting at 6.30. Oshawa vs. PCVS bantams, Marines vs. the senior PCI-ers, and Port Hope vs. PCVS juniors, first and third tilts of the triple-header being district and group playoffs. It is likely that the City League will go for a couple of games in the YM on Saturday, but we haven't yet received a copy of their schedule.

* * * * * *

Results of yesterday's OMHA openers in Oshawa should be in elsewhere. This is being written ere they were received, and we just want to remind folks to try and make those return playdown games tomorrow from nine a.m. till one in Civic Arena. Three important melees, our bantam Optimists, the midget Marines and the juvenile Oddfellows playing Motor City squads. The Peterborough puckists will hustle like all get-out (and so will their young opponents) as winners this week-end continue along the playdown path, but losers are through.

Junior Puck Playoffs

Of even more immediate interest for puck followers is that OHA junior "B" group semi-final game at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena. Between Kingston Vics and the local Triple Links, first of their best-of-three series. Next one is Monday in Kingston—and it could be over that soon for either team, the loser hanging up skates for this season. If a third is necessary, it'll be Monday here. Meantime, Oshawa and Belleville battle it out in the other bracket. This one here tonight ought to be a real thriller and should draw a dandy crowd as juniors give their all at playoff time.

* * * * * *

Oodles of arguments going on yet over that last Petes-Legion scramble, fans taking sides hotly and players making dire threats. Better there should be extra police on hand Monday night as they resume, or someone will be hurt. Especially if certain players keep wearing those high sticks. Okay defensively, but not as a weapon—use the stick as a shield in case of trouble. After all, eyes don't grow in again. Petes have to win this one, or they've had it for 1950, as Legion lead the best-of-five series two to one. Winner may have to wait a bit to get a crack at the Kingston-Belleville victor in the senior "B" group finals.

* * * * * *

Diesels Nearly Out

Kingston Nylons turned back Belleville Diesels 6-2 in the Limestone City last gloaming and it looks like Nylons are pretty well set now to make senior "B" group finals. Two wins in three starts of their best-of-five semi-finals, the other game being an overtime tie. They'll go again tomorrow in Belleville and that could be curtains for the Quinte crew. According to the scribe there, that winning goal in the Tuesday night number was a honey. With 25 seconds to go in the game, Walt Gerow took one of those long, fast passes from Joey Catlin and swept in like a jet plane to slam the burnt biscuit into the oven, and that was that. Yeah, those Nylons haven't lost a game in 19 starts—not since early in the season—and they'll be tough cookies in group finals.

"A California pharmacist is a farmer from California", Pat Flanagan remarked to Doc Len Hall after the semi-final mat bout at the Brock last eve. The indignant Doc retorted: "At least in the States, they don't call you a winner and then change their minds!" He was pretty peeved at the inept Referee Cliff Fox reversing his decision and giving the bout to Kay Bell—the "Samson" man—when Hall kept roughing after the gong. Pat was there as a friend of Whip Watson, who beat 294-pound Hi Lee (a mere six-foot-eight) in the main go in two straight falls. Whip and Fox feuded, too, and Watson had the ref pinned once under 516 pounds of wrestlers, quite accidental, of course, but Fox took a dim view of it. Barend and Bernard drew in a dull prelim.

Oshawa bantams edged out a 3-2 verdict over Millard's Optimists of Peterborough in Oshawa yesterday to open their OMHA playdown series. This gives Oshawa a one goal lead for the return match at the arena here tomorrow morning, the series being home-and-home with goals to count. The Optimists are confident that they can overcome that lead on smaller ice here and take the round.

Play was speedy, close and clean, but Optimists missed the mark, having more of the play. Also their two penalties—to Parry and Pagett—proved costly. Kane counted the only goal of the first frame and Parry scored in the second, as Woodcock and Bennett hit the twine for the homesters. Buckley sank the winner in the third. Optimists worked out earlier with Tedder Kennedy and Max Bentley, NHL stars, who were visiting Oshawa and having a practice skate at the arena. Ash, Parry, McDougall, Kane and Jones all looked good. Teams:

Optimists—Goal, Ash; defence, Pollard, Parry; centre, Pagett; wings, Brooks, Stewart; alternates McDougall, Roberts, Kane, Jones, Davis, McFadden, Gardner, Floyd, Masterson.

Oshawa—Goal, Delahaye; defence, Seabrooke, Simmons; centre, Brown; wings, Green, Post; alternates, Patterson, Spencer, Evans, Buckley, West, Gerrard, Bennett, Scriver, Edwards.

Bowling Notes

Quakers rolled high pinnage this week in the YMCA senior men's bowling league with a 3,308 effort, their high single being 1,284. Jaycees blanked Tip Tops, while 4-2 wins were marked by Quakers over B'nai B'rith, Commercials over Aberdeens, CPC against Artists. A. Black had top three with 768, including singles of 251 and 293. Leading single went to M. Doris with 304 in his 739 total. Other good counts were: G. Walton 751 (268, 258), A. Guerin 744 (292, 286), R. Suddards 735 (275), E. Down a single of 279, J. Weir 276, H. Froster 275 and F. Worsencroft 271.

Aces and Lucky Strikes battled it out this week for the leadership in the YMCA Girls' Senior League, Lucky Strikes taking all points from the Aces for top spot. Bombers helped their standing by blanking Hurricanes, while Glengarrys and Corvettes each took two from Tigers and Commandos. Mary Gimblett took all honors with high three of 716 and top singles of 271. Mabel Mahood rolled 642, Elsie Penrose 612 and Ethel and Norma Stanbury 611 each. In singles, E. Stanbury hit 257, M. Mahood 254, E. Penrose 243 and N. Stanbury 240. Tigers had a high single of 1018.

Whipper Takes Huge Hi Lee In Main Bout of Mat Card

Whipper Billy Watson beat huge Hi Lee in the man pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night in two straight falls before a big crowd. He got the first fall when Lee was disqualified by Referee Cliff Fox, but earned the second after a long, hard round. Kay Bell won the semi-final over Dr. Len Hall—a travelling pharmacist out of California—while the dull prelim between Johnny Barend and Barney Bernard went to a draw.

The Whip spotted the 294-pound Lee a lot of weight, being but 232, and plenty of height, as Hi towers at six-foot-eight. While the champ was fast and smart, the shaggy-maned Texan with the rumbling vodice had it over him on sheer power and rough tactics. The first round ended in 12 minutes when Fox disqualified Lee for refusing to heel warnings. He kept roughing Watson along the ropes and pushing him out of the ring, despite quick counts—against Hi as as warnings—by the referee. Earlier the Whip had shown plenty and was popular, but the Texan bulled his way through and roughed it up.

A Tough Job

It took 32 minutes before Whipper could flatten his big opponent, each in turn having an edge in a hot tussle, and Whip feuding at times with the referee. He "accidentally" rolled over with Lee on top of Fox once and gave him quite a going-over—Cliff raising ructions when he got up. Lee kept yanking hair and using choke holds, while he offset Whip's smarter tactics with his strength. He even survived the dreaded "whip" grip and it took a lengthy time for Watson to make his unconscious "Commando" hold pull the big fellow down for the final and popular fall after a hard scrap.

Finishes Strong

While the semi-final between Dr. Len Hall, going 255, and Kay (Samson) Bell, who scales 240, started slow, it finished on a hot note. Bell came into the ring attired in his "Samson and Delilah" costume, having doubled for Victor Mature in that picture—in which Wee Willie Davis also appears. The rough Doc apparently earned the fall after softening up Kay and slamming him, but he refused to quit after the bell, giving his prostrate opponent a real going-over. This caused the ref to change his mind and disqualify Hall, who was highly indignant at this change, but the fans cheered heartily. Bell got in some effective stuff, too, but Hall was plenty illegal throughout, preferring to swap elbow smashes than stick to mixing pills.

Not So Hot

Barend, at 218, and Bernard—who bumped the beam at 260—weren't too lively in the prelim, which went to a draw. Barend, nursing an injured foot, was popular and tried hard while the slow-moving Bernard was rough from the start. At lot of mat work was seen but not as much action as is usual in preliminary bouts among the pros. They did tangle the befuddled referee up to the delight of the crowd once. Bernard, who used plenty of dirty stuff and stalled a good deal of the time, was drop-kicked once out of the ring in one of the too bits of real mat action dished up.

Marines Gain 5-5 Draw

Tying the Oshawa midgets in the Motor City 5-5 yesterday, the local Outboard Marines go into the return game of their OMHA playdown series Saturday morning at Civic Arena all even. Coach Al Watkins feels his young Marines—who went to provincial bantam finals last spring—can take the good Oshawa outfit in this second one of the goals-to-count playdown series, though it may be a stiff battle.

Both sides played hustling hockey, and very clean, with not a penalty drawn. Spencer and Stewart each scored two goals for Marines and Corbett got one. This trio, along with Bob Delahaye in goal, were probably the pick of the visitors, but the whole team worked hard. Davis and Price each had two markers for Oshawa and Jones one.

It was real hurry-up hockey from start to finish, with the rival goalies having to jump plenty in every period as play swept speedily up and down the large arena ice surface. Marines feel they can win out on the smaller sheet here tomorrow. No line-ups were brought back.

100F Juveniles Get Lead Over Oshawa

Defeating Oshawa juveniles 6-1 yesterday in the Motor City, the Peterborough Oddfellows brought home a five-goal lead for their return match at Civic Arena tomorrow morning. Play in the opener was clean and lightning fast, with the Triple Links clicking in top form for their opening OMHA playdown victory.

Golaska was the scoring star for the winners with two goals and an assist, while Shearer got the niftiest counter of the contest on a rink-length solo dash. Robinson and Batley shone, too, but the whole team looked good. Pallister, Myles and Lawrence went best for the winners. Edwards drew the only two penalties of the fray.

Golaska scored the lone marker of the first frame on a pass from Armstrong. Pammett made at 2-0 in the second, with Buckton and Ferguson siding, but Lawrence got one for Oshawa that heat. In the third, Golaska, Bacon, Shearer and Floyd all scored, an assist each going to Collins, Jensen and Golaska.

Teams:

Triple Links—Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre Pammett; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alternates, Jensen, Floyd, Golaska, Collins, Robinson, Bacon, Shearer, Kimball.

Oshawa—Goal, Pallister; defence, Huddeston, Edwards; centre, Hasto; wings, Depratto, J. Sutton; alternates, Howles, Myles, Lawrence, G. Sutton, Kellar, Carrie, Wallace.

Fighter Dies, Commission Orders Inquiry

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP) — Boxing, subject of many investigations, went under the microscope today as ring and civil authorities sought an answer to the death of Lavern Roach, good-looking, 24-year-old middleweight of Plainview, Tex.

Two investigations were ordered immediately to determine if negligence played a part in the fatal brain injury [illegible] boyish ex-marine. He died Thursday, 14 hour after he was knocked out in a fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

No charges were brought against his opponent, George Small of Brooklyn, who smashed Roach to the canvas twice with rattling right-hand blows in the 10th round.

The New York State Athletic Commission had an open hearing this morning.

The district attorney's office launched a widespread investigation, calling in all persons connected with the Wednesday night bout.

The official hospital bulletin attributed the death to a "cerebral hemorrhage and brain damage."

Roach, voted the brightest rookie prospect of 1947 by Ring Magazine, gave Small a beating in the early rounds and had a long lead on points until the knockout came.

It was the first ring death of the year and the 10th among professionals in the United States in the last 14 months.

Rangers Hottest In NHL Wallop Black Hawks 7-3

By The Canadian Press.

National Hockey League coaches and fans today can look with respect, not to mention a degree of alarm, at the New York Rangers, hottest team in the loop.

The Rangers Thursday night walloped Chicago Black Hawks 7-3, and moved into a tie with Montreal Canadiens for third place. Riding an unbeaten streak of eight games, including two ties the men from Manhattan began to threaten the leaders, and that hasn't happened for the Rangers in many a moon.

Montreal Canadiens held the Detroit Red Wings to a 1-1 tie at Montreal in the night's only other game. It means that Detroit today has 69 points, Toronto 62, and New York and Montreal are tied at 57. Boston in fifth place is five full games behind New York, with 14 games to go, and Chicago at the bottom is another three points lower.

Scoring Stars

Alex Kaleta and Pentti Lund each scored two goals for Rangers, with Edgar Laprade, Jack McLeod and Dunc Fisher getting the others. The only bright spot from Chicago's standpoint was that veteran forward Doug Bentley scored his 200th NHL goal, with Bep Guidolin and Metro Prystai scoring the others.

Chuck Rayner, the Rangers' great goalie, was unbeaten until Guidolin's score late in the second period. The game started over an hour late, waiting for the Rangers who changed from a late train at Buffalo to airplane and had a police escort to reach the Chicago Stadium from the airport.

A record was equalled in the game at Montreal—the 15th tie of the season for the Canadiens. They shared the previous mark with Chicago Black Hawks. Jim McFadden scored for Detroit in the second.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Four Toronto and Vancouver figure skaters will represent Canada at the world's figure skating championships at Wembley, England, next month.

Names of the four skaters, three of them from the Toronto Skating Club, were announced Thursday night at Ottawa by Charles H. Cumming, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Figure Skating Association.

They are: Miss Suzanne Morrow, Miss Marlene Elizabeth Smith, and Donald H. Gilchrist, all of Toronto, and Roger Wickson.

Mr. Cummings said Miss Morrow and Miss Smith will compete in the ladies singles competition, while Wickson will enter the men's singles event. Miss Smith and Gilchrist are entered in the pairs competition.

At Ford Monroe Lieut. Glenn Davis, former all-America gridiron star for Army, Thursday said he will play professional football next autumn with the Los Angeles Rams.

David was notified Thursday afternoon that the Army had accepted his resignation. Although the resignation becomes effective June 3, Davis will be free to accept civilian employment in March.

Led by 19-year-old Johanne Hewson, who set a course and Canadian - American Collegiate record, the women's team of McGill University won the downhill race in Thursday's opening event of the 19th Niddlebury College, Vt., winter carnival.

Miss Hewson flashed down the eight tenths of a mile course with a vertical drop of about 1,500 feet from top to finish, in 1:34.4. Joan Macklaier of Montreal, Middlebury captain also cracked the record with fast time of 1:36.4.

The Canadian National Exhibition grandstand running track will be changed from one-third to one-quarter mile, the Toronto Civic Parks Committee decided on Thursday. Controller Allan Lamport, who asked for the change, said the quarter mile track would help the city in its bid for the 1954 British Empire games.

Ezzrett (Sugarfoot) Anderson, towering end with Calgary Stampeders, arrived at Calgary from Los Angeles Thursday for an operation on his right elbow. He said he injured the elbow in the Dominion football final last fall when Stampeders lost their title to Montreal Alouettes. The big end will also undergo an operation on his feet.

Miss Olive Rogers' Montreal rink Thursday advanced to the semi-finals of the United States women's curling tournament with a thrilling 10-9 overtime victory over a Chicago Curling Club foursome skipped by Mrs. Harold Barnard. The quarter-final match went 11 ends. The only other surviving Canadian rink meanwhile bowed out of the bonspiel. Mrs. R. W. Cross' Hamilton foursome dropped a 10-5 decision to a Wauwatosa, rink led by Mrs. Henry French.

At Miami, Fla., Willie Pep, world featherweight champion, Thursday was fined $500 and his opponent, Jimmy Warren of Brooklyn, $250 for "poor showing and lack of effort" in a 10-round non-title fight Wednesday night.

For the first hour chiefs Johnnie Hamblin and Joe Clements were kept busy with Aunt Jemima's Ready Mix pancake. There was lots of good syrup, maple and Crown Brand, the latter a generous donation to this worthy cause.

Members of the Monday Nite Club graciously assisted members of the ball club in serving. Councillor Gordon being adept with the tea towel, was also put to work.

Treasurer Ab. Throop at time of writing could not say just how much was cleared in this, one of the many efforts put forth by this group of citizens to raise funds for floodlights on the fair grounds or ball park.

TCS Captures Conference Title

PORT HOPE, Feb. 24—Trinity College School's first team won their Conference title as they swamped St. Andrew's College, 12-2. Of a possible 16 points, TCS gathered 13 to SAC's 11. The game itself was very fast on the smaller arena, as the Trinity team completely outskated the Saints.

SAC had many opportunities around the TCS nets, but couldn't flip the puck past Jim Gordon. Bruce Little was the star of the game with five goals and one assist, Bob McDerment and Ralph Cooke played standout games, scoring six points each.

Malone and King were the sole marksmen for SAC.

TCS Seconds downed SAC, 7-2 Grossage led the winners with three goals, and Van Straubenzie scored two. SAC and TCS thirds tied, 1-1.

Some 400 men applied. The man with the "slickest" bald pate will receive a prize of 200 dollars. Here German actress Olga Tschechowa is surrounded by hopeful bald-headed candidates. Chin whiskers didn't count in the contest.

R.C. Teachers Take Course In Catechetics

A course on methods in catechetics, sponsored by Ontario English Catholic Teachers Association Peterborough district, ended Wednesday.

The course of lectures was given by Fathers Heeg and Southard, two Jesuits of St. Louis University, Missouri.

The first session was held at St. Anne's School followed by an open meeting at Queen Mary Auditorium.

His Excellency, Most Reverend Gerald Berry, D. D., introduced the guest speakers.

This meeting was particularly informative for parents, as the two speakers gave a panoramic view of the numerous problems confronting modern parents.

Father Heeg gave helpful hints as to how parents and teachers might co-operate in forming Christ in the child.

Plan Spare Time.

Father Southard showed a sympathetic understanding of the teen-ager and warned that parents and teachers must teach children to take care of their spare time. This counteracts flood of objectionable comics and movies.

An open question period showed the enthusiasm of the parents and teachers for such a lecture.

J. G. McCarney, chairman of the Separate School Board, moved a vote of thanks to the guest speakers.

Choir Entertained.

Entertainment at this meeting was provided by the girl's choir of St. Peter's High School who presented the life of Christ in song.

The second day opened with mass at Mount St. Joseph followed by a short business session. The teachers separated into elementary and secondary groups. Father Heeg taking charge of the elementary and Father Southard the secondary.

In the afternoon pupils of St. Joseph's Convent, Campbellford, gave a demonstration of dancing.

The course closed with color sound motion pictures on the mass produced by Father Southard.

Increases Audiences

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius increased the number of his audiences today as his health continued to show improvement. The Pope was reported to have fully recovered from a recent attack of influenza but was said to still have a somewhat weakened voice.

SIR GERALD CAMPBELL, G.C.M.G. (right) former British High Commissioner to Canada, visited Montreal headquarters of the Boy Scouts recently, where he congratulated PETER GRANT, (centre) 13, whose award of the Gilt Cross for bravery was announced. Peter saved a girl from drowning at Muskoka last summer, although he was not a strong swimmer at that time. At left is Earl T. Moore, president of the Montreal district Scout association.

Train Readers To Demand Objective News

NEW YORK—(CP)—Discriminating readers rather than government regulation will help to develop responsible newspapers, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, said in an address here.

"Some critics, discouraged at the failure of a portion of our (the United States) press to attain high standards of responsibility, have proposed some form of regulation, by government or by a voluntary agreement between newspapers," he told 500 teachers attending a course on "Education and the News."

"To my mind any such attempt at regulation would have a disastrous effect on the continuance of a free press as a basic element in our democratic system.

"In the absence of regulation the support of the newspaper reader must be the factor which, in the long run, will encourage or discourage responsibility on the part of those who publish newspapers.

Rests With Readers

"It is not, therefore, an exaggeration to say that the ultimate responsibility for the kind of press we develop, under our constitutional guarantee of freedom, rests with the readers."

Although newspapers had a special responsibility to provide "full and objective coverage of th news," many papers made little claim to objectivity and sacrificed broad news coverage for sensational items "which stimulate their readers' emotions, not their minds."

They did this, he said, because their readers wanted such fare. Teachers could play a major part in improving standards by teaching students to look for full, objective news coverage.

"The more readers we have with that training, the more will the force of competition between newspapers, in appealing to such readers, raise those newspaper standards," Mr. Sulzberger said.

Too Much Skating

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP) — Ruth French, former premiere danseuse of the Anna Pavlova Troup, said Thursday Canada has not produced a topflight ballet dancer—because skating is too popular. Skating makes an artist too tense when she dons ballet slippers, said Miss French, here to examine dancers for the Royal Academy of Dancing in London.

Four In Front Seat Ruled Not Illegal

SARNIA, Feb. 24 (CP)—Driving with four persons in the front seat of a motor vehicle does not necessarily constitute a violation of the Highway Traffic Act, Magistrate J. C. Dunlap ruled on Thursday.

Although he said he was "not in favor of four persons riding in the cab of a truck," Magistrate Dunlap dismissed the charge on the grounds that the passengers were not interfering with the driver.

Wesley H. Miller was charged with having passengers situated in the cab of his truck in such a manner as to be a detriment to his driving.

Counsel for defense argued that in view of the fact that Miller's vision was not obstructed by the passengers he could not be convicted under the Highway Traffic Act.

KRIPTIN

Checks Cold Misery!

Not in days—but in hours!

This is no ordinary cold pill, quinine, or acetylsalicylic acid that just "soothes" cold misery!

This is KRIPTIN, the new anti-histamine drug that checks cold misery in a matter of hours — before a cold can get a foothold. Here are more facts you should know about KRIPTIN:

PROVED IN U.S. NAVY TESTS

In tests by the U.S. Navy (during the winter of 1947-48) the KRIPTIN formula and several other anti-histamines were tested for cold treatment.

In 9 out of 10 cases, cold symptoms disappeared when anti-histamine treatment began within an hour after the appearance of the signs of a cold.

Even when treatment started within 6 hours, symptoms vanished in 74% of cases . . . in 70% of cases when treatment began within 12 hours.

And in all these tests, patients preferred the KRIPTIN formula over all other anti-histamines tested!

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Skiing's standout moment!

In 1938, against all odds, a Canadian ski team blazed to Alpine victory!

Gusts of snow swirled around the mountains at St. Moritz, Switzerland. It was the day of the relay race in the International University Ski Championships. And for the first time Canada was competing . . . racing against many of western Europe's finest skiers.

The unfamiliar Alpine snow took its toll of the Canadians. The fourth-lap skier lagged eight minutes behind the leading Italian teams . . . and faced a steep 1,800-foot climb. But at the storm-blown summit amazed officials saw him sweep in—only 30 seconds behind the leaders. With half a minute to make up, the fifth Canadian streaked into the last lap—a 3,000-foot plunge into the valley. He flashed past the favourites one by one . . . and crossed the line a winner by 45 seconds!

Good sportsmanship has won many world friends for Canada . . . just as the spirit of working together has made us one of the world's great nations. These two, sportsmanship and enterprise, keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

The Canadian Ski Championships, together with events of the North American and International University Championships will be held this year at Banff from Feb. 4 to March 5.

Chinese Play Praised By Adjudicator

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 (CP)—Maxwell Wray isn't looking for technical perfection on his drama festival tour of Canada.

"It's the spirit behind the play that counts," the adjudicator of Canadian regional contests said Thursday night following the first production in the eastern Ontario festival.

The play was "The Circle of Chalk," produced by a company from Deep River, Ont. The adjudicator praised the group for "such an intelligent attack" on "one of the most ambitious choices" he has seen so far.

Mr. Wray put both audiences and cast in high good humor by telling them just how he does his adjudicating.

Among other things competing groups are marked on their choice of play, and Mr. Wray said he is looking forward to seeing a good Canadian drama. He hopes to do so before this festival is out.

Mr. Wray may not be disappointed. Three Canadian-written plays have been entered in the week-long contest to continue tonight with Ottawa drama league's production of Terence Rattigan's four-act drama "The Winslow Boy."

Chinese Legend

The Deep River group's entry Thursday night was a translation of the adaptation of a Chinese legend by the German playwright Klabund.

The adjudicator said the beauty of this five-act play lies in "the beauty of the language, the way it is spoken and the way it is staged."

While the action was slow, there were some moments of "extremely good" direction in the production.

Norma Renault of Deep River and Toronto, had given an "exquisite performance," as the girl, "Chang-Hi-tang. Others Mr. Wray singled out for special mention included Monty Moss as Chow, clerk of the court, and Peter Stewart as Chu-Chu, the chief judge.

Mr. Wray praised Peggy Nixon of Deep River and New Liskeard, who had painted the settings. They were "extremely good indeed." Margery Jackson of St Catharines also helped design the sets. Both girls are nurses working at Deep River.

Must Halt Soil Exploiting Warns Conservation Expert

Conservation of natural resources is an urgent necessity for the world's peoples, warned Dr. O. J. McConkey of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph while speaking to the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

In America, he said, the forests, soils and natural resources have already been exploited in a short time; in the last 100 to 300 years in the east and 75 years in the western prairies. The exploition of the natural resources has been "savage and rapid", perhaps unequalled in human history, he added.

Fortunately conservation measures are now being started, initiated by a few far seeing scientists who started soil conservation stations in the early 1920's. Now Governments and the public are taking action. Conservation and improved land utilization must be a continuous program.

Dr. McGonkey who recently returned from Far East where he was doing work for the United Nations in soil conservation, said that in Japan there is a well-balanced husbandry of forest cover and well-tended fields where erosion control measures have been taken. The Japanese have almost doubled their agriculture production in the last 60 years.

Records of agriculture show work in China 4000 years ago, he said. Pressure of population became acute in parts of the country centuries ago and equally long ago man began his struggles against soil deterioration there.

Despite the frugal husbandry of Chinese farmers, said Dr. McConkey, China is a country destroyed—sterile in many regions—as the result of over-population, deforestration and absence of grass-legume soil building crops in the rotations.

The main factors which cause erosion in China are: (1) the country is high towards the Tibetan plateau in the west and the rivers flow down to the Pacific heavily laden with silt; (2) the heavy burden on the land caused by overpopulation; (3) the Monsoon rains, with much of the water lost as runoff from the denuded surface during June, July and August; (4) the high velocity winds which blow across north China, northwest Siberia and Gobi desert cause soil erosion; (5) competition for fuel; (6) the grasses and legumes are not used in rotation.

The population is so heavy that the Chinese are forced to follow an extractive system of farming to produce human food which is eaten directly, he said. The Chinese cannot follow the Canadian livestock system of farming with good grass-legume crops in the rotation to build soils unless the population is reduced.

Dr. McConkey said that the Yellow river carries the heaviest silt load of any river in the world. It transports from its watershed as much soil each year as all the rivers of the United States together. The 1934 measurements of silt carried by the Yellow River showed that the silt would cover 350,000 acres to the depth of three feet.

Considering the world' population and food supply, Dr. McConkey gave these figures; the world population is 2,250,000,000; the world population is increasing at 2,000,000 a month; the world population will soon be 3,000,000,000; the farm land world, 4,000,000,000 acres; 2.5 acres are required per man to maintain his food, clothing and shelter; at present about half the world's population or about 1,000,000,000 is now undernourished or near starvation.

In Europe the fields and forests are well-cared-for. Forestry practices there are the best in the world. A planned organization of foresters is on a township basis in Germany. The rule in Europe is "When you cut a tree, plant a tree".

In America, said Dr. McConkey, the soil mantle is vulnerable, more easily destroyed than in Britain and Europe because much of the natural protecting forest cover has been cut away. Rainfall comes in heavy eroding downpours of two to four inches which cause erosion, not like the misty rains of Europe.

Another factor is the now heavy runoff of water from melting snow over frozen, bare ground in the spring which causes destructive floods as well as erosion. The snow melted slowly under the original forest cover, he added.

Dr. McConkey said that the percentage of forest cover in Ontario is below 20 percent the necessary proportion to maintain balance. Because of this, floods are increasing, water level is dropping, and there is a growing scarcity of water for domestic industrial and hydro uses. Sheet and gully erosion is taking an annual toll of soil deficiencies causing nutritional problems for plants and animals, said Dr. McConkey. Cash cropping has reduced the organic matter of the soils in some regions in spite of the increased yield resulting from introduction of many excellent improved disease resistant crops varieties. The average of the provincial crop yields has remained about stationary but dropping soil fertility level is the fundamental reason.

Dr. McConkey said there is a growing need of plowing under more legume green manures, more grass and legume mixtures in the rotations to prevent runoff and to build organic matter, fibre and fertility in the soil.

Good grass-legume rotation manure, minerals, and livestock farming is the foundation of effective soil conservation and soil fertility.

Dr. McConkey screened two movies, one on the plight of the Chinese people and the other "The Rape of the Earth."

Ernest McWilliams introduced the speaker who was thanked by Gordon Hancock.

Hydro Projects Being Rushed

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP) — Construction projects to give Ontario more hydro-electric power will go ahead at full speed, Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro-Electric Chairman, said Thursday night. The 1950 hydro construction expenditure will reach $156.000,000.

Reviewing last year's construction work, Mr. Saunders said that the $141,749,369 spent on new projects represented 99.8 per cent of the Hydro Commission's entire budget.

With the rural electrification program high on Hydro's program the 1950 schedule calls for laying 2,000 more miles of lines to accommodate some 27,000 new hydro consumers in rural areas.

In addition, the Commission plans to spend approximately $24,000,000 on frequency standardization—the change-over from 25 to 60 cycle service.

Find Tariffs No Longer Popular Subject

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

If one attended a meeting of Canadian business men 25 years ago, there is one subject one could have depended upon hearing discussed. It was—"tariffs."

If one attends a meeting of Canadian business men today there is one subject one can virtually depend upon not hearing discussed. It is —"tariffs." Canadian tariffs, that is.

This doesn't at all mean that tariffs aren't still important to Canadian industry. They are.

But in the broader picture, perhaps nothing illustrates more the growing of Canadian industry than the decrease in emphasis on tariffs. Many a business today, instead of fearing United States competition on Canadian soil, simply longs for a chance at the United States market on American soil.

Lower In Canada

John A. Marsh, general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association, made a comment pertinent to this in an address Wednesday at Port Arthur. Said Mr. Marsh:

"The axiom that United States manufacturing costs are always lower no longer holds. In many plants man hours per unit of output are definitely lower in Canada than the United States.

"During the war and since, some United States firms have found that costs in their Canadian subsidiary plants are lower than in their parent companies on the other side of the border.

"Canadian farm implements have invaded the United States market in impressive volume."

Mr. Marsh said also:

"A huge American market for our goods offers itself to those Canadian business men who have the courage to explore it."

What does it add up to? To this:

We no longer are kids who must be seen and not heard while Mother Britain and Uncle Sam (dear souls) carry on the family councils. Neither are we so big that we can brush off the old folks. But we are big enough to have our say.

They formerly were owned by the Nationalist-controlled Chinese National Aviation Corporation and Central Air Transport Corp.

The president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, was in charge of the worship service assisted by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, Mrs. Andrew Brown and Mrs. J. A. Nichol. Mrs. C. W. Varcoe was pianist.

The community friendship report announced seven personal calls had been made, two parcels sent, five letters and 13 cards mailed to the ill and bereaved. Mrs. George Mouncey is secretary of this department.

Plans were made for the March meeting at the home of Mrs. Ford Derry, with Mrs. F. G. Lewis in charge of the program and Mrs. T. S. Coyle in charge of the study book.

Special prayers were offered for Mrs. Floyd Honey, missionary in China. Mrs. Honey was formerly at Baltimore.

Make Mercy Trip To Save Baby's Life

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP) — A three-day-old baby was sped here from Orillia at 70 miles an hour last night for an operation to correct a kidney ailment. The child's condition was reported as satisfactory.

Ivan Reid, father of the infant, said today the ambulance which made the 80-mile trip bucked a blinding snowstorm the whole way. He quoted Orillia doctors as saying he had 2½ hours to get the baby to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children for an operation to save its life. He said he and the driver, A. D. Nicholson, made it in 75 minutes.

"We were supposed to have relays of police escorts all the way to Toronto," said Mr. Nicholson, "but I guess we went too fast for them for we weren't escorted at any point."

Doubles Shipments

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 (CP)—Canada's atomic energy plant at Chalk River has more than doubled its shipments of radioactive isotopes to Canadian industries and research institutions during the last year, the National Research Council reported Thursday.

Allotting Coal If Bins Empty

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—The prospect of forcing householders well supplied with coal to share fuel with less foresighted neighbors was raised Thursday by E. R Lockyer, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange.

He said the United States coal strike has made it almost impossible to replenish stockpiles. A sudden cold snap this week increased the demand on dwindling coal supplies and, coupled with uneasiness about future supplies, started some consumers "raiding the dealers."

Mr. Lockyer announced that coal is being delivered to consumers only if their coal bins are empty.

"Toronto stockpiles are low, but they'll last if we don't have to deal with panicky consumers," he said. "We're appealing to householders to take it easy."

He said he believed that in the event of an immediate emergency the government could transfer fuel from homes with a surplus to those with empty bins.

Five Children Saved In Fire

HAMILTON, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Five young children were snatched from possible death by suffocation Thursday when fire broke out in the basement of their Dundurn Street home.

As dense smoke rapidly filled the small brick cottage, Mrs. George Forty and her sister, Mrs Robert Bowman, who lives with her, snatched up the five youngsters who range in age from six months to seven years and, bundling them in blankets, rushed them out into the bitter cold to a neighbor's house. One of the tiny tots, Wayne, ran out into the knee-high snow and bitter cold clad only in his pyjama bottoms to escape the choking smoke.

Firemen extinguished the blaze which they said was caused by a cigarette butt.

the two Zahodniks climbed into the truck and they left Lindsay.

Four or five minutes elapsed between the time the brothers emerged from the cafe and when they drove away in the truck Previously this span had been estimated at "a few seconds" by James and a minute and a half to two minutes by Paul.

"Did you see Floyd Smith, Sidney Risley or Thornton Olver?" (all wounded in the affray that night), asked Mr. Pitt.

"No," said Yuzwa.

Denies Stabbing

"All say they were cut or slashed with a sharp instrument. Did you stab any of them?"

"No," said the accused again. He lounged easily in the witness box and showed excitement only when he was telling of parrying a blow aimed at him while sitting in the truck.

He reiterated that he fought with nobody that night and did not come within two or three feet of the curb Testimony of Crown witnesses Wesley Aldred and Lionel Tracy that they saw him on the sidewalk were flatly denied.

"Nobody hit me and I wasn't hit by anybody," he stated.

"I take it you are not a fighting man," queried Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan opening cross-examination.

Yuzwa replied with one of the few smiles that he was not. His last fist fight, he claimed, was when he was a boy of 15 years.

"But you were a bit annoyed at this man who came over to your car," suggested Mr. Jordan.

"Yes."

The witness told of having had drinks of whisky in Toronto, on the road while driving to Oshawa and again in Oshawa. Shortly after leaving that city Paul Zahodnik took over the steering wheel.

On Hunting Trip

He said all four were on a hunting trip to Bryson, Quebec, where another Zahodnik brother Mike lives. For him it was a chance to hunt and have a holiday—his first in three years

Yuzwa related that he did not know when they passed through Peterborough on November 17 but recalls the restaurant incident north of Lakefield.

James Zahodnik drove after that, he said, and he dozed off. When asked why, the accused replied he was tired, having driven about 500 miles that day.

Previously he had told the court he had his last drink at either 8.30 p.m. or 9.30 p.m. and he contended he was not drunk.

When he woke the panel truck was parked outside the Big 20 Cafe in Lindsay. He didn't know what place it was and was at a loss to know where the Zahodnik brothers went.

Previously, both James and Paul Zahodnik had testified that they, together with their brother John, went into the cafe for coffee. James also said they wanted information as they had become lost Yuzwa, they said, preferred to remain in the truck and told them he wanted to sleep.

The accused, cross-examined by the Crown Attorney, said he could not remember saying this.

An unidentified man began to bait him while he was trying to sleep, he said. Later the same man, or another, approached the truck and swore at him.

Sweeping his arm in a 45-degree upward direction, he demonstrated how he tried to ward off an impending blow while sitting in the passenger's seat.

Then the man said: "you dirty—why don't you come out and fight like a man?"

About eight men were clustered about the truck, he told Crown Attorney Jordan, and at one time in his testimony he described them as "hollering, fighting and screaming."

When the three Zohodniks came out of the cafe he advanced to within a few feet of the sidewalk and spoke to them.

Under cross examination Paul Zohodnik had previously stated he stepped in between Yuzwa and the man he was quarreling with The two were only about two feet apart. Paul said the accused swung his arm over Paul's left shoulder in the direction of the Yuzwa adversary.

The prisoner said he thought Paul was mistaken.

Paul took him by the arm and led him to the truck, he said. And he remained inside till the four of them drove away.

For a short time he was unaware of the whereabouts of James and John Zohodnik.

He stated he had never seen the blood-stained knife, believed to be the murder weapon, before he was arraigned. It was found midway between the driver's and passenger's seats in the front of the truck.

He admitted he had vomited in the front seat but laid this to eating Polish sausage and hunks of bread during the drive up from Oshawa.

The glove compartment was too full for a knife to be included there, he said.

said Mr. Jolliffe. "It is to be found in all backward countries."

Premier Frost had failed to represent the province effectively. The Bell Telephone Company had applied to the Board of Transport Commissioners for an increase in rates that would mean an additional $25,000,000 a year. The Ontario Government should have engaged the best assistance available and should have opposed the application, for the protection of Ontario telephone users.

"The consumer has been betrayed," said Mr. Jolliffe.

Ontario also made no representations to have the pipeline from Alberta oil fields to the eastern United States brought to the head of the lakes.

Premier Frost said that world trade is beyond the scope of a provincial government. There were "some things" that Ontario could do, however. The government was in constant conference with the British trade representatives; it had re-opened Ontario trade offices in London, England.

Doing Best

The Ontario Hydro Commission had bought $8,000,000 worth of equipment in Britain "within a comparatively short time," and much of the liquor sold through the Ontario Liquor Control Board was imported from Scotland.

The government had never "minimized" unemployment. Extensive public works were underway which would provide jobs.

Premier Frost said the Board of Transport Commissioners was competent to deal with the application of the Bell Telephone Company and to deal fairly with Ontario's interests.

Of the pipeline, Premier Frost said Ontario would have welcomed it at the lakehead, but it was a matter beyond the province's authority. "We are not delegates to the United Nations, or even the government of Canada."

Never Minimized

"This government has never minimized the matter of unemployment," Premier Frost said. "All our resources have been directed the other way."

"We have great public works underway, many of which have been in the course of operation for some time."

"The need for direct relief which has existed here in the past has to a large extent disappeared," he said.

Ontario had "led all of Canada," in housing. The province had "made more progress in education than any jurisdiction in America."

Mr. Jolliffe's motion had said the address in reply to the speech from the throne be amended to add that the house "regrets that the government has disclosed no effective plans for meeting the growth of unemployment, the decline in farm income and the shortage of low-rental housing."

100,000 Jobless

For instance, if a logger had worked at his job for 100 days and in another insurable job for 25 days, he is entitled to the supplementary benefits for one-fifth of the total time of 125 days which is 25 days.

Heretofore Excluded

With the exception of British Columbia, loggers and lumber workers have heretofore been excluded.

Health Minister Martin introduced the new legislation, giving a general explanation of effects during consideration of the resolution.

Spokesmen for the opposition groups—Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) and F. B. Shaw (SC-Red Deer)—said they would support the legislation while expressing regret that it did not solve the unemployment problem generally.

Mr. Martin said the supplementary benefits are designed to provide additional protection for unemployed workers during the first three months of each year when winter normally forces employment to its lowest ebb.

Under the present act an employee in an insured job must have made contributions for at least 180 work-days during the last two years to qualify for benefits.

While this is not changed, workers with fewer work days can qualify under the specific circumstances for the supplementary benefits.

$16.80 a Week

Maximum supplementary benefits are $16.80 a week paid to a person with a dependent. These benefits go to a person whose earnings called for payment of 56 cents a week in unemployment insurance.

The highest regular benefits are $21 a week paid to a person with a dependent whose weekly contribution is 56 cents a week.

Until now, when a person's earnings rose above the insurable limit he could still qualify for benefits in the event of unemployment. In order to qualify, however, he must have 200 weeks of contributions within the last five years.

Under the amendments, he may qualify if he has paid only 180 daily contributions in the last two years.

Mr. Martin said the increase of a cent a day in the contributions by employer and employee are to pay for the increased coverage provided by the supplementary benefits. The federal government will pay an additional one-fifth of a cent for every additional cent paid by employers and employees.

Another Example

As an example of the supplementary benefits, take the case of an insured worker who is laid off in November. He is paid $18 30 a week during that month and to the end of December. At that rate however, he is still unemployed and benefits are exhausted.

The supplementary benefits then come into operation. Between Jan. 1 and March 31 the worker will be able to collect supplementary payments equal to 80 per cent of what he was getting before his benefits ran out.

This would amount to about $14.50 a week. The payments would continue for the same number of days for which he was entitled to collect his regular insurance.

Mr. Martin said there were 375,600 registered unemployed at Feb. 2. At least 250,000 were either drawing unemployment insurance or had entered claims for it.

125,000 Seek Jobs

This left about 125,000 persons looking for employment. They might include 75,000 who had exhausted their benefits or who did not qualify. An additional 25,000 would normally be employed in lumbering and logging and another 25,000 would not come under a specific category.

"It is anticipated that the proposed amendments will benefit approximately 100,000 individuals," Mr. Martin said.

Besides the major changes there are several minor ones. A worker collecting benefits will be allowed to earn up to $2 a day instead of $1.50 at subsidiary employment while awaiting return to his regular job.

Workers 16 and under and earning less than 90 cents a day will contribute to the unemployment insurance fund and will be allowed to collect benefits. Their contribution will be two cents a day, with an additional two cents paid by the employer. The rate of benefit for this category would be $4.20 a week.

2 Companies Separate

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP).—Works Minister Fournier told the Commons Thursday that there is no relation between the Eddy Match Company of Pembroke, and the E. B. Eddy Paper Company of Hull, Quebec.

Mr. Fournier, who represents the constituency of Hull, was replying to W. Chester S. McClure (PC-Queens) who asked if the two companies were either affiliated or associated with each other Justice Minister Garson first replid that they are "separate corporations." Mr. Fournier amplified this, adding that he knew personally that in 1924 the E. B. Eddy Company had sold its match-producing section to some other company.

VOL. C, No. 46 FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1950

MOCK DISASTER EVACUATION was staged at the plant of Canadian Nashua Paper Company on Thursday evening by co-operative efforts of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society and St. John's Ambulance Association. Propose Direct Highway Connecting Peterborough With Dual-lane at Newcastle

The Newcastle-Peterborough Highway which the Hon. George Doucett announced on Tuesday in Toronto is an entirely new project, the Minister informed the Examiner today. It is not the route of the new highway westerly from Peterborough which was contemplated in the planning of highway extension early in the war. The Doucett five-year plan carries an estimate cost of $150,000,000. Expenditure in the Peterborough-Belleville-Kingston area of the provincial highways project will be approximately $27,900,000.

The Minister told the Ontario Good Roads Association he was asking "for what I might term a special appropriation of $150,000,000 to be used over a period of five years to finance the biggest developments ever contemplated in our King's Highway system. Our plans will require some $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 during the present season, about $30,000,000 next year, and $35,000,000 in each of the three succeeding years.

These sums are over and above what we have come to regard as a normal yearly expenditure."

Result Of Survey

Hon. Mr. Doucett explained to the Examiner that the Newcastle-Peterborough highway was the result of a survey which he had directed for the purposes of the five-year project. The dual-lane highway is to be extended from Oshawa to Newcastle and the road from there to Peterborough is designed for various requirements of increasing traffic through this section of the province to the north and east. It will relieve lakeshore traffic from No. 2 to No. 7, and will be an advantage in shortening the route from Toronto to Ottawa, through the Peterborough area.

Counts of tourist cars from the U.S.A. have shown 1,800,000 entering the province at Windsor, 1,400,000 at Fort Erie and 700,000 at Niagara Falls. Some of this traffic flows north, but a large volume of it comes east beyond Toronto toward the Kawartha and Haliburton country, and elsewhere in the northeast.

"Traffic has been pouring through Welcome into the north road to Peterborough," Mr. Doucett said today. "It has been steadily increasing. With the dual-lane highway coming through Newcastle, that looked like a sound project to build a new road to Peterborough, linking No. 2 and No. 7, and providing greater facilities for travel in that direction."

Opening Up Country

The Minister said that in highway planning he had to take a broad view of the development of the province. New roads in the last 25 years have been opening up the county north and east of Peterborough to a greater extent than was expected. No. 28 Highway from Port Hope had become a roundabout approach to the north, and besides it had become "loaded" with cars and other vehicles at the height of the tourist season.

Mr. Doucett said the road from Newcastle was not considered only for tourist accommodation, but generally for the further opening up of the country beyond Peterborough and No. 7.

"Peterborough has become quite a big city," the Minister said, "and there is a very wide area north and east of it that has to be taken into our planning. When we get the dual-lane paving carried to Newcastle, that point recommends itself for a new road to Peterborough for traffic from Toronto and the west."

Timing of the details of the program, Mr. Doucett said to the Association would require more advanced study and surveys for more specific information.

The Department project prior to the war years, in which Peterborough was actively interested, began with recommendations for a highway through Port Perry to Langstaff. That developed into improved surfacing, but in the meantime a further cross-country route west and south from Peterborough was proposed. Its course appeared to be more oblique than the Newcastle route that is now to take shape.

It is understood that surveys were made at that time, but the object did not emerge definitely into municipal information.

Junior Skiers At North Bay; Local Hills Good

Peter Bowen, Peterborough Ski Club junior jumping and downhill champion, Dave Ward, who placed second in both events and George Hall, have entered in the Provincial Junior meet in North Bay this weekend. They will not enter the Collegiate competitions there because they do not make up a team. The boys will enter the downhill and slalom events and perhaps the jumping.

A large crowd of skiers enjoyed excellent skiing under the floodlights at Kempt's Hill on Thursday night. A group of club members practised the slalom for the club championships at Bethany Sunday.

Skiing at Bethany and Kempt's Hill are tops. There will be skiing on Saturday and Sunday but no skiing is scheduled at Kempt's Hill tonight. J. D. Cumming of the Belmont Ski Club on Belmont Lake reports excellent conditions there along the slopes, trails and bush. Its tow will be operating this weekend.

Local Britons Hoped Tories Would Get In

Today is probably one of the most exciting times post war immigrants from Britain have had since they left their mother country. "What's the latest result?" has been the question on the lips of many comparative newcomers to Peterborough.

A group of several people in the city who came to Canada within the past two years, chosen at random, were asked their opinions on the British election today before the final results were known.

Among this group, the vote is predominantly Conservative, five for Churchill and two for Labor.

First person to offer her views was a Scotswoman who bluntly said "If they put the Labor party back they'll deserve all that's coming to them."

Alan Wright, Otonabee, who is employed in the city, says "Labor has proved itself. If this country (Canada) had anything like the British health scheme they would do darned well." Mr. Wright says he voted Conservative for years but gave Labor his vote in 1945 and would do the same again if he were there now. "Things will get very much tougher if the Conservatives take over. The poor working man would probably suffer quite a lot."

George Cobb, McGill St., says the people will have more freedom with a Conservative government. "They have been regimented ever since the beginning of the war and will be given more incentive if they get a Conservative government."

Ron Devial, who lives at the YMCA says the socialists have "done a pretty good job. To put them back would be the only fair thing, to let them complete their program," he says.

Mrs. William Graff, who has a bet of $1 with her husband that the Conservatives will be returned, says "I would not like to see any more nationalization. They cannot undo what Labor has done but it would make such a difference to the country if they returned the Conservatives. I can see the point of view of Labor, but I favor the Conservatives."

Christopher Cl[illegible] says the British people are more politically mature than any other nation. "They are not so easily led up the garden path, although that does happen sometimes. . . It would be a great tonic to the people to have a Conservative government," he says.

Norman Parkes, Alexander Ave., says the social services which the Labor party claims to have introduced were already instituted before they gained power. "The health scheme was already worked out in the Beveridge report, and Labor is claiming responsibility for it."

ELECTION INTEREST HIGH

Local interest in the British election results has been at high pitch all day. The Examiner phones have been deluged with calls: Did Churchill get in?... Was that Scottish Communist defeated?... What is the Socialist majority? At the peak of the load near noon, calls were coming into the Examiner at the rate of one every 30 seconds.

Unity Said Basic Need Of Brotherhood In World

"If the religious forces of the world had been consulted there would have been no Atom Bomb," said Rev. Father Michael J. Ahern, addressing a public meeting at the Empress Hotel Thursday night. The meeting attended by 250 was one highlight of Brotherhood week observed in Peterborough this week.

With the advent of the hydrogen bomb, he said the damage caused by its use would create "searing flame beyond all imagination."

Speaking of funds created to aid the peoples of foreign lands, Father Ahern said, in the economy of international relations people don't sit down and compute how much money is being directed to persons of specific faiths. It is aid directed to all peoples irrespective of race, colour or creed.

Part of Everyday Life

"Justice, amity, understanding and co-operation among Protestants, Catholics and Jews is the theme founded in Brotherhood Week," said Rabbi David Monson. "Let us get together and speak about brotherhood and make it part of our everyday life."

In 1934, he said, there were 300 cities and towns taking part in the Brotherhood Week program. Today it is observed in the United States and Canada in 6,000 communities.

At this time it is most important . . . to have brotherhood in our midst, he said, "so that we may be able to preserve our way of life for the years that lie ahead."

"None of us have any use for the individual who is not loyal to his country and to his cause. But when he becomes blind in his loyalty then he begins to break up and become a dangerous individual," said Reverend Bruce Miller.

Sorry things are taking place in the world today, Bulgaria and the United States are in difficulty, Czechoslovakia and Canada and within the walls of the United Nations and the outcome is a problem.

There is a crisis in the world today and if all its dangerous accompaniments are to be avoided then we should take to heart, all of us, regardless of our creed, the words from the Book of Proverbs: "Without the law of God people break up."

"It is my hope that you will be ambassadors of this intangible thing we call Brotherhood and go out and make the other fellow your brother," said Alderman Adam Sands. Alderman Sands addressed the assembly on behalf of Mayor M. J. Swanston.

General chairman Isadore Black spoke highly of the co-operation received from all groups and organizations assisting in the Brotherhood Week program.

Musical selections during the program were given by Mrs. Major Everett, solo, "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way"; Miss Helen Hadjnick, solo, "An Eriskay Love Tilt" accompanied at the piano by Marion Aman; Misses Faye and Myrna Schwartz, piano solos, Waltz in E Minor and Waltz in C Sharp Minor—Chopin; and Mrs. Dorothy Goldie, solo, "One World," accompanied by Mr. Charles Allen.

A musical interlude preceded the meeting. Classical music records were provided by the Public Library services. Major C. Everett, Salvation Army, and Bernie Morin, Junior Chamber of Commerce, conducted a sing song.

The speakers were introduced by Junior Chamber of Commerce members Harry Cherney, Gerald Grady and Ron Balaam. Father Grant expressed the appreciation of the assembly to the speakers.

Usherettes were Irene Nicholls, Dorothy Martin, Phyllis Davidson, Barbara Nelson, Betty Merrett and Nancy Hollingsworth, students at PCVS.

Honor Clergy At Civic Dinner

His praise for the participation of Peterborough's citizens in the advancement of Brotherhood Week was expressed at a civic dinner Thursday night at the Empress Hotel.

Participation by citizens of Peterborough in the Brotherhood Week program earned high praise from three visiting clergymen. At a civic dinner Thursday night Rabbi David Monson, Father Michael J. Ahern, and Reverend Bruce Millar each spoke of the citizens' effort to dissolve racial and religious prejudices.

Alderman Adam Sands was chairman at the dinner, and Mayor M. J. Swanston addressed remarks of welcome to the visitors.

Dr. James Semple expressed the appreciation of the Brotherhood Week committee to the City Council for the noon hour reception when the visitors were entertained and for the civic dinner in the evening.

Others attending the dinner were: Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss, Mrs. Harry Cherney, Mrs Wm Addyman, Mrs. C. S. Thompson, Mrs. Irving Moldaver, and Miss Agnes Grant; Alderman P. J. Anglesey, Rabbi J. Mayer, Father Grant, Dr. James Semple, Dr. D. Bruce Gordon, W J Hamilton, James McCullagh, Isadore Black, Leo Edwards, James Marshall, Norman J. Crook, Vince McCabe, Alderman Hugh Waddell and James Clarke.

Kinsmen Mark 20th Birthday Of Local Club

The 30th anniversary of Ki... and the 20th birthday of the local Kinsmen Club were celebrated at the Kawartha Club Thursday night. Kinsmen Clubs were first formed in February 1920 by Hal Rogers and it was not until 1930 that a club was formed in Peterborough with Alex Elliott as first president.

The evening was called Past Presidents' and Founders' Night with Dr. Ralph Honey, a past president, chairman. Greetings from the founder were read by Mr. Elliott, and from the national president by Stan Gilmore, immediate past president. Harley Weir, president, blew the 30 candles out.

Former President

H. H. P. Johnson, president of the club in 1933 and now manager of the Bell Telephone Company in Stratford, was the guest speaker. Mr. Johnson said that he has found through years that one of the best tools a man can use is a smile. There are only three kinds of people in the world those with thrombosis, those with ulcers and those with a sense of humor. A sense of humor, he added, sheds a kindly light and healing power everywhere and is one of the finest things for a man to possess.

J. K. Sheehy introduced Mr. Johnson and he was thanked by Dr. E. M. Crough. Dr. Crough presented the speaker with a travelling alarm clock.

Ed O'Toole, a past president, introduced Ken Smylie of London, a former president of the local club and immediate past Governor of District I Kinsmen. Mr. Smylie gave a brief resume of what Kinsmanship means and the work it is doing. He was thanked by V. A. Selkirk.

Presentation Made

President Weir presented Lynne Wilson with a gift from the club. Mr. Wilson is leaving for Toronto where he will be a member of the Toronto Downtown Club.

A short talk was given the club by Charles Boulter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Brotherhood Week.

Donald Loucks, a past president introduced the past presidents of the club, Alex L. Elliott, Dr. Ralph Honey, H. H. P. Johnson, J. K. Sheehy, Dr. E. M. Crough, V. A. Selkirk, Ken Smylie, Roy Lewis, Ed O'Toole, Stan Gilmore, Fred Percy, Alex Sollitt, Dr. Robert Nott, Donald Scott, Lorne Bateman, Norman Elliott, Art Lewis, Ford Warren, James King, Adam Sands and Weldon Fanning.

Entertainment was provided by the String Trio and the Four Horsemen.

Ski School Open

The once-cancelled Saturday morning ski school at Kempt's Hill has been reopened by the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club. The school will operate from 9 a.m. until 11:30. As long as there is snow, the ski school will operate, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said today.

Four buses will pick up the children throughout the city and take them to the Kempt's slopes where Ski Club members will be the instructors. The children are advised to be at the pickup station well before 9 a.m.

The first bus will make its first stop at Victoria Park (Murray and Water streets) and a second stop at Water and Park Hill Road. A second bus will pick up skiers at Cameron St. and Monaghan Rd. with a second stop at Lansdowne and Park. The third bus will leave from Prince of Wales School and the fourth from Queen Mary School.

Relief Exercise Mock Disaster Staged At Plant

As night shift at the plant of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company carried on normally on Thursday evening six "stretcher case" accidents took place at 7:30 p.m. A large group of officials of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, St. John Ambulance Brigade, city fire and police and Provincial Police departments were gathered to watch volunteers give first aid and evacuate six PCVS "patients."

In the first series of mock disaster relief programs, observers felt that the evening's work was a great success and that with more frequent practice, speed and efficiency of volunteer squads of this nature would provide an important mercy machine whenever a real emergency arose.

Dr. Donald Whyte planned the nature of the various accidents and was on hand to criticize handling methods of the first aid teams, three each supplied by Red Cross and St. John Ambulance.

At an open discussion period at the Red Cross club rooms presided over by president Mrs Charles Ray, observers were called upon to give their opinions on the effort after "evacuation" had taken place.

Suggestions Made

Fire Chief George Smith suggested that in case of real trouble the St. John's men, who would not necessarily be in uniform should wear identifying arm bands similar to Red Cross volunteers. A St. John's spokesman said that such equipment was on order and would be forthcoming. The Fire Chief also asked for suggestions in the making of volunteer ambulance Red Cross marker plates which his department had already supplied. It was decided that each vehicle should carry markers at front and rear. He also cautioned relief workers to take orders from their group commanders instead of onlookers this to avoid confusion.

Police Chief John Thompson warned ambulance drivers to observe speed limits and choose uncrowded traffic arteries when they were called on to drive to scenes of accidents.

Sergeant Price Morris, representing the Ontario Provincial Police, suggested a spring "workout" in the country in the dark to acquaint rescue teams with [illegible] difficulties. He suggested that portable flood lighting equipment should be purchased, or be made available, by the Red Cross to assist evacuation in country areas.

Dr. Whyte discussed each of the six stretcher cases and their handling at the factory by the volunteer teams. He said he found only minor criticism and was enthusiastic about the high skill demonstrated by both St. John's and Red Cross workers. R. M. Glover and His Worship Mayor Max J. Swanston, neither of whom was able to be present, at the plant, said a few words of encouragement to the group and pledged future support in any way possible. The meeting closed after refreshments had been served by women members of the Red Cross.

Again Enter, Pilfer Quaker Club House

The Quaker Oats Co. club house was broken into and some 20 bottles of soft drinks taken sometime Thursday night. This is the second time this year the isolated club house, situated on the east bank of the Otonabee River, north of Hunter St., has been entered and pilfered.

The thieves are believed to have been boys. Constable Sherman Keliele conducted the preliminary investigation.

County Farm Notes

Federation Directors To Elect Officers Wednesday Night —Three Forum Groups In Asphodel Unite For Review Broadcast Monday, Feb. 27 — Quinte Cattle Breeders' Association Reports 1,100 Members.

Membership in the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association with headquarters at Belleville, is now approaching 1,100, nearly 50 per cent of whom have purchased stock.

A recent report of the development of this organization credits it with an investment of approximately $60,000. Its eleven local units, each with its own executive, extends from Ganaoque to Bowmanville. Two of these units in Prince Edward have a total membership of 220.

The review says: "Prior to the organization of this breeding association, Prince Edward county farmers owned about 800 bulls. At present 220 of these farmers have joined the association and have disposed of their bulls."

The number of cows bred last year from Belleville is said to have been nearly 11,000 as compared with 4,800 in 1948, the year in which the association was formed, beginning operations in June.

So far, only Holstein bulls have been bought. Fred Hubbs, of Bloomfield, president, reports the unit in good financial condition. Its fourteen bulls are valued at more than $55,000 Conception rate in November was 75 per cent. Life membership costs a farmer $25, and there is an annual service fee of $5 a cow. "Thus, for an annual cost of $100, a farmer could have an entire herd of 20 cows served from high quality bulls."

Roy Ormiston, Holstein fieldman, commented that no farmer could keep a high pedigreed bull for $100 a year.

Vice-presidents of the Belleville breeders are E. L. Anderson, of Campbellford, and Ross Stevens, of Bowmanville. The manager and technician is Dr. J. M. McLean, V.S.

THREE FORUMS TO MEET

The new liveliness in Farm Forums in the eastern section of the county this season is sponsoring a joint review night next Monday for three Forums in the Donegal section.

The program following the radio hour will include several films to be shown by juniors Those accompanying Robt. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, will likely be Burritt Mann, Alan Drummond, Don Chambers and Don. Milburn. They expect to improve this opportunity by appealing to the Forum elders for support of junior and club work.

FORUM ANNUAL

Quoting Clare Burt: "The annual meeting of Ontario Farm Radio Forum is booked for April 6 at the Prince George Hotel, Toronto."—And this attention to morale: "The optimist hops out of bed on a chilly morning saying: 'Well, old bed, I'll be back to you in seventeen hours." the optimist crawls into bed complaining: "Up again in seven hours."—Mr. Burt says folk schools are "becoming a real part of farm life." Four of them are approaching, the first for Grey-Bruce Feb. 24-Mar. 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Nelson, Owen Sound, R.R. 3. Others are in Dufferin, Peel and York.

Mr. Burt reports many enquiries every week from farmers seeking information about such subjects as cold storage lockers, tariff rates, soil testing, recreaton, crafts, medical services, radio reception and so on. Some weeks the number of requests reaches sixty.

TO ELECT-OFFICERS

Directors of the Federation of Agriculture will elect officers at their meeting next Wednesday night. The directors were chosen at the annual meeting several weks ago.

✦ ✦ ✦

45 JUNIORS ATTEND

The attendance of 45 Junior Farmers at their meeting Tuesday night at the Normal School was "most encouraging," according to R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative.

Another Junior activity is the planning of their section of the Peterborough Exhibition. The meeting is called for next Tuesday night.

✦ ✦ ✦

E. R. P.

Rural claims for the extension of support to some of the commodities of farm production usual make reference to kindred provision for other group in the national economy.

In this defensive stand for consideration by government in the present period of actual transition from wartime to peace conditions of business, farmers might also have appealed to the fact the western world has been largely trading on the basis of the National affluence of the United States as provided by the European Recovery Program.

Farmers might have reasonably and pointedly argued that international business, including a large part of domestic manufacture, buying and selling have all been in the same boat of E.R.P. support.

The Marshal plan has already distributed credits amounting to nearly $12,000,000,000 in which Britain shared largely. Without that support in the last three years what would have become of the volume of Canadian export trade since the war? Economists may have an idea of what the effects might have been on this country, reaching into all lines of business, but it is beyond the imagining of the layman.

Only a 100 or more Peterborough hog producers heard the brief explanation of Britain's financial trouble by R. H. Graham of the Ontario Department of Agriculture here last week.

Britain's price of freedom was the liquidating of her foreign investments, the interest from which had previously paid for 80% of her food imports. Purchases from the remnant of that source have declined to only 8%

If more speakers like Mr. Graham and R. J. Rogers, who talked to the Hog Producers' Association, would delve down to the underlying facts there would be more real understanding of the affecting causes of current trade problems.

State Secretary Acheson said in Washington this week that substantial aid would still be needed after E.R.P. ends in 1952. He also said that the United States must encourage the import of foreign goods "to provide other countries with dollars even though it hurts at home".

The salient phrase in that warning is obviously "hurts at home", directed to a people who can produce so abundantly for their own needs that they have long been concerned chiefly about exports.

Farmers probably noted and understood the significance of the following Associated Press report from Washington (Thursday, Feb. 23): "Britain today received au-of Canadian and US wheat under the Marshall plan. . . . Of the total $30,000,000 will be used to buy wheat in Canada. The remaining $15,000,000 is earmarked for wheat and wheat flour from the US."

✦ ✦ ✦

SEIZE CZECH-FARMS

Grant its irrelevance to Ontario farmers, still it should be of so...e passing interest when degrees of plight are being mentioned that "a wave of arrests of wealthier farmers — those with more than twenty hectares, or nearly fifty acres, of land—is rolling through the Czechoslovak countryside.

Several hundred have been snatched from their farms this month, presumably joining 200 others already in jail or labor camps.

Their crime is basically that they are agrarian capitalists in the possession of a mere fifty acres. Actually, they are charged with failing to fill quotas of produce.

Their property is confiscated one was sent to prison for three years with a fine equivalent to $5,000 and another farmer drew six years and a $6,000 fine.

If you own fifty acres in the Czech land you are regarded as a "class enemy".

Enforced collectivism and eradication of the indepedent farmer is progressing through eastern Europe, and has already swept across the ltitle Baltic states that were seized by Russia.

✦ ✦ ✦

COLD STORAGE LOCKER

Approximate cost of electricity is one cent a day for a cold storage locker described by Bloomington farm forum, Stormont county. Specifications are: "This locker has a 15 cu. ft. capacity. The box is made of two layers of matched lumber, separated by 5½ in. of rock wool on sides and bottom for insulation. The cover has 3-inch rock wool insulation and opens over two-thirds of the top of the box.

Insulation is separated from the lumber by moisture-proof paper. Inside of the box is lined with galvanized iron and lighted by a 15-watt bulb operated by an automatic switch on the door. The unit used is a four-can Gem milk cooler and a variable thermostat which has a range from 10-15 degrees F."

Prof. C. C. F. Downing, as reported by Ontario Farm Forum, head of the engineering department of O.A.C., says the Bloomington Forum plan is sound and follows usual procedure in farm freezer construction. "For zero freezing, however, the range of temperatue should be from 0 to 10 deg. F. We do not have a bulletin in this regard as yet, although we have two units under test. Pennsylvania State College and the University of California both have excellent plans with bills of material which can be obtained upon request."

WORLD MILK RECORD

A Canadian bred Holstein cow developed in the U.S.A. has established a World Record for yearly production of milk on twice-a-day milking over all ages and breeds. She is Green Meadow Lily Pabst, bred by Fred W. Goble, Woodstock, Ont. and owned and developed by Merle H. Green, Elsie, Michigan. Her production of 32,027 lbs. Milk containing 981.9 lbs. fat displaces as World Champion for milk, Donncrest Peg Top Burke who made her record of 31,935 lbs. milk containing 1108 lbs. fat in the herd of Mrs. E. L. Brown, Stouffville, Ont. in 1945. Donncrest Peg Top Burke is now owned by Rockwood Holsteins Ltd., St. Norbert, Man.

The mother of the new champion, Laura Lily Pabst who represents generations of breeding on the Goble Farm, was purchased June 11, 1943 by Mr. Green from Mr. Goble. At the time she was carrying the new Champion who was born at the Green Meadow Farm. The sire of the new Champion is Springbank Aristocrat Captivator, bred by T. R. Dent, Woodstock, Ont., and used as a Herd Sire by Mr. Goble.

$700,000 BUSINESS

Brigden Co-operative reported at their recent annual meeting total business last year in excess of $700,000 an increase of $119,600 over 1948. Purchase during the year of the Joel Shaw feed mill was put through entirely on member loans.

✦ ✦ ✦

ONTARIO GLIMPSES

The sixth general T. B. Test has been completed in Glengarry with only ten reactors among more than 33,000 cattle. About 70% of the heifer calves have been vaccinated against Bang's disease in the last two years.

These preventives should result in a high health status of the live stock in that county, as commended in the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

In Lennox-Addington, T. B. Testing shows less than one per cent reactors in the herds of those united counties. Hay is being sold loose in Prince Edward at $20 a ton. Victoria reports that considerable hay has to be brought in from other areas, selling at about $30 a ton.

Dairy cattle buyers are active in Stormont. This is from South Simcoe: "Breeders are asking high prices for calves for boys' and girls' club work. Holstein calves are priced up to $350. Recent snow has reinforced protection of fall wheat. . .Demand for seed grain is increasing. . .Precott reports: "Prices of small seeds will be high, and it is expected that we will not have enough from local production,—especially alfalfa."

BRITISH FARMERS EFFICIENT

Only 40 of the 400,000 British farmers have been dispossessed of their land for deliberate misuse of it, as related by R. W. Marsh, scientific officer of the Long Ashton Research Station, Bristol, England, to St. Catharines Y's Men recently. He has been spending a year in survey and research work in Canada.

No one of that small fraction was a real farmer, Mr. Marsh said. "Confiscation was authorized if landowners failed to put their shoulders to the wheel to help England increase food production. Such action was taken jointly by the government and neighboring farmers on county committees."

The classification of Old Country farmers as almost entirely competent is far from agreement with the rating of US farmers by Louis Bromfield in his address at the convention of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

Since Saxon days, 1,500 years ago, Mr. Marsh said, English farmlands have been cultivated. There are no difficulties of erosion or loss of fertility mainly because farms are inherited, and landowners are determined to pass on their farms to their heirs in as good or better condition than they received them.

Mr. Marsh is quoted as having said: "Although England is only one-twenty-fourth the size of Canada, the value of her agricultural production is greater than that of all Canada."

One-quarter of England's farms are 300 acres or larger, and the average size of farms across the country is 100 acres. Half of England's 400,000 farmers are themselves farmers. The other half have an average of two hired hands. Some million acres are engaged in agriculture.

John Ireland Surprised At Nomination

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24 (AP)—Nobody was more surprised at John Ireland's academy nomination than Ireland himself. He was named for a supporting role in "All The King's Men."

"I was the most surprised man in the world," the actor told me "Why should I be nominated?

"Sure, I was in practically every scene. But I did nothing to do. All I did was stand around with egg on my face. About my only big scene was when I slapped Mercedes McCambridge in the face. I just slapped her and that's all there was to it."

Ireland said he had some strong scenes in the original version, which ran three hours. But the process of lopping off an hour's running time landed his histrionics on the cutting room floor. He hasn't even seen the picture since it was cut.

Underworked

Faith Domergue, Hollywood's most underworked actress, has just finished her second film and is beginning her second seven-year contract.

"I'm tired," she sighed as she finished the last scenes in "White Rose For Julie." "All the time off I had has made me lazy. I would certainly welcome a two-year vacation now."

Two-year vacations are not unusual with Faith. She was signed eight years ago and has never been seen on the screen. Her only other picture—"Vendette"— has never been released.

"I haven't minded," said Faith. "When I signed I was still in high school. I went on with school, got married, lived in South America and had a baby."

And received a weekly salary all the while.

She doesn't know what the studio plans for her next. She's content to be forgotten for awhile.

60 Visit Factory

MONTREAL, Feb. 24—(CP)—Sixty officers and students of the Canadian Army Staff College, Kingston, Thursday visited the Canadian Car and Foundry Company Limited plant here where they inspected modern production methods and Canada's latest type of sleeping railway coach—the roomette.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

ON A SUNDAY AFTERNOON at the beginning of the Twentieth Century, scenes like this on Riverside Drive in New York were commonplace. This century rolled in on the very crest of a bicycle craze that started in the late "Eighties. The sport declined slightly in the early 1900's, but has had periodic "revivals" every few years up to the present day. The 1900 "boneshaker," or "scorcher," evolved from the funny old "ordinary," with its high front wheel. It came in an infinite variety of designs. Tandems were popular as well as three-seaters, and some multiple-seat models running to outrageous lengths. Fifty years ago there were 6,000,000 bicycles in America; today there are some 15,000,000—a tribute to the fascination bicycling has for all ages.

Mayors, Reeves Meet For April Conference

TORONTO, Feb. 24 — (CP) — The annual conference of Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association will be held here April 27 to 29, President Ann Shipley, the Reeve of Teck Township, announced Thursday.

Discussions are expected to centre on consideration given by the Provincial Government to submissions, on behalf of Ontario municipalities, presented by the association's executive to the Ontario Cabinet last February 1.

Also up for discussion is the matter of payment to municipalities in lieu of taxation on Federal and Provincial properties, boards and commissions, for municipal services.

Britain Pioneer In Jets In War And Peacetime

By H. L. JONES

LONDON, Feb. 24 —(CP)—Britain, pioneer of the jet engine in the stress of war, remains its foremost developer in time of peace. At least five British jet units capable of powering planes for faster-than-sound speeds, now have been developed to such an extent they are off the secret list. And in the security-girded laboratories other such power plants, still secret, are in the making.

Five foreign countries, including the United States, now have been granted licences to manufacture British jet engines or modifications of them. Of the commonwealth countries, only Australia holds one of these licences at present. Canada, for instance, is developing her own jet engines.

Much has been accomplished in the nine years since Sir Frank Whittle unveiled the first jet. It was in May, 1941 that Sir Frank, then a group-captain in the R.A.F watched the first plane fitted with his paraffin-burning power unit leave the ground.

Starts New Age

It was crude by 1950 standards, this first model tested in the secrecy of blacked-out wartime Britain, but it was the start of a new age of flying. Today Whittle remains as an adviser on jet development.

Britain now is test-flying the world's first civilian jet airliner, the Comet, designed for trans-Atlantic service. She is powered by four ghost engines and has a speed better than 500 miles an hour. The De Havilland Company, her builders, recently said she would prove much more economical to operate than piston-engine planes.

Britain's newest bomber, the Canberra, is also jet-powered. Her two Rolls Royce Avons which each produce 6,000 pounds static thrust give her such speed and manoeuvrability she is reported to be unarmed.

4-Jet Bomber

A four-jet bomber is known to be under development in Britain and probably will have still further developed power units.

One of the most recent British jets to be disclosed is the Armstrong Siddeley Sapphire. Its performance is still secret but technical men have hinted that it is the most powerful practical turbojet in the world.

The Society of British Aircraft Constructors said foreign currency Britain now is earning through granting foreign licences for manufacture of her jets was rewarded for the "great and costly efort" she made in pioneering work and subsequent development which put her "ahead of all rivals."

Not Pushing Jets

CALGARY, Feb. 24 (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines has no intention of entering the jet aircraft field in the next 18 months and it would be at least 10 years before jet airliners would be the main carriers on the airline, Gordon R. McGregor, president of TCA, said Thursday.

Plane Overdue

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 24 (CP)—Morris Grant of Whitehorse was reported overdue Thursday on a flight in a Piper Cub aircraft, across mountainous country between Atlin, B.C., and Carcross, Yukon, a 40 minute air trip. Carcross is 40 miles south of Whitehorse.

Senate Applauds Former Enemies

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Former enemies of Canada were applauded Thursday in the Senate.

They were a delegation of 11 members of the Japanese Diet, touring Canada's parliament for the first time.

The delegation rose three times from their gallery seats in the Senate to bow respectfully to the senator's ovation.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, addressed welcome.

Senator John T. Haig, leader of the Opposition, joined him, and senators pounded their desks.

It was the first time elected members of the Japanese houses of representatives and councillors had visited the Canadian capital.

Takeshi Yamazaki, 63-year-old leader of the delegation said in an interview that Japan wanted greater trade with Canada. The Japanese could use more sea food, grain and forest products.

"We are anxious to complete expansion in our trade with your people," Mr. Yamazaki said.

Attache Killed

VIENNA, Feb. 24 (AP)—The battered body of a man believed by Austrian police to be Capt. Eugene Karpe, United States naval attache in Bucharest, was found in a tunnel south of Salzburg Thursday. U.S. army officials said they had not yet positively identified the man as Karpe, who was a close friend of Robert A. Vogeler, American business man who this week was sentenced by a Hungarian People's Court to 15 years imprisonment on spy charges. The Austrian press agency said police believe the man fell from a sleeping car on the Arleberg Express, which runs from iVenna to Paris.

Harry's House A Wreck

Amazed That White House Stands In Such Condition

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (CP)—Harry S. Truman's house is a mess.

A hole 20 by 30 feet yawns in the middle of the east room, where state receptions have been held for 150 years. Hand-hewn beams, wrenched from the old roof, are scattered about the place.

Just inside the carriage entrance, a hole big enough to fall into has been cut through a five-foot thickness of brick and stone into the basement below.

It's all part of the current reconstruction of the White House. Experts, now that they have delved into the innards, say it's a marvel that the building has stood as long as it has. Even the slightest earth tremor, they say, could have sent the structure tumbling like a pack of cards.

The contractors are tearing out everything but the four walls and the roof, while White House architect Lorenzo S. Winslow is busy drawing plans for a new interior.

Follow Old Plans

The layout of the reconstructed presidential mansion will follow closely the arrangement of rooms that Presidents have known. But spaces formerly occupied by two-foot-thick walls — no longer needed with steel construction—will be used to enlarge the chambers.

The White House was closed a year ago when building experts warned that it was unsafe. Heavy chandeliers, they reported, were in danger of crashing and ceilings were getting ready to buckle.

The Trumans moved to Blair House, across Pennsylvania Ave., and the President now goes daily across to the White House office to tend to presidential business. Blair House is the official guest-house for foreign visitors.

When completed, the job will include complete fireproofing, new floors of concrete and steel, deepening of the foundation and rebuilding of interior walls.

The debris from the reconstruction is being carried out as fast as possible to reduce the fire hazard. Everything of possible value is stored in covered sheds in the White House garden.

Officials still are wondering what to do with this material. Each mail brings more requests for souvenirs and the suggestion has been made that the debris go to schools and other institutions as relics of the American heritage. No decision has been reached.

Raps Cattle Breeders

SASKATOON, Feb. 24 (CP)—W. J. Russell, of Unionville, Ont., president of the Canadian Shorthorn Association, said Thursday that cattle breeders as a group were not doing a good job. Whereas large business firms spent millions in research to test their products before going on the market, there was only the inaccurate method through the eye of a judge or a purchaser of deciding whether a Shorthorn was good or bad for the market, Mr. Russell said.

Finds Toronto Well-Run City

WINDSOR, Feb. 24 (CP)—Toronto is one of the best-run cities in Canada, says Mayor Arthur J. Reaume of Windsor.

He received permission Thursday from board of control for himself and Assessment Commissioner W. W. Green to visit Toronto soon to study its method of reducing assessments on small homes.

The mayor said Toronto's method of administering assessment reductions was similar to the proposal he is now considering.

He said Toronto recently acquired permission to raise minimum assessment from $4,000 to $5,500 as the base on which tax reductions could be arranged. A similar plan now is in his mind for implementation here, he said. He is going to ask city council and board of control to put his plan before the voters of Windsor.

Meanwhile he has asked Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto to let him look over the Toronto setup, he said.

Take Over Lodge

Camouflage Blast

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP) — A British tipster on Russian affairs claimed Thursday that the Russians exploded an atom bomb last June, probably to camouflage a hydrogen-bomb blast. Kenneth de Courcy, 40, editor of the magazine Intelligence Digest, made the claim in a statement to the press. He announced earlier this month that the Russians had exploded the world's first hydrogen bomb. There has been no confirmation from any source.

More Scholarships Sought For Students

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 24 (CP). —Dominion Government subsidization of universities so they may offer higher learning to "brilliant young students not able to pay" was urged Thursday night by Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario.

Addressing the annual meeting of the London branch of the Western Alumni Association he said it would cost the government only $6,000,000 annually "to put Canadian universities on an even keel."

He told some 200 graduates that Federal aid to that extent would permit scholarships for worthy students and enable the university "to get over the financial hump."

Request Pension Scheme For Parliament Member

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP). — A pension plan for members of Parliament got a strong plug in the Senate Thursday from the Government Leader, Senator Wishart Robertson.

Speaking during the Throne-Speech debate, he noted that a joint parliamentary committee on old-age pensions was to be set up this session. He urged that the "members of Parliament should not be overlooked."

He said he agreed with suggestions in recent weeks that there should be a move to lessen "the tendency of increased reliance on the government. However, he did not find it hard to reconcile himself to the idea of social security.

It was difficult for anyone to provide for old-age these days because of high taxes and low interest rates.

When it came to old-age pensions, he stressed, members of Parliament should not be forgotten. In his travels, he was impressed with the provisions made in every business and industry for assuring people of security on retirement.

"But what of the member of Parliament?" he asked. The "pride of Canadian public life" was involved in that the member had no such scheme.

There was no reason why a member, who had given his whole time to public life, should not be able to look forward to security as well as persons in other walks of life. While this might not be applicable to persons holding office for only a short time, some general system of contributory old-age pensions should be evolved.

Appeal Dismissal

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 24 (CP) —Dismissal of a charge of "ill-treatment causing unnecessary suffering" against a man who hanged his dog, which was handed down by Magistrate C. D. Lemay Feb. 10, will be appealed, it was announced Thursday by Miss Anna Opsahl, Fort William inspector for the Thunder Bay Humane Society. The charge, laid against A. Haner, 34, will be heard again at the next court of appeal early in March, she said.

Simplified Problems

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP) — Winston Churchill writes that the attack on Pearl Harbor was to President Roosevelt and his aides "a vast simplification of their problems and their duty." "How can we wonder that they regarded the actual form of the attack, or even its scale, as incomparably less important than the fact that the whole American nation would be united for its own safety in a righteous cause as never before?" adds Britain's wartime prime minister. His statements are contained in the final instalments of his third volume of war memoirs in the Feb. 27 issue of Life magazine.

Food Trader Seeks Women's Opinion

LONDON — (CP) — Toronto-born Garfield Weston, baked goods manufacturer with plants in Canada, Britain and the United States, is back from a four-month "thorough survey of South Africa."

To get the women's viewpoint on business prospects there, Weston took along his wife, his six daughters and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Whalley, who lives in Canada.

"I like to get the feminine point of view," said Weston. "It is important in the food trade."

The bakery tycoon returned two months earlier than he had intended to be in England for the marriage Feb. 15 of his son, George Grainger Weston, to Caroline Douglas-Scott-Montagu.

To Further Discuss Electors Assoc. At Public Meeting

A public meeting will be held on March 23 at which detailed explanation of the purposes of a women electors' association will be given, and ways and means of carrying them out in Peterborough discussed.

This was the decision reached at a representative meeting of women called on Thursday evening by the public affairs committee of the YWCA. Miss Margaret McIntosh told the success story of the association which has been operating in Toronto since 1938, stressing the fact that it took several years for it to become an efficient working body.

All opinions expressed were to the effect there is too little interest and knowledge in municipal affairs and need of young active women in this city. It was felt the chief duty of the association, if formed, should be to educate the public in civic matters.

Those present, representing the University Women's Club, Home and School Council, Home and School Associations, Junior Welfare League, YWCA Council, YWCA board, Arndon subdivision, Ashburnham, pledged to support the movement and to acquaint their organizations with the facts.

The general meeting on March 23 will be held in the YWCA green room at 8.15 o'clock to find out if the majority of women are in favor of forming a women electors' association here.

Mrs. Paige Rowell, chairman of the YWCA public affairs committee, presided for the discussion.

DRESS-UP ACCENTS — At left, the "jabot-ette" made of picot-edge ribbon, darted to shape at back of neck, outlines deep V decolletage and gives color lift to plain jacket. Right, a gold or silver necklace slipped through knot of single loop bow makes pert accessory. Adjusted in its most becoming position, you've a quick pick-me-up for dress or suit.

Wear Hair Short Or Long Both Right In Fashion

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— "To cut or not to cut" again becomes a problem for women of fashion.

In London and Paris the hair-length battle is on again.

London hairdressers say: "It is short hair definitely—women find it so easy and can set it themselves."

But most British women still hold out for "short, but not too short."

In Paris the shortest-ever hairstyles have appeared—tiny skull-cap styles with asymmetrically brushed ends, tiny fringes, winged sides or a backward mannish brush.

Yet Paris is not unanimous on the subject. Several coiffeurs feature longer styles and two leading ones are at odds about it.

Antonio makes war on Eton crops and all other styles that "rob woman of their femininity."

Guillaume disagrees. He favors short cuts styled to suit face and clothes. He says the latest dress designs "demand" short hair styles.

Hat Add Confusion

The latest Paris hats add point to the controversy. The new backless line with its forward-tilted brim needs back curls, but the close-fitting cloches, bonnets and skull-caps make curls impractical.

For all the snipping, it seems at present that anything goes.

The Duchess of Kent recently had hers cut shorter but kept it long enough to end in a soft bubble curl.

Film star Jean Simmons cut hers short to wear a wig as Ophelia and has kept it short in a brushed-up bubble cut.

Moira Shearer, premiere ballerina, cut hers last summer and is growing it again to make a halo of soft curls around her face.

Sixteen-year-old Petula Clark gave British teen-agers a lead in the shorter cuts. She favored the gamin cut with a wispy fringe and bob-cut back.

Jean Barraclough, an Australian model who stormed London with her beauty in the Spring shows, favors the Eton crop.

But one headline woman holds out for length, and lots of it. Scorning all the short cuts is strawberry blonde Rita Hayworth Aly Khan's princess has allowed her hair to return to a natural golden blonde and is, letting it grow.

The nominating committee was formed consisting of Mrs. C. E. Newman, Mrs. John Hooper and Miss Mary Curry.

Annual meeting of the chapter will be held in the form of a banquet at the Empress Hotel on March 22 at 6:30 p.m.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Major Bennett Chapter members.

Carveth-McGrath Wedding Rites

At St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, Western Avenue, on Tuesday, the wedding was quietly solemnized by the Rev. Martin Kennedy of Francis Louise, daughter of Mrs. McGrath and the late Dennis McGrath of Marmora, and Richard Carveth, son of Mr. Arthur Carveth and the late Mrs. Carveth of Indian River.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Do[illegible]d Shannon of Marmora. She wore [illegible]abardine suit with navy a[illegible]ories and a corsage of red roses. Miss Theresa McGrath of Hamilton was bridesmaid for her sister and wore a suit of rose beige gabardine with black accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Louis Carveth was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Elmer Cummings, Wilfred Girard and Arnold Thompson.

Wedding music was played by Miss Rosemary DeNoble and the groom's sister, Mrs. Wilfred Girard, was soloist.

A reception was held at 719 New Romaine St. where the bride's mother received, attired in black crepe with corsage of red carnations. She was assisted by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Allan Hayes, who was also dressed in black and wore white carnations.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a wine gabardine suit with matching accessories and a muskrat coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Carveth will live at 719 New Romaine Street.

DOROTHY DIX

Many Over-anxious Parents Ruin Daughter's Chances

DEAR MISS DIX: My family appear to think that it would be a disgrace if I do not get married, yet they do everything that is possible to queer me with boys. If I have a boy friend, they immediately begin teasing him about being in love with me, or tell people, so that it gets back to him; that I am in love with him. If I talk to a boy they don't happen to like, they assume I am going to marry him the next minute and make a great fuss about it, although maybe neither the boy nor I have the slightest interest in each other. I do want to have boy friends, but I don't want to be rushed into marriage. So what shall I do with my meddling family?

STENOGRAPHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is easy to understand why parents should have been glad to get their daughters married off in the days when father had to support his daughters. Then a daughter was a liability, but now she is an asset for nowadays daughter not only supports herself but almost invariably contributes to the upkeep of the home.

But parents seem to think that being unmarried indicates that their daughters are lacking charm and that they have been passed over by men, and it is a fact that many a girl is simply badgered into marrying before she is ready for it by having her family gloomily prophesying that she will be an old maid.

Defeat Own Aims

Of course, parents can do a great deal toward helping a girl to get married, but, unfortunately, very few of them are skillful matchmakers and they generally defeat their own aims by bungling the situation, usually by being overanxious and throwing the girl at the head of every young man who comes along.

Many girls are kept from marrying by their families' perverted sense of humor. Many a girl who was beginning to get fond of a boy who would have made her a fine husband has been teased about him until she hated him and would have nothing to do with him. Ridicule is the most potent weapon in the world. will slay anything. Young love is the most sensitive thing in the world, and parents who want their daughters to marry should keep their clumsy hand off it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband's work has made it necessary that he be away from home at long intervals over a period of five years. I trusted him implicitly, but he has told me on one of his visits home that he was having an affair with a girl. He says he does not love her and would not marry her if he were free. I have always considered divorce the tragedy of tragedies, especially where there are children. I love my husband desperately. He is devoted to his children and they to him. What do women confronted by similar problems do?

A WIFE AND MOTHER

ANSWER: Each woman meets the problem of the philandering husband according to her nature but none find a happy solution because you cannot make a broken marriage whole again any more than you can a shattered vase. You can patch it up, but the cracks are there and never more will it be a thing of beauty and of pride.

In your case I should certainly advise you against divorce, because your husband's unfaithfulness to you has apparently been physical instead of mental. It has meant more to him than gratifying any other appetite. He has been away from you, from his children, from his home, from the steadying influences that keep a man in the strait and narrow path. He has been lonely. And there are not many men strong enough to resist temptation.

I think that a woman who has children should stand everything short of brutality from her husband rather than get a divorce if he loves his children and they love him, because there is no gainsaying the fact that children pay the price of their parents' failure to get along together.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a daughter 18 years old, well and strong, who sits idly by day after day doing nothing but waiting for some boy to make a date with her. She refuses to help me with the housework. Says she does not want to even learn how to cook or sew. It seems to me there is something radically wrong with her, but nothing I can say seems to mend matters. Have you any idea what I can do?

S. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Just have patience with her. She is still adolescent, and that is a stage of life that not only tries a girl's soul but her mother's as well. She doesn't know what she wants to do with her life, or where she is going. She is just a confused and bewildered child who has suddenly been dumped into womanhood and she hasn't got her bearings yet. Just try to understand that and let her alone as much as you can and she will come out all right as soon as she adjusts herself to her new status.

Serving Soup for Supper Ideal Cold Winter Nights

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Mother should make a point of serving soup for supper these cold winter days. The youngsters will love it because it's warm. It's nourishing as well and incidentally is also a good way to use up any leftovers in the refrigerator.

For instance, the remains of last Sunday's chicken could be made into soup. The bones of the chicken along with any extra bits of skin must be crushed down in a saucepan and covered with cold water.

Bring to a boil, cover and boil for one hour. Strain off liquid and discard bones.

To the strained liquid add: one-half cup finely diced onion; one-half cup finely diced carrot; one-quarter cup fine noodles (three-quarters of an inch in length); salt and pepper to taste; one cup tomato juice; one cup chopped chicken.

Simmer covered for another hour.

Here are a couple of onion soup recipes the family is bound to appreciate.

Onion Soup—Ingredients: six medium-sized onions, two tablespoons mild-flavored fat; two tablespoons flour; one quart brown soup stock; six slices toast; one-half cup grated cheese.

Cook sliced onions in water to cover for 30 minutes, then rub through a sieve. Melt fat, blend in flour and gradually add one cup of the stock. Stir until the mixture thickens. Add onions and remaining stock, blending well. Simmer for 20 minutes. Place one slice of toast in each soup-plate, add soup and sprinkle with grated cheese. Six servings.

Creamy Onion Soup—Ingredients: three tablespoons mild-flavored fat; 1½ cups finely minced onion; two tablespoons flour; 1½ teaspoons salt; three cups milk; one cup vegetable water, milk or water; paprika; nutmeg; one-half cup grated cheese; two tablespoons chopped parsley.

Melt fat and add minced onion. Sauté until a golden brown. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk and vegetable water. Simmer soup, covered, until onions are tender. Season with paprika, nutmeg. Place a tablespoon of grated cheese and a teaspoon of chopped parsley in each soup-plate and pour the hot soup over them. Six servings.

Tomato Soup—Ingredients: one quart canned tomatoes (cut in pieces); one diced green pepper; one large diced onion; one diced pimento; three stalks of chopped celery; one pint water; two teaspoons salt.

Mix and cook slowly for half an hour stirring frequently. When cooked add one-quarter teaspoon soda. Blend four tablespoons butter and four tablespoons flour and stir into the tomato mixture. Boil until thickened. Add milk to thin to a cream consistency (about two cups). Serve with crisp crackers.

Boredom Causes Marriages To Fail

LONDON —(CP)— Sheer boredom is one of the chief reasons for unhappy marriages, in the opinion of Rev. Leslie Tizard, a marriage-guidance leader.

He told a meeting of young men and women that some marriages "are just miles and miles of dullness, until they reach holy deadlock." If two people were utterly bored with one another it wasn't "surprising that they reach a state of exasperation."

Unfaithfulness usually began with little exasperations and pinpricks and Mr. Tizard said he was "afraid that what a great psychologist said was pretty true: 'Many marriages are a fight to the finish'.

Safety Group Celebrates 25th Anniversary

MARMORA, Feb. 24 — (ENS)—Twenty-five years of accident prevention work by Deloro Safety Committee is completed this year and at the 25th annual meeting Wednesday, the anniversary was marked by a presentation of fountain pens from R. G. Walsh, general manger of Deloro Smelting and Refining Company to the members of the Safety First Committee.

The chairman, C. H. Buskard, rea the chairman's 25th annual report on the activities of the Safety Committee during 1949.

While the safety record was not quite so good as that of 1948, it indicated that accident prevention work was well worth the effort, time and money spent on it.

H. A. McNally, secretary-treasurer reported all the sub-committees had been very active and attendance at the regular monthly meetings had continued to be good.

R. G. Walsh, general manager of Deloro Smelting and Refining Company complimented the chairman and secretary on the excellence of their reports and all the employees for the fine accident and prevention record established during the past 25 years. Such a fine effort, he remarked, could only be obtained by the wholehearted effort of every employee.

After the meeting slides were shown of he Alaskan Highway by C. E. Way of Tweed.

VOGELER HEARS SENTENCE—Robert A. Vogeler (left) listens to a Hungarian judge in Budapest sentence him to five years in prison for spying activities. The 39-year-old American had confessed to the charges. English businessman Edgar Sanders (right) was given a 13-year term. Both are expected to appeal.

Londoners Jam Piccadilly Circus

LONDON, Feb. 24 —(AP)—Thousands of rain-soaked Londoners jammed Piccadilly Circus and nearby Trafalgar Square until the early morning hours today to cheer or jeer the election results.

The atmosphere was that of New Year's Eve, enlivened by bursts of fireworks, as electric illuminated boards flashed the returns.

Conservative victories were signalled by a sea of balloons, Union Jacks, and blue and white stars. Labor successes got an answering wave of red and yellow balloons.

Flower girls and hawkers of balloons and noise-makers did a land office business in Piccadilly.

British pubs remained open during the election. They did not close until midnight. Clubs and restaurants got permission to serve patrons in the wee hours.

The merry-makers found the proceedings so enjoyable that the last stragglers didn't desert central London until after dawn.

WMS Members Visit Sick 16 Times In Month

MARMORA, Feb. 24 (ENS) — Mrs. Thomas Hannah was hostess to St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society on Tuesday, the meeting being presided over by Mrs. H. C. Barlow.

Mrs. E. C. Prentice had charge of the Worship service. Assisting Mrs Prentice were Mesdames T. Bateman and F. R. Wells.

Fifteen sick calls and one hospital call were reported. Mrs. G. D. Young reported that a valuable bale had been forwarded to Toronto for overseas relief and that another would be packed as soon as sufficient clothing could be collected.

Mrs. Barlow read an article from the Blue Book dealing with the labors in Japan for the past 30 years of Miss Katharine Greenbank, the mission especially designated for St. Andrew's, Marmora. It was decided to have the Explorers' Group affiliate with the WMS the latter part of March when the parents of the girls would be asked to participate.

It was decided to hold the March meeting at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine.

Oil Revenues To Finance Public Works

By The Canadian Press

A public works program fianced with oil revenues was forecast in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of Alberta's Legislature Thursday. Read by the new Lieutenant-Governor, J. J. Bowlen, the Edmonton speech promised attention to declining markets and prices for agricultural products, and forecast increased aid to municipalities for health and education.

The Throne Speech was taken to mean that the Alberta government will support any agricultural prices support program that is initiated by the Federal government.

The Saskatchewan Legislature continued debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, with German Danielson (L—Arm River) attacking the CCF government for failure to remove the education tax, and on its education policies generally. He started to discuss the mineral taxation act he was ruled out of order because the constitutionality of this act now is before the courts. The Speaker's ruling was upheld by a vote of 26 to 19.

Question of rent controls occupied the Manitoba Legislature. The CCF opposition has moved that the coalition government reconsider its decision to enter the rent control field.

An amendment was before the House to delay action on the motion for two weeks, when it is expected that the Supreme Court will have handed down its ruling on the validity of federal rent controls.

Rev. V. J. Gillogly said the mass at 10 a.m. with the Right Rev. J. B. McAuley, Lindsay, in the sanctuary.

Father Gillogly said the graveside prayers in St. Martin's Cemetery with Monsignor McAuley assisting.

The pallbearers, all close friends of the deceased, were Eugene Moloney, Harold Flood, James Harrington, Herbert Moloney, John Harrington and William Brick.

YUZWA JURY DEADLOCKED, NEW TRIAL

Parliament Gets Bill For 2 Billion

Defence Estimates Of $425,000,000 Highest In Years

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott, presenting a 1950-51 expenditure bill of $2,308,000,000 to the Commons Friday, gave members some indication of what the cold war in Europe is costing Canada.

He said that Canada's defence estimates for the coming fiscal year will total $425,000,000, a figure greater than all government expenditures combined in many pre-war years. It is an increase of $42,000,000 over defence expenditures for the year ending March 31.

Part of the defence expenditures will buy new equipment for the navy, army and air force. It is believed that another portion will go toward paying Canada's still undefined commitments under the North Atlantic Pact.

But the increased expenditures for defence were topped by added outlays in the Health Department, largely due to changes in family allowances and old-age pensions legislation last year. Expenditures on health and welfare in the coming year will total $455,253,570, compared with $410,696,456 in the current fiscal year.

Mr. Abbott made it clear that the bill of $2,308,000,000 — $27,000,000 below estimated expenditures for 1949-50—does not represent the final amount the government expects to spend.

Will Be Extras

Supplementary estimates will be presented later to cover the deficits of the Crown-owned Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines and other unforeseen expenditures.

The minister, who has been striving for months to bring expenditures into line with decreasing revenues, said that his own department expects to save more than $66,000,000 this year largely

PARLIAMENT

A CHARGE OF MURDER still hangs over the head of William Yuzwa, 32, or Hamilton, (left). After a four-day trial and deliberating for nearly seven hours, a trial jury at the Victoria Assizes in Lindsay at 1:30 p.m. Friday decided they could not agree on a verdict. Yuzwa is beginning his 100th day in custody today since he was arrested November 18 and charged with the knife slaying of Jack Loucks in Lindsay. He will be tried again at the Fall Assizes, likely held in October. Top shows Mrs. Yuzwa conferring with counsel for the accused, B. J. Spencer Pitt of Toronto. Throughout the trial she sat directly behind the prisoner's box and chatted with him as long as possible during intermissions.

Freight Rate Ruling March 1

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP) — The Board of Transport Commissioner's final decision on the railways' application for a 20-per-cent boost in freight rates will be handed down March 1, it was learned today.

The board was instructed by the Supreme Court of Canada to review its previous decision which granted the railways only partial relief.

The railways, asking for a general 20-per-cent increase, were authorized to boost rates by only eight per cent.

Red Invasion Force Sunk Chiang Claim

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 25 (AP)—A big bag of Communist invasion craft off the South China mainland was claimed Friday night by the Nationalist Air Force.

In an attack it described as devastating, headquarters said more than 20 vessels averaging 300 tons were sunk or badly damaged along with 160 to 240 smaller craft. The location was near Peihai, west of the Luichow Peninsula, near the Nationalist island Hainan.

The air force also reported sinking many junks off the east coast port of Swatow and raids on Communist positions around Amoy, the Chusan Island and on the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway.

The New York Times reported that planes hit the Communist area on the Hong Kong border today. They attacked three customs houses, burning two, set 13 motor trucks afire, left seven Communist officials and soldiers dead, and wounded 10 others. They also put two locomotives out of action on the Kowloon-Canton Railway.

Municipal Bill Makes Progress

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Ontario's $50,000,000 Municipal Improvement Bill passed the committee stage in the legislature Friday with little debate and one minor amendment.

It will set up a corporation to give financial help to municipalities—particularly smaller ones—in building incinerator sewage and waterworks systems. Premier Frost has told the legislature the [illegible] tion of pollution from Ontario lakes and streams.

The corporation will buy from municipalities debentures bearing 3½ per cent interest. In reply to a question by L. E. Wismer (CCF, Toronto Riverdale), Mr. Frost told the House there no provision in the bill for disposition of any profit the corporation may show

"We will cross that bridge when we come to it," he said. The corporation was not planned to make profit "but to assist municipalities in getting cheaper money for improvement works."

2 Trains Collide Head-On Eight Taken To Hospital

ST. CYRILLE, Que., Feb. 25.—(CP).—Rail traffic was resumed today near this Quebec eastern townships village following a five-hour tie-up when two passenger trains collided head-on Friday night. Seven passengers and a railway engineer were taken to hospital suffering from minor bruises. The crash involved the Canadian National Railways' west-bound Maritime express and the east-bound Scotian on a single line track five miles from Drummondville.

I was aboard the Scotian when it crashed into the Maritime Express. The Scotian was going at a moderate rate of speed and the Express must have been going slowly too, for only the engines and the baggage cars were derailed.

Bus Service

All injured passengers were riding in day coaches. Five of the injured were aboard the Scotian and two on the Express.

The C.N.R. said Friday night that it planned to take passengers aboard the Express to Montreal, 63 miles northwest of Drummondville by bus. The company said [illegible] passengers had left the train and had taken a bus for Montreal.

Drummondville police blamed the collision on traffic signals put out of service by an earlier accident.

Names of the railroad engineer and the seven injured persons were not available.

Comedienne Heir

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25—(AP)—Comedienne Gracie Fields is sole heir to her late husband's $200,000 estate. The will of Monte Banks, who died last month at 52, was filed for probate Friday.

Judge Orders Hotel Closed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25 (AP)—A $2,000,000 hotel in one of Los Angeles' highest-priced districts is threatened with doom by a municipal judge who calls it "a glorified quickie motel."

Judge Vernon Hunt, who said he personally inspected the hotel, ruled Friday that the place is a "hotbed of brawling debauchery." He ordered its proprietors to tear it down or move it away.

Zimmel and Maurice Miller, who own the 200-room establishment, known as the Country Club Villa Hotel, were assessed fines totalling $5,500. They also were sentenced to 30 days in jail and [illegible]

Judge Hunt said he visited the hotel last week to see what the neighbors were complaining about.

"I heard women screaming," he said, "cars going and coming; saw women unescorted—women who looked like the sporting type. I wondered if they might not be call girls." He added:

"This place is intended for people who only want to be there an hour or two. And not to sleep, either."

Liberal Convention May Be Held In June

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP)—The leadership convention of the Ontario Liberal party may be held in Toronto, N. L. Mathews, President of the Provincial Association, said Friday night.

Denying earlier reports that the convention will be held in April, he said no definite date will be set pending a report of the leadership committee which will advance a list of possible candidates.

From other sources it is learned that eight and possibly 10 men may be in the running for the position relinquished last fall by Farquhar Oliver.

Campbell Calder, London member of the Legislature, is definitely a candidate, while the Liberal Association of Port Arthur has put up the name of Charles W. Cox, member from Fort William. Other names mentioned include E. S. Livermore, of London, former magistrate and county judge, now practising law.

US Seizes Balkan Assets Relations Hit New Low

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The sudden freezing of Bulgarian, Hungarian and Romanian assets in the United States sent American relations with the Soviet satellites skidding to a new low today.

Closely following the breaking of relations with Bulgaria earlier in the week, Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath announced Friday night that the United States has halted payments from bank accounts and other assets held here by citizens of the three Eastern European countries.

Only a few hours before, State Secretary Dean Acheson had indicated that the U.S. virtually has given up hope of protecting American citizens and their interests in the three countries. He hinted that the next step may be the rupture of relations with Hungary and Romania.

The Justice Department said the satellite assets were frozen because of a delay in compensating American claims in the three Communist countries

It wouldn't say whether the action was connected with the conviction of Robert Vogeler, American business man, in Hungary a few days ago on charges of espionage A Budapest court sentenced Vogeler to 15 years' imprisonment.

Similar charges have been hurled at American envoys in all three countries.

The U.S. broke off relations with Bulgaria Tuesday because that country refused to drop its request for the recall of American minister Donald Heath, whom it charged with plotting against the Sofia government.

Jurors Out Over 6 Hours Fail To Agree

Accused Remanded To Next Assizes Likely In October

By DAVE WHITE

LINDSAY, Feb. 25.—After a deadlock lasting nearly seven hours the trial jury considering the murder charge against William Yuzwa, 32, Hamilton, decided at 1.30 a.m. today it was unable to reach a verdict.

Mr. Justice Urquhart, presiding at the Spring Assizes, Victoria County, thanked the 12 men for their services and promptly discharged them.

Apparently the jurors were stymied by a maze of contradictory evidence and other discrepancies. The Justice contended it was a "very difficult case."

Yuzwa was remanded for trial to the next assizes, likely in October, though the exact date has not been set.

The stocky Hamilton truckdriver and salesman was committed for trial on December 16, charged with the fatal stabbing of Jack Loucks of Lindsay. Loucks died from a deep stab under the right ear in a knife-swinging brawl on Kent St., shortly after midnight on November 16.

Asked To Decide

After hearing three full days of testimony from 21 crown witnesses and four others for the defence, the jury Friday evening was asked to decide on the guilt, or innocence, of the accused.

Questioned later on how they divided, the jurors said they had agreed not to reveal the poll and thus save possible embarrassment.

Twice during their deliberations they returned to the court room to have points of law explained by Justice Urquhart.

The first time was to hear a synopsis of the evidence of two crown witnesses, Lionel Tracy, Lindsay contractor, who saw part of the slashing epidsode and Floyd Smith, 27-year-old Hagersville truckdriver, recipient of a deep scalp wound.

Later they asked Justice Urquhart to define more clearly the phrase "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Further Instructions

Shortly after they became closeted in the jury room, they were brought back to the court to hear further instructions on law and interpretation of evidence as suggested by rival counsels.

T. D. MacDonald Combines Head

OTTAWA, Feb. 25—(CP)—The government has appointed a Nova Scotian, Thomas D. MacDonald, to administer the Commons Investigation Act. Announcement was made Friday in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson.

Mr. MacDonald, 41, a native of Stellarton, N.S., replaces F. A. McGregor, who resigned following disagreement with the government over delay in making public his report on an alleged combine in the flour milling industry. Mr. McGregor's resignation became effective Jan. 1 last.

Mr. MacDonald, who since last April has held the post of superintendent of bankruptcy in the Justice Department, is a former deputy attorney-general of Nova Scotia.

It was not known immediately what investigations he will open in his new post. Because of the nature of such investigations, they are kept secret until launched.

Mr. MacDonald will be assisted by A. S. Whiteley, assistant commissioner, and another assistant yet to be named Post of the second assistant has been vacant since December, when I. M. MacKeigan resigned to enter private law practice in Halifax.

Decide Rents March 1

OTTAWA, Feb. 25. (CP).—A Supreme Court of Canada decision on the validity of federal rent controls will be handed down March 1 at 10.30 a.m. EST, it was announced today.

See Little Hope Of Settlement In Coal Srike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Government officials urgently prodded coal peace talks today in hope of a break in the strike before the union faces trial on contempt charges Monday. But they weren't optimistic.

With the United States fuel crisis growing steadily worse there seemed little basis for figuring any settlement was near.

Mediation chief Cyrus S. Ching, one of the men President Truman has assigned to try to end the eight-month-long dispute, said there hasn't been any progress since the present court-directed bargaining got underway Feb. 15.

Nevertheless, as the union-operator talks resumed, both Ching and David L. Cole said they were redoubling their efforts over the weekend for an 11th hour compromise. Cole is chairman of Truman's coal inquiry board.

Secret Meetings

The two officials held secret meetings Friday with John L Lewis and his aides, but apparently nothing came of the talks with the United Mine Workers leader.

Lewis left later for Springfield, Ill., to attend the funeral of a brother. His absence from the weekend coal negotiations was a further dampener on prospects for a coal contract.

The union will go on trial before Federal judge Richmond B. Keech for civil and criminal contempt Monday. This is based on the continued walkout of 372,000 union members in face of Keech's order on Feb. 11 that they return to work.

Counsel for Lewis and the UMW argued Friday that the men have stayed out in disregard of Lewis's twice-issued instructions for them to return.

The government is expected to ask a heavy and continuing fine against the UMW in the event of a conviction. This fine could go as high as $1,000,000 a day for every day the strike continues.

Family Flees Beds In Morning Blaze

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 25. (CP)—Two early morning fires in sub-zero temperatures today caused damages estimated at $20,000 and forced one family to flee to safety in their night clothes.

[illegible] overheated furnace was believed to be the cause of a blaze which gutted an empty house in the city's east end. The fire wakened Mr. and Mrs. Fishman in a neighboring house and they placed the fire alarm.

A brick wall of the burning house collapsed and barely missed a group of four firemen.

The second fire was thought to have originated in the boiler room of the downtown Crisp Laundry building. Flames raced up two flights of stairs. The family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ford and their three children, fled from their apartment when it filled with smoke. Damage was contained chiefly to the packing room and the second floor apartment.

Labor Party Heads Decide To Carry On Gov't Attlee Announces Today

New Election Predicted Before Long As Small Labor Majority Whittled Down To 9 Over Conservatives

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP). — Prime Minister Attlee announced today his Labor Party will remain in office, despite the shaky majority it obtained in the General Election.

The decision was taken at an emergency meeting of the Cabinet at 10 Downing Street, which lasted 1¼ hours.

It means that Labor, which scraped through with a bare overall majority in the House of Commons in Thursday's voting, will form another government.

With five results still to come, Labor has a working margin of nine votes in the new 625-seat House.

How long Labor can remain in power was anybody's guess. Its hold was so precarious that a new election within a short time was widely predicted.

Will Carry On

As he left the cabinet session, Attlee told reporters:

"Well, we are carrying on."

Later, the cabinet issued a formal statement which said:

"The cabinet met this morning to consider the situation arising from the General election.

"After consultation with his colleagues, the Prime Minister has decided that as the House of Commons will contain a majority of Labor members, it is the duty of the present administration to continue in office, for the King's Government must be carried on.

"The Prime Minister hopes that now that the election is over, all will once more give their full efforts to carrying forward the necessary work of the nation."

After the cabinet meeting, Attlee stepped into an automobile driven by Mrs. Attlee, and left for a week-end in the country.

Majority Of Ten

In a record-smashing vote, Labor's over-all majority of 140 in the old House of Commons was whittled down to a mere eight Allowing for the fact that the Speaker, who is a Conservative, votes only in case of a tie, the Socialist working majority now stands at nine.

Capt. J. MacLeod, who sat in the old 640-seat House as a National Liberal, won Ross and Cromarty divisions of Northwest Scotland as an Independent Liberal. He polled 10,912 votes in a straight fight against A. C. Reid, Labor, whose count was 6,521.

Results in four other remote Scottish constituencies will be announced Monday and a by-

Blazing Guns Terrorize Night Club Folk

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — A blazing battle in a Greenwich Village night club early today terrorized scores of patrons. Three men, including a policeman, were wounded.

Police said seven bandits, stationed at strategic spots about the Moroccan Village Club, tried to rob the late-hour crowd.

One of the hold-up men strode to the stage where entertainers were performing, shoved a singer out of the way, drew a gun, an announced over the microphone to the crowd:

"This is a stickup. Put your jewelry, purses and money on the tables. I've got six others with me."

Gunmen Stand Up

At the same moment, police said other gunmen stood up about the room, guns in hand.

Confusion followed. Some guests dropped to the floor, cowering under tables. Others ran screaming. There was rapid gunfire.

One of two detectives in the club, John O'Neill, was hit in the right thigh.

Four men were arrested, two of them wounded in the wild gun fight. Three others fled.

Lloyds Lose $77,500 On Vote

LONDON, Feb. 25—(AP)—Lloyds of London lost £25,000 ($77,500) as a result of Britain's election, it was estimated today.

For premium of £5,000 Lloyds took on a total liability of £30,- [illegible] guaranteeing Liberal party candidates against loss of their deposits.

Under British Election law each candidate posts £150, which is forfeited if he does not receive one eighth of the vote in the district.

Lloyds insured the Liberals against loss of deposits, after the first 50, up to a maximum of 250. At the end of Friday night's counting the Liberals had forfeited 314 deposits.

At that time the treasury had been enriched by £67,350, because a record 499 candidates had forfeited their deposits. Of the total, £47,100 came from the Liberals.

Canada-US Jump Ahead Of Russia On Production

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said Friday night that North America's military strength rests on her "unmatched" mass production and the ingenuity of her youth.

"It is clear that if we are ever attacked, it is on the quality forces and quality weapons and equipment that we should place reliance," he said in an address before the annual meeting of the Canadian Geograpical Society. He could see only Russia and her satellites as a possible source of trouble.

The North American youth on whom the future depends are highly educated, familiar with mechanisms and have shown inventive abilities of the highest order, enterprise, discipline and courage in action, he said.

"Behind these priceless human and moral resources which are notable characteristics of the people of the Atlantic region, the U.S. and Canada between them in North American possess the most comprehensive mass production industry in the world."

The continent had ample supplies of key materials needed for both war and peace, the ability to develop substitutes, and capacity for building the newest weapons of war.

The former 1st Canadian Army commander called for continued maintenance of North America's military strength and the expansion and improvement of such military equipment as atomic weapons.

Montreal To Censor Shorts, Bathing Suits

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 —(CP)—Montreal is planning to clamp down on women — and men — judged to be underclad in public.

A new by-law outlawing the wearing of sun dresses without boleros, two-piece bathing suits and shorts in public places will be presented for approval at the next meeting of city council.

The by-law already has been adopted in principle by the city executive committee, including Mayor Camillien Houde.

The controversy started here last summer when several religious and civic organizations openly denounced women's summer apparel. The by-law also is aimed at "males over 16 years of age" who wear only trunks and expose their torsos.

Stock Markets Reach Higher Ground

By The Canadian Press

Late demand pulled stock markets out of their narrow trading rut into slightly higher ground this week. Activity increased on the upturn.

The British election was carefully watched with markets responding with an upward movement Friday on news of the strong showing by the Conservative party.

New York operated on a four-day week. United States markets were closed Wednesday, Washington's birthday.

The United States coal strike was practically ignored by Wall Street Monday and Tuesday in some of the dullest sessions of the year. Selective buying lifted the market onto firmer ground Thursday and a sudden rush of demand early Friday pulled prices strongly upwards.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed at 73.7, a gain of .1 from the previous Friday.

More Decisive

Canadian markets were more decisive. Strong demand late in the week lifted leading industrial stocks steadily.

In Toronto, industrials chalked up a gain of 1.08 on the exchange's index, largely the result of strong demand in key issues Thursday and Friday. Paper and construction stocks attracted considerable attention.

Small mining issues crept into the spotlight. Activity was brisk in a handful of low-priced stocks and a few key juniors also brightened, lifting the gold index .37.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much cough syrup for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness very promptly.

Mr. Abbott has forecast a surplus of $595,000,00 for last year.

Because of tax cuts in the last budget and because of the meagreness of reduction in expenditures, there was some speculation that Mr Abbott will not be able to make many tax reductions this year.

The 1950-51 estimates contained no extraordinary provision for the relief of unemployment. The Resources and Development Department again will ask for a vote of $2,000,000 from which all departments can draw to plan or initiate projects aimed at relieving unemployment. Once the project is started parliament can be asked to vote the full amount needed for the work.

Opposition Fails To Revoke Insurance Boost

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Opposition members made a spirited, unsuccessful attempt in the Commons Friday to have the government revoke a decision to increase unemployment insurance rates for employers and employees.

Members of the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties expressed willingness to give hurried passage to provisions of a bill providing for supplementary and special unemployment insurance payments.

But they strongly opposed what they called the government's procedure in "rushing through" major changes to the act. They said these could be held to obtain the views of management and labor.

The legislation, finally adopted on division—without a formal vote—provided, among other things, for an increase of one cent a day in the unemployment insurance contributions of both employers and employees.

Won't Take Word

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, and spokesmen for the CCF party said that never again would they take the government's word for contents of legislation brought down.

Their complaint was that the government had asked for opposition co-operation on passage of a bill that would help those now unemployed—estimated by the Labor Department at 375,000. Instead, the government had gone farther and introduced major changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act without consultation with labor or management.

Health Minister Martin, acting for Labor Minister Mitchell, said all the changes except those providing for supplementary payments to persons now unemployed had been approved by the advisory committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. The committee includes representatives of labor and management.

This did not satisfy the opposition. Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said presidents of the Trades and Labor Congress and of the Canadian Congress of Labor had not seen contents of the bill. He doubted if employers had seen it.

Mr. Drew said he would not bar adoption of the bill because he wanted the government to be in a position to start supplementary payments by March 1. This did not mean, however, that his party approved of the procedure adopted in presenting the bill or approval of such clauses as that providing for increases in contributions.

Goes to Senate

The legislation now goes to the Senate for study. It will extend payments to those unemployed workers who have exhausted unemployment insurance benefits It also will provide for payments to loggers and lumbermen not now insured and to unemployed workers who were in an industry only recently insured.

In the main debate, Mr. Martin said he was sure that every worker in Canada would be willing to pay an extra six cents a week to give himself added protection during the winter months.

In an ordinary year the supplementary benefits will be payable between Jan. 1 and March 31. This year, the payments will run probably from March 1 to April 15.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) said the government had given no justification for the increase in contributions. It was asking the workers to pay the cost of the supplementary cheques that the government would start sending out next month.

Jurors Out

ors favored the "hung jury" verdict.

No Agreement

At exactly 1.28 a.m., the jury returned and announced no agreement.

"It's quite hopeless is it"? asked Justice Urquhart.

"Yes, your Lordship," replied Mr. Fox for the obviously-fatigued fellow jurors.

Justice Urquhart gave a few words of commendation: "I'm sorry you were unable to agree but from watching you during the trial I know you are sincere in your duties and have done the best you can."

To many of the spectators who had remained in their seats for the six hours and 40 minutes while the jury was out, the abrupt end of the four-day trial came as an anti-climax. The vast majority were apparently hoping to be present at the dramatic moment when guilt or innocence was pronounced.

Stolid Reaction

Yuzwa, clad in the same grey suit which he had worn from the beginning of the trial and wearing tinted horn rimmed glasses, accepted the verdict with his usual stolidness.

His wife watched intently from directly behind the prisoner's box where she has sat during the four-day ordeal. She shook her head with disappointment when she heard the result, for it meant another trial with the attending worry and strain.

Just what prompted the jurymen to ask for another hearing of the Tracy and Smith evidence is not officially known. But in both these testimonies the description of participants in the stabbings varies from that of the principal witness Wesley Aldred.

Aldred, the only Crown witness who swore to seeing all the stabbings, included Yuzwa in all of them.

Tracy described the assailants of Floyd Smith, 27, and Sidney Olver, 37, as two men in fawn-colored coats, presumably two of the Zahodniks. He testified at the trial that Yuzwa was one of three men who attacked Sidney Risley, 50.

Counsel for the accused was quick to point out, however, that Tracy at the preliminary hearing, had spoken of two not three men attacking Risley and neither of them was the accused.

Missed Scuffle

Tracy said he did not see Yuzwa's alleged scuffle with Loucks, but saw him follow the deceased west along Kent St. about a minute after the argument ended at Yuzwa's truck.

Smith related that he saw three men — none of them Yuzwa —a couple of feet from him and just west of the doorway of the Big 20 Cafe. When he turned away, he said, he was struck on the head and received a scalp wound requiring seven stitches.

After hearing this evidence from the notes of Justice Urquhart the jury returned to their isolated room. Coffee and sandwiches were passed into them.

For nearly four hours Mr. Justice Urquhart addressed the jury, receiving the evidence and explaining the intricacies of law.

Three Choices

He instructed the jurymen that they had three choices: find the accused guilty as charged, reduce the count to manslaughter, or find the accused not guilty.

Three grounds for a murder charge might be applicable in this case he said:

One—if the accused intended to cause the death of Loucks.

Two—if he intended to cause bodily injury likely to cause death and was reckless whether the victim died or not.

Three—if for an unlawful object, he did an act knowing it could cause death and even though he hoped the object would be effected without hurting anybody.

The jury must ask itself if the accused intended to kill, said the Justice. If the answer is yes, then the matter of provocation must be considered.

If the answer is no it must decide whether there was any intention to cause Loucks bodily injury, and if this was so was he able to appreciate that the act was likely to cause death, and was he reckless whether death ensued or not.

Provocation Issue

"The most provocation can do is reduce murder to manslaughter," he said. It (the provocation) must be sufficient to make an ordinary man lose his self control."

While dealing with provocation the Justice asked the jury to consider Loucks' attitude.

"Loucks had no business doing what he did," he stated. He was looking for trouble. In the language of the street he was looking for someone to fight with."

The Justice asked the jury to examine all the evidence before deciding whether or not Yuzwa struck the fatal blow.

He read the postmorten report of Dr. W. L. Broadfoot giving the dimensions and other details of the fatal wound.

Aldred (whom Justice Urquhart described as the "principal and most important witness") said that in the scuffle with Loucks he saw Yuzwa's elbows go forward, and the forearms were raised.

Simultaneously Loucks put his hand to his mouth which was bleeding and Yuzwa according to

Police Press Vice Campaign

MONTREAL, Feb. 25. (CP) — This metropolis' neon belt, hit in a recent crackdown against vice and late-night carrying on, is taking it on the chin in a new police campaign.

Civic authorities Friday revoked the permit of the Gaiety, the city's top burlesque and vaudeville house, for ignoring closing hours. It was charged for the third time in as many months with holding after - midnight shows.

At the same time, Deputy Police Director T. O. Leggett threatened to have a summons served against owners of the Nite Cap Cafe, a midtown night spot whose liquor permit was revoked two days ago.

The Nite Cap went right on serving customers and Friday Leggett gave its owners 24 hours to shut down or be brought into court.

A report from city hall said police have been asked to prepare reports on the goings-on in other cafes. Dr. Adelard Groulx, city health director, also has recommended tighter regulation of massage parlors so that customers may be massaged only by persons of the same sex.

Aldred, seized the fatally injured man by the left shoulder and spun him around to the right.

The wound he described as "down and forward" from its point of entry below the right ear.

"Is there some doubt whether the upward movement of the elbows and forearms could have caused that wound?" he asked.

Benefit of the doubt, other things being equal, must go to the accused, he stated.

Been Fair

At one point, Justice Urquhart raised a counter-objection to an objection by B. J. Spencer Pitt, defence counsel. He said that he had introduced one specific deduction from evidence, apparently favorable to the accused in his summation, and, as a matter of fact, had brought in several others that Mr. Pitt hadn't thought of.

"I've been more than fair," he told counsel for the accused.

Evidence was lacking from three men who might have been called, said the Justice—Joseph Kearns, John Zahodnik and Robert Williams.

He intimated that Kearns should have been called.

"We are left in the dark as to what his evidence would have been.

Kearns was said by witnesses to have been arguing with Yuzwa on the night in question. Williams, now in Toronto, was sitting in the parked car of a principal witness Lionel Tracy. John Zahodnik was one of the four in Yuzwa's party originally charged with murder.

His two brothers, Paul 28, and James 34, testified for the accused.

Raps Drinking

Practically all the principal witnesses with the exception of Aldred had been drinking, Justice Urquhart affirmed. And he suggested that some of the haziness in the evidence might be due to the general state of "insobriety."

He said there was reason to believe Loucks was intoxicated. None of the three wounded men —Smith, Risely and Olver— knew who hit them or could offer much useful information.

"The case here depends largely on the evidence of Aldred, backed up to a limited extent by the testimony of Tracy," he said.

He offered the opinion that Aldred's evidence had stood up "pretty well" under Mr. Pitts searching examination. But he described the key witness as follows: "a garrulous young man, unable to answer with a straight yes or no. He seemed to think it his duty to explain everything and pleson his answers out. He want[illegible] go back over everything."

As an ex-crown attorney himself Justice Urquhart was critical of the organization of the police lineup in which the accused was picked out.

A Poor Affair

"A very poor affair," was his comment. Yuzwa was put in a lineup next day wearing the same clothes as he had on the night before. There was only one other in the police lineup who was wearing a green shirt similar to that of the accused and he was a lad of 16.

However, this was not important, he felt, as witnesses said they could identify Yuzwa regardless of his clothes and he admitted wearing the green shirt.

"No explanation was given anybody as to how blood got on the knife," he pointed out.

Why Keep Knife?

Were Yuzwa or any of his companions the killer he could not understand why the guilty party had not taken the simple precaution of throwing the weapon away. There was ample opportunity to do so on the 28-mile drive from Lindsay to Peterborough.

If the accused actually was guilty it was "unfortunate" he should have been struck by Constable Claire McGillen, he said, because bloodstains on his hands were from his own wound and would tend to cover any other stains.

The Justice also stated he thought Provincial Constable Roy Feeley, when he first found the knife in the front seat, should have placed it in an envelope Instead it was placed back again on the floor and contradictory evidence as to its location followed election will be held March 9 in Manchester-Moss Side owing to the death of a candidate.

Conforming with custom, all ministers surrendered their portfolios to Attlee during the cabinet meeting. He will reshuffle his government and is expected to announce the changes about the middle of next week.

Reuters News Agency said it learned authoritatively that Labor will not seek any kind of coalition or aid from the Conservatives or the Liberals.

The new parliament will convene next Wednesday for organization purposes. The government's proposed legislative program will be outlined March 6 in the speech from the Throne. There are many who think Labor will tone down its ideas considerably because of the hard pounding they took Thursday.

The Conservative Party's "shadow cabinet," the men who would have been ministers if Winston Churchill's Tories had won, will meet Tuesday to map strategy. Churchill and his chief deputy, Anthony Eden, conferred today at Churchill's home in Kent.

Britons, voting on the broad issue of Socialism versus private enterprise after five years of Socialist government, gave Labor 314 seats, just one more than the figure necessary for an over-all majority in the 625-seat House of Commons.

Inspired by Winston Churchill's "right road for Britain" challenge, the Conservatives almost upset Labor in the see-saw election race.

Heavy Vote

More than 28,000,000 of Britain's 34,000,000 persons qualified to vote registered their decision in the ballot boxes.

The Conservatives obtained 279 seats. Coupled with supporting groups, this swelled their strength to 295.

The Liberals won eight seats.

The Communists and smaller groups failed to win a seat but two Irish Nationalists were elected.

The 67-year-old Attlee was understood to feel that it is Labor's duty to carry on in office if it has an absolute majority, however small.

But political observers did not believe that Labor could remain in office long with such a precarious control of the House of Commons

See Election Shortly

Many London morning newspapers speculated on how soon a new election would be held and most expressed the belief that it would come within a few months.

Formation of a coalition government also was mentioned and although this is considered unlikely the possibility of a Labor-Liberal tie-up was not ruled out.

Of the deferred seats, the Conservatives and their allies took three to Labor's two in the Socialist landslide of 1945. Four of the seats are in remote Scottish districts.

Allowing for the Speaker, Douglas Clifton Brown, who was elected as a Conservative but is a non-party man in the House and has no vote except in the case of a tie, Labor's over-all majority on the basis of the 620 seats decided is nine.

Twenty members of the new House are women.

Whips On Guard

Even if Labor remains in office, its margin of control is so slight that it seemed unlikely it would press for further controversial nationalization measures. Government whips will have to be constantly on guard against a surprise division which might defeat Labor.

Despite the uncertainty, the Labor Party planned a big vic[illegible] cide with observance of its 50th birthday.

A record of 84 per cent of Britain's qualified voters cast a total of 28,582,901 votes.

While the votes still were being counted Friday, Morgan Phillips, Labor Party secretary, said a majority of 30 seats was the minimum with which any single-party government could effectively execute its major policies.

Dismayed By Results

Both Labor and Conservative leaders were dismayed by the results. Many blamed the Liberal party, which ran 474 candidates in a major—and unsuccessful — comeback effort.

One of the first problems confronting the new government is preparation of the budget, customarily brought down in April.

Should the government be defeated on any of the major issues it has promised to put through—such as further nationalization or even approval of the budget—it would have to resign. New elections then would have to be called.

One factor played up by Conservative commentators was that more Britons actually voted against Labor than for.

Attlee's party got 13,209,400 votes. Churchill's party got a close 12,408,808 votes, which added to the Liberals' 2,610,276 and other smaller parties outnumbered the Labor vote by nearly 2,000,000.

The 1,868 candidates running was the largest number ever put up for election.

Sunday Sports In Peterborough Predicted By Young Adults' Club

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25 — (ENS)—The Young Adults' Club of St. John's United Church held their regular meeting in the basement of the church on Friday night with a good attendance. Ruth Thompson president of the club, was in the chair.

The devotional period was taken by Doris Heagle, and Pearl McComb. During the musical part part of the program Doug. Gibson drew much applause for his solos. He was accompanied on the piano by Anne Nicholls.

Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith opened a discussion on Sunday sports. He claimed the issue of Sunday sports was "beclouded." The Lord's Day Act was revised and brought up-to-date in 1948 and many people are now under the wrong illusions, due to the old clauses of the Act. He claimed that it was legal to play organized sports on the Sabbath, providing no admission fee was charged. This made it quite apparent that commercial interests were behind the movement for Sunday sports in the recent plebiscites held in Windsor and Toronto. This, he declared, would eventually lead to the destruction of the inherent rights of many to the day of rest, the prime purpose of the revised Lord's Day Act.

Mr. Smith predicted legislation would soon be passed, making commercialized Sunday sports legal in places where an affirmative vote had already carried. The local option play would leave other centres in a position to vote commercial sport into their cities or towns if they so desired.

In Peterborough?

Toronto may not long be the nearest centre to Campbellford with legalized commercial Sunday sports. He felt it likely that cities such as Peterborough would bring the issue nearer home.

A discussion followed on this topic, with the members taking an active interest in future possibilities of the issue.

The club is going to sponsor a musical group, the Davies Group, which will come to Campbellford on March 9. Further details of this are to be announced later.

The members derived much enjoyment from the games, conducted by Eunice Sayers, and the program was brought to a close with the serving of lunch.

Col. D. McCammand Led Peterboro' Men

Veterans of the Peterborough Corps of the Salvation Army, men like J. J. Cunningham and Thomas H. Brooks, recalled this week memories of Staff Captain David McCammand, whose death was reported from Vancouver, B.C.

He was the officer in charge of the local corps more than 40 years ago with the rank of Staff Captain, but was Colonel McCammand at his death this week. He was 80 years of age. He was long prominent in the affairs of the Salvation Army in Canada.

U.S. Will Back Western Germany

By DREW MIDDLETON

FRANKFURT, Feb. 25. — The United States High Commission in Germany and the Government in Washington stand "firmly behind" Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in any political crisis arising out of the Government's program to cope with Western Germany's two million unemployed, it was learned today from an unimpeachable source.

This source said that Chancellor Adenauer had been "temperate and reasonable" in his recent dealings with the High Commissioner and appears "sincerely anxious" to solve his major internal problem — unemployment.

There are strong indications that both the Government and the Opposition are preparing for a political battle over the Chancellor's unemployment program. The Opposition and some lukewarm members of the Government coalition are claiming that the recent American memorandum criticizing that progra mindicates that the United States desires a reconstitution of the Government on an even broader basis.

This idea, discussed in a number of newspapers this morning, was abruptly rejected by this source. The memorandum, he said, had been offered to help the Government and had centred about two aspects of the program. These were, he said, the question of where the money (3,400,000,000 marks) is to be found, and the fact that the program did not seem to stimulate exports to the extent the Americans believe necessary.

If the Germans desire, the source said, American experts will go over the program and make suggestions for financing and for stimulation of exports. The United States High Commission, it is understood, will "consider" lifting West Germany's steel production if this could be supported as helping the battle against unemployment.

Chancellor Adenauer, this source said, is concerned over financing of his relief program. The Chancellor does not want to try anything which might lead to deficit financing or inflation.

American officials have declared recently, first that the Government's fears of inflation are exaggerated; and second that it will not have to rely on the United States, as some believe, for financing of the program. One American theory is that there is far more money in Germany than is indicated by the high interest rates and that some of this should go into financing of the program.

Farm Wages Down

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP) — A downward trend in farm wages was noted Friday by the Bureau of Statistics. Farm workers were getting an average of $3.63 a day plus board in January, a drop of 41 cents from the 1949 average of $4.04. Without board, the average daily rate was reported at $4.52, down 45 cents from last year's $4.97.

AID FOR COAL STRIKERS—In Wheeling, W. Va., United Mine Workers members survey the new headquarters established to handle collection and distribution of food for families of 18,000 striking miners. The office was set up by nine UMW locals. It plans house-to-house canvassing to build up the supply of clothing and food.

Delay Decision On Contributions

BRANTFORD, Feb. 25—(CP)—While the Dominion Government favors the project, decision on their contribution toward cost of construction of the proposed $4,000,000 Conestago River dam must be deferred until after the Dominion - Provincial conference next September, William Philip, of Galt, chairman of the Grand River Conservation Commission, told the annual meeting Friday.

Reporting on the conference with Public Works Minister Fournier at Ottawa, Mr. Philip said the minister took a favorable view of the proposed project, but he could make no promises until after the conference.

Mr. Philip was re-elected chairman of the Commission. Other members of the executive include vice-president, Marcel Pequegnat, Kitchener and secretary-treasurer E. F. Roberts of Brantford.

GALT, Feb. 25—(CP)—Five Galt collegiate students expelled for a hazing said Friday they weren't guilty.

The five, expelled Thursday after Edward Teckoe, 19, received a black eye and bruises as well as clipped hair, claimed he got his hurts in "a fair fight" with George Smith, one of the expelled students.

Besides Smith, those expelled are: Dave Lovegrove, Ken Simpson, Terry Hogan and Dave Thomson. All were members of the senior basketball team.

Need More Immigrants

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP)—Canada needs up to 100,000 immigrants a year to ward off depression and unemployment, R. E. G. Davis, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council, said Friday night. In a speech prepared for delivery, he said that if immigrants were picked on a selective basis they would create new industries, which in turn made for additional jobs for now unemployed Canadians.

Payroll Snatch Fails

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 (CP) — Two men who snatched a $1,200 payroll envelope from a woman on downtown Youville Square Friday were captured a few minutes later by employees of a Brinks Express Company truck. The men were taken to police headquarters. The money was recovered. A third man believed to have been involved was sought by police.

Fire Destroys Big Cyclotron

PRINCETON, N.J., Feb. 25 (AP)—The 18,000,000-volt cyclotron which helped make the atom bomb was virtually destroyed by an oil fire.

The cause of the smoky, stubborn fire inside Princeton University's $400,000 atom-smashing machine could not immediately be determined. Dr. Milton White, professor of physics, said that only the magnets could be salvaged.

The machine currently was being used on a nuclear research project for the Office of Naval Research.

Parts of the 35-ton machine were shipped to the Los Alamos, N.M., atom-bomb project during the war, and were returned here after the bomb was completed. Built in 1936, it was one of the first atom-smashing devices in the United States.

Thick black smoke poured from the cyclotron's concrete vault-home in the basement of the Palmer Physical Laboratory. The blaze was brought under control after several hours of efforts by naval and local fire fighters.

White estimated it will take six months to rebuild the machine now. It had been rebuilt in 1946 when the parts were returned from Los Alamos.

The fire came just before the scheduled arrival here of the famed Danish atomic scientist, Dr. Niels Bohr, who arrived in New York from Copenhagen yesterday to join the nearby Institute for Advanced Study.

Accidental Death

LUCKNOW, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP) —A coroner's jury inquiring into the death of John Barker, 89, who died here last week during a fire at the Henderson Home for the Aged, returned a verdict of accidental death due to suffocation by smoke.

Queasily Balanced Vote

In a membership as large as that of the British House of Commons, the majority secured by Labour is too slender to allow Prime Minister Attlee strong executive power; it is too small for effective parliamentary government in the British tradition. What the solution it remains to be seen. The party whip and their critical position may induce among Labour members a greater solidarity than they have shown in the last five years when there was no formidable opposition. The Attlee Government may be able to hobble along, but without the firmness of policy which Britain's situation in these times demands.

* * *

The situation is not parallel with, nor as oscillating as, that which met the parliaments of the '20's after the first war's economic consequences had been felt. The first Labour government (1924) was formed of a minority supported by the Liberals; the House had 258 Unionists, against 191 Labour members and 158 Liberals. That Ramsay MacDonald government lasted nine months. The second Labour Govern-Government following the election of 1929 was formed from a house of 260 Conservatives, 287 Labour and 59 Liberals. Then Labour had the largest representation, but not an overall majority, slight as it is. A vote of confidence in the House will not pass against it quickly, unless a strange coalition of members is fomented.

* * *

It is pertinent to remember that the first minority Labour government toppled over a foreign matter — a treaty with communist Russia; the second (into an engulfing collaboration with the Conservatives) over an economic crisis. Both such issues are likely to rear up again.

A Strong Appeal

Europeans and Britons take politics more to heart—and to the polls—than Canadians. Even so, the tremendous vote on Thursday—some 85 per cent of the electors cast ballots — shows how seriously the British people accepted their duty and their concern with the issues.

Despite the portents in Australia, the baited breath of free enterprise in the U.S.A., and the economic difficulties in which Britain has been plunged (and with it, the Labour [illegible] Conservatives promising [illegible] dom did not win. One explanation can be had from the kind of appeal Health Minister Aneurin Bevan made in South Wales.

"Remember when they were rationing jobs, not butter?, he asked. "There's no need for that now. . .We're putting the pawnshops out of business", Then he asked in a stage-whisper: "By the way, is the pawn shop still there?"

"No!", the miners shouted.

"Well, there you are", was Bevan's clincher.

Get Your Car License Plate— Or Else

We are rather annoyed with Mr. Doucett, the Ontario Minister of Highways. Mr. Doucett (or some functionary in his department) is peeved because Ontario car owners are not flocking quickly enough to the places where they put down their money for 1950 plates. So we are threatened that unless there is an immediate increase in applications for the plates, the period of tolerance for the 1949 plates will be "terminated without notice". That sort of talk is not polite or likely to achieve willing co-operation. If that is the way the Department of Highways wants to treat the people who have to pay two or a dozen dollars for two of its metal plates we should not be surprised if they got their backs up, and held off until zero hour, even if they had to queue for hours with all the others with arched backs at the plate-dispensing office.

Cogi[illegible], Ergo Sum

Descartes himself says that since philosophy "embraces all that the human mind can know, we ought to believe that it is by it we are distinguished from savages and barbarians, and that the civilization and culture of a nation is regulated by the degree in which true philosophy flourishes in it, and, accordingly, that to contain true philosophers is the higest privilege a state can enjoy". We consider it here a privilege to entertain Rene Descartes, an inspired philosopher who died three hundred years ago this month. Although philosophy does not flourish in Canada, Canadians are, be it hoped, not barbarians; it is meet at this time to pay respect to Descartes, and to think on Cartesian philosophy.

* * *

Descartes (1596-1650), great Frenchman, soldier and writer (even in translation, even today his work has freshness, for instance Chapter 2 and 3 of his Discourse on Method), was a moralist, a scientist and a man of the world but it is for his original contribution to epistemology — the science of knowledge—that he is most honoured. But let us not underestimate his human sense, his conduct of his own life and affairs. His "provisory code of morals" (Part III of the Discourse) by which he devised a practical attitude toward living to allow him freedom for his thought, is composed of maxims which should give ease to distressed, uncertain minds in this century.

Descartes as an epistemologist gave modern philosophy its beginning. His doctrines are important because they were based on conscious method, and this method was an explicit recognition of the scientific spirit. When he asked himself, as did Plato, 'what is truth?', he asked 'what do I know for sure?', Socrates decided that he knew one thing—that he knew nothing. Descartes decided that he knew himself—that is, his own existence. If chairs, cows, other people were imaginary (like dreams), at least he (the ego) exists.

I have persuaded myself that there is nothing at all in the world, that there are no heavens, no earth, no minds, no bodies; am I then also persuaded that I am not? Far from it! Without doubt I exist if I am persuaded, or solely if I have thought anything whatever. But there is I know not what deceiver, very powerful, very crafty who employs all his cunning continually to delude me. There is still no doubt that I exi[illegible] if he deceives me; and let him deceive me as he may, he will never bring it about that I shall be nothing so long as I think something exists. Accordingly having considered it well, and carefully examined everything, I am obliged to conclude and to hold for certain that this proposition, I am, I exist, is necessarily true, every time that I pronounce it or conceive it in my mind. ('Meditations', II).

Therein is the core of Cartesian epistemology. Cogito, ergo sum—I think, therefore I am. That was Descartes' basic proposition, and one which has profoundly influenced the course of western thought in the last three centuries. This momentous pronouncement occurs first in the Discourse on Method — in Latin, because Descartes wrote most of his work in that language.

* * *

This is the heart of idealistic philosophy, that is, philosophy in the basic reality as conceived to be thought, spirit, the unsubstantial. Out of it rises a philosophic [illegible] matter, between subjectivity and objectivity, between thought and 'fact'. The sharp difference he drew between mind and body left science free to follow its bent in the physical universe. The violence of the separation gave rise to difficulties, but until it was realized that the notion of mind and spirit on the one hand, and the notion of matter on the other, were different and should be examined separately, progress in science was held up.

* * *

Descartes urged the importance of philosophy, as our quotation in the first paragraph above indicates. Has Cartesian philosophy an important validity today? Is it not merely pedantic quibbling, this distinction between mind and matter, of no concern to ordinary people? Descartes' arguments on the nature of reality and ultimate truth are more cogent than ever. Man still quests for basic truth, and now atomic physicists and astronomers take him further from the so-called real world into a quasiCartesian one. What reality has a chair made up of electrons, neutrons or some such in suspended animation? Can mind be any less real? Has a chair more substantial existence than a wisp of thought? And which is the reality in the heavens, the star of the nursery rhyme or of the astrophysicist? Whatever wonders of philosophy Descartes would have propounded with the knowledge of twentieth century science, his basic assertion of reality could still have been cen central: cogito, ergo sum.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.

Dear Pil:

I was at a concert a few nights ago where a young woman sang "Annie Laurie" very well. I could not help wondering what impression she would have made on her hearers if she had sung the original version of the song. You know that it is always attributed to Lady Scott, who describes Annie thus:

Her brow is like the snaw-drift,
Her neck is like the swan;
Her cheeks they are the fairest
That e'er the sun shone on;
That e'er the sun shone one,
And dark blue is her ee.....

And for this pleasing and rather delicate young party the singer declares himself ready to lay him doon and dee, which is an extreme measure, even for a Scotchman.

But I discovered quite recently that Lady Scott merely tidied up and watered down the poem of "Annie Laurie". The original was written by William Douglas of Fingland in 1680, and he describes Annie in these words:

She's backit like a peacock,
She's breastit like the swan,
She's jimp aboot the middle,
Her waist ye weel micht span;
Her waist ye weel micht span,
And she hath a rolling ee.....

This is a very different girl, and one much more to my personal taste. This earlier and more interesting Annie might be glad to know that her lover would lay him doon and dee for her if need be, but a girl with a rolling ee can usually think of better ways of passing the time.

I am all for reviving the earlier Annie.

Yours,
SAM.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.

Dear Mr. Hydra:

I observe with interest that the government has signified its approval of a Union of the Unemployed, which will take care of the interests of unemployed persons and do its best to assure them of a square deal. May I entreat you, as Deputy Co-ordinator of Millennial Projects, to use what influence you have to carry this a step forward, and gain approval also for a Union of the Unemployable, which I am now organizing.

It is not generally realized by capitalists and even by labour unions that there are great numbers of people who are really unsuited for work of any kind. There is nothing reprehensible in this. The same Providence which makes one man a genius makes another a stumblebum. To lay any responsibility upon the man himself is out of key with all modern thought on such matters. But it is obvious that Society — meaning those who are happily in a position to pay taxes—has a duty to the unemployable, a duty which goes far beyond the provision of workhouses. For the unemployable are by no means deficient in ability; they are all good at attending meetings, and many of them are surprisingly eloquent. If their condition were ameliorated—that is to say, if they could be assured of the fruits of labour without any necessity to perform the labour—our country would be tapping an entirely new and untried source of intellectual energy.

Under an aristocratic system of government countries supported a class which did no work and probably could not work, and that class in turn fostered the arts and science and brought great credit upon their native lands. A Union of the Unemployable would, in the course of time, probably do the same. The time is ripe for this daring advance in social legislation, and Canada can be first in the field. The taxpayers will howl, of course, but they are a chronically disgruntled lot, and may safely be disregarded.

Yours in hope of a favourable reply,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Dear Fribble:

It is by no means too early in the year to be thinking about the summer tourist business, and such reflection immediately turns my mind toward monsters. Canada, I assert, is wretchedly under-monstered. Tourists come up here to see what? Architecture? Ha, ha! Large objects, such as cities, buildings or slum areas? They have them much bigger at home. Natural beauties? They [illegible] most beautiful country in the world. No, Fribble, they come [illegible] and improbable things, and not, as is sometimes said, to enjoy the voluptuous idleness of our Canadian Way of Life.

Some parts of Canada have awakened to this fact, and have taken the proper measures. British Columbia has two splendid monsters—'Caddy" the sea-serpent, and the "Ogopogo" which is to be seen in the Okanagan Lake. Saskatchewan has a half-alligator, half-calf. In Manitoba there is a moose so large that is crosses lakes by walking along the bottom.

In this type of tourist enterprise our part of Canada is laggard. Tourists coming here are habitually underwhelmed, and if we hope to overwhelm them we must have some monsters at once. We cannot expect to do anything with our intangible monstrosities, such as the moral fervour of a Toronto newspaper in full cry after a sinning film-star. We need a genuine, eye-filling monster and it must be clearly recognizable as such, so there is no use sending me a list of names of politicians, none of whom look nearly as monstrous as they are.

If you should have any ideas, let me know.

Your admirer and crony,
S. MARCHBANKS

To Mrs. Morrigan

Dear Mrs. Morrigan:

Of late I have been reading several novels by O. Somerville and Martin Ross, the Irish ladies who collaborated in fiction for so long. And I am interested in the curious fact that many of their heroes wear monocles. Why should this be? Is there something particularly attractive to women about a monocle? Some men wear them with distinction, and some with painfully obvious effort, but I have never heard it suggested that this made them irresistible.

It is a curious thing that the wearing of a monocle is usually thought to be an affectation. And yet they were first used by men who had one defective eye, and who saw no sense in wearing two lenses where one would do. It still seems to me to be ridiculous to wear a pair of spectacles to correct the sight of one eye, and yet I think a man who appeared in a [illegible] except in rather exclusive social circles, would have to endure the jeers of the many-headed. As one who needs two lenses and the occasional aid of a pair of binoculars I am permitted to express this opinion without any hint of special pleading.

Your devoted and admiring
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

Letters To The Editor

KEEP CANADA FREE

Sir: I am a married man with three children and for myself I would not care to have my wife working, I like to think of her in the home looking after the house and children, but our views are not all the same, and I can understand that some women like to get out and help their husbands with the money problem I know of cases where married women have worked and bought things for the house that they never would have had.

This is a free country and we are proud of it, so let us keep it that way; let those who want to work, work and not be condemned for it. We fought for a free country and as soon as we start asking the government to stop certain people from working we are taking away some of our freedom. So why not ask them to stop some people from speaking or writing letters. We would soon be in the same boat as some other countries where everybody (married women too) has to work if they want to or not.

I have seen both married women and single girls working and I must say that in most cases married women make the best workers. They are more stable. Some of the young girls will jump from one job to another and when jobs get a little hard to get, they find themselves without a job and blame the others who have kept to their jobs and are still working.

I note with interest that it is in most cases married women who complain about the other women working. It is no wonder that this is a man's world, when the women will not stick together to uphold the freedom which they strive for.

It is a great country when we can all express our views out in the open, so let us keep it that way, not make laws for others just to satisfy ourselves.

I thank you Mr. Editor for your time and space.

A VETERAN

WANTS GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE

Sir: May I have a corner in your valuable paper to express my thoughts again.

The last time I wrote I made so many married women really provoked it amused me. I didn't think my husband and I had done anything very unusual in saving enough out of one income to buy a car and a house and have a bank savings; but apparently we are none other than two geniuses. It was suggested we had a tidy sum left us. Someone else requested we put in print our budget. Sorry I cannot do the latter as I keep no such thing. My only comment is to say—I never waste a thing—or I never buy no matter how much I want a thing unless I feel I can afford it. What we have bought, we look after both in furniture and clothes. As far as having a sum left us that is a laugh as when we were married we had to borrow $50.00 from a finance company in order to take a trip which we both felt we needed. Yes rents were lower I will admit, but wages were low too—our highest pay cheque was $25.00, our lowest $14.00 per week. In fact one pay cheque that first year was $12.00 and, so help me, so much had to come out of that $12.00 I didn't know where to begin. My food bill had to be charged that week in order to make a payment on our furniture and insurance policy. We tossed about like this for nearly two years and then my husband received a promotion. But we still continued to be wise in spending our money as we were saving for a home and a car.

Now my husband doesn't have to depend on an employer handing him a pay cheque as he has a business of his own—I didn't tell you that when I wrote the first time but its true but please you married women don't take a haemorrhage or die of shock but all this came out of one man's earnings. I often wonder what our circumstances would be if we had had two pay cheques coming in—Sincerely though I don't think we would be any farther ahead.

I enjoyed Single Working Girl's letter in the February 21 paper. She also noticed how angry the married working ladies have been —may be they are the ones who are jealous after all.

Last Saturady the Ontario Pock Co. closed down and all employees out of work. A few have found work [illegible] are making their way to the office to collect unemployment insurance. This will no doubt be a headache to those in authority and yet you married women could step out and let a needy married man in your place. It will be too bad if the government doesn't step in and put a ban on married women working. Of course I mean those women whose husbands are bringing in a pay cheque.

I know there will be comments—perhaps dirty remarks over this letter—but I shall read all your letters and laugh—as my husband and I are very happy and wouldn't change our way of managing things for any other way. And not only that I won't have a guilty conscience when men walk the streets looking for work.

My only hope is that the Government will see fit to take steps before things become chronic. Perhaps our letters will work to this end.

Thank you Mr. Editor and I promise I will not write again.

HOMEMAKER.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

Sir: In the recent letter signed, "Live and Let Live" is a statement which should not be allowed to pass without comment. The writer who (quote) "is heartily fed up on what Mr. H H. Hannam, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, has to say about agricultural products, butter and eggs, and the necessity for floor prices" adds "that his opinion has no weight at all."

The above statement is hardly correct. Solidy behind Dr. Hannam are the farmers of Canada, who sent representatives to the annual meeting at Niagara. The Ontario Federation asked for adequate price support for farm produce at their annual meeting in January. At the annual meeting of the Peterborough County Federation last week, a resolution supporting the action at Niagara was sent to local members of the Canadian parliament.

Here are some reasons farmers are asking for price support: In the last 15 months farm income has dropped 9%, while in the same time wages went up 8% and profits in industry increased 14%. Farmers think that they alone should not be expected to take cuts in income.

Costs of everything farmers have to buy have risen sharply because of shorters hours, higher wages, help with pensions, sickness and accident benefits, and unemploment insurance enjoyed by urban workers.

Prices of farm produced goods are not [illegible]

There is too great spread between the prices received by farmers and consumers. Here is one example—Farmers sending milk to cheese factories receive pay at the rate of 28c per pound of cheese, while the same cheese sells in stores around 60c per pound.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus . . .

Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an ensample . . .For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself. (Phil. 3: 13, 14. 17, 20, 21.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen. Heb. 13: 20, 21.)

A BRITISH OPINION

London Express Service

The basement of the Peterborough Floral Company contains, besides many horticultural supplies, bales of moss used for retaining moisture in the fabrication of floral designs. Manager Cecil Williamson was showing me some the other day and it was interesting to learn that this moss, of the Spagnum variety, was a product of Peterborough county.

In northern Canada the millions of square miles of muskeg country are really deposits of mosses over the centuries that grow slowly to fill swampy areas that will eventually become timber country. That spagnum moss grows in our county is further proof that the northern part of it is typically of the Canadian north.

Harold Spinks and associates have been fairly successful in harvesting this natural product in a swamp a few miles north of Havelock. The moss is torn out and spread to dry during the warm summer months and modern hay-bailing machinery is used to compress and pack it into 30-pound bales for the wholesale florist trade. It is worth $1.50 per bale.

Moss For Orchids, Peat For Mulch

Another unusual product of the wilds, in the same class, is Osmundie moss which is harvested in small quantities around Jack's Lake; it is used for the culture of orchids.

Not grown in Peterborough county but found around Kirkfield is peat moss which is used as a garden mulch to lighten heavy soils and to retain moisture in light soils. The best deposit in Ontario is in the western part of the province around Branchton and smaller ones near Smiths Falls. The best commercial peat moss in Canada comes from the Lower St. Lawrence country in Quebec.

Nearly all moss for the florist trade comes from Wisconsin where the industry has been developed in a very business-like manner: it is worth 50 cents a bale more than the Canadian product. It is Mr. Williamson's idea that quite a sizable business could be developed in harvesting this natural growth in our own county and that deposits of commercial quantity could be found and farmed for the looking.

Stomachs Hung For Good Hunting

District Indians show no evidence of the recognition of superstition in hunting and fishing but their bush brothers, anywhere north of North Bay still practice some odd rites in this connection.

I used to travel by water and ice a great deal in the central Patricia district of Northwestern Ontario and on one small river known as Swain's Creek a small cluster of Indian cabins had alder brush on the banks covered with game totems. These natives were of the swampy Cree tribe.

To assure themselves of having plenty of beaver and otter for future trapping, stomachs of these animals were hung in the trees. There were also loon wings and moose bosses, those pendulous wattles under the animals' throats.

When mink were caught in traps, their throats were slit three times so the spirit would not tell the living how it was caught. A sure way, they thought, to spoil beaver trapping was to roast or fry the meat for eating; they boiled it and they thought it was also very bad luck to give beaver bones to the dogs to chew.

To make rain, the old grannies sometimes boiled squirrels and hung the carcasses in the bush. And to have a safe canoe journey through fast rapids, it was a wise move to deposit a pipeful of tobacco on the bank to placate the gods.

Rites of this nature seem ridiculous to us but they are based on tradition and if we did not perpetrate traditions,—but everybody does—life would be a very dull affair.

Suckers For The Muskies

Another step in outwitting the cannibalistic muskie, that loves nothing better than to eat fingerlings of his own and other game fish, is to provide it with succulent sucker fingerlings. This measure should preserve many young game fish that provide lunches for 'lunge. Up in Deer Lake hatchery a battery of 120 hatchery jars is being installed to raise sucker fingerlings for future lake plantings.

Wolves are outwitting regiments of hunters at every turn, it seems: they did it in the Burleigh district a few weeks ago, and a week following in a smaller drive, and also last Saturday east of North Bay. Should we place odds on the wolves again on another mass effort soon to take place at the Soo?

Recent deep snows in the Bancroft area have sent nearly all manpower back to bush operations where an average of 2½ feet of white stuff makes ideal working conditions. Until mid-January, with spare time on their hands, bushmen turned to ice hole fishing for lake trout and produced some fine catches. At Cedar Lake, 15 miles south of Bancroft, a 14-pounder was the prize haul for one man and on another occasion he took four more, weighing ten, 7, 5 and 3 pounds. To Peterborough readers of this column it might be of interest to mention that the Examiner management have conducted a reply-survey of a great many people who receive it on a mailing list from coast to coast and in the United States. The large percentage heard from say "keep it coming." Not a few American outdoor writers that I correspond with personally admit they use some of the material to suit their own ends. This comes as gratifying news and I say "thanks to you all."

Calico Pie,
The little Birds fly
Down to the calico tree,
Their wings were blue,
And they sang "Tilly-loo!"
Till away they flew,—
And they never came back to me!
They never came back!
They never came back!
They never came back to me!

Callico Jam,
The little Fish swam
Over the syllabub sea,
He took off his hat,
To the Sole and the Sprat,
And the Willeby-wat,—
But he never came back to me!
He never came back!
He never came back!
He never came back to me!

Calico Ban,
The little Mice ran,
To be ready in time for tea,
Flippity flup,
They drank it all up,
And danced in the cup,—
But they never came back to me!
They never came back!
They never came back!
They never came back to me!

Calico Drum,
The Grasshoppers come,
The Butterfly, Beetle, and Bee,
Over the ground,
Around and round,
With a hop and a bound,—
But they never came back!
They never came back!
They never came back!
They never came back to me!

NEW HARVEST OF THE SEA

A typical view of the Scottish coast which was surveyed by a team of botanists from the Scottish Seaweed Research Association. From this source will come new foods, textiles, animal and poultry feeding stuffs and fertilisers.

Examining underwater seaweed growing in a test tank at the Institute of Scottish Research is Miss McLean Smith, one of the team of botanists who has been surveying the coastline of Scotland for seaweed known as brown algae.

THAT ice cream you enjoy on a hot summer's day, the custard that goes with your pudding, your fruit drinks, your canned food, may soon all owe something to seaweed.

Some fifteen years ago a 19th-century discovery of British scientist Stanford was first put to a commercial use. Stanford had discovered that an acidified extract of a type of seaweed known as brown algae, with sodium carbonate, produced alginic acid. In Scotland fifteen years ago alginic acid was produced from seaweed in commercial quantities. It was used in dressing textiles, the fabric being passed through a diluted acid solution to give a waterproof dressing. The prospects of using alginates in special textiles were so promising that the Ministry of Supply built three factories in Scotland.

Since then the Scottish Seaweed Research Association has found even wider uses for alginates outside the textile industry. In foods, sodium alginates may react with the calcium in milk to produce the consistency of custard, or to restore the essential properties to reconstituted creams. They also act as preservatives in drinks and in canned foods. In drugs, polishes and emulsions, viscous sodium alginates are fully established as thickeners and jelling agents. Other seaweed products go into the making of high-grade adhesives, photographic films, and shatter-proof glass.

New uses for seaweed products and new products themselves are still being sought and found. The Scottish Seaweed Research Laboratories have just succeeded in extracting in quantity from brown seaweed a material called laminarin, which offers great commercial possibilities. Hundreds of miles away, at the University of Reading, seaweed products are being tested as animal and poultry feeding stuffs, and at Nottingham University the possibilities as fertilisers are being examined.

Scottish Research Association has a small fleet of boats which cut and collect weeds at the rate of over one ton per hour. The weeds are hauled on board by a hand-driven winch.

Here are just a few of the many products which include extracts from seaweed in their production. Chellies, a gelatine cherry made from seaweed, used for cakes and cocktails, are exported to North America.

99 Year Old Mystery Tale; Kawartha Setting; Author?

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

On January 18, 1851, the front page of the New York Albion, or The British, Colonial and Foreign Weekly Gazette, widely popular with Upper Canadians, carried a mystery story dealing with the supernatural, a theme dear to the hearts of the Victorian reader and having as its background one of the "Back Lakes", which we now call the Kawarthas.

Written in the first person singular, the story begins with the arrival on the shore of Rice Lake in August 1847 of the writer, who has been ordered to Upper Canada on special duty and is now about to make an inspection tour of the Black Lakes. With him are his wife and small daughter. They are met by Pierre Laroche with a large canoe and four half-breed boatmen and the first part of their journey is made without incident.

Let us suppose they went via Chemong and were returning via [illegible] caught them when four hours' paddling from the Cape where they had intended camping for the night.

Devilled Black Squirrel

Pierre insists upon staying the night at a settlement near by and runs the canoe ashore close to a young man in the act of beaching his own canoe. He welcomes them and soon they are seated at a late supper of boiled maskinonge, venison steak, (to which madame only "put her lips") served by a grey-haired weatherbeaten servant with all the dignity of a family butler, and of whom we shall hear later on; his wife was the cook and housekeeper.

Though clad in the coarse grey clothing of the country their host was "unmistakably a gentleman" and his log house was more comfortable than "nine-tenths of all the green-shuttered and brass-knockered villas of Peckham and Clapham;" the walls were covered with Old Masters and curios of the chase, Indian relics and well-executed amateur sketches. Comfort prevailed and after leaving this backwoods paradise the writer begged Pierre to explain the cause of their host's exile in the wilderness. He says it was a disappointment in love, but that was far from being the reason, as we shall see.

In return for his hospitality Dalton, for that was the name given to their new friend in the story, was urged to pay a visit to them in their cottage near Niagara, and some weeks later he arrived with his trusty dog "Drake"

Family Curse

While he is there the writer is ordered to Jamaica, and Dalton, one evening unburdens his mind, telling them he will soon die because of an old Family Curse, dating back to the Battle of Naseby. A pale lady always comes as a warning and she has already made her appearance. He insists that he is a believer in the supernatural and that if possible he will appear to them after death. His dog Drake he leaves with the children.

On March 14th, 1848, the writer and his wife are sitting in front of their cottage in Jamaica looking over the ocean when against the sunset they see an apparition . . . a tall man clad in light clothing, his fur cap half over his face a pole in his hand and a gun slung across his shoulders. The dog emits the most frenzied howls, and, as the figure advances, they are horrified to recognize their friend Dalton.

The lady swoons, the dog exhibits every form of terror and in the ensuing commotion, the spectre disappears under the water.

Dalton, clad in deep mourning appears at their garden gate; it is Wells, the old servant; he tells them of his master's death, and, allowing for a difference in time, it had occurred on the same day and the very same hours in which, true to his promise, he had appeared to them.

Too many people have experienced premonitions and there is too firmly fixed a belief in "second sight" or telepathy to dismiss this story as one entirely without foundation of fact. At some time, the author must have known of a somewhat similar case, perhaps a case of hallucination or persecution complex ending in the death of the unfortunate victim. This is borne out by the tale of the old servant.

Persuaded that his time had come, Dalton had been disposing of all his property and had kept appointment with his agent at Beaver Creek, in spite of threatening weather. Taking a short cut across the lake, as he was late, Dalton was last seen by an Indian; some time later his pole broke and he fell into the open water, dying within a few hundred yards of safety. Old Wells had followed the road and had thereby missed him; he found the body next day.

Chemong Buckhorn?

Supposing the lake to have been Buckhorn and the Indian to have belonged to the settlement at Chemong narrows the locality to a place where its real identity may be authenticated.

Capri Garden Of Eden

(Editor's Note — Mrs. William Tinker and her husband, of Burnham Street, toured in Italy last summer.)

By A. F. TINKER

At least an hour before the sun had set into the sea, darkness had gathered in the garden of the hotel, "Eden Paradiso", on the cliffs of Capri and bats were fluttering under the trees. It was more like a grove of small trees—orange, lemon, persimmon—and grapevines, making a canopy over our heads, and shading it by day, darkening it by night, than a garden like yours of green grass and flowers. No grass grew there, but brilliant salvia, modest scented geranium and other flowers similar to snap-dragons bordered the earthen paths that angled across this garden in many places and also circled it. We liked to walk there to see the large golden oranges, the yellow lemons and the huge bunches of green oval grapes which were always out of reach, and to rest underneath a date palm. The dates unfortunately were beyond our reach but we enjoyed seeing them at the ends of stems, drooping like heavy heads of wheat in sheaves. From the dining-room and from a stone flagged terrace where we ate breakfast we could view this garden.

They had a method of conserving the water in that garden we had never seen before. Around the base of each fruit tree the gardener had made a round pit, six or eight inches deep, into which he turned the end of the hose, giving each tree water in its turn. Not even waste water was to be wasted on that dry isle in a dry season. The edges of those pits were so exactly round we knew the gardener had measured each with cord tied to the trunk of trees.

That garden was a strange one with its canopy of green leaves over the bare earth. We missed the lizards—forbidden territory, doubtless.

No. V: Symbols of Good or Ill Fortune.

There are many omens that cast an atmosphere of good fortune over the cup or attach themselves to certain symbols in the cup and give them a fortunate significance.

The commonest of these are an anchor, clover leaf, crown, arch, butterfly, frog, angel, triangle, tree, flower, bouquet or garland, star, fleur-de-lis.

It is at once apparent, when we look at the list of special omens of ill-fortune that, without any knowledge of the lore of cup-reading, many are included which we would say at once were probably "unlucky"; a cross, serpent hour-glass, arrow, gun or fire arm, sword, wild beasts, clouds.

These two lists should be carefully memorized. They are, to a great extent, the "adjectives" of cup-reading; a symbol which will simply declare an event, will be given its character by these and similar descriptive omens.

Progress of Peterborough: VIII

The First Settlers In Smith Record of Familiar Names

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M. A.

When Smith Township was surveyed in 1818, the lots along the old Indian Portage Road from Peterborough to Chemong Lake, later called the Communication Road, were marked off first. They slanted across the 18 regular concession lines which ran east and west, stretching from the Monaghan boundary in the south (at Peterborough) to Hall Bridge and Lovesick Lake in the north. In the same year a group of 18 emigrants from Cumberland in northern England, were assigned lots in Smith along the Portage Road. These "Colony Settlers" were William Dixon and his 5 sons, Joseph Lee and his 2 sons, John Smith and 1 son, Robert and Thomas Millburn, Robert and John Walton, and Walton Wilson. According to John Galt in his book "The Canadas": "To these emigrants on depositing a sum of money in the proportion of £10 to each head of a family, a free passage had been given; the money was returned when their settlement was complete." Their lots were given along the Indian Portage because this was the only road in Smith Township, which was heavily forested.

The Colony Settlers walked overland from Cobourg to Rice Lake, where they embarked small boats for the trip across the Lake and up the Otonabee River to Spaulding's Bay near Peterborough. Landing just north of the Bay, they set off northwestward along the Indian Portage, which left the river at the foot of the present Simcoe Street, across the plain to the foot of the Smithtown hill, a point where Park Hill Roard (formerly Smith Street) now leaves the city limits on the west.

At this spot, on a small triangular lot which is the first west of the Portage Road, they erected a rough log shanty where they lived together over winter. In spring they scattered to their lots along the Road to begin the arduous task of clearing the trees, raising a cabin, breaking the ground and planting their first crops in the new land; they helped each other in much of this work.

Later in 1818 another group came in from the lakefront to settle in Smith: John Harvey, Ralph Bickerton, Jacob Bromwell, Alexander Morrison, Robert Nicholson, James Mann, James Mann jr., Thomas Lockhart, and John Yates. Early in 1819 came John Edmison from England, and in the next two years a dozen more families, including Walter McKibbon, William Tully, Thomas Robinson, Isaac Nicholson, Silas Pearson, Joseph Walton and sons, Matthew and Richard Bell, Ephrain Jackson and his sons. Of these, John Edmison is one of the most interesting.

In May 1819, he came up the Otonabee in a rowboat with a group from Smith's Creek (Port Hope), being Charles Fothergill, Thomas Ward, Adam Scott, John Farrelly, and Barnabas Fletcher. Ward and Edmison left the others, who were seeking a millsite, at Peterborough, and went out the Communication Road to seek the lands which had been issued to them. Edmison settled on Lot 11, concession 3, where Alex Edmison now lives.

Edmisons and Millburns

John was the first actual settler in Smith township to get his land patent, on November 20, 1820, only 18 months after his original settlement, a record seldom equalled. He had a long useful life as a prosperous farmer and community leader before his death on April 24, 1881, at the age of [illegible] years. A couple of years ago J. Alex Edmison, K. C. of Toronto, a grandson, visited the Millburn School on the Chemong Road for "Pioneers' Night" and told the students something about the early days. The pioneer Edmisons are buried in Little Lake Cemetery in Peterborough.

Closely linked to the Edmisons are the Millburns. Soon after settling in Smith township, John Edmison married, and his daughter Mary Ann married Joseph Millburn, son of another "Colony Settler". They had ten children, of whom the last, named also Mrs Joseph Millburn, lived to be more than a hundred years old and died just a few years ago. George Millburn, another descendant, died recently in Smith township.

Thomas Ward came up to Smith Township with John Edmison in May 1819 with the Scott party visiting the Peterborough site. Ward was a lawyer, and Registrar of the County of Durham 1808-47, also Clerk of the Peace, later County Judge. He was one of the prominent citizens of Smith's Creek, and had been granted a block of land of 400 acres, lots 11 and 12 on the east side of the Communication Road, the present site of Bridgenorth; for which the patent was issued on Feb. 15 1822. In 1828 he patented another 88 acres on concessions 15 and 16 farther north. The first tavern in Smith was erected on his Bridgenorth property. Ward died in 1861 at the age of 91.

Industrious Farmers

The settlers of Smith were almost entirely industrious farmers who were granted 50 to 200 acres; except for the 1,200 acres to Ward and 1,000 acres given to Elias, Jones, a member of the Land Board, there were no absentee landowners or speculators "favoured" with lands in Smith. Up to 1825 the Land Board had located at least 163 families in Smith as follows: 1819, 36; 1820, 37; 1821, 29; 1822, 17; 1823, 3; 1824, 11; 1825, 28.

Even with a couple of small mills in Cavan and Scott's mill at Peterborough, after [illegible], the Smith township farmers had a difficult time because of their difficulty in taking their produce to market. Up until 1826, when Jacob Brumwell built a small gristmill on a creek above Peterborough, and 1827 when the Government put up a larger mill at Peterborough, many of the settlers preferred to grind their own grain on a flat rock or in a hollow tree stump, like the Indians. The more energetic carried it by boat and back to Smith's Creek to be ground and sold; it is recorded that they took along potatoes as food, hiding them in hollow trees along the route for the return journey. In some early winters when the mills were not operating, settlers were often reduced to boiling or roasting the grain for food.

Record In Diary

The Rev. Anson Green, a famous Methodist missionary of the period, paid a visit to Smith in 1824, which he recorded in his dairy:

"On Sept. 1 I started for the township of Smith, passing through where the town of Peterborough now stands, but there was only one house there then, and that one down on the river's bank, quite out of sight. My path was a winding Indian trail, where no wheel carriage had ever passed. I was obliged to jump my horse over logs, ride him through deep mudholes and bridgeless streams, guided sometimes by marked trees. When I got a short distance beyond Peterborough, I entered a clearing with two or three cabins in view. In one of these lived a godly old Yorkshire woman who received me joyfully. Her house was covered with hollow logs, halved, and so arranged as to shelter its inmates from the rain and snow. The room was about 15 x 20 feet in size, and it served for our kitchen, bedroom, parlour, dining-room and church. Here I preached to a congregation of eight souls, and was happy. On Wednesday I returned to the townline, and found my way to the house of Mr. Morrow in Cavan, and preached to the best congregation I found in these woods . . . Thursday preached at Mr. Sheckleton's, and Friday at Mr. Thompson's in Monaghan. The congregation was perched on a loom like a flock of pigeon's in a tree . . ."

In view of these conditions it is creditable that by 1827, 92 settlers in Smith had cleared their land, paid their fees, and received their land titles. A typical one was James Huddlestone, who located June 16, 1819, finished his settlement duties by October 11, 1822, and received his patent on March 27, 1823. John Edmison and Thomas Ward have been mentioned; the names of some other early patentees may be of interest: Levi Barnard, broken lots 16 and 17, concession 1, 100 acres, patented August 5, 1822; Jacob Brumwell, broken lot 15, concession 3, 100 acres, patented December 13, 1822; Samuel Brooks, south-west quarter of lot 18, concession 8, 50 acres patented December 14, 1822; Charles Willson, north half of lot 8, west side of Communication Road, 100 acres patented November 29, 1822.

Irishisms

The Englishman wrote in his letter: "I would say more, but there is a damned tall Irishman looking over my shoulder and reading every word of this." To which the Irishman exclaimed: "You lie, you scoundrel!"

✧ ✧ ✧

An Irish gentleman said to a friend who was studying for the priesthood: "I hope I may live to hear you preach my funeral sermon."

"Has your sister a son or a daughter?" the Irishman was asked by his friend. He answered: "Upon my life, I don't know yet whether I'm an uncle or an aunt."

IOOF Juniors Grab Opener Over Vics In Extra Inning

The local Oddfellows had to work overtime here last night to edge out Kingston Vics 7-6 to open their best-of-three OHA junior "B" group semi-finals. A few hundred fans witnessed a fast, clean contest—though Montgomery and D. Wasson drew majors in the second for a brief fistic flurry—with the homesters having the extra punch in the overtime heat. It was 2-1 in the first for IOOF, 4-3 for Vics to end the second, and then 6-all at the end of regulation time.

But 11 penalties were drawn as the boys stuck strictly to hockey, six trips to the sin bin being directed to the home squad. Wyatt drew a misconduct in the third for lipping one of the referees. While play was at quite a hot clip most of the way, especially in the later stages, there was no high sticking of any account or rough tactics. The teams meet in Kingston on Monday and, if necessary, back here Wednesday.

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS HOCKEY CAPTAIN, the popular Ted "Teeder" Kennedy, who will be guest speaker at the annual father and son evening service at George St. Church Sunday night. Kennedy is rapidly becoming a great favorite of the hockey fans. Last year the Leafs' rugged defenceman Gus Mortson spoke.

Led Attack

Ben Mason and Floyd sparked the Kingdon crew's attack, each being in on three goals, while Ross Mason, Turner and Wyatt were in on a pair apiece. Casey got one counter, and D. Wasson, Richlark, Doris and Desjardins each helped on one. The whole crew worked hard, with Richlark being the pick of the defencemen. Red Wasson went well in goal most of the route, though fanning twice on long shots. Aitken led Kingston with three scoring points, as Andress had two, and Bender, Montgomery and White one each. The Vics played hurry-up hockey right through.

Casey scored the first one on a slap shot inside from D. Wasson's pass. Fennell was gated for boarding and D. Wasson followed for interference, but McGaughey also got it for interference. With IOOF shy one man, White flipped a forward to Aitken at the goal-mouth and the latter made no mistake. Later, the Desjardins-Masons line pressed, but it was Turner finally who put Oddfellows up one on fast in-close combination with Wyatt and Floyd near the finish of the frame.

Vics Have Edge

Bender got the nod to open the second heat for high-sticking and Latimer followed him shortly for elbowing. It cost Vics a goal as Ben Mason slapped one home with Richlark and R. Mason aiding as IOOF ganged up. Desjardins was waved over for kneeing later and that resulted in Aitken hitting the twine with Andress' pass. Montgomery's drive shortly after slid in off the goalie's pads as Kingston held an edge on play in the middle chapter. Aitken got around defence smartly to roar in and pound the puck home, just before a fight broke out between Montgomery and D. Wasson, each drawing majors.

Force Overtime

Wyatt hit the penalty pew to start the third chukker for interference but was back before Bender's shot from outside defence caught a corner of the cage to make it 5-3. Ben Mason got that back right away from Desjardins in a net scramble, and when Bender went over the wall for boarding Floyd tied the game up with Wyatt's corner passout. Andress put Vics up again shortly on a shot from the blue line, and Wyatt drew a misconduct for arguing. Floyd finally sent it into overtime with smart work in close after two long and fast passes up the ice from Turner and Doris. Early in the extra inning, Ben Mason sank the winner on nice inside combination with R. Mason and Desjardins, and the homesters kept pressing most of this 10-minute period.

Petes Defeat TVL Leaders Marmora 5 to 4

MARMORA, Feb. 25—(ENS)—Marmora, the Trent Valley leaders, were turned down 5-4 here Friday night by the Senior "B" Peterborough Petes in a clean exhibition game which featured good hockey.

Gus Leonard, popular player of the Petes, joined the home-town ranks for the game and thrilled the Marmora fans by getting goals in the second and third periods. K. Trumble and Cousins came through for the other Marmora counters.

For the Petes Harold Legrow performed the hat trick while Jopling and Garvey were rewarded with a goal apiece for their steady play. Veteran Red Creighton showed that he still retains much of his hockey knowledge on defence. He broke up many Marmora rushes as well as starting some.

Marmora missed several good opportunities in the third period due to over eagerness in front of the goal. The teams played to a one-all tie in the first. In the second the Petes took a 3-2 lead only to have Marmora tie the score midway through the third. four-all. Legrow's goal which won the game hit the twine at the 13:50 mark of the last.

Fresh From One Race Churchill Tries Again

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP) — Fresh from one race Winston Churchill entered another one today. But this time his horse will do the running.

The Conservative leader sent in his entry for Colonist II for a race at Hurst Park, near London, April 29.

Colonist II, now a four-year-old colt, won three races on tracks to the left last year.

Hurst Park turns to the right. The race is named the Winston Churchill stakes.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The results of the various girls' basketball games last p.m. should be in elsewhere; we often knock off the top of this pillar in advance to save time later as the deadline approacheth. Three games for PCVS boys tonight in the Collegiate. At 6.30, Oshawa bantams and the PCI-ers open their district playoffs. It is believed at 7.30 by an exhibition betwixt PCVS seniors and the Marines. And at nine, the smart Port Hopers wind up their group playoffs with Bev Goulding's junior squad. No City League encounters tonight at the YMCA.

* * * * * * *

Grant Henry, former champion Peterborough badminteneer—now of Toronto—has been picked as one of the team to represent Ontario at Calgary in the Dominion open tourney. He'll play in men's and mixed doubles. No less than 22 local players are off for Trenton this week-end to compete in the Central Ontario championships, clubs taking part in it being from Belleville, Trenton, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope and Peterborough. Marg Baker and Audrey O'Donoghue of this city won the ladies' doubles in the big tourney last year.

Yeah, Petes And Legion

The line forms on the right, folks, for ducats to the OHA senior "B" group semi-final here Monday night. At 8.30 in Civic Arena betwixt the Petes and Legionnaires. This is the fourth fray of their wild and woolly best-of-five playoff series, Legion having won two and the Petes one. So, a loss for the Petes tonight would eliminate them from further puck competition for this year, while a win for 'em would sew it up and force a deciding joust later in the week. Winner will likely meet Kingston Nylons in group finals, the Nylons leading Belleville two to nothing in their semi-final bracket.

* * * * * * *

We predict another grand game for at least two periods. Both sides will play hustling hockey and try to avoid penalties the first part of the fray. But, if one club gets down two or three goals, the old feud is likely to flame anew, and it might bet plenty rough. That's been the pattern in recent scraps between these bitter ice enemies, the last game almost winding up in a players' free-for-all. These two Peterborough teams dislike each other intensely during a game, and they battle to the point of exhaustion in their clashes. It ought to be a sizzler, of utmost importance, before a packed house.

* * * * * * *

IOOF-ers Grabbed One

Well, the junior "B" IOOF-ers came through here last evening in edging Kingston Vics 7-6, though they had to toil a 10-minute overtime period to do it. That's one up, and two to go—or only one, if they can take 'em in Kingston on Monday. If not, the deciding one of this semi-final group playoff series will be here on Wednesday. Bun Kingdon's crew had a 2-1 edge in the first period and outscored the Vics 3-2 in the third, as well as getting the only goal in overtime. But they slipped in the second chukker and Kingston earned a 3-1 margin during that 20 minutes. So, it may be a close enough fit yet.

* * * * * * *

Play was fast, after a few minutes of shinny near the opening of the game, and quite hot the last half. Yet it was pretty clean throughout. One little fist fight, and the local goalie almost got a penalty for coming out of his crease to take part in a fight. It's in the rule book. Wyatt drew a misconduct at 10.40 in the third for back talk to a ref, and he then asked permission to go to the dressing room. He got it and went, but was in street clothes when the game went into overtime! We trust the IOOF-ers will make this series in two straight. The club deserves much credit for sponsoring two young clubs at considerable expense—only a few hundred fans taking in these games.

Excuse us now, please.

PCVS Captures Girls' Tilts Over Port Hope

Both Port Hope High School cage squads lacked the offensive strength to penetrate the Collegiate defence zone adequately Friday. The results were the PCVS Senior lasses rolled up a 35-10 score which could easily have been in the 50s if their shooting had been on and the PCVS Juniors doubled the score on the lakeshore girls 26-13. The girls on both local squads have yet to taste defeat this season.

Much of the credit for the Senior win should go to the guards who easily took the ball from the Port Hope forwards to start the fast-moving lpays up the floor. Once in the Hope defensive area, the Collegiate forwards, Mary Craw, Mary Braund, Peggy Estlick and Betty Jaquith passed with accuracy to set each other up.

Behind steady defensive play, Mary Craw, Mary Braund, and Peggy Estlick slipped in 10 points to three foul shots by the Port Hopers in the first quarter. Even then the locals were robbed time and again as the ball rolled on the rim refusing to go in. Betty Jaquith joined the attack in the second quarter, adding six points to baskets by Braund and Craw. Port Hope pressed their hardest in this quarter getting two baskets and two foul shots. The socre was 20-9 at the half.

Upped Score

In the third, they upped the score to 27-10. In the last quarter they had trouble close in under the basket but flipped in 8 points in their shifty passing plays. Mary Braund's peppery play picked her as the star of the game as she whipped in 10 points on plays with Peggy Estlick, Mary Craw and Betty Jaquith. Mary Craw, who has been leading the scoring all year, was well out in front with 15 points. Nancy Mason, Marilyn Jackson, and Donna Howson were the pick of the strong all-round guards.

The Juniors had stiffer competition for their fray. The Ports failed to penetrate deep into the PCI defence in the first quarter which tended to drag at moments. Joan Krogh's basket and foul shot and Ida Hollend's basket were the only points scored in the first quarter. The PCVS guards slipped in the second quarter as Carol Caswell, Anne Lingard and Nancy Brum quickened the Hope pace. Even then the Collegians managed to outscore the lakeshore crew 7-3. Poor shooting lost the Hopers the chance to jump into the lead. The score at half was 12-3.

As soon as the whistle started play in the second half, the Port Hope quintette came out fighting but Rosy McInroy, Pat Nixon, and Marj Laing with quick passes went in for baskets to push the score up to 20-3. Immediately after a time-out, the Port Hope girls led by Anne Lingard and Elslie Schwartz sank eight points. The Collegians finished the quarter score at 22-11. The squads kept up the high pace in the last quarter with the result most of the play was kept away from the baskets. Ida Hollend and Rosy McInroy counted for Peterborough, while Carol Caswell sank the lone Port Hope basket.

Joan Krogh with seven points was high for the night, while Rosy McInroy had six and Anne Lingard of Port Hope six. Anne LaPointe, Marg Clark and Phyllis Peryer werg the pick of the PCVS guard line.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Carnegie, Pa., Honus Wagner—the greatest shortstop of them all — turned 76 Friday still cherishing a zest for living—and baseball.

The diamond's celebrated Flying Dutchman had this birthday message:

"I won't quit baseball until it quits me."

"Why, it's the only thing I know."

Then Honus thought back over the years of his baseball glory and came up with his own all-star team—modestly leaving vacant the shortstop spot where he won a Hall of Fame niche.

"He'd have Bill Terry at first, Rogers Hornsby at second and Pie Traynor at third.

The outfield would comprise Fred Clarke, Clarence Beaumont and Paul Waner. Rodger Bresnahan would do the catching.

The pitching staff would make any manager drool.

Wagner selected Christie Mathewson, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Cy Young and Rube Waddell.

The death of young Lavern Roach, boxing's first fatality of 1950, was listed as "accidental" Friday by the New York chief medical examiner.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales who said that the 24-year-old Texan died from a "subdural haemorrhage and rupted pial emissary vein" in the brain.

The death was recorded as "accidental during a professional boxing bout."

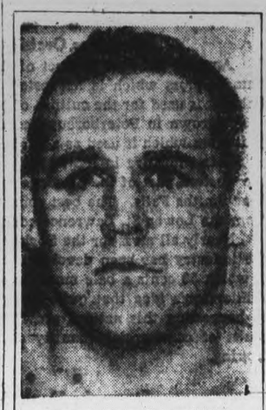
Roach, a former Marine from Plainview, Tex., died at 12:30 p.m. Thursday following his knockout loss to Georgie Small of Brooklyn in the 10th and last round of a feature bout at St Nicholas Arena.

Canadian skiers—and those of the United States—need much more training, says a man who should know.

He's Norway's Einar Bergsland, secretary of the International Federation of Skiing, who stopped off at Toronto Friday on his way to a northern ski resort.

Brooklyn Dodgers had their complete flock of 39 players in the fold Friday. The club announced that pitcher Red Barney and infielder Bobby Morgan had wired acceptance of terms.

At Middlebury, Vt. McGill's men skiers Friday won the downhill competition with 97.33 points at the 19th winter carnival. Jack Griffin, member of the Canadian world (FIS), ski team, turned in the winning performance for McGill, speeding through the evergreens in record time of 1 minute 21.3 seconds over the nine tenths mile course. The old mark for the 1,500 foot vertical drop was 1:27.4.



MEETS SEELIE SAMARA—Dr. Len Hall, pictured above, who takes on Seelie Samara in the main bout of next Thursday's mat card at the Brock. The doc has been riding roughshod over his opposition the past couple of weeks, winning with little difficulty. In Samara he will clash with the toughest opponent he has met so far. The colored star is fast and tricky and the doctor will have to be at his best to punch out a win. Two other outstanding matches are being lined up.

Injury Jinx May Hobble Leafs, Rangers

By The Canadian Press.

Late season injuries, the jinx of National Hockey League clubs battling for the four-team playoffs, may take some of the steam out of Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers, currently the hottest outfits in the loop.

The two clash at Toronto tonight and the outcome may well decide third place in the standings, where Rangers at present are tied with Montreal Canadiens with 57 points.

The New Yorkers, with two good men on the sidelines, also take on Boston Bruins Sunday, while Toronto and Montreal get a rest. If Montreal wins against Boston Saturday night, they may end up in third place—if New York loses both games.

Rangers, riding the crest of an eight game streak without a loss, will be without Edgar Laprade, their crack centre, and also right winger Ed Slowinski, out with injuries.

The Maple Leafs may be without the bashing services of Bill Ezinicki, hard hitting right winger. The doctor will give the word today on his nose, which has swelled vastly since it was clouted by Boston defenceman Fern Flaman last Wednesday.

May Get Revenge

The league leading Detroit Red Wings, who lost 3-0 to the cellar dwelling Chicago Black Hawks the last time the two met, have their chance for revenge Sunday in the windy city.

Rangers' goalie, Chuck Rayner, may lose the Vezina Trophy (and the $1,000 that goes with it) on a technicality. The trophy goes to the goalie of the team with the fewest goals scored against it—not to the goalie with the fewest goals scored against him.

This sounds like doubletalk until you remember the goals scored against a club in the closing seconds when the netminder is yanked for six forwards.

Rangers have had three such goals hung on them and Rayner now is in a neck and neck race with Montreal Canadiens' Bill Durnan.

$195,000 Purses In Night Racing

TORONTO, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Purses offered for the projected 42-day night harness-race meeting in Toronto this summer total more than $195,000, it was announced today

Thorncliffe Raceway, which is sponsoring the meeting, said it has already mailed condition books although the Ontario government has not yet given its approval for the meeting and its pari-mutuel betting. Officials said the books were distributed because nominations for 24 of the feature races close March 22.

Top stake is the $15,000 open event for the Canadian Cup. Others include the Maple Leaf Cup for trotters with a $6,000 purse and the Vondale Cup for Canadian - bred standard - breds with a $4,000 purse. Minimum purse is $500 a dash or $1,000 a race.

The meeting is scheduled to open July 3 if the government gives its permission.

Entries have been received already from stables in many points in Canada from Stettler, Alta., to Halifax and from many United States cities and towns.

Guelph Edges Bilts 6-4 Leads Series By 1 Game

By The Canadian Press.

Herb Dickenson's five goals gave Guelph Biltmores a good start in their quest of Ontario Hockey Association Junior A honors.

The Guelph winger's total paced the Bilts to a 6-4 conquest of St. Catharines Teepees Friday night and gave them a one-game lead in their best of five quarter final series.

In the other junior playoff opener Friday night, last year's champs, Barrie Flyers, laced St. Michael's College Majors 4-2 and in the seventh game of the Senior A round robin semi-final series Toronto Marlboros got back on the win trail with a hard-earned 4-3 win over Hamilton Tigers.

The Biltmores were never behind after the 7:39 mark of the first period and led 5-2 at the end of the second. Andy Bathgate combined with brother Frank for the Hatter single.

Norm Corcoran gave promise of becoming a playoff star as he pounded in a trio of goals in a losing cause. The other Teepee goal was counted by Jack McIntyre.

Barrie Goes To Town

Barrie Flyers swarmed all around the Irish goal for most of the game and only starry Lorne Howes between the Collegian pipes kept the score within reasonable proportions.

Last year's champs led 1-0 at the end of the first period and outscored the visitors 2-1 in the second to build up a two-goal lead.

Mirl (Red) McCarthy was firing the heavy artillery for the winners. The red-headed speedster flashed the red light twice to lead the Flyer marksmen. Doug Towers and Dan MacDonald were the other goal getters.

Marlboros won one of the tighest OHA playoffs seen in Maple Leaf Gardens in many a season.

The champs took a one-goal lead in the first period only to see it turn into a 3-2 deficit late in the third. Bob Gilhooly notched the deadlocker and with less than two minutes remaining in the game reliable Scotty Mair potted the winning marker.

Don Rope and Frank Sullivan potted the other Marlboro goals while it was a brother act for two of the Hamilton tallies. Ab and Johnny Conick each clicked once along with Tom Smelle.

The victory gave Marlboros the lead in playoff competition with three wins against a pair of losses while Hamilton came out of last night's game with two wins against three defeats. Kitchener-Waterloo has two wins and two losses.

Calumet Entries Top Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP) —"Handicap day" struck this community on the outskirts of Los Angeles today and excitement mounted by the hour as post time approached for the start of the 13th renewal of Santa Anita's famed $100,000 horse race.

Excellent racing weather and a fast track lent credence to the belief that all of the 11 thoroughbreds entered in the race would answer the bell (at about 7:35 p.m. EST), and that the Calumet entry of Citation, Ponder and Two Lea was a mortal lock to sweep major honors.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Oxford and Cambridge University rowing crews, forced from the Thames course by wartime condition, held their annual boat race on an isolated stretch of the River Ouse six years ago today. In a boat borrowed from Cambridge, Oxford's Dark Blue won the race by three-quarters of a length. Instead of the usual crowd of scores of thousands, the contest was watched only by the umpire and rival coaches, who followed the race on horseback through the fens.

Canadian Gets Broadway Role In New Comedy

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 —(CP)— Lucille Watson, distinguished Canadian actress, is reported headed for her first Broadway role since 1943.

The word is that Gilbert Miller has engaged Miss Watson, now in her 60s for "Ring Round The Moon," an adaptation from "L'Invitation Au Chateau," by the French dramatist Jean Anouilh.

The comedy now is an established hit in London, where it was adapted by Christopher Fry. Miller plans to launch the North American version on an out-of-town tour Nov. 1 before bringing it to Manhattan.

If the project materializes, theatre-goes should be in for a treat. Miss Watson, who was born in Quebec city and lived in Ottawa between the ages of 3 and 21, has played a wide variety of stage roles and wrung enthusiastic adjectives from the critics. She also has handled important roles in many movies.

Superlative Acting

"Come Back, Little Sheba" is noteworthy for two superlative acting performances, by Sidney Blackmyer and Shirly Booth. Blackmyer plays Doc, a would-be physician who escapes from his frustrations into alcoholism. Miss Booth is his wife, Lola, a dreamer unable to face reality since the death of their child. Doc's interest in the love-life of their young boarder, Marie, takes an explosive form when he finds she is not the pure young girl he imagined. He gives vent to his rage by chasing his slovenly wife with an ax. But by the final curtain he has taken a cure for drunkenness and the unhappy husband and wife realize they need each other.

Good Break

"All You Need Is One Good Break" upset a Broadway tradition when it reopened at the Mansfield Theatre last Monday. It had closed a week earlier, after a three-night stand, in the face of concentrated critical disapproval. The producers raised an additional 20,0000 and they hope this will carry it long enough for the play to catch on at the box office.

Plan All-Out Drive Against Union Raids

PORT COLBORNE, Feb. 25 — (CP)—An all-out campaign to fight raiding by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) was ordered Friday by Local 637 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The Steelworkers have been moving into the Smelter Workers' territory after the latter union was expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor for alleged Communist domination.

At Friday's meeting officers of the Local were told to write all Locals in the Niagara Peninsula concerning the Steelworkers' tactics. The letter will say that because of disruption workers at the International Nickel Company Refinery at Port Colborne were forced to work without a union contract for almost a year.

Expect Israel's Population Near Two Million In 1950

By LARRY ALLEN

TEL AVIV, Feb. 25 (AP). — The population of the little state of Israel probably will top 1,500,000 before the end of 1950.

It's estimated now that there are 1,200,000 to 1,300,000 people here, but the figure is going up by the hundreds of thousands every day.

Jews from all corners of the earth still are flocking into their "promised land" as fast as they can arrange plane or ship travel.

A total of 357,566 immigrants arrived in Israel between the proclamation of the Jewish state May 14, 1948, and Feb. 1 this year. Of these, 243,547 came during 1949. Usually, more than 15,000 arrive each month. A big spurt in immigration is expected this Spring.

Jewish agency authorities estimate that 264,372 of the immigrants had been "absorbed" up to Jan. 1 of this year. Being "absorbed" means they have found permanent homes and work and fitted themselves completely into the structure of the Jewish nation.

Number Varies

The number of immigrants in temporary transit camps varies considerably. Sometimes the figure runs over 100,000. Other times it is down as low as 30,000. Weather often enters into the picture. When it's bad, the work of moving immigrants out of camps into settlements is slowed down. A total of 80,453 immigrants were in camps in January this year.

The number of immigrants coming from North African countries and territories is being stepped up rapidly. United Jewish Appeal officials estimate there are 1,000,000 Jews in North Africa ready to come to Israel as fast as transportation can be arranged.

The "magic carpet" operation—the work of flying in immigrants from Eastern countries—is continuing. Meanwhile Jews, either on their own initiative or through outside financial help, are arriving from many other places.

A great part of the incoming Jews are assigned to work on the land, in co-operative, semi-co-operative, or communal settlements. Industry also gets a good share.

But for the immigrant, everything in Israel isn't just work. Histadrut has a special department for organizing cultural activities for new immigrants, including lectures, theatrical performances, libraries, sports and clubrooms.

Junior Fans Behave Better At British Films

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP)—Gone are the days when movie theatre managers had to search juvenile patrons for hidden catapults, pea shooters and toy pistols intended for bombarding the screen.

"Children behave much better at the movies nowadays," says H. G. Hutchinson, controller of Britain's 400 movie theatre clubs "and they are also more appreciative of good movies."

Hutchinson should know. Every Saturday morning about 400,000 youngsters, mostly between 7 and 12, attend special shows presented at the clubs he directs.

"Cowboy films are losing their grip," he added, "especially those featuring vicious gunplay. Children will stand for fisticuffs but don't like too much bloodthirsty stuff.

Prefer Adventure

"Current favorites are comedies and good stories of adventure and achievement. Nature pictures about bird and plant life have become much more popular now that they have brighter commentaries."

Mary Bickerton, who reserves films for the movie clubs, says the ideal children's program includes a 45-minute feature picture, plus the same period of varied shorts.

"A program consisting entirely of shorts is usually tiresome to children. The essence of a good picture to a child is a story told in pictures. They like a gap without dialogue or commentary, so that they can discuss the characters and action with their neighbors.

"One of their chief pleasures is being able to identify themselves with the screen characters. Pictures about dogs and horses are always popular, but they must not be harrowing. When a child begins to cry the picture has 'had it.'"

Begin Contract Talks

BROCKVILLE, Feb 25 (CP)—R. B. Andress, president of Local 510 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, said Friday that negotiations will begin March 1 for new contracts with Phillip Electrical Works Limited plants here and at Montreal.

The Grey & Bruce Trust and Savings Shows Record Gain

Good Progress Is Shown In All Departments As Statement Is Presented at Annual Shareholders' Meeting

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

In the President's report to shareholders Mr. G. D. Fleming reported net earning of $119,505.40 after providing for interest on deposits, etc., and allowing $31,275.94 for government taxes.

The balance was appropriated as follows:

Dividends	$ 50,069.54
Depreciation on buildings	8,814.35
Depreciation on equipment	5,371.47
Balance transferred to reserves	55,250.04
	$119,505.40

It was shown that there were now 529 shareholders in Canada, United States and Great Britain. The accumulation of substantial reserves for the preservation and safety of the shareholders' investment was of prime importance, stated the President. The Company's reserves have increased since 1939 from $205,860.14 to [illegible] Homes were [illegible] invested.

The President stated that while the people in Ontario continued their house building programme, there would be a good demand for mortgage loans. The selection of these loans was given very careful consideration. The outlook for 1950 was promising.

Mr. Campbell Grant, K.C., of Walkerton has accepted an invitation to join our board of directors and his name is being submitted for election. Mr. Grant represents the County of Bruce and will succeed the late Dr. G. H. Holmes who gave generously of his time and [illegible] interest of the Company.

The [illegible] on record the appreciation of the fine contribution made by the Peterborough Advisory Board and the officers and staff of both offices for their service during the year.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

Mr. O. E. Manning, General Manager, in his address to shareholders stated that more than 18,000 customers were now being served by the Company through their offices in Owen Sound and Peterborough. He stated that during the past ten years:

	1939		1949
Deposits and guaranteed Investments increased from	$2,996,480.78	to	$12,077,862.78
Bonds and Securities	1,677,277.21	to	6,233,754.77
Mortgages	1,381,731.78	to	6,363,727.08
Estates	1,331,319.42	to	3,516,950.45
Reserves	205,860.14	to	537,809.57
Total Assets	5,152,087.16	to	17,064,259.21

Mr. Manning stated that the increase in net profits was largely due to the Company having substantially increased its investment in mortgages which, naturally, give a higher return than bonds. These mortgage loans, he stated, were well-distributed throughout Ontario. In addition to Owen Sound and Grey and Bruce Counties the Company had loans in Barrie, Toronto, Oakville, Orillia, Peterborough, and Belleville. For many years it was the practice to accept only small principal payments but today a large percentage of our mortgage loans are on a monthly payment basis which is of benefit both to the Company and the borrower.

Mr. Manning pointed out that in showing the total of estates under administration it hardly gives a fair picture as we are constantly distributing hundreds of thousands of dollars to beneficiaries. For example, during 1949, the amount distributed to beneficiaries was over $750,000.00. In the last ten years, it was over $5,000,000.00. It was, however, encouraging to note the increasing number of appointments which the Company was receiving as executor on wills as a result of efficient and careful administration. With the complicated regulations, particularly in the income tax and succession duty field, Mr. Manning said he often wondered why one would burden a private executor with the duty of administering an estate when the Trust Company services are available at the same cost.

In closing, he stated that the greatest asset of all was not shown on the Financial Statement and that was the personnel of its staff, and he gave sincere thanks to every member of the organization who had contributed so generously towards the development and the stability of the Company.

HOW TO GET TOP VALUE FOR YOUR DOLLARS

GIVE GENEROUSLY TO THE PETERBORO RED CROSS AND COMMUNITY FUND

YOUR DOLLARS WILL GO FURTHER BECAUSE:

1.—SINGLE SUBSCRIPTION

You are asked to give only ONCE to help defray the annual needs of TEN leading health, welfare, and recreational agencies — instead of being faced with TEN individual appeals. Your time and canvassers' time is saved.

2.—Prevention Of Duplication

Although each agency represented has its own field of operations, a central council operating through Fund headquarters makes a continuing study so that duplication of efforts may be avoided.

3.—EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION

After careful study by a citizens' committee of business, labor and professional people, the total fund is divided among the individual services according to their needs.

Campaign Starts Mar. 3 :: $75,000 Is Needed This Year

Stories From The Bible

EDITOR'S NOTE: — This is the first in a series of studies from the Old Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book, "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

And the Lord appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect. And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee.

And God said unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall her name be. And I will bless her and give thee a son of her: Yea, kings of people shall be of her. Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and shall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear?.... And God said, Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed; and thou shalt call his name Isaac; And I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him....

And Abraham called the name of his son whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac. And Abraham circumcized his son Isaac being eight days old, as God had commanded him. And the child grew, and was weaned; and Abraham made a great feast the day that Isaac was weaned.

And it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham. And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of.

And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son, and went unto the place of which God had told him. Then on the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes and saw the place afar off. And Abraham said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and some again to you. And Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife; and they went both of them together. And Isaac spake unto Abraham his father, and said: My father; and he said, Here am I, my son. And he said, Behold the fire and the wood: But where is the lamb for a burnt offering? And Abraham said, My son, God will provide himself a lamb for a burnt offering: So they went both of them together. And they came to the place where God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order, and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood. And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son And the angel of the Lord called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham: and he said, Here am I. And he said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou anything unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou has not withheld thy son, thine only son for me. And Abraham lifed up his eyes, and beheld behind him a ram caught in the thicket by his horns; and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son.

Family Experience Related

By REV. E. R. JAMES

SHE SAITH UNTO JESUS, GRANT THAT THESE MY TWO SONS MAY SIT THE ONE ON THY RIGHT HAND THE OTHER ON THY LEFT IN THY KINGDOM. St. Matthew 20. 21.

If you are a family man this scripture will appeal to you It is just what you would do. The Master was on His last journey to Jerusalem. "He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem. His soul was filled with the horror of that future and the apparent failure of His ministry. He clearly describes that future to His apostles but concludes with the fact that He must rise again from the dead on the third day. They have no reply. These things are hid from their minds.

Then a woman draws near. She is sure of His final victory. She thinks naturally of her two sons —what mother would not. "Grant that these my two sons may sit the one on thy right hand the other on thy left hand in thy kingdom."

She knows that the Master has chosen his apostles very carefully. They are men fit to face terrible opposition. They must be in dead earnest and morally strong. He is founding a new Kingdom and the inner circle must be of the finest and best. They are to be the shock troops of His Kingdom. Can you see that mother placing those two sons, the one on her right hand and the other on her left and bringing them to the Lord Jesus. They come of a fighting breed. The Master has given them the names of "sons of thunder". Men of enthusiasm and courage, rushing into battle like the roll of thunder. They are to give up everything for His sake. They can be relied upon.

The Lord looks into the eyes of the two men and asks: "Are ye able to drink of the cup I drink of and to be baptised with the baptism I am baptised with"? Calmly looking into His eyes they answer, "We are able. His heart throbs with joy. They have drunk deeply of His spirit. So in the same quiet tones He answers: "Ye shall indeed dring of the cup that I drink of and be baptised with the baptism I am baptised but to sit on my right hand and on my left is not mine to give but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.". They have not yet learnt of his spirit—HUMILITY.

The ten are indignant. Can you blame them? Not from a worldly standpoint. They are striving to break up the brotherhood and fellowship. They have not drunk freely into the spirit of brotherhood. The Master constantly uttered these words: "I am come to do the will of my Father which is in heaven. He obeyed the Father's will and thus became THE BELOVED SON.

BEHOLD, WHAT MANNER OF LOVE THE FATHER HATH BESTOWED UPON US THAT WE SHOULD BE CALLED THE SONS OF GOD.

Six Juveniles Adjourned For One Month

Six juvenile boys facing 27 charges of breaking into houses, shops and schools and theft were adjourned for one month by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Juvenile Court Friday.

One boy and one charge were added to the totals originally announced Wednesday. Police charge that the six boys had a three-month career of breaking into private homes, stores and schools until two were caught by Constables Robert Menzies and Gordon Trennum Sunday night in a break-in attempt at Dale's Meat Market near Rubidge and Sherbrooke Sts.

Following investigations by Detective Sergeants John Stevenson and W. A. Clarke, 27 charges were laid against the two who had been caught and four of their friends believed implicated.

IAN F. McRAE, C.G.E. works manager, recently became a member of the Quarter Century Club of the C.G.E. Twenty-five years ago January he started work in the test department as apprentice, and 16 years later succeeded Carl Salmonsen as works manager. Here Mr. McRae receives his Quarter Century Club button from Thomas Glover, RIGHT, works accountant and Chapter president. —(Works News Photo)

Served Church Tribute Paid Charles Lacheur

"He served this church and congregation all the years of his life," was the solemn tribute of Rev. Canon J. D. Patterson, Toronto, from his own association as a former rector, at the funeral rite in memory of Charles Lacheur at All Saints Church Friday afternoon.

In the temporary absence of Rev. Wm. E. Kibblewhite, present rector, the service of the Anglican Church was conducted by two of his immediate predecessors, Rev. Canon Patterson and Rev. W. A Filer of Hamilton. The large attendance of friends of the late Mr. Lacheur was representative of the fellowship of his church and his long and active association in the business, fraternal, YMCA and community affairs of the city Many of the members of the surpliced choir of All Saints assisted in the singing of the two old hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me."

The postal department was prominently represented in the final expression of respect to its postmaster in Peterborough for the last quarter of a century. The letter carriers filed into the church in a body and occupied seats at the front, and the honorary pallbearers were men who had been for years associated with Mr. Lacheur in his administration.

They were: George Macklen of Ottawa, District Post Office Inspector, representing the Postmaster General; Harold E. White, Claire H. Stuart, Cecil I. Richardson, George H. Moore, Andrew Jackson, Grant Smedmore of Toronto and Edward Reid.

The active bearers were: Ronald Winter of Toronto, formerly of the district office of the Department of Public Works, who had often been associated with Mr Lacheur in office planning. T. Percy Hooper, Norman H. Hamley, Robert S. Hall, Willis Garrow and William Hill.

Rev. Canon Patterson said in grateful accents that he had shared in the friendship and fellowship of Mr. Lacheur for more than 26 years. "He was one of those who had a great deal to do with my coming to this city and to this church. From the very first day he treated me as he treated all his fellow men, as a friend.

Characteristics of his life were that he belonged and he gave In a unique way Mr. Lacheur belonged just where he lived. He was not one of those born in one place, attending public school in another and living in two or three other places. He made his home here and he made his life here, and we have all known his worth. He belonged in this church, and how much he and his whole family gave to it! I recall that he greatly honored me and this congregation when he took over the duties of church warden.

Always Carried the Load

He gave so much of himself. We know how diligent he was in trying to do everything for everybody. Some persons in arriving at the position which he had attained, might be inclined to take things easily and let others carry the load. He never did that. I shall always remember an incident that was typical of his interest in his duties and the service of the postal department to the people. I can still see an elderly woman sitting opposite him in his office. I don't think she could write, and she did not understand the business she was asking about Mr. Lacheur patiently did the business for her, and spent half an hour in doing it. That was so like Charles Lacheur. He gave of his heart as well as [illegible] strength."

"We mourn his passing, and for such a man who was long among us we thank God. It is because of that, I am sure, that so many are here this afternoon, not only in their last tribute of respect to him we knew, but also to assure those who are sadly bereaved. If we cannot say what we want to say, we can pray for one another that God's grace and comfort may be with them who are in sorrow. We are all the richer for the years Mr. Lacheur spent in Peterborough in his life's work."

Among those present were: Mayor Max J. Swanston, Ald. H F. Waddell, Ald. John A. Dewart, Wm. G. Ovens, Col. Frank Bradburn, Wilmott B Gordon, W. A. Richardson, John Baird, L. H. Ingram, James Wharry, P. M. McCarrell, Wilbert D. Taylor, Chris G Graham, Cyril Lech, Wilbert E. Franks, George Roper, and John Allen.

Fred G. Ash, Harry A. Baptie, Herbert T Cranford, Wilson S Gemmell, Clare G. Collins, Coleman E. Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. G A. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Chris. Hughes, Charles Coleman, Rev. Walter J. Gilling, rector of St. Luke's Anglican Church, John A C. Rogers, Wm. E. Foley, Roy D Taylor, O. B. Johnson, A. L. Killaly, Dr. H. M. Yelland, Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch.

Clare H. Sootheran, Frank Hughes, Ross L. Dobbin, Herbert S. Routley, Mr. and Mrs. M. T Breckenridge, J. S. Mason, Fred Hills, Fred Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mathison of Havelock, G. LeBarr and Mrs. LeBarr whose home is at 279 William St. He joined the Zeller's Limited in 1937, and has been employed in the company's stores in Lindsay, North Bay and Ottawa.

During the war Mr. LeBarr served with the Algonquin Regiment from 1940 to 1945. His Peterborough friends will be greatly interested in his recent promotion to the management of the new Zeller's store in Toronto.

Byrnes Trial Set Down For Next Week

The Supreme Court of Ontario will sit for two weeks for the first time in the history of Peterborough commencing Monday afternoon before The Honorable Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel.

Previously the sittings have been one week, but lately, because of Peterborough's growth, not all of the cases could be squeezed in during the weeks.

Joseph Byrnes, 26, will face a charge of manslaughter following his committal Monday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court where he was at first charged with the murder of Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, Feb. 5.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw will conduct the prosecution and Byrnes will be defended by T. J. Carley, KC.

The only other criminal trial will be that of Leo Webb charged with attempted rape. He will be defended by Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

Three civil cases are listed for a hearing before judge and jury. Eight other civil cases, including five divorce cases will go before Mr. Justice LeBel without a jury.

In the first trial listed for hearing before judge and jury is one in which Charles William King is suing three men, Kenneth Heard, Ray Harrison and Morris Mandel in connection with an accident involving all four Aug. 24, 1948 at George St. near Lake St. King was riding a bicycle, Heard and Harrison motorcycle, and Mandel was driving a car. W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, is representing Heard, Alex L. Elliott, KC, Harrison and T. J. Carley, KC, Mandel. The law firm of Hughes, Agar, Thompson and Amys will represent King.

William Steele, Keene, represented by Mr. Elliott, is claiming about $12,000 for injuries received in an accident June 28, 1949 in Otonabee township. The defendant in the case is Percy Wilson, represented by Hughes, Aga, Thompson and Amys.

The next case involves a suit by Mrs. A. Ferguson, Peterborough, represented by Mr. Elliott, against David McCallum, Peterborough, as the result of an accident at George and McDonnel Sts. July 7, 1949, in which Mrs. Ferguson, a pedestrian, was knocked down by a car driven by McCallum.

The trial before Mr. Justice LeBel only, Ernest Caldwell, the plaintiff, represented by Mr. Fair, and Peterborough Lumber Co., the defendant, represented by Kerr, McElderry, Howell and Bradshaw, will try to decide timber limits.

In another case in which the plaintiff is George Riddell, Millbrook, represented by Mr. Fair and the defendant is [illegible] Millbrook, will argue over the tenancy of part of a home in Millbrook.

The remaining civil case, except for the divorce actions, arises from a car accident which took place on top of a hill on Highway 7, October 2, 1948. The plaintiff is Hague Bothwell, represented by Carley and Standish and the defendant is John Evans, represented by Mr. Elliott.

City Provides Security For Its Employees, Several Plans Reviewed

Peterborough's security for its municipal employees is reviewed in a booklet prepared by City Clerk E. A. Outram. It was published on the instruction of the council for the information of the staff, and particularly to be in stock for the guidance of newcomers to the civic ranks.

"It relates the strides made for a more secure future for employees of the city," Mr. Outram remarks in a brief foreword.

"The position of each civic worker has changed from a condition in which the employee during sickness and in old age was thrown almost wholly upon his own limited resources, to one in which he is guaranteed security within certain reasonable limits."

The program established by the councils of the last two years includes accumulated sick leave, benefits on retirement, group insurance, vacations with pay, workmen's compensation and retirement pension.

Accumulative Sick Leave

The sick leave plan credits the employee with one and a half days of sick leave for each month of his employment. For absence by illness he receives his regular pay up to the full days accumulated to his credit for leave. These credit days are only for absence because of real illness and "not for a holiday or some fancied illness It is to the benefit of each employee to have as few absences by sickness as possible since there is no limitation to the amount of sick leave he can accumulate to his credit. No one knows when he may be stricken with a long illness, and a large total accumulated sick leave is like money in the bank in such a real emergency."

"An employee with 25 years' service or more can, just before retirement, take six months' leave of absence on full pay, or receive six months' full pay immediately before retirement, or take six months' holiday interspaced during his last three years of service."

Group Insurance

Group Insurance provides for $1,500 on the men employees under the age of 55 years and $750 on those 55 years or over at the date of becoming eligible, and also for all the women of the staff.

Only some of the facts presented by Mr. Outram are quoted from the booklet. There is no medical examination under the group insurance contract.

"While the city as the employer pays the major part of the premiums, there is required to be a deduction weekly from the wages of each employee of 14 cents per $1,000 of insurance. This is 21 cents for the average employee who is insured for $1,500."

Two weeks holidays with pay is extended to three weeks after fifteen years' experience. Workmen's compensation applies to all city employees.

"The policy of the city council and all departments is to be more generous in the treatment of workmen injured on the job than the limits fixed by the Act, providing the individual has given fullest co-operation from the time of suffering an injury and also depending on the duration of incapacity"

The retirement pension plan went into effect in April 1948 "after some years of study of pensions plans in industry, commerce and government. The Peterborough plan embodies the better features of all these.

By this plan the employee and the city, and its subsidiary boards, as the employer, each contributing five per cent., pay together each year into the annuities branch of the Dominion Government 10 per cent. of the employee's total earnings to the credit of the employee. These contributions earn interest at 4% to 3½%, depending on whether the employee joined the plan previous to 1949."

In a closing paragraph Mr. Outram refers to the council's desire to recognize and "reward real effort and valued service . . . The city services endeavour to operate purely on a merit system . . .

While some city jobs are seasonal, being similar to construction work, there is a definite policy of trying to retain all good workmen on a permanent basis. Works projects are planned, as far as possible, to reduce peaks and valleys in the employment record, and lay-offs are kept at a minimum."

The latest beneficiary of the retirement plan is Mr. J. A. Freeman, 71, who had been 21 years with the board of works. He has recently been on sick leave. The council granted him a retiring allowance of $723 a year, in accordance with the terms of the bylaw which established the system of pensioning. Payment will begin after he has used up his 45 days of sick leave.

40 Veterans Boer War To Attend Dinner

About 40 veterans of the South African War from the Peterborough district are expected to meet at a civic dinner in their honor in the old 4th Battery mess of the Armouries, beginning at 6 p.m. today.

The dinner, the first of its kind held in Peterborough for many years, will commemorate the 50th anniversary of the historic Battle of Paardeberg, the first overseas battle ever fought by Canadian troops.

Mayor Max J. Swanston will be on hand to act as host and Alderman Col. John A. Dewart will be the speaker.

The veterans, it is believed, were all members of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the only Canadian unit to participate in the Canadian army's first overseas battle. In the battle, which forced the enemy force of 4,000 to surrender, 13 Canadians were killed and 36 were wounded.

A special parade will be held in Petawawa where the unit is now stationed, to honor the occasion.

Chemong Ice Fifteen Inches

BRIDGENORTH, Feb. 25 — (ENS)—Ice has been averaging a thickness of 14-15 inches during ice cutting operations on Chemong Lake at Bridgenorth. Some days it has been 17 inches thick and others, only 14, but operators have been continuing steadily.

A. White of Chemong Lake Ice Company, hopes to have one ice house filled today and a second, next week.

At Lundy's Lane, where Mr. White has been cutting, there are five inches of snow on the surface. Between five and seven men are working there daily to try to get all the ice houses filled while the ice is still good.

Quarter Century Club Enrols Works Manager

Ian McRae, CGE works manager, recently qualified for membership of the Quarter Century Club and was presented with his membership button by T. Glover, works accountant and chapter president.

At the same ceremony toolmaker Nelson McFadden, who joined the company at the same time as Mr. McRae, received his button.

Mr. McRae was born in Vancouver and attended public and high school there. After a period in the placer mining camps at Nome, Alaska, he returned to British Columbia, hoping to work for the B.C. Territorial Railway Company.

Advised to go east, in direct contradiction to the popular advice, which was to look west, he came to Ontario and began his apprenticeship with the CGE company in the test department under Alf Fielder. In less than three years he was in the switchboard engineering section under Dr. G. R. Langley.

In 1937 Mr. McRae became assistant to the works manager and in 1941, succeeded Carl Salmonsen as works manager. In addition to his other duties, he was made director of Genelco in 1941 and continued to guide the war production of that plant until it had served its purpose.

Fiancee Reaches Flyer In Canada

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 — When Cpl. J. Gaston Vanier left Prague one month ago after he and another Canadian on the staff of the Canadian Legation there had been ordered expelled from Czechoslovakia, he bade his fiance goodbye and told her he would do everything in his power to get her to join him.

She should also do her utmost towards this end, he had told her. He would wait for her no matter how long it took.

Their efforts were crowned with success and Friday blonde [illegible] bounded out of the immigration office at Montreal Airport into the arms of her beaming beau.

Cpl. Vanier, who resides at Rochebaucourt, Que., was too excited to say much. He did make it known however that he and the girl he had met in Prague 18 months ago and courted until he was ordered to leave, would be married "very shortly."

Miss Vacova with a broad smile clutched Cpl. Vanier's arm and when asked by a photographer gave him a great big hug.

"The only thing I can say is that I am a very happy man," said Vanier. "We will be married shortly."

Vanier and Sgt. Reginald Danko, 32, of Toronto, who comprised the staff of the legation's air attache, were ordered expelled by the Czech government on Jan. 22 They were said by the Czechs to have been engaged in espionage. The pair stated "the charges were definitely trumped up." Two Czech officials in Canada were expelled in retaliation.

Quizzing Gardener

Q—What ground cover plants will grow under maple trees where grass refuses to grow? The soil is poor and tree roots are close to the surface.

A—Since plants must have a nourishing soil, your first chore is to loosen the soil, work in an inch or more layer of manure and a 10-6-4 fertilizer at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet. Then plant Myrtle, vinca minor; or English Ivy, hedera helix; or Evergreen Creeper, eunonymus coloratus; or Japanese Spurge, pachysandra terminalis. These evergreen cover plants are shade-tolerant.

Q—How soon can I expect a crop of lima beans?

A—Small seeded bush limas mature in about 65 days; large seeded bush and pole limas in about 80 days.

Q—What is "sucker" growth?

A—Shoots that grow in the angle formed by the stalk and the stem on such plants as tomatoes, fruit trees, etc. These should be pinched out, as they use up nourishment needed by the fruit-bearing stems.

HOUSE NO. 1010—Notice that the usual severe lines of a "modern" style house have been cleverly softened by the projecting courses of bring and the addition of contrasting colour on the coping, window trim and door. Although the house is really quite narrow—about 20 feet overall—it does not appear so. Like any truly modern style house, windows play a big part. A glance at the plan shown will convince you of their expansiveness in this house. All six rooms have exposures on two sides, permitting excellent ventilation and light, to say nothing of views. This is a small house in every sense of the word, but in it "there's a heap of living". The little study might be handy for a guest room, or baby's nursery. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St. Toronto.

Built-In Furniture Ideal For Utilizing Corners

One of the important advantages of built-in furniture is that it occupies less space than conventional types. Built-in items, as a rule, utilize corners and other spaces which are too small or inconvenient for the placing of conventional style furniture.

Realizing that the furniture space problem in the modern low-cost home with minimum room sizes is growing more acute each year, furniture manufacturers have evolved an interesting solution to this problem. Their answer is built-in furniture which is not "built-in." In other words, furniture which hugs the walls, fits the corners and utilizes wall height rather than length—ready-built, but not actually attached to the house.

Scaled to Big Rooms

Most period furniture, the accepted standard of the past, was designed and scaled to room sizes much greater than the average room in the home of today. Chippendale, Duncan Phyfe, Hepplewhite, Sheraton and the other great designers, conceived and executed their time-honored pieces for rooms which averaged at least a third and often a half larger than those we built today. Ceilings, too, were higher in the old days, and the tall chests, high-backed chairs, and canopy beds reflect the abundance of furniture space at the disposal of home owners a hundred years ago. Proper furniture for minimum modern homes must not only be smaller in scale, but must also take advantage of the space-saving tricks accomplished by built-in items.

The increasing number of small rooms is responsible for a new school of furniture designs. Now that there is a general movement away from collective apartment living to individual detached homes of modest proportions, small-scale, built-in style pieces are assuming increasing importance in the furniture trade.

In addition to space-saving sectional chesterfields which can either fit snugly into a corner or be straightened out in a matter of minutes to form a room partition, an almost endless of variety of tables, bookcases and occasional pieces are possible.

Not the least attractive feature is the use of light-colored woods with low-contrast fabrics on the cushions enabling any homeowner to achieve a striking room effect with a sharply contrasting rug. Reasonable care in the selection of lamps, pictures and tables will complete a room with character and individuality. On the other hand it is just as easy to select coverings for the furniture that will provide the main contrast motif. The color combinations cover an extremely wide range and make planning easy.

Chests and bookcases, in particular, come in various lengths and depths so that combinations of them can be readily adjusted to any well. "Corner" endtables, of various styles, provide in a much smaller area nearly all the living room facilities of larger pieces which would require much more space.

Your Garden

Now Is Time To Beware Of "Seed Catalogue Fever"

When you begin to get that starry-eyed look — out!

By HENRY PREE

The recent spring-like weather on the whole may be considered as having benefited lawns old and new. The frequent rains plus the high temperatures combined to keep the grass roots in a growing condition.

As a result, this old gardener believes that better lawns will be the rule next summer.

You are of course spending considerable time poring through the many seed and nursery catalogues which are arriving with every mail. We all do this and become a bit intoxicated by the wonderful illustrations and many times over-enthusiastic descriptions [illegible] catalogue fever.

Check all the things you think you want; that will take the first reading of each catalogue. Then take time to "come to" and recover from the childish desire to possess everything seen.

Go over your list a second time and hesitate long enough to visualize each plant in your own garden. Does it fit in? What space have you for this shrub, perennial, annual, or perhaps bed of whatever it may be, that you're so excited about?

In other words does your garden want it and really need it? Don't forget that seeds have a way of producing plants that require space even though they themselves look so small.

In February, which is not a busy month and is a favorable time for pruning fruit trees, take advantage of any good days to push ahead this operation that seems a necessary procedure in the growing of good fruits.

Thin out the branches in a manner that will assist in giving the tree a good shape, make it easier to spray well, and stimulate the tree to new and vigorous fruit-bearing growth in cases where the tree habitually bear undersize fruit.

Do not let the soil about your house plants become baked by the furnace heat and lack of moisture in the air. Such a condition is quite as injurious to the health of members of the household as it is to the house plants.

Most plants will give the best results in a room in which the temperature is kept between 55 and 65 degrees; though a few sorts, like the primrose like coolness. As cool air is not necessarily fresh air, be sure that there is adequate ventilation.

Campbell Urges Continuance Of Ties With UK

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Sir Gerald Campbell, who is visiting Canada and the United States on a mission for the British Board of Trade, expressed the wish for the continuance of unity and family ties between the British Commonwealth nations and between the Commonwealth and the United States. Sir Gerald spoke to the Montreal branch of the Royal Empire Society in the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Sir Gerald will formally open the British Auto Show today in the 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars armory on Cote des Neiges Road.

The former High Commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada said he was making a special study of trade between the U.K.-U.S.-Canada and that the major problem was simply "to decrease the dollar gap."

Sir Gerald said he hoped many Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders would be able to visit England next year to attend the 1951 Festival of Britain "a show dealing with British culture, history, science and industry.

"We are trying to hold some place in this word today," Sir Gerald said, "we are certainly having a revolution of men's minds, if nothing else."

"Our Commonwealth may be shaky here and there, once in a while, but it is a nice loose-limbed affair . . . the future of this world needs the Commonwealth and the United States . . . we must retain that unity, friendship and that family touch.

"We want to sell goods to you so that we can buy more from you; we should all get together, settle our problems and get this world back on an even keel."

Sir Gerald was introduced by C. D. Paxton, chairman of the council for the Montreal branch of the society, and thanked by Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price.

Several Countries Ask For Canadian Office

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP) —External Affairs Minister Pearson Friday told the Commons that a number of government officials in countries where Canada is not represented by diplomatic or trade missions represented or trade missions had told him of their desire that such relations be established

These representations were made to Mr. Pearson during his recent round-the-world tour. He was answering a question by Gordon Gradon (PC, Peel) who wanted to konw what was being doen about it.

Mr Pearson said it would be a little embarassing to name the countries. Action to meet their requests would depend on financial and other considerations. The basic policy was to have such relations wherever they could be of mutual benefit.

Simple Plumbing Repairs Every Man Should Make

By BOB SCHARFF

Waiting for the plumber while the basement floods is funny in a cartoon, but in real life it is far from amusing.

To prevent such a situation, it is advisable that the entire household be familiar with the location of every shut-off valve A coat of white paint applied to the valves will make them easy to recognize

It is also a good idea to label the main shut-off valve, usually located near the meter, still more prominently, by painting a short section of the piping leading to and from it.

Before most repair work can be done on the supply system, the water must be cut off.

When a common compression faucet drips, look for the trouble in the seat washer. To replace this washer unscrew the cap nut turn the stem until it can be lifted out, and remove the brass retaining screw holding the washer.

If this screw is badly corroded, it should be replaced Clean out the threads with a tap of the proper size and then seat a new washer.

To stop a faucet from leaking around the stem, try tightening the cap nut. If this doesn't work, replace the stem washer. Simply remove the handle, unscrew the cap nut, and lift it off the stem

There isn't anything more annoying than a toilet that overflows or doesn't stop running There is no individual valve to shut off the flow of water through a toilet. To stop the flow of water turn off the main valve or flush the tank and tie the shut-off float at a level that will shut off the water before the tank starts to refill.

If water runs steadily in the toilet bowl, the trouble generally is in the rubber ball stopper Unscrew the ball from its guide rod and examine it. If the ball is worn or has lost its elasticity screw on a new one

However if the stopper ball is in good condition, clean and replace. Also clean the valve seat. Adjust the rod guide so the stopper ball and its valve seat are lined up perfectly. There should be enough clearance between the rod guide and the connector link so binding doesn't keep the ball from seating tightly.

When water in the tank constantly runs into the overflow pipe, inspect the float If the overflow stops when the float is raised, bend the float rod slightly in the middle to lower the float a bit If this doesn't stop the overflow, the float may be leaky and it should be replaced.

A jammed supply valve will also cause an overflow The valve is not complicated, but it is delicate. Generally the trouble is that a screw is too tight, or that one is corroded.

Fix-It Forum

Q—Is there a trick to boring holes at the board end? Every time I drill a hole near the end of a board it splits.—N. E. S.

A—To prevent splitting, bore a small hole first, using a bit slightly smaller than the screws on the auger. This allows the threads to grip and will prevent splitting.

Jury Acquits Bolton

DETROIT, Feb. 25 (AP) — A jury took only 90 minutes Friday to decide that Carl Bolton, 41, was not [illegible] who shot labor leader Walter [illegible] years ago. The verdict four weeks of trial in which the State's evidence — also circumstantial—was based largely on the story of two long-term convicts. Both were admitted liars.

Encourage Visitors

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP) — Overseas students will be encouraged to visit Britain during the 1951 festival of Britain, Gerald Barry, director general of the Festival, told the Royal Empire Society, "Young people with slender means will be given every encouragement," he said. "They will be offered facilities similar to those arranged for visiting competitors at the Olympic games, when special camps were opened.

DUBLIN, Feb. 25 (AP)—John J. Hearne, has been named first ambassador from the Republic of Ireland to the United States. For the last 12 years he has been high commissioner in Canada. He will replace Sean Nunan, former Irish minister in Washington, who has become assistant secretary of external affairs here.

Report Spies Steal Papers From Officers

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 25. (AP).—The United States Army disclosed Friday that a suspected spy ring has been stealing confidential documents from the homes of high army officers here.

The homes of 30 officers have been entered in this headquarters city of United States armed forces in Europe during the last seven months, army officials said.

"Either foreign agents or some one trying to peddle secret documents to a foreign power is responsible," one commented.

Documents vanished while jewelry, cash, cameras and other items of high value were left untouched.

Army officials said the ring apparently receieved from inside the European Command's headquarters on what officers, disregarding a security warning, took confidential documents to their homes.

Many of the homes entered were occupied by officers of field grade, who might be expected to have documents pertaining to U.S defense plans in Germany.

Women Observe In St. John's Day Of Prayer

The first Friday of Lent has been set aside as a Day of Prayer by the Christian Community of the World. True celebration of the event means an unbroken chain of prayer begins as the sun rises among the Fijian Christians, passes from island to island, continent to continent, until at the close of day prayers of fur-clad Eskimos complete the circle.

A special program is prepared for the day by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada with the theme this year "Faith For Our Time." In Peterborough this was followed through in afternoon and evening services which were held in St. John's Anglican Church and well attended.

Arrangements for the afternoon service, in which women from all Protestant churches of the city took part, were made by Mrs. Gordon Rutherford, as secretary.

Mrs. H. C. Sootheran was appointed the key woman with Mrs. G. S. Cameron as leader, both of St. John's. The others taking part in the service were Mrs. Jas. Semple, George St.; Mrs. E. Alton, Mark St.; Mrs. H. F. Doig, St. James; Mrs. E W Rowland, Grace; Mrs. W. T. Edmondson, Trinity; Mrs F. W. K. Harris, St. Andrew's; Mrs. H. J. Douglas, Knox; Mrs Jas. Dutton, St. Paul's; Mrs. E Barrie, Murray St.; Mrs Frank Barrie, Park St.; Mrs. G. Rutherford, St. George's; Mrs. [illegible] Free Methodist.

Mrs. Major Everitt of the Salvation Army contributed a delightful solo, and was accompanied by organist F G. Mann.

Ushers were Mrs. R. G. Maniece, St. Luke's; Mrs. H. Fitzgerald, St John's; Mrs. Geo. Sibley, St Alban's; Mrs. D. J. Eldred, St. John's.

Women of All Saints' Anglican Church took the message to the Anson House residents. Mrs Frank Edgar was the leader, assisted by Mrs. N. Sloan, Mrs Q. Woods, Mrs. Frank Parnett, Mrs. John Edgar, Mrs. Frank Dawson, Mrs. L. Barry. Mrs. Percy Hooper played the accompaniment for hymns and a duet by Miss Agnes Moore and Mrs. Reg. Chandler.

In the evening service at St. John's, Mrs. H A. Mitchell of Trinity, was soloist, and Mrs. Col Ritchie of the Salvation Army, gave an address. Program arrangements were made by Mrs. Fred Rowan, secretary.

Student Nurses Enjoy Ball Given By Civic Governors

Greatest pleasure from entertaining is the knowledge guests have enjoyed themselves. The Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital was handsomely rewarded in this respect Friday evening when the annual formal dance for student nurses was given at the Kawartha Country Club.

Everything was right for enjoyment—good music, good company, good friends, as only girls who live and work together can be. They were pictures of youth and loveliness in decollete frocks, some frothy, some sophisticated in design, but all a far cry from startched white and blue uniforms.

There were prizes, too, for the lucky ones. Miss Elenor Bird and Mr. Bill Piercy won the spot dance, and the couple that could not be eliminated though they called everything from "long underwear" to "red ties" was Miss Barbara Deyell and Mr. Jack Reinhardt. A birthday dance for students only was won by Miss Jean Bulmer. Those not dancing played canasta and later drew for prizes which went to Mrs. Jean Preston and Mr. J. R. Marshall.

Mr. J. R. Marshall, chairman of the board, and Mrs. Marshall were on hand to receive the guests, assisted by Miss A. L. Thomson and Miss C. Wilson and Mr. John Hornal of the hospital staff, and Miss Agnes Bowler president of the students' council. Mr. and Mrs Vern Selkirk were also present, representing the board, and the following members of the supervisory staff, Misses R. Cranfield, M. Renwick, Grace Calvert, M. Robson, H. Tilling, M. Pickens, Mrs. Jean Preston and Mrs. Tod Wilcox.

Student nurses attending were Misses N. Carnegie, M. Mann, M. E. Dugan, S Langdon, B Whiley, S. Tufts, M. Lessard, E Regan, M. Dauncey, S. Fleming, J. Deyell, D. Jackson, M. Hutchinson, M. Lenore Edwards Bride Of Robert M. Quirt

The marriage of Miss Mary Lenore Edwards to Mr. Robert Maxim Quirt was quietly solemnized today by the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, in the Trinity United Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Edwards of Los Angeles, California, formerly of this city, and the groom is son of Mrs. J. H. Quirt of this city, and the late J. Harvey Quirt.

The bride was wearing a suit of navy gabardine, hat in coral reef shade with navy taffeta ribbon forming a side swirl, and gloves, shoes and bag of navy. Her shoulder bouquet was of sweet pears. Miss Dorothy Saunders as bridesmaid wore a pale blue gabardine suit with rust accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Allan Paget Quirt was his brother's attendant for the ceremony.

Immediately after, Mr. and Mrs. Quirt left on a wedding trip to Montreal and points east. For travelling the bride topped her ensemble with a beige camel hair coat.

On return to the city they will live at 743 Snelgrove Road, and the bride will continue in her position at junior girls' secretary at the YWCA.

Plead Brotherhood Of Man Only Way To Save World

Three women made pleas for greater understanding and tolerance to bring about racial and religious brotherhood, in outstanding addresses delivered here Friday afternoon. They spoke to about 130 women, representing organizations of the city,, who were gathered in the Empress Hotel, and to a radio audience. The speakers each represented a faith or race, and came from Toronto sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. They were: Mrs. W. F. B. Parsons, MBE, Roman Catholic; Mrs. Abraham L. Feinberg, representing the Jewish faith, and Mrs. Wm. Tucker, Protestant, also a co-chairman of the Council.

Of one point all three were certain—nothing can save the world except complete brotherhood of man; that tolerance must be practised not merely preached, and that the responsibility for success or failure rests squarely upon every person.

Mrs. Parsons said "Those who truly love God and man will go to any lengths to practice brotherhood." She said it is the Council's aim to form an unbroken chain across Canada, built on citizens who practise the principles and draw in others, link by link.

She suggested that schools should be the centre of attention and that those of all faiths interest themselves in seeing the children are educated in brotherhood and unity. "The doers of evil contact the very young these days as a method of getting their ideas to the parents," she warned.

Cultivate Relationships

Cultivation of the science of human relationships made possible a meeting which could not possibly have taken place a generation ago Mrs. Feinburg pointed out, "It is for us women, the bearers of life, to point the way further by realizing our common sisterhood. We must keep our thinking clear and not succumb to the moral sickness of the world."

"All human beings have equal rights to human dignity" the Jewish woman said, explaining the frustration that has been felt through intolerance. "The Jew and the Negro seek no sympathy —they feel no self-pity, but they do feel an overpowering outrage at violence to the human spirit."

Mrs. Feinberg highlighted her address with a Hebrew prayer, given first in the native tongue, then in English so all would understand and realize the underlying similarity.

Said Mrs. Tucker: "We have been warned the world's future depends on our working together. It is therefore tremendously necessary that we grow up mentally —to be able to get along without fighting; to meet differences without being childish and building walls of hate. While there is yet time let us prove we deserve leadership. Discrimination and prejudice are very close to war and if they exist, we are not worthy.

Look Into Facts

"Solve problems by loking into the facts and get them adjusted by going to the source of the trouble. It is a sign of growing up to be able to discuss differences, whether they be racial, religious or personal. If our children are to have a future, it is important that we work for the ideals of brotherhood."

As co-chairman of the sponsoring Council, Mrs. Tucker explained the organization which has been organized in Canada for two years and two months. It is formed on a national scale to educate for brotherhood through schools, radio, theatre and local groups. Religious difficulties that might arise are recognized and the work is kept on a civic level.

She urged, "Let kindness be the mode in the society of democracy and make it the fashion to be tolerant and unprejudiced. Then, believe, live and support that slogan."

Mrs. Wm. Addyman, only woman member in Peterborough of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, was chairman of the meeting.

Introduce Speakers

The speakers were introduced by Miss Lillian Hurley, Mrs. Harry Cherney and Mrs. Wm. Wheeler, and thanked by Mrs. D. Rostocky.

A candle-lighting ceremony followed in which Mrs. J. Mayer, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan and Mrs. D. B. Gordon took part.

Receiving prior to the meeting were Miss Agnes Grant, Miss G. Costello, Mrs. A. W. Tait, Mrs. Harry Cherney, Mrs. J. Low, Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. Adam Sands.

Attendance Recorded

Registration was taken by Miss Marjorie McNulty, Mrs. Louis Zacks, Mrs. A. W. Nelson and the collection by Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Mrs. Leah Zacks and Mrs. H. Dunford.

Ushers were Mrs. Leo Martyn, Mrs. J. Hickey, Mrs. H. Masterson, Mrs. A. Moldaver, Mrs. S. Moldaver, Mrs. A. Semel, Mrs. N. Elliott, Mrs. C. S. Thompson, Mrs. Wm. Steinkraus.

Mrs. F. Merrett was hostess for the tea following the addresses, and the refreshments were served by Mrs. T. McGarrity, Miss Margery McNeely, Mrs. Z. Levine, M. Levine, Mrs. A. B. Collis, Mrs. A. Sands, Mrs. J. Stevenson, Mrs. A. R. McWilliams.

Secretaries who assisted with the arrangements were Miss M. Grady, Mrs. Ben Swartz and Mrs. G. Morewood.

Albanian Describes Horrors Of Spreading Communism

Albanian-born Ferid Beshiri and his beautiful, clever wife, Lena, a Viennese, have been in Peterborough just five months. To them it is a blessed haven after five years of running from one country to another, living each hour in fear. The happiest day they have known since 1939 was when they were accepted as displaced persons to come to Canada from Syria.

The story of those years between in Austria, and later in Italian camps, was told by Mr. Beshiri Friday evening when both were guests at the Soroptimist Club dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel. It was given simply, without exaggeration and the pic[illegible] to contem[illegible]

[illegible] exceptionally good, for he had American teachers in the Vienna College of Agriculture where he graduated in engineering, but he kept his voice low as though he is not yet free of dread that he will be "liquidated" for expressing his opinion.

He may not have known it, but already he has taken up one typically Canadian habit — reading "Dorothy Dix". Every night he reads the newspaper thoroughly from front to back and in this way, is acquiring a good knowledge of the city and country. He also follows happenings in Europe so that when homeland papers arrive, giving more detail, he can size up the situation wisely. Always it looks bad for Albania, and at the moment he sees a possible war with Greece — and another indication of the spread of Communism.

Follow Same Plan

Mr. Beshiri declared the Russian intent is to cause world revolution by a method which they have followed with success so far. He suspects that after conquest in China, the Communists will commence in India and continue east. He says the plans fall in this same stamp: get men in hand, then start propaganda and keep pushing away each democratic party. In every country the people have been so afraid they say "yes" to all the suggestions.

Only solution, as Mr. Beshiri sees it, is immigration. There are 400 million people in Europe where only 200 million can be provided for. The standard of living is low and the very poor all become Communists.

It is not their wish for they are thoroughly s[illegible]k of it, but they will do anything to get work, he says. They get only enough food ot stay alive and if America should stop sending supplies "there will be a great big starvation" he prophe[illegible]s. The well-off, too, are led into Communism for they see no future. If they send their children to school, they will not get jobs, and if kept at home they will be taxed.

Seen Enough Of Killing

He wishes the newspapers here would not make front page stories of murders and robberies, but rather use more political news as they do in Europe. He has known of too much killing and stealing while under Russian occupation in Austria where 300,000 people have disappeared. He told of the nights after Russian soldiers came to Vienna when women's screams filled the air and the men dare not move to protect them.

[illegible] world past the door[illegible] days when they finally got out of Russian controlled country on their way to Albania. But in Italy they were detained and the time dragged over two years till they accepted an opportunity of going to Syria. Mr. Beshiri found his first employment for some years there, laying out irrigation channels, though water was far away.

But the climate was difficult to endure, so he applied to come to Canada at the first opportunity, after 14 months in the desert, and the couple were among 23 chosen from a line-up of 120 Albanians.

Cannot Claim Parcels

Letters come to the Beshiris from their relatives, but they are censored, as are theirs, so the only authentic news is from persons who get to this country. They have just recently discovered it is best not ot send parcels home for such high tariffs are charged the addressees that they generally cannot afford to claim them.

Sound ideas expressed by this newcomer gave Soroptimists food for thought. Dr. Agnes Moffat introduced Mr. and Mrs. Beshiri, who are at present employed at her home, and they were thanked for coming by Miss Elsie Bennett.

Fashion Show Reveals Navy Best Spring Color

NORWOOD, Feb. 25 (ENS) — Navy is the color for spring with beige and grey falling in line, said Mrs. Kathleen McLarnon at a fashion show in the Legion Hall Wednesday.

Mrs. A. R. Tompkins, active worker of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church, Norwood, had invited Mrs. McLarnon to present the show.

With the exception of Mrs. Fairs of Peterborough, all the models were from the village. Mrs. Lottie Burtt was at the piano for the musical part of the program.

Mrs. G. Faiers, wearing a navy faille afternoon dress with coolie neckline, and falling in back to an imitation train, was the first entrant.

Miss Barbara Cuthbertson, next in a wool gabardine beige two piece, made on dressmaker lines to be worn with neckerchief or blouses. This four button style adds height to the shorter figure. Miss Cuthbertson removed the jacket to display a fine pink sheer long sleeve blouse, elaborate with tucks and lace trimming.

Mrs. Mary Pettersen modelled an all over flowered silk jersey, full skirt with high neckline and jewelled closing.

Miss Janet Giffen wore one of the most talked of afternoon dresses of black faille crepe with diagonal closing in front and large patch pockets on the skirt, and trimmed with white soutache braid.

Mrs. Faiers returned wearing a flannel candy striped jacket for casual wear over a green frost point skirt with daffodil yellow blouse.

Mrs. Patten then appeared in a powder blue gabardine suit, one button style with one pleat in the skirt for action.

Little Arlene Tompkins was charming in a baby red hat and coat with removable cape and trimmed with black velvet.

Jersey Candy Stripes

Mrs. M. B. McClelland wore a smart two piece wool jersey with candy striped top, paddy green skirt and removable tangerine waistcoat.

Mrs. A. R. Tompkins modelled in old favorite sweaters and skirt, turn sweaters in royal blue rayon, gabardine skirt, glen-checked pattern.

Little Arlene came back to show her two piece sheer dress of white pique and red gingham.

The final of 20 showings was Mrs. Faiers in an elaborate pink evening gown ornamented with a large bow and padded hips.

Several afternoon dresses, shortie coats and all-purpose coats were also modelled. Mrs. McLarnon wore a two piece navy faille with chenese neckline, trimmed with white braid and a baby blue hat of Milan straw and trimmed with Guinea leather.

Mrs. James R. Baskin, on behalf of the Ladies' Guild presented Mrs. McLarnon, the models and co-workers with flowers.

Convener of the tea that followed was Mrs. George Bitten, assisted by Mrs. Baskin.

In Charge of Tea

Mrs. Harry Rogers and Mrs. Walter Bitten presided at the tea table and tea assistants were Mrs. Wm. Thompson, Mrs. Harry Pearce, Mrs. W. Hockridge, Mrs. H. Mainland, Mrs. Joseph Clements, Mrs. E. Patten, Mrs. J Pettersen, Mrs M. B. McClelland.

Mrs. Tolley, president, received the guests. Mrs. Walter Bitten read several poems and Mrs. Tolley and Mrs. Mainland sang two duets accompanied by Mrs. Burtt [illegible] Mrs. A. R. Tompkins recited.

Why Cling to Superstition That Age Outgrows Beauty

Dorothy Dix

OF all the taboos under which the feminine sex has suffered so grievously during all the ages none of them have been such a handicap to it as the superstition that a woman was only attractive while she was young and that there was nothing for her but the scrap heap when she grew old.

Strangely enough, this ban against age applies only to women. A man may take age in his stride, as it were, and nobody bothers about it. He isn't excluded from society because he is getting stout around the middle and bald on the pate. In fact, we recognize that age ripens and mellows a man as it does good wine and that the middle-age and even elderly man is generally more charming and a more stimulating companion than a callow boy.

Place Is In Home

But we are still sold to the superstion that age sours women and makes them unfit for human consumption, except for their teething grandchildren. We consider that the place for the elderly female is the nursery, or the fireside at home. They are not supposed to want to step out anywhere except to church or the cemetery. When a man pays one any attention he does it either as a work of supererogation or because she has money and it is the come-on to selling her some bonds. And after 45 her chances of marriage are nil unless she literally goes into the marriage market and purchases herself a boy husband.

Yet at middle age many women are far better looking than they were in their youth. Life chisels many a rough face into symmetry and experience lights the fire of intelligence in many dull eyes. Many a gawky and awkward and unattractive and shy girl acquires poise and dignity with age and just having lived through forty or fifty or sixty years makes any woman more interesting to talk to.

You can't have loved and married and borne children, and had your heart broken by death and known work and struggle and anxiety without their having done something to you. Without their having made you cynical and bitter, or sweet and understanding, without their having at least taught you some philosophy of life.

Another superstition to which we cling is that women age more rapidly than men. Possibly this may have been the case in the past when women led narrow, dull lives and rusted out for lack of rubbing up against the world. Then, when a girl married, she was tied to her home and was expected henceforth to take her interest in life vicarously through her husband and children. A good wife and mother wasn't supposed to consider her looks or her figure, or read anything except books of devotion, and naturally she did get to look like her husband's mother.

The modern woman has changed all that. The middle-aged woman of today looks younger than her husband, even when they are approximately the same age. Also, she is peppier. She is the one who wants to go places and do things and who drags him out to places of amusement and on trips. And she belongs to study clubs and current events classes and she is up on her politics, and hasn't the slightest idea of settling down to senility for the next twenty years.

Kinder To Women

But if men have the advantage of women in youth, age is kinder to women than it is to men. No old woman is as forlorn and lonely as an old man. Somehow the old woman can take care of herself better. She can make more of a home for herself if she has to live alone, and if she has to live with others she fits in better than the old man does. And somehow people are tenderer and kinder to the old woman than they are to the old man.

The man who is too old to be in business or to follow his old occupation is lost. He is bored to death. He does not know how to kill time. But the old woman has her crony or two; she can make patchwork quilts or crochet or knit; she can take care of her children's children and keep her heart warm with their devotion, for so often the old and the young meet on the common plane of childhood.

And so, perhaps, life which is more just than we think, averages matters up by giving men the best of age when they are young and women the best of age when they are old.

CGIT Doings

MARK STREET

Girls at Mark street enjoyed entertaining a group from Bridgenorth at their meeting this week which opened with folk dancing and a sing song. Ruth Hendren was in charge of the worship, assisted by Margaret Fell who read scripture and Marilyn Logan who told a story about the Negro poet, Paul Lawrence Dunbar. Ruth Brown, Gwen Pomeroy, Florine Searles, Patsy Harding, Carolee Ferguson and Joyce Benstead gave a solo.

Different phases of missionary work in Angola, were presented. Georgina Chalmers spoke on travelling to Angola, Vesta Chute told about a girls' camp which was held at Chissamba, and Patsy Berry told of the work done in hospitals.

Hot chocolate and cookies were served at the close.

ST. PAUL'S

Junior members invited senior group to attend their meeting this week. The call to worship was given by Donna Loucks, who then introduced Mr. Harry Lockington, who showed pictures of the Canadian Rockies. Jean Smith expressed their appreciation. When seniors returned to their own group, Ruth Curtis read several articles on "Dating," which created lively discussion.

TRINITY

The girls gave a spirited rendition of "Donkey Riding" to open their meeting this week Joan Krogh, department president, was in the chair, and gave the call to worship. The scripture was read by Betty Crowe, and Anne Gordon led in prayer. Plans were made for next week's meeting when Maisie Shearer and Marilyn Windrim are preparing information on radio work in the church and members of senior group will put on a skit. Catherine Hodgens gave several examples of the influence early Sunday school and church association had had on the lives of several people, and stressed the fact that the church is looking to our present CGIT membership for leaders of groups in the future. It was reported that two plants which had been grown by members of the Torchbearers group had been delivered to shut in members of the congregation and a letter of appreciation was read.

His father, William G Sargent, received $387.95 for expenses resulting from the injury to the youth, now a cadet at Royal Military College, Kingston.

HastingsMidgets Big Comeback Exciting Game

HASTINGS, Feb. 25—(ENS)—Hastings Midgets, in their fight to retain the J. P. McEvoy Memorial Trophy, made a spectacular comeback, in Hastings Friday night, before a good crowd. Beaten in Woodville 9-4 Wednesday night in a two-game (goals to count) series, they fought from the starting whistle and at 2 minutes and 20 seconds of the third period, Kenny Forde tied it up.

Seven minutes later, sewing up the game, Forde again scored on a neat play by J. Morrow.

Hastings, led by Morrow, carried the play all the way, and only the fine chore turned in by goalie Anderson kept the score out of double figures.

Morrow and Forde both scored the hat trick, followed by Wayne Dodd with two and Bethune with one. Cameron, a constant threat, scored the last goal to Woodville and turned in a fine performance. He was robbed on several occasions by Montgomery, who really hustled in the net. Vaughan and Chambers played a fine game on defence, but Chambers earned the title of bad man of the game, being waved into the sin bin five times by Referee Herb Payne Both teams commended the officials for the fine way they handled the game.

Line-up

Hastings—Goal, D. Montgomery; defence, B. Chambers, K. Vaughn; centre, D. Bethune; wings, J. Morrow, K. Forde, alternates, J. Warrington, D. Fisher, W. Fisher, B. Orr, W. Dodd, D. Cordon, B. Wilson.

Woodville—Goal, B. Anderson; defence, S. Currie, D. Grant; centre, H. Cameron; wings, B. Pethic, G. Murray; alternates, B. Brown, B. Stanley, O. Moore, D. McLeod, J. Goard.

Referee, Herb Payne, Peterborough; linesman, Robert Scriver, Hastings.

Delahaye starred on the Central defence while Rowley sparked the attack. Brooks turned in a good game while Gardner, Mongraw and Noble also looked good. Hobart was the top player for King Edward stopping a flock of shots. Hunt and Frizelle for the southenders went well.

Lineups:

King Edward—Goal, Hobart; defence, Frizelle, Hunt; forwards, Sutherland, Smythe, J. Hobart; alternates, Robbins, Haggart.

Nurses Srs.	10	8	2
Black's	10	4	6
Normals	10	3	7

CGE	10	3	7

Normals lost to a short-handed CGE team 22-13 last night in the YWCA to wind up the schedule for the Girls' Basketball League. The Nurses couldn't make it for their game. Though CGE had but five players, they had nine fouls called on them—five to Betty Stewart— as Normals had 11 called on them.

It was a rather rugged tilt for the lasses' cage play, but CGE early built up a lead and were in front 16-8 at the half, the second half being more even. All of the winners went well, while Amy Curtis, Sheila McEwen, Marg Coombs, and Gladys Clark stood out for Normals. Play was keen and fast all the way, with some good passing and shooting seen in spots and plenty of stiff checking, especially toward the finish. Teams:

Normals — S. McEwen 2, M. Coombs, J. Galway 1, G. Clark, E. Scriver, M. Kerr 2, L. Cullis, A. Curtis 8.

CGE — B. Stewart 4, B. Luther 1, M. Batley 8, T. Stewart 6, M. Kenney 3.

DON'T "PANIC" OUT OF POULTRY . . . FOR EARLY Chicks Will PAY

Panic selling of laying birds has reached such proportions that there's every likelihood that laying pullets will be mighty profitable property next summer. And so far very few chicks have been started — the pullet chicks that should be laying next Summer, the cockerels that should be meeting the tourist meat demand.

There's never any sizable egg surplus during the Summer and early Fall . . . always a shortage of big eggs. This year the supply situation is likely to be the same as in previous years — only more so! Everything points to good prices and a wide spread for size through Summer and early Fall . . . June to October. And the same shortage is likely to show up in the broiler and light roaster market.

There's opportunity here for the poultry raiser who starts good chicks right away . . . starts them "flying" on Startena Checker-Etts . . . grows them fast and fully on a good Purina growing ration . . . gets big eggs to sell on that top market . . . well-finished meat birds for the tourist season.

Best Feed Investment You'll Ever Make!

Both cows and sows need special feed while they're "dry" — to help them build both their own bodies and the bodies of their young. This is probably the best feed investment you will ever make—if you pick the right feed. Ask us about the Purina Programme for these two classes of stock.

Would you like to put more milk in the cans, less in the calves . . . make money, save money, save time and work, and still raise topnotch calves? Here's how you can do it. Start your calves on Calf Startena . . . no milk after the first month, less work, top results.

26th Anniversary In City Hadassah Prepare To Mark

The Hadassah Organization of Canada is part of a world-wide federation called The Women's International Zionist Organization. This year in Peterborough, the Haddassah Organization celebrates it's 26th. anniversary with a membership of 66, a far cry indeed from the original 18 women who banded together under the leadership of Mrs. Rae Green, the founder and first president of the local chapter. As part of it's sister Hadassah organization in the United States, National Canadian Hadassah celebrates its 38th birthday, with a membership of 13,000 women gathered together by the beloved founder and great humanitarian Henrietta Szold, who dedicated her little band of women to the purpose of giving reality to the words of Jeremiah, "the Healing of the Daughter of my people.' They took as their symbol the name of Hadassah, Hebrew equivalent of Esther who was fated to save her people from destruction. This little band of women were destined to fulfil this purpose like Esther of old They save their people from physical destruction caused by idlesness and ignorance; from the spiritual destruction caused by homelessness and rejection.

In every year, in every decade Hadassah has seen the challenge of the times and has responded to it. The late Mrs. A. J. Freeman of Ottawa, the first president of Canadian National Hadassah was during the first world war granted the O.B.E. by the late King George V of England for services to her country Canada. During the war years Canadian Hadassah placed itself at the service of Canada, the Empire Palestine. Their members worked steadily knitting and sewing for the Red Cross, doing everything that would help to bring comfort to their men overseas, and to their dependents left behind. Through their affiliation with the National Consumer's League, the Health League of Canada, the Women's Regional Board of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and many other groups, their women have joined with the Canadian women of all races and creeds in the growth and development of this wide Dominion, in keeping the standards of health and education here in Canada and in helping to maintain our democratic way of life. For the past three years, the National President has been Mrs. Harry Singer of Montreal, a graduate of McGill University.

35,000 Children Rescued

In it's work for Palestine, Canadian Hadassah has written a glorious page of history, helping to make that little country ready for statehood. Through Canadian Hadassah's efforts on behalf of Youth Aliyah, the child saving organization established soon after the advent of Hitlerism in 1933, some 35,000 children of all ages were rescued from the extermination chambers of Europe and brought to Palestine where a new life awaited them. These children grown to manhood and womanhood gave a glorious account of themselves fighting for the Allies in Europe and in North Africa While the primary purpose of Hadassah has been to assist in the building of Israel and to help, through the many fine health, educational and cultural institutions and modern agricultural settlements to rehabilitate and re-establish the lives of the many thousands of victims of the Nazi persecutions, their women have participated actively in every phase of communal life in their respective communities, taking care of the under-privileged, and devoting themselves to every cause that would bring comfort and happiness into peoples' lives.

The Peterborough Chapter of Hadassah have continued with their assistance to Hospital work at the Civic Hospital, going regularly with library cart, to which they subscribed Life Magazine and helping with the Annual Penny Sale. This year the members of Peterborough Hadassah have raised funds to furnish a room at the Civic hospital and gave a cheque for $200 to St Joseph's hospital. They also have rendered service to the local drive for the Community Chest, the T. B. Survey, Cancer Society drive and any Red Cross work they are asked to do. Besides this, the members strive in small measure to render support to the famous Hadassah Hospital on Mt. Scopus, which has been so successful in raising the health standards of the Middle East, as their treatment is non-sectarian. Likewise they support the Hebrew University on Mt. Scopus, the foremost seat of culture in the near and middle east, where brilliant research scientists work incessantly to serve humanity.

This year for the first time in Peterborough, the Hadassah Chapter is planning to raise money through the means of a bazaar to be held in the Brock Street Gardens on May 1, which they hope the greater community will support. In conjunction with the bazaar they plan to have a photograph contest, a free fashion show, a treasure booth, bargain booths, a home-cooking booth, and a variety of games of chance including bingo.

HADASSAH CHAPTER is planning a May 1 bazaar in the Summer Gardens, Brock St. in an effort to raise funds. In conjunction with the bazaar there will be a photograph contest, a fashion show, a treasure booth, bargain booths, a home-cooking booth and games of chance. LEFT to RIGHT are Mrs. M. Duke, Mrs. H. Cherney and Mrs. A. B. Collis, three active members of the Chapter, are making plans for the event.

99-Year-Old

"About the year 1832, a number of gentlemen. . .located in the township of Harvey and commenced a settlement in the south west corner, near the shore of Pigeon Lake and in the vicinity of Sandy Lake."

Dr. Poole went further and quoted a paragraph from Colonel Strickland's "Twenty-seven Years in Canada West" vol. 1. page 125 . . .published in 1853 . .

"The spot chosen by them was one of great natural beauty; but it possessed no other advantage except an abundance of game. . they spent several thousand pounds in building fancy log houses and making large clearings which they had neither the ability nor industry to cultivate. . their great distance from a market would have been a great drawback to the chance of effecting a prosperous settlement. . .in a few years not a settler remained of this little colony. . some stayed till their means were exhausted; other. . purchased ready cleared farms, or followed some profession more congenial to their tastes or more suited to their abilities."

Dr. Poole names two of the group, Robert Dennison and Captain Wallis, both worthy citizens of Peterborough in after years, and John Langton names others in his "Early Days in Upper Canada" and on the map on the back cover indicates the position of their holdings along the shore of Buckhorn Lake; he, himself settled on Sturgeon Lake. Mrs Stewart in "Our Forest Home" page 139 refers to Admiral Vansittart's colony on Balsam Lake

It seems unlikely that an amateur could have made the Albion's front page with a story of that sort, and as well as the writers mentioned there were Thomas Need of Bobcaygeon, Anne Langton, Mrs. Traill and Mr and Mrs Moodie, but from the two foregoing paragraphs, I am offering a suggestion that Colonel Strickland was the author

If you are inclined to form your own opinion, I am sure that the owner of the 99 year old Albion, William Warner of Hastings, will let you read the story for yourself.

Reverse Decision

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Friday reversed a decision by which Hamilton City Hospital was assessed $4,250 damages for injuries suffered by a woman patient afflicted with "pregnancy psychosis." Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly had awarded the claim to Mrs. Eugene Flynn, who crawled through a window of the hospital Aug. 10, 1944, and jumped 30 feet to a concrete areaway. He had contended that Mrs. Flynn's injuries were the result of negligence by the hospital staff.

Plane Ground-Loops

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (CP)—A light RCAF plane with five airmen aboard ground-looped at nearby Dorval Airport Friday while taking off for its Centralia, Ont., base. No one was injured. An eye-witness said damage was "heavy." The plane, a Beechcraft, arrived from Greenwood, N.S., making the stop at No. 426 transportation squadron RCAF for refueling.

Doctor's Counsel Blocks State

MANCHESTER, N.H., Feb. 25 (CP)—Counsel for Dr. Hermann N. Sanders threw a block Friday against state efforts to prove that the husband of the woman he is charged with murdering had nothing to do with her "mercy" death.

The block was thrown up shortly before the trial of the 41-year-old country doctor recessed for the week-end. Dr. Sanders is charged with killing Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, a cancer-doomed patient, with lethal air injections.

Defence counsel Louis E. Wyman bounced to his feet the instant Sheriff Thomas E. O'Brien testified the prosecution had a signed statement in which Borroto claimed he had "nothing to do with Dr. Sanders in this."

Testimony had been presented earlier quoting Dr. Sander as saying he yielded to Borroto's pleadings to end his wife's suffering even if it meant "eliminating her life."

Judge Harold E. Westcott sustained Wyman's objections and ordered the sheriff's testimony stricken from the record.

Wyman told reporters later that Borroto would be called as a defence witness if the state doesn't place him on the stand.

Drew Sees Election

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Concervative leader, said Friday night it seems "certain that there will be another election" in the United Kingdom before long.

Allied Nationals Sent To Red Camps

BERLIN, Feb. 25—(AP)—The Russians have sent some allied nationals to work camps in the Soviet Union, the German Social Democratic Party (SPD) charged Friday.

At a press conference called by the SPD to denounce Communist "terror tactics" in the Soviet zone, the party named three Americans it said were in Sachsenhausen Concentration Camp.

It gave the names also of six Swiss, two Italians, two Frenchmen, three Belgians, five Greeks, one South African and one Dane said to be confined in Sachsenhausen.

It also listed two Netherlanders and a Swiss confined in Buchenwald, another Soviet zone concentration camp The party based its report on information obtained by the "fighting group against inhumanity" from Germans returned from the camps.

Promoted To Consul

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—Promotion to consular rank of five Canadians serving abroad was announced Friday in the current issue of the Canada Gazette. The appointments as consul, which involve change of rank but not occupation, go to: Clarence Joseph Van Tighem, trade commissioner in Sao Paulo, Brazil; Sidney Allen Freifeld, chief information officer of the Canadian consulate general in New York; Joseph Bernard Chaput, second secretary of the Canadian embassy in Brussels; Christopher Harfield West, acting consul in Chicago.

Force Of 45,000 Being Rearmed In Eastern Germany

FRANKFORT, Feb. 25 — The rearmament of Eastern Germany has now progressed to the point where 45,000 officers and men, young and tough, and drawn from areas with a tradition of military service and success, form the army of the German Democratic Republic, the first postwar German army.

Growth of this force, ostensible part of the East Zone's People's Police, could now reinforce the Soviet Army in Germany with three infantry divisions. Allied intelligence views this with alarm, and it is also an incentive to those Germans, soldiers and civilians, who believe that steps must be taken to play the foundations for a future military force in West Germany.

Bruderschaft, the unofficial but active association of former German senior oficers, continues in what is known to the Allies as its "Inner Circle" or "Circle of Eighteen" to plan for the day when the German Federal Republic must defend itself against East Germany.

In part such plannings are those of zealots who have discounted the statement at Stuttgart, Feb. 6, by United States High Commissioner McCloy that there will be no German army or navy.

Bound to Fatherland

In part they are the business of active minds, now in enforced idleness, whose owners feel that they are still bound by their oath to defend the German Fatherland

Looking at the troops of the Allied powers occupying Western Germany, the members of Bruderschaft believe that their country should have some further guarantee against an attack from the East.

What worries them especially is that in the Soviet Zone the Russians are putting a new German army through exactly the sort of training that enabled a Reichswehr army of 100,000 to guide the enormous expansion of the German Army after Hitler came to power.

For instance about 10,000 enlisted men in the East Zone Army are being trained as officers. Another 15,000 are to qualify as non-commissioned officers.

Although technically policemen the 45,000 men in Bereitschaften or preparedness units of the East Army are, in fact, trained infantrymen. They are instructed in use of infantry weapons up to heavy mortars and it is believed that they attend the Soviet Army's instruction schools in anti-tank weapons, anti-aircraft guns and armored fighting vehicles.

At present it is intended, western sources say; to raise the total strength of Bereitschaften to 75,000 men, equivalent in numbers to five divisions, within the next year.

All this explains, if it does not excuse, the concern of a number of West German ex-officers over defence of their part of Germany. Of the membership of the Bruderschaft, however, only a few are able to do anything, and it is remarkable how many members of the rank and file still regard it only as a welfare organization.

Aims Are Reduced

Since some of its suggestions for formation of a German Army were first made public last month the "Inner Circle" of the organization has rather reduced its aims, perhaps as result of perturbation aroused by publication of those plans.

At any rate, according to a German source, its recognized aims now are two in number.

First, eventual formation of a German Army as part of the Western European defence force This army would serve under the Allied High Command, but choice of its personnel would be left to German officers who, it is claimed, understand the quality of the men available.

The second aim is a regaining of the German frontiers of 1937.

Members of Bruderschaft make it clear that this second aim is not an immediate objective, that it is their idea of a "just settlement" and that aside from it they have no long term "political" aims.

The goal of the organization, according to a German informant, is to be "soldiers not partisans."

On the whole, the political atmosphere of the group appears to be Junker not Nazi, although there are some former National Socialists connected with it. Its tone is far less rabid than that of some of the extreme right wing political groups now operating openly in West Germany.

One bigwig of the Nationalist Socialist era, whose membership in Bruderschaft has now been established to the satisfaction of the Allied authorities, is Karl Kaufmann, former Gauleiter of Hamburg, an educated and intelligent man with more political savvy than many of the other members.

Strictly Military Men

General Horst Niehoff, formerly a staff officer in the Gross Deutschland Division, is an example of a strictly military member. The Gross Deutschland Division was the elite division of the regular Germany Army organized to vie with the unnumbered divisions of Waffen SS.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

TOM THUMB GOLF — or miniature golf — was a fad that swept the country in 1929 and '30. Begun as a Chattanooga real estate man's private hobby, it caught on, mushroomed into big business and eventually came to be regarded as something of a social problem — because of the time it demanded of its addicts. Hazards on the pint-size course were limited only to the imagination of the builder. They ran the gamut of sticks, stones, bottles and hunks of tile to growing plants and even live animals — for example, this brown bear on a course in Los Angeles. In late 1930, there were 30,000 courses in operation, many of which survive today. In the history of American fads—mah jong, the yo-yo, goldfish swallowing, Canasta—miniature golf occupies a secure niche.

Discuss Floodlights For Riverside

Baseball fans and players will have to wait until March 21 for a decision to be made on night baseball in Peterborough this year. A committee, under the chairmanship of Gordon Armstrong, met with former baseball players Friday afternoon.

Clare Collins, Males Sports committee chairman, said Friday, that suggestion will be gladly accepted by the committee.

Eddie Murphy, pilot of the Peterborough Outboard Marines, attended a meeting of the Viaduct Major League which has tentatively lined up two Toronto teams, Oshawa, Peterborough and New Toronto teams for this year.

"Lights mean fast baseball," said Mr. Murphy. "As long as we are in the Toronto league we will have baseball comparable to the Inter-County leagues. The gates will make light worthwhile."

With lights making faster type of baseball some players of high calibre will have to be imported, explained Mr. Murphy. As in other sports such as hockey there is a residence rule requiring the players to be living in the city by April 30.

"We can't wait too long before players will have to be picked up," he said.

"Without lights it would look hopeless for baseball in the city Last year the team went $700 in the red."

Assume Supervision

Supervision of Riverside Park was formally received by the Recreation Commission Tuesday night. It is the intention of the City Council to have the parks committee maintain Riverside and the Recreation Commission assume complete supervision and management of it.

Ald. Herbert Young reported to the Council earlier this month that the baseball club feels Riverside Park the natural place for the game and that they would like to keep it there. Cost of lighting of the park was estimated at $30,000 by Dr. Young. If the city would assume half the cost, he said, the baseball club would make up the rest by subscription or a guaranteed loan.

Army 'Tasting Tests'

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—The Canadian Army is a firm believer in Napoleon's famous axiom that an "army marches on its stomach." To ensure that the army's ten-man Arctic ration pack is appetizing, 50 men picked at random from army headquarters' office staffs will begin a week-long series of "tasting tests" Monday. Their reactions to a wide range of packaged and tinned foods will help military researchers and scientists to decide whether the rations are satisfactory for field use.

Facts Reveal I.U.E. Majority

In the last few days the U.E. have intensified their campaign to discredit the I.U.E.-C.I.O. They have proclaimed in leaflets and on the air that:

Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, counsel for the I.U.E.-C.I.O., admitted at the hearing of the Ontario Labour Relations Board in Toronto on February 22, 1950, that the I.U.E.-C.I.O. never had a majority in the C.G.E.

This statement is a deliberate falsehood. It is a complete distortion of the figures submitted to the Labour Board. Here are the figures that reveal the U.E. falsehood:

ON DECEMBER 5TH		ON JANUARY 4TH
Bargaining Unit in G.E. (as filed by Company)	2,993	Bargaining Unit in G.E. (as filed by Company)	3,047
Signed and Paid I.U.E. Cards	1,533	Signed and Paid I.U.E. Cards	1,628

Since a majority of 2,993 is 1,497—therefore, even if the Board set aside the 21 disputed cards as being ineligible on December 5th, the I.U.E.-C.I.O. still have 1,512 undisputed cards as of that date.

The U.E. are cleverly juggling the December 5th and January 4th figures supplied by the Company regarding the bargaining unit. The U.E. are also claiming, in complete contradiction to the Ontario Labour Relations Act, that "51%" of the bargaining unit is necessary for a majority. This is another of the U.E. fabrications.

We rely upon the good sense of the citizens of Peterborough and the workers of C.G.E. to regard this new "line" of U.E. as being in the same category as the U.E.'s previous cries of "hundreds of forged signatures" on I.U.E.-C.I.O. cards. The hearings failed to indicate EVEN ONE questionable signature on an I.U.E.-C.I.O. card.

Labor Lead Cut To 7 In Late Count

Attlee Has Meeting With Senior Cabinet Members

LONDON, Feb. 27—(CP)—Labor's narrow over-all majority in the House of Commons today was clipped to seven with Conservative and Liberal wins recorded in three North Scotland constituencies whose results were delayed until today.

The last of the three constituencies to report was Inverness which returned Conservative Lord Malcolm Douglas-Hamilton with a majority of 4,820.

Labor's candidate Capt. D. N. Thompson polled 11,236 votes to the winner's 16,056, Liberal J. M. Bannerman was third with 8,003. A Liberal-National won the seat in 1945.

Retains Seat

In Argyll, Maj. Duncan McCallum retained his seat with a total of 19,259 votes. I. Nicholson, Labor, received 9,215 votes, and a Scottish Nationalist candidate, Mrs. Mary S. MacPhail Holt, received 490 votes. McCallum's majority in the 1945 election was 6,902 in a three-way fight.

J. Grimond, Liberal, gained the Orkney and Shetland seat from the Conservatives by 2,956 votes. Sir Basil Neven-Spence, Conservative candidate, won the seat in 1945 with a 329 majority in a three-way contest.

H. R. Leslie, Labor candidate in the Orkney and Shetland constituency, received 4,198 votes.

The final district to report will be Moss side in Manchester, where the death of a candidate made a by-election necessary March 9.

Men Plead Innocent To Contempt

See Poorer Families Searching Streets For Boards To Burn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 —(AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers today pleaded innocent to contempt charges resulting from the failure of 372,000 miners to return to work under court order.

The Union waived its right to argue its case before a jury, and decided to let Judge Richmond B. Keech rule on the evidence as well as the law.

The big question is whether the Union is responsible for the refusal of the coal miners to go back to work.

Keech issued an order Feb. 1 for a return to work, but the miners have ignored it.

The union's counsel have contended that the miners are acting individually—that the union itself has nothing to do with the present strike.

Efforts Futile

Once the union's plea was formally entered, the government began attempting to show that the union is responsible for keeping the mines idle to the point of a national coal famine.

The case came to trial after a weekend of frantic but futile efforts to get a settlement of the coal contract dispute that might have let the government drop the charges.

Federal negotiators forced a Sunday session. They kept it running into the early hours of this morning. But the union and the operators could not get together.

In the coal fields, meantime the 372,000 miners doggedly stuck to their refusal to work without a new contract despite the court's orders and the snow-balling hardship over the country from lack of coal.

The possibility of a multi-million dollar fine against the union prompted the Sunday negotiations.

May Stiffen Resistance

With the coal shortage already crippling much of the United States, some officials feared that a heavy court penalty against the union might serve merely to stiffen the miners' resistance—besides throwing a new obstacle in the path of the negotiators.

In addition to the 372,000 miners some 180,000 workers were left idle by the long strike, as coal-using industries ran out of fuel.

In many cities schools closed down. Some cities instituted brownouts to save coal; some put rationing into effect. A number of cities and states declared emergencies as chilly temperatures gripped large sections of the country.

In the coal fields, the president of the UMW's biggest local summed up miners' feelings this way:

City Terrorized As Leopard Still At Large

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27 — (AP) — A new and more desperate search was to begin today for the wild leopard that re-entered its zoo home Sunday night and then eluded a dramatic stalk by 30 hunters.

Giant floodlights illuminated the fenced-in area as the armed searchers patrolled the heavily-wooded 20 acres in automobiles for two hours. But the cagy cat, just a few weeks out of an Indian jungle, once more outmanoeuvred his would-be killers.

Now four dogs are to set their noses today to the trail of the savage beast that attendants say may "kill something any time."

The leopard hasn't eaten since Saturday, zoo director Julian Frazier warned, and his hunger will make him even more dangerous.

"Besides that, his nature leads him to kill just for pleasure," he added.

The only tangible clue to the animal's presence in the zoo were the hairs caught under the rough edge of the fence where he was reported seen by two guards just before 1 a.m.

Examining the hairs, Frazier nodded in affirmation:

"There's no doubt about it, these are leopard hairs, and our cat snaked in here today."

But as to the whereabouts of the 200 pounds of jungle fury, Frazier couldn't say. It escaped unseen from this same enclosure Saturday after springing 18 feet from it pit in the zoo.

Afternoon visitors scattered in panic before the animal's advance but he slinked into the heavy underbrush. Since then he has led hundreds of hunters through two days of weary tramping the countryside for 15 miles to the north and east.

He was spotted three times, but always from a distance, and immediately disappeared again.

Farm families in the zoo area have been warned to stay at home and keep their cattle penned up. Women and children should be accompanied by an armed escort if they must leave home. Police warned.

The leopard, captured in India less than 60 days ago, is described as particularly vicious.

Expect Train Services Will Be Continued In Canada Without Cuts

Gordon Says Supply Now Available Can Keep Trains Running At Present Level Despite US Tie-Up

MONTREAL, Feb. 27—(CP)—Donald Gordon, Canadian National Railways president, said today that the railway expects to be able to continue its train services at present levels pending a settlement of the labor dispute which is tying up United States coal mines. The C.N.R. introduced a 25-per-cent, system-wide cut in steam - operated passenger service last Jan. 9 because of the shortage of coal resulting from the tie-up in U.S. mines, the railways' major source of fuel.

The C.N.R. said in a press release that Mr. Gordon had been questioned regarding the railways' position in the face of the continuing U.S. tie-up.

Will Manage

Mr. Gordon said:

"The Canadian National expects to be able to continue its train services at the present levels pending a settlement of the labor difficulties at the mines in the United States. This expectation is based upon the fuel position of the railway as of today.

"The railway continues to spread its own available coal over the system as a whole so that no drastic coal shortage is allowed to develop in any one area; it has secured special supplies of suitable coal from Canadian mines and from certain large industrial users having stock piles. The curtailment in passenger train service has conserved coal on the railway by 50,000 tons up to this time."

Canadian Pacific Railway which said it had adequate coal supplies, has not cut its passenger service in Canada.

Three Failed Find Pulse In Dying Woman

MANCHESTER, NH, Feb. 27—(AP). — Nurse Elizabeth Rose testified today that three persons tried vainly to find a pulse beat in a dying cancer patient a few minutes before Dr. Herman N. Sander arrived at her bedside last December.

Dr. Sander is on trial for first-degree murder accused of ending the agony of Mrs. Abbie Borroto by injecting air into her veins last December 4.

In her second day on the witness stand, Miss Rose was carefully led through the events of that morning until 11 a.m. when she said "I was unable to get her pulse."

Find No Pulse

The nurse added that Mrs. Mabel Gerard, also aiding her in caring for Mrs. Borroto, took a turn in feeling for a pulse and said she could not find one.

"I went into the hall and I met Dr. (Albert) Snay. I asked him to come in and check the patient."

Q.—Did he?

A.—Yes. He said he could not get any (pulse).

Earlier, defence counsel told newspaper men Dr. Snay would testify that Mrs. Borroto was dead before given any air injections by Dr. Sander.

Miss Rose testified Dr. Snay left the room after using the stethoscope, telling her he "heard nothing."

Announce Treaty To Increase Niagara Power

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Completion of a new Canada-United States hydro power treaty, designed to increase power production on the Niagara River, today was announced in the Commons by External Affairs Minister Pearson

Mr. Pearson said the treaty, signed in Washington, will result in greater diversion of water power from the river for power-producing purposes. It supersedes temporary wartime power arrangements and the old Niagara power diversion treaty approved 41 years ago.

The treaty, if ratified by Congress, will:

1. Fix the minimum flow of water over the scenic Niagara Falls and allow Ontario and New York State to divide the rest of the water between them for power purposes.

2. Make more water available to the two countries for power purposes. There was no estimate as to how much more water would be available.

Preserve Beauty

3. Put into force arrangements for preserving the scenic beauty of the falls and rapids by the construction of an unbroken crest-line on the falls. This work is to start four years after the recommendations are approved by both countries

Mr. Pearson said the minimum Niagara flow for scenic purposes will fluctuate between 50,000 and 100,000 cubic feet per second.

The remainder of the water will be divided equally between the two countries for power purposes. Normally, Canada gets more water than the U.S., since one Ontario company produces power for export to the U.S. Mr. Pearson said once the new arrangements are completed, power export licences will not be renewed, unless "such a course is desirable."

Chemong House Burned While Family Out Driving

Tuning in the car radio while out for a drive with the family Sunday afternoon, Donald Dalton learned from the radio announcer that his home at Chemong Park was on fire. By the time he returned he found the frame house totally destroyed, with a few articles of furniture saved by nearby residents.

This is the second house to be destroyed by fire in Chemong Park in a little more than two months.

The fire has made Mr. and Mrs. Dalton and their four children, Betty, 12, Donald, 9, and Barry 5 and Douglas, nine months, homeless and possessing little more than the clothes they were wearing for the Sunday afternoon drive.

Call Neighbors

Mrs. Morris Hurtubise, who lives two cottages away from the Dalton's, was the first to see the fire. She looked out of her kitchen window and saw flames in the upstairs part of the Dalton's house.

Mr. Hurtubise called two neighbors, Gordon Townsend and Ed Clark and together the three men broke into the burning house. They rescued a washing machine, record player, radio, kitchen table and chairs from the house before the intense heat from above forced them out of the building.

Mr. Dalton took out additional insurance on the house and contents shortly after the fire in December which totally destroyed the Chappell home in the Park, does not know the cause of the fire. The stove had been well checked before the family left for the drive and only a month ago the stove pipes had been cleaned. He believes defective wiring may have been the cause.

Mr. Dalton is a C.G.E. employee. Shortly after the full extent of the loss was realized a relief fund was opened and the Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth is treasurer.

At present their is no fire fighting organization for Chemong Park and Bridgenorth area. A committee was organized several weeks ago to try and gain the support of taxpayers to form a fire area and purchase fire fighting equipment for the village of Bridgenorth, Chemong Park and surrounding area.

Factory Expert Burglar On Side

DETROIT, Feb. 27 —(AP)—A man who by day was a well-dressed factory personnel expert but who admitted, officers said that he was a burglar at night, was held by police today.

Detectives said Leslie Christopher Potter, 40, actually estimated that he looted 1,000 Detroit homes of $80,000 in valuables and $15,000 in cash over a seven-year period. Police will ask a burglary warrant.

Potter declared that burglary was his avocation, and he had operated in 22 states before becoming a $4,500-a-year personnel qualifer for the Hudson Motor Car Company.

Detectives quoted him as saying he spent money as he got it, "mostly on presents for some 500 friends.

Questioning brought out Potter's strange tale after stolen property was found in his apartment and in a bus terminal checkroom.

The detectives quoted Potter's statement in part:

"After leaving my job at the factory. I would have dinner. Then I followed my avocation between 8 and 10 p.m. . . . I always chose single, middle-class homes where there would be no servants."

Will Hold Inquest

LINDSAY, Feb. 27 (CP)—An inquest will be held into the death of Thomas Bagshaw, a lumberjack who died Sunday. His chest was crushed Thursday in a logging camp accident 80 miles north of here.

Says Hydrogen Bomb Could Kill All Humans

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—(AP)—The hydrogen bomb could be rigged to create a dust cloud of death killing all humans in the world, Dr. Leo Szilard, one of the top atomic scientists in the United States, said yesterday.

It could be turned into a world suicide bomb. There would be no escape for anyone, Szilard said.

Szilard, biophysicist of the University of Chicago concurred with three other authorities about this possibility. They agreed:

The cloud would be radioactive dust. It would be carried everywhere by the winds and would poison the air. It would settle to earth, contaminating everything that human plant and everything that human use in living.

To Conduct Case

LONDON, Feb. 27—(Reuters)—Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross will personally conduct the Crown's case against scientist Klaus Fuchs, accused of betraying atom secrets to Russia, Sir Hartley's office said today. The trial will probably begin Wednesday morning.

Planes Bomb U.S. Freighter

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (Reuters) — A U.S. freighter Pioneer Dale was bombed and strafed today by a number of unidentified aircraft of Tsingtao, China, the ship radioed her agents here. No details were available immediately

Tsingtao is 300 miles north of Shanghai.

The vessel, bound from Manilla to Hong Kong, was due at Kobe March 3. There were no further reports from the ship, but the agents here believe that Chinese Nationalist bombers made the attack.

A Japanese radio station at Nagasaki picked up a message from the freighter reporting one member of the crew had been slightly injured and the vessel was making her way for the open sea.

Train Strikes Car Carrying Skiers

Five Peterborough residents, on a skiing excursion to Bethany, narrowly missed serious injury shortly before noon Saturday when their car was struck by a train at the Kendry crossing on Highway 28.

Occupants were Miss Norma Whittaker, Cricket Place, driver; Miss Phyllis Marshall, Reid St.; D. Allen, 184 Elm St.; R. B. Walker, King St., and Miss P. Alcock, Latimer St.

Miss Whittaker told Provincial Police she saw the wigwag at the crossing but when she applied the brakes they did not hold on the slippery highway. The front of the car edged over the tracks into the path of the eastbound CPR express.

The express struck the front of the car and knocked it sideways into the ditch. Damage is set at nearly $1,000.

Federal Board Hears Rail Union Brief

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP). — A union brief, placed before a Federal Conciliation Board hearing a wages-and-hours dispute between the railways and their employees, said today the record of the 40-hour week in its application to United States railways completely refutes cost estimates submitted by Canadian railways in earlier hearings.

The brief was submitted on behalf of the 15 international brotherhoods who are demanding the 40-hour week in place of the present 48-hour week plus a general 7-cents-an-hour wage increase

The railways, in earlier hearings had opposed the union demands. They contended the demands could not be met without increasing freight rates, that the economic conditions in Canada could not be compared with those of the US, and that rail wages and working conditions compare favorably with those in the US.

Sixth Grade Pupil Kills Fox With Hands

Bogs Down In Red Tape After Slick Job Of Getting Catch

MORRISTOWN, N.J., Feb. 27—The boy who ran down a fox Friday night was bogged down in forms which he must make out to collect a $3 bounty.

Theodore Lovenberg, a sixth grade pupil, is the unhappy victim of red tape. And it all began after a hunt by the Essex Hunt Club had ended in frustration, fatigue and disguest of horses, riders and hounds.

But not for the fox. My no. The fox got away and would be wearing his brush and ears intact had he not tangled with young Master Lovenberg

Young Lovenberg, it seems, has a quick eye for a dollar. He had heard that New Jersey paid a bounty for dead foxes. Friday he was out sleighing with his sister Elsie and their black cocker, Boots, when Boots began to bark.

Both children turned to look. "It's a starving, stray dog," said Theodore.

Chase On

"It's fox," said Elsie. And with that the chase was on, the fox running first, Boots running second, and Theodore showing a fast third. When the fox went to ground in a hole, Boots went after him. When the fox emerged Theodore was waiting. He put his entire 85 pounds into the barehanded struggle and when he got through the fox was dead.

He went to police headquarters with the dead animal but police knew nothing about bounties. He went to the sheriff and the sheriff directed him to one of the Fish and Game Commission wardens.

"All we want are the tips of the ears," Theodore was told there.

The carcass remained overnight in the Lovenberg backyard. Next morning Theodore snipped off the ears and started for the game wardens. The game warden told him that he had snipped plenty of ear but he had to fill in the forms—three of them.

So now Theodore is back home studying over the forms. He hopes to have them all filled out and the $3 in his pocket by today. But there remains the question of the fox's carcass. Some members of the family want Theodore to dispose of it.

But Theodore won't permit that. It seems there's a rumor around that furriers will pay $3 or $4 for the pelt if it isn't spoiled. So Theodore is looking into that, too.

BRONSON, N.B., Feb. 27 (CP) —A mother and two young sons were burned to death in this central New Brunswick village early today and three other members of the family suffered burns.

Poirier was not badly burned but suffered frost bite after running half a mile barefoot to obtain help.

Tourists Paying Shot

Nibbling Off Dollars Big Business In Europe

ALGIERS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Tourism, the business of collecting dollars from tourists who have them, has become the biggest single business of non-Communist Europe.

Theodore J. Pozzy, chief of the Marshall plan's travel section, said here recently that "few of the officials and legislators who hammered out the Marshall plan law in 1948 . . . foresaw the magnitude which American travel would reach."

For example, Pozzy told a recent Marshall plan conference in Algiers, "American travel has far outstripped textiles as the British nation's biggest dollar earner."

In France, he said, dollars spent by United States tourists equal 60 per cent of the dollar revenue derived from all other exports combined. It is hoped here that a lot of Americans will revisit the French North Africa they saw as soldiers eight years ago.

Pozzy said the goal of the travel section of the Economic Co-operation Administration—the Marshall plan's legal name—is $500,000,000 for 1952, not including the cost of transatlantic transportation.

This amount is the total which ECA hopes countries participating in the Marshall plan will reap as tourist revenue in the final year of the program.

The Marshall plan has funds available for "worthwhile projects for the expansion of hotel facilities" to accommodate tourists.

Pozzy listed lack of proper hotels, delays at frontiers and difficulties on interchanging currencies as three main stumbling blocks to travel which the Marshall plan countries were now working to remove.

Woman Wounds Husband At Cards

SUDBURY, Feb. 27 (CP) — Mrs. Addie McGaughey, 29, of Little Current, is awaiting trial on a charge of wounding her husband, John, 36, in what police say was a card-game stabbing.

She was charged Saturday, taken before Magistrate W. J Golden at Little Current and remanded eight days. Later she was brought to jail here.

Police said the husband suffered a wound in the abdomen Friday night. Both the woman and the husband said the injury was caused by a fall on a sharp stick while cutting wood.

But, after investigating, police charged the woman with stabbing her husband with a kitchen butcher knife during a card game argument.

Germany Lifts Steel Embargo To Russ Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 27—(AP)—West Germany lifted an Allied-sponsored embargo on steel exports to the Russian zone Sunday and advocated more trade with the East.

East German sources showed unconcealed elation and announced they will seek new talks on trade expansion this week.

The steel ban, which went into effect Feb. 8, was eliminated after two weeks of bargaining behind closed doors in East Berlin.

Negotiators of the two rival German republics, one supported by Russia and the other by the western powers, issued a joint communique which avoided using the word republic at all.

Detour Issue

Instead, they detoured a bitter diplomatic issue by referring only to the east mark and west mark currency areas.

Both areas agreed that their trade pact, which has four more months to run, should be considerably expanded.

Both agreed they would not clamp on any embargo in the future without first talking it over together.

The Russian-zone Germans assented to the West's demands that eastern buying be spread over more western industries than steel alone, and that steel orders be in a constant volume instead of crowded into a short period.

The easterners also pledged themselves to make up their deficit in deliveries of their own products, to the West.

UK Rail, Shipbuilding Wages Under Review

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters)—Employers and unions will this week take decisions on wage pay claims affecting about 3,000,000 British workers, in the railroad, engineering and shipbuilding industries.

On these decisions the future of the government's wage-restraint policy may depend.

Today the railway executive, which controls the nationalized railways, will inform the national union of railwaymen of its decision on the demands for a £3 ($15.50) a week minimum for about 200,000 workers in the lower-paid grades.

Employees in the nationalized docks, canal, railway-catering and railway workshop services have already had similar wage claims rejected.

To Investigate News Dispatches

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27 (AP)—A congressional investigating committee ordered examination today of all incoming news dispatches "unfriendly to the economic policy" of the government which appear in Argentine newspapers.

The committee, investigating methods used by those who opposed the election of Juan D. Peron as president in 1946, said such dispatches have already been published in the large independent newspapers La Nacion and La Prensa.

The two newspapers have been at odds with the Peron regime for a long time.

The committee did not say it would censor incoming dispatches but directed its auditors to furnish a "synthesis" of allegedly unfriendly stories which have appeared in a Le Prensa and La Nacion.

The committee also ordered its auditors to report on how much foreign exchange is spent by the two newspapers for services of foreign news agencies.

In the last three months the committee has examined the account books of about half of Argentina's 350 daily newspapers and closed 60 of them.

UAW Leaders Urge Board Report Rejected

WINDSOR, Feb. 27 —(CP)—Leaders of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) have recommended that a Conciliation Board's report on pensions negotiations be rejected.

They have called a general meeting of the Local's 11,000 members for next Sunday to discuss rejection of the board's findings in the negotiations with the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

They also asked endorsation of the union's criticism of the report's findings and of what union leaders termed the "lack of impartiality" of the two members of the three-man board who supported the majority view.

The majority decision supported Ford's offer of $55-a-month pensions at retirement age of 65. The union asked $100 a month, the same amount it is asking from Chrysler Corporation of Canada.

Russia Creates Navy Ministry

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Russia has created a Navy Ministry free from control by the Ministry of the Armed Forces to emphasize the Soviet Union's increasing importance as a sea power.

The presidium of the Supreme Soviet issued a decree Saturday establishing the new ministry, and appointed Admiral Ivan Stepanovich Yumashev to head it. Yumashev was formerly deputy minister of the armed forces and commander-in-chief of the Soviet fleet.

Experts here believe that the navy was rewarded for successful completion of the tasks assigned it under the 1946-1950 five-year plan by creation of its own ministry.

One of the tasks assigned in 1946 was the creation of a new sea route by 1950 through the Arctic Ocean north of Siberia from European Russia to the Pacific. Others were a great addition to the merchant marine and the building of new ports.

Informed foreign observers here believe Russia has made great strides in its drive to match its land strength with sea power.

The Russians themselves consider the Soviet Union a great naval power.

Fire In Garage Causes Heavy Damage To Car

Heavy damage was caused by a fire that broke out in a garage early Saturday evening at 585 Bolivar St. Before firemen could extinguish the flames the upholstery of a 15-year-old car was considerably damaged and the shed itself was an estimated $500 loss.

A 60-watt light bulb was the indirect cause of the blaze.

Bernard Pammett decided to warm up his car battery by laying the bulb on the battery and covering the whole with a blanket. The idea was successful—only too much so.

Heat from the bulb started the blanket smouldering and it then burst into flame. From there the fire spread to the upholstery of the car and eventually to the garage itself.

The child's condition is reported unchanged since she was brought here by ambulance late last week.

Bunyon Legend Threshed Out By Woodsmen

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Feb. 27 — (CP). — Another legendary figure is going to get a good going over. Historians, residents of International Falls, Minn., and old-time woodsmen will be in on it.

Paul Bunyan, who, if legend is believed, axed down large trees with one stroke and performed other Herculean deeds, is going to be discussed seriously by a group of old-timers presided over by Len Costley of International Falls. And it's fairly certain other residents will add their comment.

Costley was asked for advice on the origin of the Bunyan legend by Rodney C. Loehr, director of the Forest Products History Foundation, St. Paul, Minn.

He was selected for the job because of his reputation locally as being "the only living Paul Bunyan." Costley is well known from Winnipeg to Sudbury, having portrayed his famous Bunyan role in various towns and cities.

Over Six Feet

Like the original Bunyan, Costley is well over six feet tall.

He says he has his own ideas on the matter but wants the opinions of other old-timers as well. Therefore, he had arranged a meeting of all old-timers in this International border area.

Among those he invited is Robert Mitchell, veteran woods and sawmill man, who started working in Eastern Ontario during the early 1890s. He is a retired paper-mill employee.

In a letter to Costley, Loehr wrote: "Our evidence is conflicting. Some have told us about hearing stories in the 1880s and 1890s."

If the legend is proven, then historians will be able to add another completed chapter to their books.

But there is also a possibility the legend of Paul Bunyan will be cut down as fast as he was reputed to have chopped down a tree.

Ratepayers Object To Slaughterhouse

COBOURG, Feb. 27 (ENS) — Judgment was reserved by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in connection with a charge laid under the Public Health Act against Nick Peconi of Bailieboro. Peconi was charged with operating a slaughterhouse for the slaughter of horses, without the consent of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. The slaughtering of the horses took place on Peconi's farm in South Monaghan township.

Allan Field of Cobourg appeared on behalf of the prosecution and A. L. Elliott, KC, of Peterborough for the defendant. Peconi is a former resident of Smith township, in Peterborough county.

Visited the Farm

Dr. D. Damude, food and dairy inspector for the Health unit, testified that he visited the Peconi farm on November 9 in 1949, accompanied by Mr. Finlayson, chief sanitary inspector of the health unit. It was apparent that slaughtering of horses had been going on and the premises were not properly equipped for this work. Twenty horses were in the coral. On November 14 a notice was sent by Dr. MacCharles, senior medical officer of health, notifying Peconi that he was to desist from the slaughtering business. Reason for the order was that the township council of South Monaghan would not grant permission, he said.

On November 29, continued Dr. Damude, he visited Peconi's farm again and found that slaughtering of horses was still going on. Peconi told him that the meat was for mink farms. He told Dr. Damude that he was doubtful as to what action he should take and so it was arranged that he meet with Dr. MacCharles in Cobourg. On December 9 he went to Peconi's farm again and slaughtering was still in progress. Peconi, when asked what he intended to do about it, said that he would continue to operate the slaughterhouse until stopped.

Counsel for the defendant asked Dr. Damude how it was that a Mr. Beebe on a neighboring farm was allowed to slaughter without a license. Witness replied that it was his understanding that not only was Mr. Beebe killing on a small scale but it was for his own use on his mink farm.

"Have you not heard that entrails and bones are left by Mr. Beebe in an open field for animals and flies to devour," asked Mr. Elliott.

Dr. Damude replied that he had heard no complaints concerning Mr. Beebe. It was his understanding that the horses were killed for meat for his minks.

John Finlayson, chief sanitary inspector, said that he had visited the Peconi farm on September 30, 1949 with Reeve Harry Campbell of South Monaghan. The council had been informed that Peconi was making a slaughterhouse and he was requested to go there and see what was going on. On November 9 he visited the place with Dr. Damude. On Nov. 29, he went there again and it was evident that slaughtering had been going on. A further visit was made on December 9. The township council or the health unit can grant a permit for a slaughterhouse but in either case it is the job of the health unit to see that the premises are inspected.

Watch Sanitary Conditions

To defence counsel, Mr. Finlayson said that the main function of the health unit was to see that proper sanitary conditions were maintained. He said that he had visited Mr. Beebe's farm on November 29, 1949, and was informed by Mr. Beebe that he was killing for his own use on his mink farm. There was no inspection made.

"You told Mr. Peconi that he would have to build a six foot wall, a cement floor and have a septic tank. Did you tell Mr. Beebe to put in a septic tank?" asked Mr. Elliott.

Mr. Finlayson replied that no inspection was made of Mr. Beebe's premises and he had not told him of any requirements that would have to be carried out. Mr. Beebe had told him that he was not slaughtering for the purpose of selling meat outside.

To the magistrate, witness said that the township council had brought the Peconi matter to the attention of the health unit. If the township council granted a license, the job of the health unit was to see that the slaughterhouse was operated in a manner which would conform with the health unit regulations in that respect. If the township council refused to grant a permit, the health unit does nothing.

Ratepayers Object

Reeve Harry Campbell told of going with Mr. Finlayson to the Peconi farm in Sept. after Dr. MacCharles had informed the council that the sanitary inspector would be going to the farm. On Oct. 3, following a discussion by the township council, the secretary sent a letter to Mr. Peconi advising him that a permit would not be granted him to operate a slaughterhouse. Dr. MacCharles had written about the slaughterhouse and there was also a request from the ratepayers against the slaughterhouse. The township council told Peconi in their letter that they were not in favour of him operating a slaughterhouse and that a permit would not be granted. Peconi kept on slaughtering horses and there was a petition against it, Reeve Campbell said.

In reply to a question from defence counsel, Reeve Campbell said that there had never been a complaint about Beebe.

"Do you believe in the right of any person to make a living?" asked Mr. Elliott.

"We do, but only so long as what they do does not constitute a nuisance. I believe that there were complains about Peconi where he was before," replied Reeve Campbell.

"I can bring a sanitary inspector from Smith Township, where Mr. Peconi had a slaughter house before he was burned out, who can testify that he operated his business properly," Mr. Elliott declared.

"I told Mr. Peconi when he moved into South Monaghan Township that we didn't object to him as a citizen. He was welcome to farm among us but we said to him that we didn't like his trade nor did 95 per cent of the ratepayers of this township," said Reeve Campbell.

"In other words you condemn him before you see how he was going to carry out his work," observed Magistrate Baxter.

"You can't operate one of those things without creating an obnoxious smell, no matter how careful you are. There are places already established to do this work and that is the place where we would rather see the horses go than be slaughtered in our township. I never heard any complaints about Beebe and I understand that a man can kill for feeding his own fur bearing animals," said Reeve Campbell.

"Then no matter what steps Mr. Peconi takes to minimize any smell, they still don't want it because they feel it is a detriment to the municipality, whether he complies with every regulation or not, you don't want it. Is that the situation" asked the magistrate.

Reeve Campbell replied that such was the case.

Peconi and two employees, Pat Calnan and Jack Adams, testified that that Mr. Finlayson had come in August and had outlined certain constructions that would have to be made to comply with the regulations. Peconi had operated a slaughterhouse in Smith Township for five years but the place had burned down so he moved to South Monaghan. The work which Mr. Finlayson specified in August was done by the time of his September visit. Later the township council turned them down and they were ordered to cease operations by the health unit.

Chimerical Federal Building

It really seems this time that Peterborough is to have it—the federal building proposed and promised in 1914, and re-promised a dozen times in the subsequent thirty-five years. Last week both the Minister of Public Works and the Deputy Minister definitely asserted that the building will be erected during the next fiscal year. Plans are already on paper and will receive final revision during the next several weeks. The building is in no way a political sop; in fact, Peterborough's M.P. sits opposite the Government. It is a necessity, and has been for a long while. The present Victorian Post Office, and its old-maid sister the Customs House, equally raddled and down-at-the-heel, were built when the population was about 15,000. They were not designed to serve an urban centre of 36,000 and a present total of 50,000 in and beyond the city limits.

* * *

We shall not now question the appropriateness of the site, the second one bought by the Government (in 1938) for the purpose. When the city has at long last a firm assurance that the building will go up, we would not risk suggestions which might give the Government any excuse for postponement. The building will be erected on the large lot at the corner of Charlotte and Louis streets. Certainly that section needs a face-lifting. Some shambles of little old buildings now on the lot will be razed. There are other structures on Charlotte and Louis street which are now blots to the city's central section: perhaps something will be done to improve them.

* * *

Is there any hope that the new Federal Building will be so designed as to allow for a garden lot at the east side, fronting the Jackson Park creek? Some time, in some generation, the creek may be redeemed from commerce that now obliterates it, and a public garden path put along it on the west side—a 'breathing space' in the heart of the city. To have this and lawns and flower-beds of the new Federal Building conjoined would make an attractive and valuable pleasance.

* * *

It is to be hoped that the Federal architects will not design blindly without taking into account the character of Peterborough and the special features of the site.

The Celts And Their Languages

Eamon de Valera is increasing his efforts to preserve the ancient language of Ireland. We feel some sympathy with his enthusiasm, for so far as we are able to judge it is a fine and expressive language, and there are some fine things to be read in it. Mr. deValera says that the great enemies of the language are the newspapers, the movies and the radio, and he would like to have what he calls "a shell of protection" put around the districts where Erse is still spoken. He has appealed to the Welsh people for some advice as to how Erse may be preserved. He has gone to the right quarter, for of all the Celtic peoples, more Welshmen speak their own language than is the case with Irishmen or Scots.

It must be noted, however, that all but a few thousand Welshmen also speak English. Their newspapers contain many columns in Welsh, but are written principally in English. Their university colleges have lectures about equally in Welsh and English, and it is thought odd by some people that the lectures in science and mathematics are often in Welsh. This is because the Welsh have carefully enlarged their vocabulary so that it contains all the necessary terms for such lectures. Welsh is by no means an archaic language. Perhaps the Irish people may follow their example in this respect. And it must be stressed that the writing of prose and poetry in Welsh is still of interest to hundreds of native writers, who find a sufficiently large and appreciative public to make it worth while.

The English conquerors, who tried so hard to stamp out Erse and Welsh, succeeded better in Ireland than in Wales. The revival of a language is a difficult task, and we are not sure that even modern Irish enthusiasm can do it, unless the language itself undergoes many changes which will make it an effective instrument of modern communication. But we feel that it would be most unwise of the Irish to attempt to make Erse the dominant language of the country at this late date.

Our old friend The Brandford Expositor, in discussing this question, falls into a common Saxon error in assuming that the Celtic tongues of Scotland, Ireland and Wales are pretty well interchangeable. They are not. A Welshman can perhaps read a simple piece of Erse, but he cannot speak the language, nor can an Irishman speak Welsh. Neither could make much headway in a Gaelic-speaking community. Welshmen, oddly enough, can make themselves fairly well understood in Britanny.

The great advantage of Welsh is that it is a phonetic language, and anyone who can recite the Welsh alphabet (which contains no x or z, and has the additional digraphs dd and ll) can pronounce the language correctly. A phonetic approach to Erse might lessen the difficulties of those who seek to acquire that ancient tongue.

Marshall Plan Faces Uncertain Future

The nations receiving assistance under the Marshall Plan are resigned to months of uncertainty. Although Congressional hearings on next year's Marshall Plan aid began at Washington three days ago, they began in an atmosphere of unreality. That unreality lies in the fact that virtually none of the issues upon which the future of United States' financial aid to Europe will eventually depend have as yet been resolved. Furthermore, there seems little likelihood that they will be resolved until the British Government has been organized, and the Administration at Washington decides upon its future course and diplomatic objective in Western Europe.

Authoratitive reports from Washington declare that the U.S., although it is not officially admitted, has abandoned "dollar deficits" of Marshall Plan nations as the basis for the next year's dollar assistance. There has been disagreement in Washington from the earliest days of the Marshall Plan about the wisdom of using that measure. Those who oppose it say that there will always be dollar deficits as long as the United States provides dollars.

The immediate objectives of Marshall Plan officials are easily perceived. Every persuasive effort possible is being made by the executive side of the government to forestall a bigger cut by Congress than the billion dollars plus that is recommended. Slogans used are: "The standard of living must be raised to continue the fight against Communism"; "We must carry out our commitments"; "Western Europe must be cushioned while it goes through the procedure of integration". The Washington reports, however, emphasize that no matter what phrases or arguments are used, the fact remains that Administration spokesmen cannot yet present the real case, because they do not themselves know what it is.

It seems increasingly evident that the Administration will ask Congress for great flexibility in the use of Marshall plan funds. It will admit, it is thought, that there are many "imponderables" in the European situation, but will plead that American diplomacy will be severely handicapped if the funds are subject to rigid restraint. There is said to be a firm conviction that it would be better to accept substantial cuts in order to acquire this needed flexibility.

Secret Skeleton Closets?

The United States is building a new consulate in Toronto. Now, it happens that Toronto like most other places, requires a building permit. Before the permit is granted, city engineers (in Toronto, the Building Commission) scan the plans to register their approval. The U.S. authorities do not want their building plans screened by mere Torontonians. They asked the Board of Control to waive the usual right of having access to the plans, and the Board agreed. The Building Commissioner has protested this action, and also a statement made that "there is always the possibility" of disloyal employees in the civil service. This is all very interesting. Is the new consulate to have secret chambers, H-bomb racks? And to whom would Toronto civil service employees possibly be disloyal—to the U.S.A.?

It goes without saying that should Russia decide to build a consulate in Toronto, the Board of Control of that city would equally courteously waive the right to examine the plans.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

WHAT are the requisites of a conductor? This was the question put to me the other day. The conductor is a dictator in a democratic world. He must have absolute authority, absolute confidence. The final responsibility rests always with him. In the first place he must know what he can get from the composer's instruments. This entails a thorough musical education. He must have a fine ear to detect inaccuracies. This is particularly important as many inaccuracies can make tolerably good harmony, and are thus only to be detected after thorough knowledge of the score. He must have at least a working knowledge of the technique of the instruments or voices to decide points of breathing, bowing, and so on. He must also of course have a profound knowledge of the style of a large variety of composers and their periods. Finally the work itself should be made the subject of intensive study: the essential must be sifted from the incidental, tempi must be decided, problems of balance, light and shade must be thought out in order to waste the least possible time at rehearsals.

In the second place our perfect conductor must know how to obtain the results that he desires. As T. S. Eliot, in one of his more hierophantic moods writes "Between the idea and the reality falls the shadow". Many a musician has all the attributes mentioned above but comparatively few have the knack of translating their ideas into action. There are on the other hand shoals of good showmen who are sadly lacking in musicianship. The rehearsal is the acid test of a conductor. In fact I would go so far as to say that the performance is of secondary importance: if rehearsals have been good the performance is bound to be good. What the public sees of a conductor at a performance is like the visible part of an iceberg, only a fraction of the whole.

It is a pity that so many concerts are under-rehearsed: this is particularly true of English-speaking countries and has been remarked upon from Berlioz down to the present day. It is therefore essential to make the best possible use of the limited time afforded. Difficult passages should be taken in detail, but too much stopping is discouraging and should be avoided as far as possible. It is better for the conductor to make a mental note of several points as they occur and then go back rather than to stop each time. He should avoid too much talking.

At the performance the conductor must insist on perfect tuning of instruments. Henry Wood made each instrument parade in front of him with a tuning fork before each concert. The wind players with their instruments warmed up. He must give a perfectly clear beat, and in the case of amateurs he must see that it is strictly followed. Professionals should not need to be reminded of this! The start is often an anxious moment, especially where it is on a fraction of a beat, as for example the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth, but all nervousness can be eliminated if the problem is isolated and the proper procedure followed by the conductor. This is of utmost importance; nothing is so dispiriting as a ragged start. The conductor's left hand must not follow his right, but must be reserved for giving leads, indications of phrasing and so on.

The conductor must have personality, but he must be prepared to sink his personality in the music. He must be absolutely faithful to the intentions of the composer. The work must never be allowed to degenerate into a pretext for the display of stick acobratics. This is where Toscanini shows his greatness as a conductor.

MOZART is one of the most difficult composers to play satisfactorily: he demands not only a technique of crystalline perfection but also an alert intellect, a feeling for beauty of phrasing and last, but not least, mature and disciplined emotion. This does not imply a dry and pedantic approach to his music. The average Tschaikovsky addict finds Mozart disconcertingly "cold", but he is full of feeling—the difference being that he does not wear his heart on his sleeve.

The late romantic composers often say more than they mean, as they pass from one frenzied climax to another—Mozart implies more than he says. It is interesting to note that Tschaikovsky himself worshipped Mozart; he probably felt that Mozart had what he lacked in his own character, balance, poise, understatement.

It is customary to "feed" Mozart to the young in the syllabuses of colleges of music and competitions, passing on through Beethoven to Chopin and Liszt. This has the advantage of gradually leading the student to new technical problems, besides the more disputable value of being the "historical" approach. On the other hand the emotional side of Chopin and Liszt are more in tune with the adolescent mind than Beethoven and Mozart, who are appreciated better when one has "grown up" emotionally.

I ONCE had the privilege of being allowed to play on a piano that had once belonged to Mozart. It was one of those old "square pianos" that are often mistakenly called "spinets". It is a tiny thing compared with the modern concert grand, the tone was very small. The action is very shallow and very sensitive. Unfortunately it was out of tune when I played on it, but it was not sufficiently so to spoil my pleasure entirely. Octave glissandi, which are almost unplayable on modern pianos owing to the heavier and deeper action, were quite easy, and rapid passage work was a delight to the fingers.

Those thick gruff chords in the bass that one meets so often in Mozart and Beethoven did not sound half so thick and gruff as they do in the modern piano, and it occurred to me that there is a case nowadays for a judicious alteration of certain passages in the works of these masters. I would like to see a revival of the square piano for works of this period: the harpsichord, clavichord, the viols, recorders and so on have been resuscitated for the earlier music, so why not the square piano and the natural horns for the music of the Viennese classical period, the golden age of music?

HONEYMOON COTTAGE

Letters To The Editor

HERO

Sir: We have had through the elections, the type of thinking the British people are doing—and Britain's he-man, Winston Churchill, came very close to his asperations—and should another election take place, he will make it—and once again become Prime Minister of England.

There are times in human history, when a single man has been so born and shaped, by providence, that he even overlaps the soil that gave him birth. Such a man is Winston Churchill—who until recently was happily painting at his easel—at the edge of the beautiful Atlantic, in Miami Beach. I have never met him, but like millions of this earth, I have felt his breath and the tingle of his magic words, that at one time shook the earth.

There he stood, the bulldog of England, armed with words, forged from his soul—that were heard around the world — every flash of word, was a flash of England. All civilization trembled, as calmly he said: We shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be. We shall fight on the beaches, in the field, in the streets. We shall NEVER surrender. Churchill was one that never trembled.

Here was no mere man. Here was England, dynamic and in full eruption. Free blood Cromwellian, with a dash of pure American, flowed through those welling veins of his. Winston Churchill, a lovable man of peace, a peerless writer of history, a soldier, a statesman, and an artist. With England standing alone — here was a man who uttered words with more drive, and determination to them, than a full sky of enemy planes, and acres of advancing armies. Like Gibraltar, he stood with freedom at his back, and hordes of fiendish aggressors before his very eyes, with not a trace of fear in either of those eyes.

But today, he smiles back at well-wishers, with that famous cigar firmly planted between his lips, for him, the turmoil is over—or at least, we hope so—but should his services be needed again, he stands ready to guide the ship, into the harbor of peace.

Winston Churchill has fought the good fight and won. Now a grateful world looks on, leaving him to his fun, and well earned rest—safely within the eternal arms of history. No wonder he is called Britain's he-man. There will never be another Winston Churchill.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD GILBERT.

TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM IN PETERBOROUGH

Sir: I am a patient in the Weston Sanitarium and have been for quite some time. I was born and raised in Peterborough and to me it is just the best city. I miss it very much and, am very lonesome when I have to spend so much time so far away.

I think if it was looked up you would find a great many of your Peterborough people in T.B. sanitariums throughout Ontario. In fact I am sure you would find more T.B. patients than mental cases. Therefore why turn the old Civic Hospital into a mental hospital when a rest home for tuberculosis is needed more?

Contentment is part of the cure for T.B. How do you expect your people to be contented so far away, with hardly any visitors, and not seeing their loved one for great periods at a time?

I think the old Civic Hospital would be a perfect place for a san. It is on a hill and not too close to the main sections of the city.

Since surgical equipment costs so much, the hospital could be used for rest only. Patients requiring surgical treatments could go to another centre for the operation, after which they could resume their rest at Peterborough. A good example for this would be Brantford.

I am sure many Peterborough citizens will think the same way I do about this. I am all for the old Civic Hospital being turned into a tuberculosis rest home.

When writing this I am not only thinking of myself, but of the many others who in years to come may have the same misfortune. Also of the many who have walked out of sans, before they are quite cured. Some have done this because they were unhappy so far away from home.

I hope that the people of Peterborough will take notice and stop to consider this article.

Thanking you,
A LONESOME PATIENT.

CARNIVAL SITE

Sir: I see in Feb. 21 of our local paper where we are having a carnival come to our city and that our so-called City Council will not allow them to use the parks but are dumping them off on George St. between Rink and Townsend. They have the Exhibition Grounds for these things and why don't they use it? Or does one of our suppose-to-be's live near there, or is it because they would have to clean up afterwards.

We were looking forward to having the Community Centre down there. But I understand that they are thinking about putting it out in the country, for it would be doing the residents and the people of this city a good deed to have it on George St. between Townsend and Rink, instead of that sore-eyed dump that they have there now. It must give our tourist friends coming in by boat from all over a great feeling towards our city and the Trent Canal system to see such a dump as this is. For if not the Community Centre why not a nice park, as it would be an ideal spot for one?

And if the public don't believe me and others about this part, all they have to do is drive down Rink St. between George and Aylmer and you will see everything. So if there is any way that we can have this dump cleaned up please let us know, so we can at least breathe next summer without too much filth in the air.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined. (Isa. 9: 2.)

Behold my servant, whom I uphold; mine elect, in whom my soul delighteth; I have put my spirit upon him: he shall bring forth judgement to the Gentiles. He shall not cry, nor lift up, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street. A bruised reed shall, he not break, and the smoking flax shall he not quench: he shall bring forth judgement unto truth. (Isa. 42: 1-3.)

CRU Permits 7 Imports In League Games

TORONTO, Fb. 27 — (CP) — When play starts in the Dominion Football final next December, more than half the players on the field may be United States imports.

At its annual meeting Saturday, the Canadian Rugby Union settled the long-simmering import question by voting to permit each club to play seven Americans in league games and Dominion playoffs.

The ruling set a uniform policy for all Canadian football leagues. Last season, the CRU set a limit of five imports, but permitted the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union seven in its league games. When Montreal Alouettes won the Big Four title, they were forced to drop two Americans—Chuck Anderson and Bronco Reese—for the playoffs.

A last-minute change of policy by delegates from the Western Interprovincial Football Union paved the way for the seven-import rule. Arthur Chipman, WIFU president, said his league abandoned its opposition when the Big Four announced that it planned to use imports in league games, whatever the outcome of the CRU vote.

Rule Carries

Bolstered by the votes of the two Western delegates, the rule carried by a bare 4-to-3 margin.

The CRU also voted to give clubs a little latitude in picking their imports It ruled that two of the seven could be replaced at any time before a club played its third league game.

Another decision paved the way for a major constitutional change as delegates moved to help clubs hang on their signed players. They decided to conduct a mail or telegraph vote by March 31 on a recommendation by the Ontario Rugby Football Union that action be taken to prevent inter-league player raids.

The ORFU, which lost players last season to both the Big Four and the Western Interprovincial Union, argued that football should establish safeguards similar to those in effect in organized baseball and hockey to prevent players from signing with a club from another league unless their club signed release papers.

The CRU voted to keep the Grey Cup final at Toronto's Varsity Stadium, capacity of which will be increased from 19,500 to 27,500. In view of the increased capacity, prices for the 1950 final were set at $3 for side seats and $2 for end seats. Last year's prices were $3 for the covered stands, $2.50 for uncovered side seats and $2 for the ends.

The meeting rejected suggestions that the Dominion final be moved to Montreal or to Toronto's new Exhibition Stadium.

The CRU'S rules committee recommended one minor change, permitting unlimited blocking by linemen on the kickoff. It confirmed a rule permitting the shovel-pass, introduced on a trial-basis last year, and clarified a regulation permitting a player to enter a game before his team's third down without reporting to the head-linesman

Toronto Marlbor os Grab Tight Win Over Spitfires

By The Canadian Press.

The absence of their regular goaltender didn't faze Toronto Marlboros Saturday afternoon. With a rookie netminder making his initial Junior A start, the league powerhouses fought their way to a tight 5-3 win in the opener of their Ontario Hockey Association best of seven semi-finals with Windsor Spitfires.

Johnny Henderson, 17-year-old Junior B player, was pressed into service when Don Lockhart, the league's leading goaltender during the regular season, was hit by a flying puck during the pregame warm up.

The young replacement played like a seasoned veteran and was the mainstay of the Marlboro club during the first period when Windsor carried the play.

In the two junior quarter-final series, Barrie Flyers took their second straight match from St. Michael's College, thumping the Collegians 3-2 and Guelph Biltmores went two up in their series with St. Catharines, coming out on the top side of a 5-2 score Both teams needed only one more victory to advance to semi-final play.

Shellack Dutchmen

The round robin Senior A semi-finals continued Saturday night with Toronto Marlboros taking their fourth win, this time shellacking Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 6-3. Marlboros now have four wins against two defeats while Hamilton and Kitchener-Waterloo are tied with two wins and three losses.

Marlboros fell prey to a determined Windsor attack in the first period at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens and only the wizardry of young Henderson kept the score down to 2-0.

In the second frame, the Dukes really poured it on and rapped in four goals while holding the Spits to a single.

George Armstrong paced the Toronto attack with a pair of goals while Ron Hurst, George Aitken and Larry Regan added singles. Jack Bailey, the best Windsor player on the ice, sparked the losers with a single goal with others going to Earl Reibel and Glen Skov.

Take Pounding

Barrie pounded in three goals in the first two periods before St. Michael's awoke and slammed home two in the third. Real Chevrefils fired a first frame single and Dan MacDonald and Doug Towers added two more in the second.

Will Marshall was the big gun for the Collegians, opening the third period scoring before the mid-way mark and closing it six minutes later.

Guelph fought off a last-period rally by St. Catharines that netted the Teepees two goals before walking away with their second win. Leading 3-0 in the final frame, the Biltmores relaxed and Carl Boone and Norm Corcoran struck for two quick goals.

Ed Kulik and Frank Bathgate both flashed the red light twice in the winning cause while Herb Dickenson picked up a single.

Red Sox Deny Kramer 'Railroaded Out'

BOSTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Boston Red Sox denied today charges by Jack Kramer that he was "railroaded out of the American League" because of differences with manager Joe McCarthy.

The outright sale of the 31-year-old veteran righthander to New York Giants of the National League for a reported $25,000 was announced Sunday by the Red Sox.

Reached by telephone at his New Orleans, La., home, Kramer said "the whole deal is a personal thing. I was railroaded out because I told off Joe McCarthy a couple of times last season."

He added that he "feuded with McCarthy" last year and "there was dissension on our team, too."

Informed of Kramer's charges, Red Sox manager Joe Cronin denied the fiery hurler was railroaded out of the league.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canadian jockeys lugged home the gold Saturday as the winter racing season hit its peak on both coasts. Race riders raised in the Dominion rode the winners of both the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in California and the $50,000 Widener Handicap in Florida.

To top off a terrific day, Canadian reinsmen accounted for six races on the nine-race card at Hialeah and two of the eight heats at Santa Anita.

At Arcadia, Calif., old reliable Johnny Longden, who first mounted a horse when a younster in Taber, Alta., booted home Charles S. Howard's English-bred Noor in the Santa Anita 'Cap one of two richest races in North America. Citation, Calumet Farm's 1-3 favorite, ran 1¼ lengths behind Noor.

At Miami, Fla., Chris Rogers, a Hamilton, Ont., product, gave Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor a brilliant ride through the stretch to nip Arise by a neck and win the Widener. Aboard Arise, owned by the Addison brothers of Toronto, was Ted Atkinson, the crack Toronto-born booter.

At Seigniority Club, Que., a Toronto rink skipped by S. B Playfair won the Seignirity Club's annual members and guests bonspiel in going undefeated in three weekend games to build up the highest plus score of 38 points

Playfair's quarter defeated O G. Armstrong of Ottawa 13-4 in the first round, W. G. Burns of Ottawa 15-4 in the second round and Dr. W. L Higginson of Pembroke, Ont., 15-6 in the third and final game.

McGill University Mermen on Saturday night at Montreal took the Canadian intercollegiate swimming championship for the second consecutive year in a meet which saw five records set. The Red and White squad scored 45 points against 30 for the University of Toronto which provided the only opposition.

Carl Voyles, former head coach of the Brooklyn Dodger pro football club, turned up in Hamilton Saturday, believed to be a candidate for general manager of the Hamilton Football Club.

He told a press conference he hadn't been asked to coach the new club, entered in the Eastern Big Four League. He said a leave of absence from the National Football (pro) League might be arranged if he became general manager.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

"Know the one big impression I got of Ontario?" a visiting friend asked the other day. "It's the neat, attractive appearance of all communities—right from one end of the province to the other."

The compliment was sincere and for the most part deserved. It has been a distinct pleasure for me to travel this province and see the many clever ideas used by home owners in adding beauty to their homes. Some of these little touches have been most ingenious. I'm going to share my observations here and in succeeding issues. Some suggestions will be simple, some more complicated —but I hope all will prove interesting. Your comments will be welcome —and should you like further details of any of the objects described, write for the illustrated booklet now being prepared.

Good Neighbours

Canadians celebrate "Canadian Brotherhood Week" this month. As well as expressing magnanimity to your fellow man, don't forget your bird neighbours. Three types of bird feeding stations are shown —two very simple.

Are you a green-thumb gardener? If you're itching to jump the season build yourself an inexpensive window greenhouse like the one I saw while visiting in Brantford. It was hitched to a basement window and received sufficient heat from the room, but I was astounded to learn it was used to start all the young plants for the garden, as well as a propagating bed for house plants.

Finally two small items: one that can play a big part in bringing order out of chaos, and one that can be used to bring a touch of beauty to any room. My shoes were always piled in a corner until I made this simple rope shoe holder. Equally easy to construct was this small wire holder for a bud vase using a fancy perfume bottle.

Broadview 'Y' Wins Out In Swim Meet

A local YMCA pool record was set by Dick Douglas, Broadview YMCA on Saturday night for the 100 yards free style event at 57 seconds. Doing so he edged out mate Fred Bergeron and Peterborough YMCA's Donald Wood, and helped the Toronto squad to take the inter-YMCA swimming club meet 33-25 in 10 events.

Several of the senior swimmers of the local club had to work and missed the meet. Gordon Minty, honorary swimming director and coach, said afterwards they could have taken the Toronto club if they had used more swimmers in the senior events. As it was, junior swimmers filled the vacant positions.

In the first three events the Toronto swimmers splashed to victory. They took the 120 yards medley relay in 1:16.9 minutes, the 40-yard free style handicap swim and Douglas' 100 yard free style.

Dobbin Wins

Ross Dobbin edged Jim Brodie of Broadview in the 40-yard back stroke event. Terry Killen pulled in third. Toronto came back in the next two events with Jim Brodie taking the 40-yard breast stroke, and Fred Bergeron the 40-yard free style. Terry Killen took the 40-yard breast stroke, with Jack Prest placing second.

Donald Wood edged Jim Brodie in the 40 yard back stroke swim, but gave way to Stan Newmarch in the 200 yard free style which followed. Newmarch cut through in 2:30.6 minutes.

In the last event of the evening Peterborough again took their hosts, this time in the 160 yard free style relay. John Boorman, Jim Heffernan, Scott Pearton, and Donald Wood were the local swimmers on the team.

Exhibitions were given by the non-swimmers' class, directed by Ralph Wood, the Tadpole Swimming Club, directed by Bill Watson, and the Minnow Club, directed by Gordon Minty.

Dick Douglas and Fred Bergeron of the Broadview YMCA team performed on the springboard. Judges and timers for the meet were Gordon Dobbin and Alex Sinclair of Peterborough and Dick Lough, Broadview YMCA coach.

Twenty-one years ago tonight Jack Sharkey, the New England sailor, won a slashing 10-round bout from Young Stribling at Miami Beach. The bout was one of a series to find a heavyweight successor to Gene Tunney who retired undefeated in 1928. Sharkey lost to Schmeling in 1930 but the title from the German in 1932. He lost it to Primo Carnera in 1933.

Badminton Club From Here Captures Trophy

The Peterborough Badminton Club captured the Ayers Trophy on Saturday in Trenton, scoring most points in the annual Central Ontario badminton championship tournament. Clubs competed from all over Central Ontario, and the competition was stiff in each event.

Mrs Marg Baker, of Peterborough, won the ladies' singles championship for the year, and she defeated club-mate Mrs. Maurice Charlton in the final. Ralph and Maurice Charlton went to the finals in the mixed doubles before losing out, while Ralph Charlton reached the finals of men's singles. The whole Peterborough contingent turned in a strong effort throughout against first-class opposition.

Won Out Again

Allan Osborne of Bowmanville took his 10th consecutive victory in men's doubles, teaming up with Jack Brough, as they won over Gord Ratz and Bill Grant of Oshawa 15-3, 15-1. In mixed play, Adeline Armstrong and W. R. Cornell of Port Hope won the final from Mr. and Mrs Charlton of Peterborough 15-8 and 15-7. Miss Armstrong also won out in ladies' doubles, along with Mrs. D. Harvey of Port Hope, turning back Mrs. L. Ratz and Miss Kay Hopkins of Oshawa Flying club 15-3 and 15-6. Tall Gord Andrews of Oshawa won the men's singles crown over Ralph Charlton 15-12 and 15-3. The ladies' singles final went to Mrs. Marg Baker by scores of 11-8 and 11-3.

It was the first triumph for Peterborough badmintoneers since this annual tourney was revived after the war The victors piled up their points in singles, ladies', men's and mixed doubles. There was a large turnout at the tournament, some fine close contests and an enjoyable entertainment and presentation afterward, Bob Baker local club president receiving the Ayres Trophy. Peterborough finished with 87 points as Port Hope were second with 59, followed by Oshawa Flying club and Bowmanville.

Collegiate Gets Two Wins In Cage Series

Walloping Oshawa Collegiate bantams 39-19 Saturday night, PCVS obtained a strong foot to stand on in their return game in Oshawa in the second of the points-to-count series for the Lakeshore bantam basketball championship. The Motor City boys were the victors of the Oshawa-Whitby-Bowmanville league. The local Collegians are defending the championship won last year. Two years ago Bowmanville took the honors with Oshawa taking them three years ago. There is no COSSA playdown for bantam teams.

Oshawa with neat ball-handling held Bev Gouldng's boys during a fast first quarter 6-6. Actually the Lakeshore quintet had most of the play but were too intent on trying to get closer to the basket for short shots instead of long floaters.

Oshawa took the lead momentarily in the second. Then the locals started to roll with Marshall, Armstrong and Griffin leading. The Peterborough zone defence worked accurately holding off the smooth Oshawa quintet. The half score was 15-10.

Marshall with eight points led PCVS in the third quarter as the Oshawans started to fade. Armstrong and Turner were neat around the basket taking the rebounds to start rushes up the floor. The quarter ended with the locals up 31-14. The PCI'ers kept up the hot pace in the last quarter continuing to hold the Motor City quintet down. D. Marshall led in points with 12. Ke-

Outboard Marines "A" cagers had to hump plenty to gain a 35-30 exhibition victory Saturday p.m. in the Collegiate over the senior PCI-ers. A rousing tilt and Bev Goulding's gang made it a batlte right down to the finish, Marines getting the verdict in the dying minutes of play. PCVS bantams defeated Oshawa 39-19 to take a hefty lead in the first of their two-game series for lakeshore honors, the district title, you might call it. PCVS junior "A" hoopsters came through handily over Port Hope to capture their COSSA group title by no less than 31 points. A smart team.

A goodly gallery on hand all morning at Civic Arena on Saturday to see the OMHA first-round playdown series conclude. Juvenile IOOF-ers, skippered by Art Heal, won 6-2 to take their round 12-3 against Oshawa, but the Motor City midgets edged Al Watkins' Marines 3-2 in overtime to take that sawoff by an 8-7 count, so it's good-bye and tough luck to the classy young Outboards in playdowns this cold semester. Optimist bantams under Wally Bent and Oshawa tied 3-3 in the second period of overtime in their fray which gave Oshawa the round by a goal, their previous tilt being 3-2 for Oshawa. However, that isn't settled yet as Optimists have protested on the grounds the Oshawa goalie used a ball glove, which is against the rules. Referee Doug Love (of Oshawa) said it was illegal but up to the OMHA to rule on it. Three fine fixtures, though, as the fans agreed.

Petes And Legionnaires

Big one tonight, of course, is at 8:30 in Civic Arena when Petes and Legionnaires tee off in the fourth fray of their best-of-five OHA senior "B" group semi-finals. Legion lead the series two games to one, and can wrap it up this eve with a win. If the Petes come through, it'll be tied up tight and a fifth tussle will have to be staged. Maybe Wednesday or else Friday, depending on how the junior "B" Oddfellows make out tonight in Kingston. They have Wednesday here for a deciding tilt in their playoff series, if it is necessary. Otherwise, the seniors will go then—again, if it is necessary.

* * * * * *

Don't worry, this senior "B" scrap tonight will be another humdinger before a capacity crowd. Both sides are playing for keeps these nights, with plenty at stake, and lots of that old ice rivalry apparent. It may not be a rough game, if the puckists decide to stick to hockey this time, but it'll be a speedy and exciting fight all the way, and likely to be plenty close. The Petes just can't afford to fool at this time.

Marines Win Over PCVS In Tight Fray

With headlocks, knees and elbows in the Collegiate mixing bowl Saturday night, Outboard Marines squeezed through in the last two minutes of play, 35-30, to down Bev. Goulding's senior cagers. This game is an annual fixture between the two clubs with the experienced Marines taking all the games.

Long shots put the Marines up early in the first quarter 9-2 and made the game appear to be a walk-away but the Collegians fought back to make the quarter score 9-5 Play for the next two quarters was fairly rough and fast with mostly individual play as the Outboards led at the half 19-14 and at the three-quarter-mark 25-22. With seven minutes left the PCI'ers tied the score 7-all and then went ahead by one point. During the rough fast play which followed the Marines applied most of the pressure to take the lead by a point and then build it up slightly.

Harold Grafstein, assisted by Bryon Young, did a bang-up job on the PCVS defence until he left the game at the crucial moment, two minutes to go. Northcott had difficulty finding the range in the first half but was an eagle-eye in the second to make his total points 15. The Stewart brothers, Joe and Al, were the guiding pilots of the Outboards throughout. Warren Smith led their scorers with eight points as most of the team were on the scoring.

Went Ahead

Baskets by Chum Gillespie and Harold Grafstein made the score 11-7 in the opening minutes of the second after a 9-5 first heat. Nicholls added three for the Outboards. Northcott finished a short break-away to make the score 14-9. Smith sank a corner shot to be followed by Grafstein neatly checking Al Stewart to set up Northcott for a score. Stewart made things up on a long one-hander only to have Grafstein sink a similar shot. Bailey and Plunkett finished the period sinking foul shots.

Northcott and Neil Thompson made things dangerous for Marines in the second half with baskets to make the score 19-18. Nicholls grabbed a loose ball under the net for a basket. Al Stewart got loose and passed to Smith for a slider. Rocky Kidd took Stewart's rebound and went up and in for points. Finally Paul Frise slipped a pass to Northcott to make it 25-20. Frise pivoted and flipped one in as quarter ended 25-22.

Frise left the game in the first play of the fourth quarter favoring his left leg. Northcott, for PCVS, and Smith made it 27-23. Thompson added another two points. Trying to hold their two-point lead the Marines left themselves open for a Northcott break which tied the score Play became rougher. Plunkett fouled Thompson who made his shot good to shove PCI'ers up 28-27. Grafstein fouled Hugh Dibben who made a basket for the Marines. Dibben's foul attempt failed. Nicholls got a rebound [illegible] to push the shot which was followed by a nifty one-hander by Thorburn. The Outboards killed time by holding the ball in the PCVS defence zone for nearly a minute. Al Stewart made a foul shot to finish the game.

Lineups:

Outboard Marines—Plunkett 1, Nicholls 7, Kidd 2, A. Stewart 5, Smith 8, Dibben 2, J Stewart 1, Trimm, Thorburn 7, Gillespie 2, Dadson.

PCVS — Cranfield, Robinson, Sargeant, Frise 2, Bailey 1, Young, Taylor, Northcott 15, Thompson 7, Grafstein 5.

Doug Byam of Toronto was the only one of 11 Canadian entrants to place Sunday in the Detroit Times' golden-silver skates competition at Detroit, Byam placed third in a special event—the barrel jump—by clearing seven barrels, one behind Terry Brown of Detroit and Bert Trudeau of Saginaw, Mich., who tied for first.

IOOF Juves Take Series As Local Midgets Ousted

Oshawa and Peterborough concluded their OMHA playdown series Saturday morning at Civic Arena in the bantam, midget and juvenile classes as rousing games were played before a good crowd of fans.

Art Heal's juvenile Oddfellows proved too strong for Dutch Turner's Oshawa squad and defeated the latter 6-2 to win their round 12-3.

IOOF started strong in the first as Don Bigford from Ferguson clicked from well out seconds after play started. Buckton added another late in the period as the locals outplayed their rivals They added two more in the second, Kenny Pammett and Floyd denting the mesh with Ferguson getting his second assist on the former's counter.

Brian Robinson from Collins and Ferguson from Pammett and Shearer wound up the scoring for IOOF in the third while Haxton, Oshawa's individual star, scored his team's only marker aided by F. Sutton.

Pammett, Ferguson, Armstrong, Shearer, Jensen, Robinson, Floyd and Bigford were particularly good with Batley strong in the nets and every man gave his best.

Oshawa: Goal, Pallister; defence, Johnson, Edwards; centre, Haxton; wings, F. Sutton, De Pratto; alternates, Allesuk, Lawrence, Howes, Kellar, G. Myles, Carey, G. Sutton, Wallis.

IOOF: Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre, Pammett; wings, Buckton, Ferguson; alternates, Floyd Galoska, Robinson, Bacon, Dobbin, Kimball, Shearer, Jensen.

Millard's Optimists battled Oshawa bantams to a 3-3 overtime draw in the curtain-raiser—a nip and tuck struggle from the bell—between two very evenly matched teams.

The tie gave the visitors a one goal edge in the series but has been protested by coach Wally Bent as the Oshawa goalie used an illegal glove.

Optimists held a 2-1 lead to tie the round at regulation time having lost 3-2 Thursday. Goals by McDougall unassisted and Brooks from Pagett, offset Nichol's first period counter and the locals seemed certain winners as Brooks again from Pagett and Stewart in the early seconds of the first overtime session gave Optimists the lead for the first time.

Oshawa tied as Nichol scored again while Grant sank the winner midway in the second overtime period. All the boys played well.

Optimists: Goal, Ash; defence, Jones, Parry; centre, Pagett; wings, Brooks, Stewart; alternates, Kane, McDougall, Roberts, Davis, Gardner, Floyd, Pollard, Roberts, McFadden.

Oshawa: Goal, Knight; defence, Grant, Hamilton; centre, Malloy; wings, Gerrard, Nichol; alternates, Rahme, Thompson, Chazewski, Fenton, Underwood, McAllister, Vanshan.

Oshawa midgets edged Al Watkins' Outboard Marines 3-2 in overtime in the second game Saturday as they won the OMHA playdowns 8-7 after a hard struggle all the way. Zeddic smashed in the winning counter just before the bell in the first overtime frame after Spencer from Corbett and Turner had tied the round 7-7 at the end of regulation time.

It was a tough break for Marines' fighting team—the same who were the bantam finalists last spring—but Oshawa outweighed the locals and held slight advantage in speed. Teamwork, experience and a good defence enabled Marines to cope with their rivals. It might have gone either way, so close was the play.

Rorebeck scored the only goal of the first period from Myles on a neat passing play with less than three minutes to play. Corbett from Spencer and Frank McGillen tied the round in the third but each team scored again later, to force overtime when the visitors got the break they needed to win out after a stiff struggle.

Oshawa Goal, Chirka; defence, Hughes, Burr; centre Zeddic; wings, Boneham, O'Connor; alternates, Kellar, Copeland, Layton, Myles, Woodcock, Rorebeck, Wodinsky, McTavish.

Marines: Goal, Delahay; defence, Holden, McGillen; centre, McGrath; wings, Stewart, Strickland, alternates, Spencer, Ball, Corbett, Kearns, Batley, Turner, Byrne.

Referee, Doug Love, Oshawa; linesman, Dick Ouimet, Peterborough.

Diesels Drop 8-4 Verdict

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 27.—Belleville Diesels faded from the OHA Senior "B" hockey picture here Saturday night when they dropped an 8-4 verdict to Kingston Nylons in the fourth game in the best-of-five group semi-finals.

The visitors took the series in three straight. The first game ended in deadlock. The win was the Nylons' 19th without a reverse. They will now meet the winner of the Peterborough Legion-Peterborough Petes series for the group championship.

Gerow, with three goals and one assist was the top point-getter while Ken Partis was credited with a goal and two assists. Joey Catlin and Johnny Armstrong each earned a goal and an assist, while Hooker Hawkins and Bud Ohlke also tallied.

Best Freshman

The Alfie Pearce Trophy for the outstanding freshman athlete at Queen's goes this year to Don Griffin, who hails from this borough. Cage fans will recall his brilliant shooting for PCVS last April along the road to that Dominion championship as well as his COSSA performance. The grid fans knew his prowess in COSSA football play, too. And he turned in a creditable chore catching in the men's City Softball League. Since going to Queen's, he looked extra good with the intermediate Gaels and will be up with the senior Tricolor next fall, freshman not being allowed to play senior intercollegiate. And he has been one of the leading snipers with the senior hoop team at Queen's all winter. A fine, likeable athlete.

2 Rookies Spark Rangers To 3rd Place In NHL Race

By JACK GRAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Two eager Beaver rookies made a sparkling National Hockey League debut on Sunday night—and made it the iron-man way.

The two, centre Odie Lowe and right winger Don Smith of New York Rangers, fired goals that helped move the Rangers into third place only a few hours after they both figured largely in a minor league game.

The injury plagued Rangers, minus three of their regulars, including star centre Edgar Laprade beat Boston Bruins 4-3 and went into a tie for third place in the standings with the idle Montreal Canadiens.

Thus the bouncy New York Rangers regained the position they lost Saturday when Toronto Maple Leafs defeated them 4-2 at Toronto.

In the other Sunday night games the league leading Detroit Red Wings polished up the seven-point lead they hold over the Leafs by scoring almost at will to defeat Chicago Black Hawks 4-1. The New York defeat was Boston's second of the weekend, Montreal besting them 3-2 Saturday night.

In There Clicking

Rangers scored three goals in a little more than three minutes in the second period in beating Bruins. Lowe and Smith had aided Rangers' farm club, New York Rovers, defeat Boston Olympics 8-0 in an Eastern League game before being called up to big time.

Lowe fired the first counter before Bruins came back at 2:52 with Bud Poile scoring.

Bruins went ahead in the second period on Bill Quackenbush's screened shot. Then, in rapid succession Frankie Eddolls, Tony Leswick and Smith shot in tallies.

The desperate Bruins started power plays that netted one goal by Ed Kryzanowski.

A crowd of 14,810 saw the game at Chicago which was generally featureless except for the first period when the Hawks gave Detroit a bit of trouble and also counted the first goal, by Bep Guidolin.

All Detroit

From then on it was all Detroit. Jerry Couture converted George Gee's rebound into the tying goal near the end of the initial frame.

In the second period Red Kelly rammed in a solo counter and Sid Abel, assisted by Gordie Howe, whammed a shot off goalie Frank Brimsek's head, momentarily stunning him.

Ted Lindsay provided the final tally of the third period.

In beating Rangers Saturday night before 13,596 fans, the Leafs ended the New Yorkers' unbeaten streak at eight games. The only Toronto-born player on the Leafs, Sid Smith, figured largely in the triumph, registering his third consecutive two-goal scoring performances on home ice.

Howie Meeker counted one of the other goals, with the fourth going to Cal Gardner. Scorers for Rangers were Leswick and Dunc Fisher.

Maurice Richard racked up his 32nd goal of the season in Canadiens' close win over the Bruins. Leo Gravelle and Norm Dussault gave the Habitants their other goals while Bud Poile and Paul Ronty scored for Boston.

Record Election Vote But No Russ Comment

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Moscow's morning papers recorded without comment today the number of seats won by the Labor, Conservative and Liberal parties in the British elections.

(This dispatch, which passed through censorship, made no mention of the fact that the Communist party took a drubbing, losing both of its seats in the House of Commons.)

Little or no editorial reaction is expected, since Soviet commentators have long taken the view that there is little difference between Labor and Conservative parties. Mostly they are described as "pawns of Wall Street."

Miss Musa Cox Commended For Performance

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—Ottawa civil service "RA" Drama Club tonight will enter the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival with Lesley Storm's three-act play "Tony Draws a Horse."

The production will be the seventh show in the regional festival scheduled to end Wednesday.

Saturday was a heavy day for adjudicator Maxwell Wray. At a matinee he saw three one-act plays, two of them Canadian-written.

The first "Rumpilstiltskin," was presented by Ottawa Drama League Junior Theatre and the adjudicator said he had never seen anything "quite so fresh and so lovely."

The well-known fairy-tale tells the story of a little old man who helps a miller's daughter spin straw into gold. It was adapted for stage by Marion Taylor of Ottawa.

Peterborough Play

The second Canadian written play, "The Voice of the People" was produced by Peterborough Little Theatre.

Written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, the piece is a satire of Mr. Average Man. Mr. Wray said he would like to see a longer work by the same author.

He said Musa Cox, as Aggie Morton, had an "extremely good" performance. Albert Hill as Aggie's husband, Shorty, needed a little more aggressiveness at the beginning of the play.

"When playing a one-act play the actors must realize it is only a cameo and needs a little more highlighting," said Mr. Wray.

Third performance of the afternoon was a second Peterborough entry, "The Tinker's Wedding," by the Irish playwright J. M. Synge.

While the actors had chosen the work of a good author, Mr. Wray felt they had picked something beyond them.

Saturday night the adjudicator went all out in praise of Ottawa Drama League Workshop's production of "Payment Deferred."

The gripping melodrama was adapted from the novel by C. S. Forrester. Mr. Wray said the Workshop's performance "completely electrified" him.

In his remarks at the end of the performance, the British actor and producer told the audience that it had been a production by each of the players "worthy of any repertory in which I have directed, played, or been in the audience."

UE Withholds Strike Action

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP)—The United Electrical Workers said today its Toronto members employed by Canadian General Electric Company Ltd have decided to withhold strike action and join with Peterborough members in a fight for retention of bargaining rights at CGE's plant there.

The UEW, recently ousted from the Congress of Industrial Organization for allaged Communist policies, had voted for strike action if necessary to support contract demands from CGE. In Peterborough the union is battling the newly-formed International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO).

The UEW said in a statement that all Toronto locals Sunday endorsed a resolution demanding "joint negotiations . . . in face of the obvious fraud of the IUE" and urging the government and the Ontario Labor Relations Board to "act immediately to protect the workers against such fraud."

22 Veterans of Boer War Recall Siege of Paardeberg

Some 22 be-medalled veterans of the Boer War Saturday night reached back across the half century to recall the South African campaign. The occasion was to celebrate the siege of Paardeberg, and the successful ending of the war. It was the first reunion that South African war veterans of this district have had. George A. Macdonald, former mayor of Peterborough, said it was hoped to make the get together an annual affair.

Civic officials intimated they would like the South African veterans to participate as a unit in the ex-servicemen's celebrations being held in this, Peterborough's centennial year. And it is understood efforts are underway to organize the group.

Alderman Col. J. A. Dewart, main speaker of the evening, outlined the causes of the Boer War and traced in the progress of the campaign.

He emphasized the political implications of the peace that was ultimately signed and the formation of the Union of South Africa. The military administration clapped on by the conquerors was superseded by civil administration and eventually self government was permitted under Boer leaders.

This magnanimous act, Col. Dewart said, was typical of the British genius for governing. Enemies of yesterday were turned into not only staunch allies but also willing partners in the British Commonwealth.

In a topical reference he said that much the same thing happened with India and Pakistan. Government in those young states was handed over voluntarily by the British when the people asked for it. And the result is that both states remain a part of the Commonwealth and Empire.

Outstanding Statesman

A proof of the far sightedness of this policy was shown by the fact the Boers fought with the other members of the Commonwealth in the First and Second World Wars, Col. Dewart said. And one of the outstanding statesmen of the world and a firm believer in the Commonwealth is Field Marshal Jan Smuts.

At one time Smuts was an active Boer commander fighting the British with skill and daring, it was pointed out. The generous terms of the peace and the opportunities for South Africa's political development within the British comity of nations made

Coal Shortage Most Acute

Peterborough fuel dealers agree with the Toronto trade that the coal shortage today is the most acute in several years.

The Toronto trade is rationing customers at one-half a ton each. A member of the coal exchange there said homes and industries would soon be out of coal if the United States government did not soon seize the mines.

"We can't take any more orders for this week," Haig Kelly of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Co. said today. "There is a little anthracite coming through, and I understand there is a little coke in town, but the situation is bad. We tried to get coke, but we were told it would take a month to get a car through to Peterborough. We also have 1,000 tons of soft coal on the docks at Cobourg, but wouldn't even begin to meet local needs for industry and business if other deliveries don't come through."

The comment at the H. B. Taylor & Son yard was in the mild weather a few weeks ago "our men were often standing around for lack of orders. People weren't buying then. For the last week or more we can't begin to handle the business, and we were quite a ways behind on orders. During that time we have been cutting down deliveries to ton and half-ton lots to distribute more evenly the small stock we have in some grades."

Charlotte St. Accident Results In Charge

A charge of careless driving was laid against William Boyce, 555 King St., in police court today, as a result of an accident Saturday night at Charlotte St. and Margaret Ave. The case was adjourned one month.

Boyce was driving west on Charlotte and while making a left turn into Margaret Ave., met in collision with a car driven east on Charlotte St. by Percy W. Hawthorne, 262 Aylmer St. Constable Louis Rodreque investigated.

Dour Scotsman Not Found In Whole Land

The hospitality of Scotsmen was a revelation to Garth Braund, who returned at the week-end from the tour of Canadian curlers in the land that conceived and developed the ancient game of the stane and besom.

"I can only repeat what Hon. Eric F. Willis, deputy-premier of Manitoba, said in replies to the series of welcomng receptions and banquets, that the Canadians had soon exhausted their adjectives of appreciation. And that was literally true," Mr. Braund recalled to The Examiner today.

"It was not only around the curling rinks and the hotels, but everywhere we went, even on the streets. The people knew we were visiting from Canada, and they went out of their way in extending friendly greetings to us. You couldn't buy anything.

"The Scottish curlers retained the international cup with an aggregate score of 830 to 800 in the test games, but I think we won about 70 per cent of the other games in our itinerary.

"The members of our team came to the conclusion that our hosts must have been pooling their meat points, for the series of banquets with which they entertained us, and we felt rather badly about it when we thought of the way they must have been depriving themselves."

Burns Night Dinner

Outstanding in that memory was the Burns night dinner at the Burns monument, just outside of Ayr, January 25. It was only a stone's throw from the house where the Scottish poet was born.

"It was really a great occasion for us from Canada to share in the spirit of Scotsmen on Burns night, and I was thinking of some of our local friends like Bob Hendry, John Smith, Alex Milne and others and how they would have delighted in being there.

"Some of the Scottish nobility we met were the Duke of Athol, the Lord of Stair, Lord Inverclyde, Lord Clydesmuir, and the provost of Edinburgh. I can't begin to remember all the dignitaries who helped to welcome us. And it was most agreeable to discover that some of them had men from their estates curling on their teams. That is only a sugestion of the spirit that was with us everywhere in Scotland.

"One of our team, Hon. J. L. Bowman, KC, said in his responses to Scottish toasts that Canada would continue to welcome young Scotsmen and women as an exceptionally high type of citizens for whom this country offered great opportunities in the future."

Canadians Entertain

The Canadians entertained their hosts at a parting dinner in Edinburgh. Their guests of that evening included muncipal officials and many of the friends they had met on the tour, with their wives. There were 500 at that dinner. They said it was the biggest banquet gathering since the visit of His Majesty the King there in 1937.

"We brought most of the food. The menu included buffalo and elk meat, Winnipeg gold-eyes, wild duck, Quebec pea soup, and so on.

"Our party was thoroughly representative of the Canadian curling fraternity. We had six members of provincial legislatures, several farmers, several blacksmiths, insurance agents, retail merchants and several judges."

Different In England

The comment of Mr. Braund was that in all his travel in Scotland he failed to find even one so-called dour Scotsman. But, south of the border, "that was something else."

One of the examples he mentioned recalled an incident in a south-bound train, through England. "Four of us were putting in the time with a game of cards. One of the crew came in and told us to break up the game and go to the diner. We did, and we sat there 35 minutes before anybody came near us to get our order."

Mr. Braund rated the Swiss close to the Scots. "They are friendly, smart and have all the signs of an efficient people. Incidentally, the villa occupied by Ali Khan and Rita was just across from our hotel at Gstaad. Chairman of the curling dinner at St. Moritz was Gordon Richards, the famous jockey.

"The Swiss have 93 per cent of their railway system electrified. And they run on schedule. The coaches are so clean you could eat off the floor."

Mr. Braund was accompanied on the curling trip to Switzerland by W. M. Cruthers of Peterborough, other representative of the local club on the Canadian team.

Energetic people

"At one place we stayed, a group of the villagers dressed in their native costumes, especially for our entertainment, called at our hotel and put on a concert of their folk dances and songs That was characteristic of the atmosphere we found in Switzerland. They are a bright and energetic people."

As to the British elections Mr. Braund said: "A dozen or more men I was talking to in Scotland were predicting that the results would be close, in their opinion, that the Liberal Party might have the balance of power. And as it has turned out, they just about hit the nail on the head."

As a sample of taxes, Mr Braund said cigarettes retailed at 87c a package of 20. "One young man told me he had to decide between cigarettes and having a baby."

Of a third generation out of England, Mr. Braund said he had not much comment (for publication) about his impressions of the land of his fathers

But of Scotland, as the Hon. Eric Willis [illegible] Canadians simply [illegible] depth of [illegible] the warm he[illegible] was shown them, and also for the hearty, hopeful spirit of the people."

"It was a wonderful trip, and the Scots are grand folks," Mr. Braund repeated

18 Persons Escape Building Many In Night Attire Fire Causes $5,000 Damage

Three families, a total of 18 persons, were forced to evacuate the large semi-detached brick house at 208 and 208½ Lake St. late Sunday night when a $5,000 fire swept the rear of the premises. Several of the 13 children involved fled in their bare feet. Cause of the blaze which was reported at 10.06 p.m. is not officially known. Fire Chief George Smith and Tom Ephgrave, insurance adjustor are making a return visit later today to determine exactly how it did start and also to make an estimate of damage.

The flames had obtained a strong hold on the large wooden frame shed at the rear of the double house before they were discovered almost simultaneously by a passerby and one of the tenants. The extreme cold proved a handicap to firemen in their battle to save the rear of the house.

Temporarily without a home are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garvey of 208½ Lake and their nine children: Colleen 13, Marlene 12, Edward 11, Mary Lou 9, Gary 8, Wayne 7, Patricia 3, Sally 2, and two-month-old Freddie.

Pulling on what clothes they could lay their hands on at the moment the Garvey children scampered to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Hobbins, about a hundred yards away. All were asleep at the time the alarm was given by Mr. Garvey who observed smoke sifting through his bedroom window.

Most of them were dressed in night attire and odds and ends of clothing. Several ran through the five below zero street in their bare feet, but apparently none are today any the worse for their adventure.

Two other families, consisting of four adults and four young children, live at 208 Lake. They too had to be taken in by neighbors and relatives for the night.

Griffin Chosen Outstanding Freshie Athlete

Don Griffin of Peterborough has been chosen by the Athletic Board of Queen's University as the outstanding freshman athlete at Queen's this year. He is one of the top stars on the fine Queen's senior intercollegiate basketball team, recently scoring 17 points as Kingston defeated Western for the first time in about six years. He was also an ace performer with the good Queen's intermediate football club in the fall, not being allowed to play senior in his freshman year.

Charles Hicks, secretary of the Athletic Board, in a telephone conversation with the Examiner, said Griffin was considered a fine athlete at the university both in intercollegiate sports and intromural athletics. "He will undoubtedly make the senior football team next autumn," he predicted, adding that Coach Tyndal was quite interested in the Peterborough boy, who is but 18 years old. The Alfie Pearce Trophy for this award will be presented to Don at Queen's "Color Night" on March 10 in the Union Building on the campus.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Griffin. He was a great PCVS performer in basketball and football before going to Queen's, sparking several teams to championships. He also played softball as a catcher in the City League.

World-Popular Comedian Sir Harry Lauder Dies

STRATHAVEN, Scotland, Feb. 27—(CP)—Sir Harry Lauder, world-famed Scottish comedian, died at his home Sunday night after long months of illness. He was 79.

Sir Harry started as a mill boy and became one of the best loved—and one of the richest—figures of the stage in the world. It was he who wrote 'Roamin' in the Gloamin' and made it almost a folk song in its popularity and familiarity.

Suffering from arterio-thrombosis (an arterial blood clot) complicated by kidney ailments, he had been near death since August, 1949. About three months ago Sir Harry rallied, but the improvement was only temporary.

With his kilt, gnarled stick, infectious smile and catchy songs, Sir Harry typified the Scotsman to the world's variety audiences for half a century. He made 25 North American tours, and up to his last illness denied that he would retire. Among his fans were King Edward VII, King George V and the Duke of Windsor.

He spent his last Christmas on a sickbed in the company of his niece, Greta, and his old friend, Dr. John Stewart. Sir Harry was Dr. Stewart's last patient. The doctor came out of retirement to care for his friend, and went to live with him at Lauder Ha.

Weakens Fast

During the closing months of last year he had gathered some strength, despite his critical illness. The doctors let him smoke a pipe now and then. And he loved cracking jokes with Dr. Stewart.

While the aged comedian joked, the doctors watched and reported there were no grounds for optimism. Recently they noted his strength was slipping away again.

The physicians had gathered today in Lauder Ha for the quiet Sunday which had become routine since Sir Harry's illness. They were there when the end came, and announced it to waiting neighbors and friends who had gathered outside to receive the news they had expected and feared.

Sir Harry Lauder, one-time mill boy and coal miner, stole the heart of the English-speaking world with his infectious gaiety, droll humor and rollicking songs in a broad Scots baritone.

He first won fame in 1900. During two world wars he wig wagwaggled his kilts and waved his knobbly stick for soldier audiences. Until the summer of 1948 he was organizing local shows for charity in England and Scotland.

Own Songs

He even talked of making another farewell appearance in America but gave up the idea because of his failing health. Still he kept singing the songs he wrote himself—the musical milestone of his unique stage careers—Roamin' in the Gloamin', I Love a Lassie, It's Nice to Get up in the Morning, Keep Right on to the End of the Road and all the rest.

In the spring of 1949 he quit at last, at the age of 78, but he shrank from the word retirement.

"The real artist doesn't date," he once said. "He's not a freak of environment. He's not good just because he was born at a certain time and place. His appeal is world wide."

That fits Sir Harry to a T. He didn't date, for he kept three generations in stitches. And his appeal reached from Scotland around the world; from Buckingham Palace, where he entertained kings and queens, to the lowliest farm cottage.

Born at Portobello, Aug. 4, 1870, the eldest of seven children, he was compelled to go to work at the age of 11, when his father died.

Humble Beginning

His first job, in a flax mill, paid him two shillings and a penny a week. Then he became a miner—"a pit laddie." At 20 he married Annie Vallance. He used to say that it was the best investment he ever made when he spent seven shillings and sixpence for the marriage license.

His wife played the [illegible] and he developed a good voice. Together they added to their funds by giving entertainments in a small hall at Arbroath. Sometimes they made 35 shillings a week. Some one advised him to try his talents in London and he appeared in a music hall there in 1900 to achieve instant success. All England hummed his song, Calligan, Call Again.

His fame spread to the United States, where he scored an even greater hit, soon commanding a large salary for those days. He also made large royalties from phonograph records, then coming into vogue.

Farmers Decide To Run Phones

ROCKWOOD, Ont., Feb. 27—(CP)—Faced with the loss of telephone service by the end of March, a group of farmers decided Saturday at a public meeting to take over the Rockwood-Oustic telephone company.

The Rockwood-Oustic district is some five miles east of Guelph. There are 81 subscribers on the line.

Reeve D. D. Gray of Eramosa township, chairman of the meeting, said the present directors decided to close the line on March 31 and release its charter unless some other action was taken.

For the farmers to take over, a large percentage must sign petitions guaranteeing certain expenses. The line was started 43 years ago by local farmers and operates through the Bell telephone system switchboard here.

People Using Alarm Clocks Need More Sleep Doctor Says

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Folks who always need an alarm clock to wake them in the mornings are not getting enough sleep to keep them healthy, says London nerve-specialist Dr. Denis Williams in a medical report.

"The amount of sleep needed for an individual's well-being is determined by what he feels he needs, not by what other people, including the doctor, think is reasonable," Dr Williams wrote in The Practitioner.

He said the old English proverb that "six hours' sleep is enough for any man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool" is medically unsound. Many needed 10 hours' sleep to feel fully refreshed.

Most people who claim they "don't sleep a wink" really have about five hours' sleep, the doctor said.

Too Much Worry

"The bad effects of insomnia are almost entirely due to worry brought about by the belief that prolonged lack of sleep is bound to be injurious."

Dr. Williams said a night's sleep for most people is made up of two bouts of deep slumber with an in-between period of restlessness.

The slumber rhythm of people with insomnia depended on which of the three types of sleeplessness they suffered from.

Type 1: Those who have difficulty getting off to sleep—miss the first trough of deep slumber altogether, but make up for it by going further into unconsciousness during the second.

Type 2: Those who are wide awake too early—come back fully into consciousness after the first deep sleep.

Type3: The restless, vivid dreamers who wake up repeatedly throughout the night.

Dr. Williams said the only cure for insomnia is to root out the basic cause. Commonest source is mental tension brought about by anxiety, worry, overwork or over-excitement.

World Bank Leading In Co-operation

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One of the most impressive instances of international co-operation today is being accomplished through the world bank—short name for the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

It is one of the institutions founded in preparation for the post-war problems which were foreseen.

The fact that these problems proved much greater than could have been reasonably forecast, has tended to obscure the operations of the bank.

Nevertheless, it has proceeded on its way as intended, contributing considerably to recovery and offering posibilities of still greater operations when the world has sufficiently recovered to engage to a greater extent in relatively normal banking operations.

At present 48 countries belong to it, all the major countries except the Soviet Union, Spain, Switzerland, Argentina and Ireland.

Billion Available

The bank to date has had available for lending about $1,000,000,000 of which $743,906,983 has actually been lent.

So far the chief demand of borrowers has been United States dollars and so most of the lending has been from the United States contribution and from bank bonds sold in that country. Only some $8,000,000 in Canadian currency has been lent.

Similarly, because the United States has been the biggest supply house of goods in the post-war period, most of the money spent out of the loans has been spent there, approximately $420,000,000. Some $27,000,000 has been spent in Canada, which is more than three times the amount of Canadian currency lent.

Eugene R. Black, the bank's president, who last week visited Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, thinks this situation will change.

He said at a press conference in Toronto Saturday that as recovery brings about the establishment of more normal trades lines, countries will tend to buy from a growing circle. They will thus tend to need more currencies which they will largely spend in the countries from which the currencies comes.

It is part of the process of re-establishing multilateral trade.

At Conservative Gains Republicans Jubilant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—(AP)—Republican Congressmen saw their party's stock rising today on the strength of Conservative party gains in the British elections. Truman Democrats called the rise imaginary.

Republicans generally felt that the narrow margin of the British Labor party's victory reflects a swing to the right in the western world that may help elect Republican candidates for the United States Senate and House of Representatives in November elections.

Representative Charles Halleck (Rep. Ind.) was the most optimistic. He predicted that the Republicans will regain control of Congress this year, declaring: "The awakening of the British people to the dangers of socialism is being accompanied by a similar awakening in this country."

Oppose Plans To Abandon Train Service

PESTON, Feb. 27—(CP)—Opposition to abandonment of the Grand River and Lake Erie and Northern Railways electrical rail passenger service has been voiced in this area.

The Canadian Pacific railway, owner of the railway which runs from Kitchener south to Port Dover, have announced that the passenger service will be discontinued April 30 provided necessary authorities are received from the Transport Commission and the Ontario Municipal Board.

Already in Preston, the town council, chamber of Commerce, Canadian legion and railway unions have signified they will oppose the action strongly. Commuters, too, have entered the fight to retain the service, believed first of its kind instituted in North America. A petition being circulated already bears 2,500 names.

Three Aristocratic Cakes

By MARY MOORE

A friend of mine brought me a message from a mutual friend of ours in Philadelphia asking me to send her my "latest cake discoveries".

She is housebound temporarily because she broke one of the vertebra in her back when she was tobogganing and is in a "torso cast"—but wants to take advantage of her enforced limitations and teach herself how to bake cakes—all kinds—plain and fancy too.

Today I am giving you the recipes that I have sent to her. I like them because they make one-piece desserts. I argue that if you go to all of the trouble and expense of making a cake and a filling and a frosting no dessert fruit is needed.

Toasted Sponge

Use any sponge cake but I like this one because it is surefire and not expensive: Beat 3 eggs until they are pale yellow and thick—this requires about 10 minutes if done with rotary beater, or if in electric beater 5 minutes. Add 1 cup sugar slowly while beating. Add 2 teaspoons lemon juice and shake of salt. Sift cake flour and measure 1 cup into sifter. Add 2 teaspoons baking powder and sift ⅓ of this over the beaten egg mixture. Have ready a generous ⅓ cup hot milk, and add ⅓ of it. Now fold these into the beaten eggs—adding remainer of both in parts. Mix just enough to blend. Pour into paper-lined greased layer cake tins and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out on cake coolers and strip off the paper.

Fill with

Rich Lemon Filling: Into top of double boiler put 4 tablespoons flour, 2-3 cup milk and stir well. Add 1¼ cups boiling water, stir well. Add 1 beaten egg and shake of salt and cook over boiling water until it thickens. Cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool. Spread between layers of cake. (This makes a good filling for lemon jelly roll.)

Frost cake with either one of the 2 following toppings: Cream ¼ cup butter until light. Slowly add 2-3 cup sifted brown sugar while beating to a fluff. Stir in 1 cup finely chopped walnuts and shake of salt. Spread this over top of cake and pass under extremely hot broiler to make this topping bubble and brown lightly. Or cream together 3 tablespoons butter and ⅓ cup sugar until light. Add 2 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk and ¾ cup moist shredded cocoanut. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and spread over cake and toast under very hot broiler.

Ice Cream Chocolate Cake

Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup best quality shortening until light and gradually add 1 cup sugar while creaming. Add 1 well beaten egg and beat it in. Stir in 2 squares unsweetened melted chocolate. Add the sifted flour mixture alternately with 1 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Bake in greased loaf pan which has been paper-lined and buttered at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour or maybe a little longer. When cold cut cake in halves lengthwise and put ice cream between layers and on top of cake in ½-inch slices, cutting the brick lengthwise. Garnish with sliced peaches or pineapple and slice to serve at once.

Cherry Nut Cake
(Double this for large cake)

Cream together ⅓ cup butter and 1 cup sugar until light, then add ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries and some juice. Sift cake flour an measure 1½ cups and sift with 3 teaspoons baking powder and shake of salt, 3 times. Add to creamed mix alternately with ½ cup milk and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Add ½ cup chopped nuts and beaten whites 2 eggs. Bake in large loaf pan at 375 deg. F. for about 40 minutes. Good with fluffy frosting.

DOROTHY DIX

Must Teach Good Manners Children Can Grow Up Boors

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I disagree upon one point in rearing our children. I feel that while they are young I should teach them the amenities of life how to enter a room, how to greet people courteously, how to eat properly, etc., and, of course, this can only be done by what practically amounts to nagging. Telling them over and over again; "Johnny, take your hat off when you come into a room" "Mary, use your fork and not your knife," and so on My husband objects to this. Says I shouldn't worry the children about trifles, and that when they grow up they will know how to behave themselves properly Which one of us is right?

Dorothy Dix

MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are. Aside from grounding a child in the moralities, there is no other one thing that it is so important to teach him as good manners. They will carry him farther along the road of success than any one thing, for good manners are a letter of credit that is honored at sight the world over.

Need Polish

Perhaps there was a time when the rough diamond was valued at its true worth, but that time is gone now. People haven't the time nor the patience to peer beneath the surface and realize that there is a fine jewel that only needs polishing to be brought out in all its splendor. They want their diamonds handed to them already cut and polished, and the mother who does not do this for her children commits a grievous wrong against them.

As for saying that children who are allowed to grow up uncouth will suddenly possess elegant and polished manners when they are grown, that is nonsense. No such miracle ever happens.

Nothing in the world sticks closer to us than the habits of our childhood. The boy who is allowed to eat with his knife is a sword-swallower as a man. The girl who is permitted to hold her fork as if it were a spade is still grubbing with it at the food on her plate when she is grown. And it takes the laughter and derision of others, and shame and mortification to teach them what their mother should have taught them.

Perhaps children may resent their mothers' nagging them when they are little about their manners, but when they are grown they thank her on their bended knees for it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a boy and girl of 19, who are very much in love with each other. Is it safe for us to marry without ever having had the so-called "playtime of life"?

WE

ANSWER: I consider it most unsafe and that none should risk it except those who were, as the phrase goes, "born old" and who are temperamentally so staid and sober that they have no craving for gayety in any form. There are young people like that. Boys and girls who are aged in the cradle, who never want to dance or go to parties or step out of an evening and who are content to marry in their teens and settle down to the serious business of life without ever having had any of the fun that belongs to youth.

It seems to be a law of Nature that all young creatures must have their playtime, and if they miss it something is lacking in their lives. The boy husband has the boy's instinct to run with the gang. He isn't satisfied to sit at home of an evening and look at his wife And the girl, when she sees the other girls of her age dolling themselves up and starting off for gay evenings while she stays at home and washes the dishes and darns husband's socks, grows bitter and dissatisfied and wonders what made her fool enough to throw away her gay carefree girlhood.

So take your playtime now children, at the time of life to which it belongs. Do your running around before marriage. Then you will be glad to settle down and stay put by your own fireside.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been accused ever since I can remember by my many, many friends of being egotistical. Can you suggest a cure?

ALEXANDER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I can. A very easy one, only no conceited person will ever take it because they do not wish to be cured. The remedy is this: Consider the people about you who are so much better-looking, who are so much more intelligent and who have achieved so much more than you have, and compare yourself with them No vanity can survive that acid test

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I am always interested in your column. What I am asking for is a recipe for crumpets. We don't hear of them now. Other breads have taken their place. A. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

English Crumpets

spoon each salt, sugar and 1

Mix one and one-half cups luke - warm water with ½ teaspoon each salt, sugar and 1 teaspoon melted butter. Dissolve a quarter of a yeast cake in this mixture. Into this stir enough flour to make a very stiff batter. Beat for 10 minutes adding enough lukewarm milk to make batter just barely liquid enough to pour. Grease shallow muffin rings and place them on a soapstone griddle or a heavy aluminum griddle. Pour the batter into the rings to depth of ¼ inch. Bake in oven of 300 deg. Fahr. Do not turn until brown on under side, then turn over and bake for about 5 minutes longer Serve hot. If leftover, split, toast, butter to serve, on second day.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: (from Mrs. F. W. answer continued from last week)

Fifth Day (of 7-day reducing diet)

Breakfast Two slices back bacon,fat trimmed off, broiled; 1 slice whole wheat toast unbuttered; one-half grapefruit; 1 cup clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk.

Luncheon: 1 sandwich with 2 slices whole wheat bread, no butter, but filled with generous quantity of salmon and lettuce leaf; 8 oz. skim milk or buttermilk; imported grapes about 18.

Dinner: Two 2-oz. cakes ground round steak, broiled; 4 oz. serving canned or frozen cooked peas; 1 rye crisp wafer; 1 banana; Clear coffee or tea.

Sixth Day

Breakfast: Fresh pear; poached egg on half slice unbuttered whole wheat toast; Clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk.

Luncheon: Salad of fresh tomato, cottage cheese (at least 2 oz.) 3 sardines on quarter head of iceberg lettuce—no mayonnaise; 1 slice whole wheat bread and 1 rye wafer; 8 oz. glass skim or buttermilk; one orange.

Dinner: Four oz. baked chicken or boiled fowl; boiled or steamed large carrot; 1 small new potato with ½ pat butter; 1 unsweetened baked apple; clear tea or coffee.

Seventh Day:

Breakfast: Coddled Egg with 1 slice unbuttered Graham bread; 8-oz. glass tomato juice with 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 or 2 cups clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk

Luncheon: Salad of Shrimps coulded in tomato jelly on lettuce with cheese-stuffed celery hearts and strips of raw carrot, no mayonnaise; 1 slice whole wheat bread or toast with ½ pat butter; 8-oz. glass or 2 cups undersweetened cocoa 1 dessert apple or banana.

Dinner: Broiled liver, 3 oz. with 1 oz. broiled side bacon; 1 small baked potato with ½ pat butter; broccoli, 2 to 4 oz. with pat butter; 1 orange sectioned; 1 cup clear coffee or tea with lemon.

That gives you 7 days to work on; of course these menus may be juggled but do not eat more than 1 pat butter and 1 teaspoon mayonnaise per day. If you eat 1½ pats butter per day omit the mayonnaise.

If you find you are too hungry at 4 o'clock in the afternoon save one of the portions of fruit alloted to you and eat at that time. Write again when I can be of help.

During their stay in this province food will again enter into the picture. Alberta, with rolling plains and grassy valleys, makes it an ideal province for grazing cattle and sheep. An abundance of meat makes meat dishes one of the outstanding items on the menus. The following recipes include some of the famous meat dishes of Canada.

Lamb Pie—Curried Biscuit Topping.

2 pounds rather lean stewing lamb, 3 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 bay leaf, 4 or 5 medium-sized carrots, 18 to 20 tiny onions ,3 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼-cup cold water.

Wipe with a damp cloth and cut into 1-inch cubes, discarding the excess fat, the 2 pounds stewing lamb. Place in a saucepan and add the boiling water salt, pepper, and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, until meat is almost tender, about 1 1-2 hours Peel and slice the carrots. Peel the onions. Add vegetables to meat and simmer, covered, for 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Combine the flour, dry mustard, and blend to a smooth paste with 1-4 cup cold water. Gradually stir into lamb mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy is smoothly thickened. Keep hot while making topping. Preheat oven to 450 degs. (hot). Grease a casserole (8-cup size) and rub the inside lightly with a halved clove of garlic.

Measure into sifter 1 1-2 cups once-sifted pastry flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons curry powder. Cut in finely 3 tablespoons chilled shortening. Make a well in the dry ingredients and add 1-2 cup milk. Combine lightly but thoroughly. Turn out on lightly-floured canvas or baking board and knead a few seconds; roll out into a round that will fit the top of the casserole, being used, and cut out four or five small rounds of dough, to allow for the escape of steam Place a support for the topping in centre of prepared casserole and fill dish with hot lamb mixture. Cover filling with rolled-out dough. Bake in preheated oven until topping is cooked and golden, 20 to 25 minutes.

Canadian meat pie—1 1-2 pounds round steak, 3 lamb kidneys, 1 medium-sized onion, sliced, 1 1-3 cups hot water, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 1-2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 recipe plain pastry.

Wipe steak; trim off fat, chop and use as drippings; cut lean meat in 1 inch cubes, Split kidneys in halves lengthwise, remove tubes and fat and soak in cold salted water 1-2 hour; cut in small pieces. Saute onion in beef fat in large frying pan or heavy kettle until lightly browned; add steak and brown slightly, stirring constantly. Add hot water and seasonings, cover and simmer about 1 hour, or until tender. Saute kidneys in 1 tablespoon butter 10 minutes, turning frequently, and add to meat; drain off stock and thicken with roux made from flour and remaining 1 1-2 tablespoons butter. Put meat-kidney mixture in greased casserole and pour half of gravy over top; cover with pastry, moistening rim with water to make crust adhere, then prick crust with fork, or make several incisions to permit escape of steam. Bake in hot oven, 400 degs. F. about 20 minutes, or until crust is browned; serve with remaining hot gravy Makes 6 portions.

Baked Canadian Bacon—1 1-2 lbs. Canadian bacon, unsliced, 2 cups cooked or canned green limas, 3 firm, ripe tomatoes, Salt and pepper.

Place bacon in an open baking pan or roaster. Bake in moderate oven of 350 degs. F. allowing 35 minutes per lb., about 53 minutes. Twenty minutes before the bacon is done, remove it from the oven, and arrange lima beans on one side of it. Cut tomatoes into 1-2 inch crosswise slices; sprinkle with salt and pepper; and place cut side up on other side of bacon. Then bake for the remaining 20 minutes. Serves 6.

Beefsteak Pie — Chili — 1 1-2 pounds round steak, 1-4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Few grains cayenne, 3 tablespoons pork or beef dripping.

Wipe with a damp cloth and cut the meat into fingers 1" x 3" Measure into a clean paper bag the flour, salt, pepper and cayenne. Add pieces of meat, a few at a time, and shake in bag until well coated with seasoned flour In a large frying pan heat the beef or pork dripping. Brown meat richly in fat; drain off excess fat and to meat add the following:

2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes, 1 1-2 cups water, 2 medium-sized onions, peeled and sliced, 1-2 cup sliced celery, 1-4 cup chopped green pepper, 1-2 bay leaf, 1-2 teaspoon granulated sugar.

Cover and simmer until meat is tender, about 2 hours. Remove bay leaf. Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons Chili powder, and blend to a smooth paste with 1-4 cup cold water Gradually stir into beef mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy is smoothly thickened. Keep hot while making topping Preheat oven to 450 degs. F. Grease a casserole (8-cup size) Prepare a biscuit dough or pie paste topping. Place a support for the topping in centre of prepared casserole and fill dish with hot beef mixture. Moisten edge of dish with cold water and cover filling with your choice of rolled-out, slashed, topping; seal edge. Bake in preheated oven until topping is cooked and golden.

Lamb Steak and Kidney Stew —3 lamb kidneys, 1 1-2 lbs lamb shoulder, 1-4 cup minced onion, 2 tablespoons fat or salad oil, 2 cups boiling water, 1 cup cubed carrot, 8 halved carrots, 6 white onions, Salt and pepper, 2 cups cooked or canned peas.

Wash kidneys; split. Remove fat membrane; dice kidneys and lamb. Brown with minced onion in fat; add water. Cover; simmer 1 hour. Add carrots, onions; cover; simmer 1 hours. Remove halved carrots, onions. Thicken stock; season; pour into casserole; garnish with halved carrots

What's Right

There is a bit of news you'd like to repeat but you aren't quite sure if your husband, who told it to you, wants you to.

WRONG WAY: Turn to him and say: "Do you mind if I tell them about such-and-such?"

RIGHT WAY: Skip the story, since asking your husband whether you can tell it or not is likely to put him in an embarrassing position.

Paris Fashions Chief Topic With Dress Minded Women

By ALISON SETTLE

Special London Observer and Examiner

LONDON, Feb. 25—The greatest est popularity is accorded in Paris at this time of year, to the journalist who has had entre, to the Paris dress collections. For what the great dress houses are doing is a matter of national importance and of the greatest interest not only among themselves (and no creator can ever visit the shows of another designer) but to the ordinary people in the street.

This applies as much to men as to women, for all are aware of the artistic and economic importance of dress.

Yet the elegancies, fantasies and often exaggerations of the big dress collections bear little relation to the dress of ordinary Frenchwomen as seen on the Paris streets; they look very much as do women of the same kind in London. The weather veers between rain and snow, with a sudden fine gusty day: it is treacherous, and women are wrapped in their big black coats, scarves or furs enveloping the throat. The fact that the French follow the American fashion of having their great black coats lined with scarlet, lemon or a vivid jade is undiscoverable on the streets, though it gives a great look of gaiety to restaurants and tearooms.

The "American line" is greatly admired in Paris. It consists of long-leggedness, a trick of walking from the hip, the back upright, the head accurately aligned with the supple spine, the outfit topped with a tiny hat. (It consists also of dollars).

The American passion for wearing white even in midwinter, for perfect grooming, constant pressing and constant relaundering of white details, delights the French Themselves plump, they greatly admire the long, lean build of their American customers. What they cannot undertand is the desire of women of all ages to acquire the look of a "Junior Miss"; the French jeune fille has no importance at all. Only married women looking married, have the money to spend on good dressing

The American fashion editors (seven or nine for each American glossy fashion journal attend every dress show) were a great disappointment to the French audience, for they were hardly to be distinguished from the others around them.

This year they all wore black, were soberly hatted, and any passion for display was confined to four or five rows of monster pearls at their throats, a uniform adornment. Miss Marjorie Dunton, broadcasting daily to American on fashion in Paris, looked across at the rows of them at one collection and murmured "Those oysters have sure worked overtime."

Yet already the French begin to wear the new straw hats, worn forward on the forehead, just a few livening up the blackness of street dress. And soon, under those big enveloping coats, they will be wearing copies, exact, true, of the closely guarded secrets of the great dress houses.

So long as their "petities mains", the little apprentice workgirls, are underpaid, so long will toiles (canvass patterns of the model) find their mysterious way into the back dressmaking rooms of cheap blocks of flats where their aunts, mothers and grandmothers copy them for private clients who know how to keep quiet about their source.

That is why, under the black wrap - coat, the Frenchwoman maintains her reputation for being the best-dressed woman in the world, "French" being synonymous with "Parisian".

Occupying the lower part of the house were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hewitt and their two daughters, Marilyn 7, and Linda 5, and their son Billy, 9. The apartment above is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown and their five-month-old infant son.

Major damage was caused to the Hewitt property. Kitchen furnishings, refrigerator, cupboards, dishes and other household utensils were included in the loss. The one-storey kitchen roof was completely destroyed and the whole room may have to be rebuilt.

A neighbor, Arthur Conlin, discovered the flames as he stepped out of a taxi when he returned home for the night. He telephoned in the alarm at the residence of Mrs. Mary Hobbins and then warned the three families.

Mr. Garvey at about the same time, had noticed smoke coming in his window and had seen the shed on fire when he investigated. The sleeping children were bundled off to Mrs. Hobbins for the night. Later several of them went to the home of Mrs. Clarence Courneyea, another Lake St. resident.

"The children are spread all over town, I couldn't tell you where they all are at the moment," Mr. Garvey told the Examiner today.

He estimated that it will be another week before the house will be fit for habitation. Ice from water used in fighting the fire covers the kitchen floor of his premises as well as that of the Hewitts.

Oil Tank Exploded

A 15-gallon container of fuel oil exploded in the shed and this sent tongues of flame leaping from the doomed wooden structure into the basement of the adjacent brick homes. The blaze spread through the basement of the Hewitt premises and then ate through into that of the Garveys.

Some furniture and clothing in the shed were completely destroyed and the shed is a total loss and the charred skeleton will have to be torn down. Ironically enough, another quantity of fuel oil stored in the shed, did not ignite despite the intense heat.

Firemen found the blaze a difficult one to tackle. The sub-zero temperature slowed down the effectiveness of the men as they found it difficult to keep their footing on the ice. At least two hose lines became frozen during the firefighting operations.

Much of the children's clothing hanging in the kitchen was soaked and subsequently froze, and it must be considered a complete loss.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

W. W. Cruthers, one of the party of Canadian curlers who recently returned from an extended tour of Scotland, was busy over the weekend relating to his friends the highlights of the trip. The boys sure did have one grand time.

With a little more than two weeks to go, the entry for the Ostrander Trophy men's bonspiel is growing day by day. If you intend entering a rink, do so at once; a day or two delay may be just that much too late.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) night games in the Viceskips' bonspiel at 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. Consult the chart for information.

T. Doughty, F. Stenson, Dr. McCartney and R. F. Downey are skipping rinks in the annual mixed rink bonspiel at Lindsay today.

The winning rinks in Saturday's men's bonspiel were skipped by A. L. Jeffries, H. Baptie, V. Brown and I. McGowan.

The winners in the evening mixed rink games were C. Giroux and D. Bell.

This little poem came to us from Joe Batten, a brother of F. Batten. It's from the St. Andrew's Curling Club, N. S.

A feller never earns a drink when curling:
He's paid with friends and happy times when curling:
And when he lays his broom away
He hopes his friends will of him say
"He 'played the game' from day to day;
That's curling."

Benefit Tilt Held For Injured Boy

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27 — (ENS)—In a clean hockey game in Campbellford on Saturday, the local TVL team defeated Trenton OHA intermediate "B" team by the score of 8-5. The players donated their services for the night, to play this exhibition game for the benefit of young Jack Holmes, of the Campbellford bantam team, who was injured in a game against the Ajax bantams. Holmes received the business end of a goal-stick in the mouth, and left the ice minus six front teeth. Dental surgeons who have examined the boy say that a new partial denture will have to be fitted about every six months, due to his tender years. An operation was necessary to remove the splintered teeth from the boy's jaw. The local hockey authorities decided something should be done, so arranged an exhibition game with the Trenton team.

Bernard Allen, manager of the bantam team, has now also taken over the job of coach, replacing "Toey" Ibey, who is no longer with the team. Mr. Allen, who is known in local circles as "Bun", will have the boys under his wing the rest of the season.

200 Young Skiers Attend School

Skis, harness, poles and 200 young enthusiasts were loaded into four buses and numerous cars Saturday morning for the ski school at Kempt's Hill. The school was to have opened several times in January but Mother Nature limited the snow in the area. Friday the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club made the hurried decision to start the school. It will operate every Saturday morning as long as there is snow.

"Highly successful" was the comment by Alex Sinclair, recreation director. He added that the school's success was due to the co-operation of all concerned, especially the public school principals who notified the pupils at the last moment of the opening of the ski school.

Mollie Craig, ski club delegate to the Travelling Ski School, said the ski club instructors were surprised at the high standard of skiing for the age of the children, 10 to 15 years old. She added that the skiers were taught "controlled skiing and the use of the tow.

For the purpose of teaching the children properly they were divided into two groups, those 11 years and under and those over. The younger group were taught how to use the tow in the first half hour while the older class were taught the fundamentals of skiing. They changed places for the next half hour and then joined together for the last hour.

Members of the ski club acting as instructors were: Toby Westbye, Vic Griffiths, Judy Strickland, Mary Dodds, Dave Johnson, Bev Martin, Bob White Mollie Craig and Ted McCaig.

Wants UK Agriculture Freed Of Politics

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(CP). — Sir James Turner, president of the National Farmers' Union, believes that Britain's vast agricultural industry should be "lifted clear" out of politics.

He told the annual meeting of the 200,000-member N.F.U. that agriculture "should be guarded from encroachment with the same zeal a prudent nation applies to the husbanding of its gold reserves."

Appealing for increased food production to maintain the standard of living as Marshall aid comes to an end in 1952, he said waste of good home produce could not be tolerated.

He told farmers that withdrawal of subsidies on fertilizers and feeding stuffs this year would increase food production costs by £15,000,000 ($46,500,000).

Old Engine Has Strange Visitor

TIMAGAMI, Ont., Feb. 27—(CP)—Engine No. 311, an old war horse of the Ontario Northland Railway, has pulled a lot of freight in her day, but none quite like the bundle she took on at 11:40 p.m. Saturday night.

Flagged to a halt near Redwater, 10 miles souht of here, 311 blew off steam in the 12-below-zero temperature, while Mrs. Roland Rangers, an emergency maternity case, was taken aboard. The community has been isolated by winter snows and there was no other way to get Mrs. Ranger to hospital.

Five minutes later in the caboose, 18 cars behind, a blue-eyed girl was added to 311's cargo.

Credit for the baby's safe delivery was given by the train crew to Mrs. Ranger's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Ranger of Timagami.

The surrender of some 4,000 Boers at Paardeberg on February 27, 1900, came at approximately the same time as the news of the relief of Ladysmith. It was the turn of the tide as the Natal invaders retreated to the mountains and other Boer troops retired at Cape Colony.

Hints from the presidents of the republics that they would accept the status quo of pre-war days were rejected by Lord Salisbury.

Losses Were Heavy

The Boers entrenched themselves in the dry bed of the Modder River. On February 18 they were attacked from both sides but their accurate rifle fire cut down the advancing British infantry. By nightfall losses were so heavy that Lord Roberts broke off the engagement, the Boer position still untaken.

After letting the Boers starve for nine days Roberts renewed the attack on February 27. Canadian troops, fighting for the first time outside of Canada as a unit, joined with the other British forces in forcing the Modder River despite the heavy Mauser fire from Boer riflemen hiding in the long grass.

A final bayonet charge in the afternoon won the position and the 4,000 Boers under their commander, General P. A. Cronje, surrendered.

Alderman Adam Sands, chairman of the city council Legal and Reception Committee, took the chair at the civic banquet given to the grizzled warriors. Mayor M. J. Swanston brought greetings of the residents of Peterborough.

Jack Playford thanked the main speaker. A social evening followed.

Says Chaperones Make Latins Good Lovers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 (AP)—Now I know why Latins are noted as lovers. It's because of chaperones.

Sounds paradoxical, doesn't it? But listen to Ricardo Montalban, latest heart throb of the bobby-soxers, explain why Latins have the reputation of being great lovers:

"Latins develop great ability at love making because it is a necessity. It all stems back to the customs of the country. In Mexico for instance, a man has little time to tell his loved one all the things he wants to.

Only A Few Minutes

"The girls are constantly chaperoned, so the boys have to take advantage of the few minutes they can find to be alone with their sweethearts. They have to accomplish in a few moments what the American male can take a whole evening to say

"Latins rely more on words than action. They are much more effusive than the average lover. They put all their feeling into words."

Montalban is happily married and the father of three.

Don't Taunt Him

Before coming to Hollywood, Montalban appeared in 13 Mexican pictures between 1941 and 1945.

"In Hollywood, I made one picture, then I was off for a whole year. I made another picture and was off for another year. But now I'm on my fourth straight picture and I go right into another one.

"However, I'm glad I wasn't rushed to stardom right away. I think it's a false security. You can topple too easily. I'd much rather take it slow and prove what I can do."

Incidentally, don't taunt the lad about his lover roles. He has one of the best builds in Hollywood and has learned to box for "Right Cross."

Men Plead Innocent To Contempt

See Poorer Families Searching Streets For Boards To Burn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — (AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers today pleaded innocent to contempt charges resulting from the failure of 372,000 miners to return to work under court order.

The Union waived its right to argue its case before a jury, and decided to let Judge Richmond B. Keech rule on the evidence as well as the law.

The big question is whether the Union is responsible for the refusal of the coal miners to go back to work.

Keech issued an order Feb. 11 for a return to work, but the miners have ignored it.

The union's counsel have contended that the miners are acting individually—that the union itself has nothing to do with the present strike.

Efforts Futile

Once the union's plea was formally entered, the government began attempting to show that the union is responsible for keeping the mines idle to the point of a national coal famine.

The case came to trial after a weekend of frantic but futile efforts to get a settlement of the coal contract dispute that might have let the government drop the charges.

Federal negotiators forced a Sunday session. They kept it running into the early hours of this morning. But the union and the operators could not get together.

In the coal fields, meantime the 372,000 miners doggedly stuck to their refusal to work without a new contract despite the court's orders and the snow-balling hardship over the country from lack of coal.

The possibility of a multi-million dollar fine against the union prompted the Sunday negotiations.

May Stiffen Resistance

With the coal shortage already crippling much of the United States, some officials feared that a heavy court penalty against the union might serve merely to stiffen the miners' resistance—besides throwing a new obstacle in the path of the negotiators.

In addition to the 372,000 miners some 180,000 workers were left idle by the long strike, as coal-using industries ran out of fuel.

In many sections schools closed down. Some cities instituted brownouts to save coal; some put rationing into effect. A number of cities and states declared emergencies as chilly temperatures gripped large sections of the country.

In the coal fields, the president of the UMW's biggest local summed up miners' feelings this way:

Expect Train Services Will Be Continued In Canada Without Cuts

Gordon Says Supply Now Available Can Keep Trains Running At Present Level Despite US Tie-Up

MONTREAL, Feb. 27—(CP)—Donald Gordon, Canadian National Railways president, said today that the railway expects to be able to continue its train services at present levels pending a settlement of the labor dispute which is tying up United States coal mines. The C.N.R. introduced a 25-per-cent, system-wide cut in steam - operated passenger service last Jan. 9 because of the shortage of coal resulting from the tie-up in U.S. mines, the railways' major source of fuel.

The C.N.R. said in a press release that Mr. Gordon had been questioned regarding the railways' position in the face of the continuing U.S. tie-up.

Will Manage

Mr. Gordon said:

"The Canadian National expects to be able to continue its train services at the present levels pending a settlement of the labor difficulties at the mines in the United States. This expectation is based upon the fuel position of the railway as of today.

"The railway continues to spread its own available coal over the system as a whole so that no drastic coal shortage is allowed to develop in any one area; it has secured special supplies of suitable coal from Canadian mines and from certain large industrial users having stock piles. The curtailment in passenger train service has conserved coal on the railway by 50,000 tons up to this time."

Canadian Pacific Railway which said it had adequate coal supplies, has not cut its passenger service in Canada.

Three Failed Find Pulse In Dying Woman

MANCHESTER, NH, Feb. 27—(AP). — Nurse Elizabeth Rose testified today that three persons tried vainly to find a pulse beat in a dying cancer patient a few minutes before Dr. Herman N. Sander arrived at her bedside last December.

Dr. Sander is on trial for first-degree murder accused of ending the agony of Mrs. Abbie Borroto by injecting air into her veins last December 4.

In her second day on the witness stand, Miss Rose was carefully led through the events of that morning until 11 a.m. when she said "I was unable to get her pulse."

Find No Pulse

The nurse added that Mrs. Mabel Gerard, also aiding her in caring for Mrs. Borroto, took a turn in feeling for a pulse and said she could not find one.

"I went into the hall and I met Dr. (Albert) Snay. I asked him to come in and check the patient."

Q.—Did he?

A.—Yes. He said he could not get any (pulse).

Earlier, defence counsel told newspaper men Dr. Snay would testify that Mrs. Borroto was dead before given any air injections by Dr. Sander.

Miss Rose testified Dr. Snay left the room after using the stethoscope, telling her he "heard nothing."

Announce Treaty To Increase Niagara Power

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Completion of a new Canada-United States hydro power treaty, designed to increase power production on the Niagara River, today was announced in the Commons by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Mr. Pearson said the treaty, signed in Washington, will result in greater diversion of water power from the river for power-producing purposes. It supersedes temporary wartime power arrangements and the old Niagara power diversion treaty approved 41 years ago.

The treaty, if ratified by Congress, will:

1. Fix the minimum flow of water over the scenic Niagara Falls and allow Ontario and New York State to divide the rest of the water between them for power purposes.

2. Make more water available to the two countries for power purposes. There was no estimate as to how much more water would be available.

Preserve Beauty

3. Put into force arrangements for preserving the scenic beauty of the falls and rapids by the construction of an unbroken crestline on the falls. This work is to start four years after the recommendations are approved by both countries.

Mr. Pearson said the minimum Niagara flow for scenic purposes will fluctuate between 50,000 and 100,000 cubic feet per second.

The remainder of the water will be divided equally between the two countries for power purposes. Normally, Canada gets more water than the U.S., since one Ontario company produces power for export to the U.S. Mr. Pearson said once the new arrangements are completed, power export licences will not be renewed, unless "such a course is desirable."

Chemong House Burned While Family Out Driving

Tuning in the car radio while out for a drive with the family Sunday afternoon, Donald Dalton learned from the radio announcer that his home at Chemong Park was on fire. By the time he returned he found the frame house totally destroyed, with a few articles of furniture saved by nearby residents.

This is the second house to be destroyed by fire in Chemong Park in a little more than two months.

The fire has made Mr. and Mrs. Dalton and their four children, Betty, 12, Donald, 9, and Barry 5 and Douglas, nine months, homeless and possessing little more than the clothes they were wearing for the Sunday afternoon drive.

Call Neighbors

Mrs. Morris Hurtubise, who lives two cottages away from the Dalton's, was the first to see the fire. She looked out of her kitchen window and saw flames in the upstairs part of the Dalton's house.

Mr. Hurtubise called two neighbors, Gordon Townsend and Ed Clark and together the three men broke into the burning house. They rescued a washing machine, record player, radio, kitchen table and chairs from the house before the intense heat from above forced them out of the building.

Mr. Dalton, who took out additional insurance on the house and contents shortly after the fire in December which totally destroyed the Chappell home in the Park, does not know the cause of the fire. The stove had been well checked before the family left for the drive and only a month ago the stove pipes had been cleaned. He believes defective wiring may have been the cause.

Mr. Dalton is a C.G.E. employee. Shortly after the full extent of the loss was realized a relief fund was opened and the Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth is treasurer.

At present their is no fire fighting organization for Chemong Park and Bridgenorth area. A committee was organized several weeks ago to try and gain the support of taxpayers to form a fire area and purchase fire fighting equipment for the village of Bridgenorth, Chemong Park and surrounding area.

Factory Expert Burglar On Side

DETROIT, Feb. 27 —(AP)—A man who by day was a well-dressed factory personnel expert but who admitted, officers said that he was a burglar at night, was held by police today.

Detectives said Leslie Christopher Potter, 40, actually estimated that he looted 1,000 Detroit homes of $80,000 in valuables and $15,000 in cash over a seven-year period. Police will ask a burglary warrant.

Potter declared that burglary was his avocation, and he had operated in 22 states before becoming a $4,500-a-year personnel qualifer for the Hudson Motor Car Company.

Detectives quoted him as saying he spent money as he got it, "mostly on presents for some 500 friends.

Questioning brought out Potter's strange tale after stolen property was found in his apartment and in a bus terminal checkroom.

The detectives quoted Potter's statement in part:

"After leaving my job at the factory. I would have dinner. Then I followed my avocation between 8 and 10 p.m. . . . I always chose single, middle-class homes where there would be no servants."

City Terrorized As Leopard Still At Large

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27 — (AP) — A new and more desperate search was to begin today for the wild leopard that re-entered its zoo home Sunday night and then eluded a dramatic stalk by 30 hunters.

Giant floodlights illuminated the fenced-in area as the armed searchers patrolled the heavily-wooded 20 acres in automobiles for two hours. But the cagy cat, just a few weeks out of an Indian jungle, once more outmanoeuvred his would-be killers.

Now four dogs are to set their noses today to the trail of the savage beast that attendants say may "kill something any time."

The leopard hasn't eaten since Saturday, zoo director Julian Frazier warned, and his hunger will make him even more dangerous.

"Besides that, his nature leads him to kill just for pleasure," he added.

The only tangible clue to the animal's presence in the zoo were the hairs caught under the rough edge of the fence where he was reported seen by two guards just before 1 a.m.

Examining the hairs, Frazier nodded in affirmation:

"There's no doubt about it, these are leopard hairs, and our cat snaked in here today."

But as to the whereabouts of the 200 pounds of jungle fury, Frazier couldn't say. It escaped unseen from this same enclosure Saturday after springing 18 feet from it pit in the zoo.

Afternoon visitors scattered in panic before the animal's advance but he slinked into the heavy underbrush. Since then he has led hundreds of hunters through two days of weary tramping the countryside for 15 miles to the north and east.

He was spotted three times, but always from a distance, and immediately disappeared again.

Farm families in the zoo area have been warned to stay at home and keep their cattle penned up. Women and children should be accompanied by an armed escort if they must leave home, Police warned.

The leopard, captured in India less than 60 days ago, is described as particularly vicious.

Says Hydrogen Bomb Could Kill All Humans

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—(AP)—The hydrogen bomb could be rigged to create a dust cloud of death killing all humans in the world, Dr. Leo Szilard, one of the top atomic scientists in the United States, said yesterday.

It could be turned into a world suicide bomb. There would be no escape for anyone, Szilard said.

Szilard, biophysicist of the University of Chicago concurred with three other authorities about this possibility. They agreed:

The cloud would be radioactive dust. It would be carried everywhere by the winds and would poison the air. It would settle to earth, contaminating every plant and everything that humans use in living.

To Conduct Case

LONDON, Feb. 27—(Reuters)—Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross will personally conduct the Crown's case against scientist Klaus Fuchs, accused of betraying atom secrets to Russia, Sir Hartley's office said today. The trial will probably begin Wednesday morning.

Train Strikes Car Carrying Skiers

Five Peterborough residents, on a skiing excursion to Bethany, narrowly missed serious injury shortly before noon Saturday when their car was struck by a train at the Kendry crossing on Highway 28.

Occupants were Miss Norma Whittaker, Cricket Place, driver; Miss Phyllis Marshall, Reid St.; D. Allen, 184 Elm St.; R. B. Walker, King St., and Miss P. Alcock, Latimer St.

Miss Whittaker told Provincial Police she saw the wigwag at the crossing but when she applied the brakes they did not hold on the slippery highway. The front of the car edged over the tracks into the path of the eastbound CPR express.

The express struck the front of the car and knocked it sideways into the ditch. Damage is set at nearly $1,000.

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling investigated.

Federal Board Hears Rail Union Brief

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP). — A union brief, placed before a Federal Conciliation Board hearing a wages-and-hours dispute between the railways and their employees, said today the record of the 40-hour week in its application to United States railways completely refutes cost estimates submitted by Canadian railways in earlier hearings.

The brief was submitted on behalf of the 15 international brotherhoods who are demanding the 40-hour week in place of the present 48-hour week plus a general 7-cents-an-hour wage increase.

The railways in earlier hearings had opposed the union demands. They contended the demands could not be met without increasing freight rates, that the economic conditions in Canada ould not be compared with those the US, and that rail wages d working conditions compare orably with those in the US.

Sixth Grade Pupil Kills Fox With Hands

Bogs Down In Red Tape After Slick Job Of Getting Catch

MORRISTOWN, N.J., Feb 27—The boy who ran down a fox Friday night was bogged down in forms which he must make out to collect a $3 bounty.

Theodore Lovenberg, a sixth grade pupil, is the unhappy victim of red tape. And it all began after a hunt by the Essex Hunt Club had ended in frustration, fatigue and disguest of horses, riders and hounds.

But not for the fox. My no. The fox got away and would be wearing his brush and ears intact had he not tangled with young Master Lovenberg.

Young Lovenberg, it seems, has a quick eye for a dollar. He had heard that New Jersey paid a bounty for dead foxes. Friday he was out sleighing with his sister Elsie and their black cocker, Boots, when Boots began to bark. Both children turned to look. "It's a starving, stray dog," said Theodore.

Chase On

"It's fox," said Elsie. And with that the chase was on, the fox running first, Boots running second, and Theodore showing a fast third. When the fox went to ground in a hole, Boots went after him. When the fox emerged Theodore was waiting. He put his entire 85 pounds into the barehanded struggle and when he got through the fox was dead.

He went to police headquarters with the dead animal but police knew nothing about bounties. He went to the sheriff and the sheriff directed him to one of the Fish and Game Commission wardens.

"All we want are the tips of the ears," Theodore was told there.

The carcass remained overnight in the Lovenberg backyard. Next morning Theodore snipped off the ears and started for the game wardens. The game warden told him that he had snipped plenty of ear but he had to fill in the forms—three of them.

So now Theodore is back home studying over the forms. He hopes to have them all filled out and the $3 in his pocket by today. But there remains the question of the fox's carcass. Some members of the family want Theodore to dispose of it.

But Theodore won't permit that. It seems there's a rumor around that furriers will pay $3 or $4 for the pelt if it isn't spoiled. So Theodore is looking into that, too.

Tourists Paying Shot

Nibbling Off Dollars Big Business In Europe

ALGIERS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Tourism, the business of collecting dollars from tourists who have them, has become the biggest single business of non-Communist Europe.

Theodore J. Pozzy, chief of the Marshall plan's travel section, said here recently that "few of the officials and legislators who hammered out the Marshall plan law in 1948 . . . foresaw the magnitude which American travel would reach."

For example, Pozzy told a recent Marshall plan conference in Algiers, "American travel has far outstripped textiles as the British nation's biggest dollar-earner."

In France, he said, dollars spent by United States tourists equal 60 per cent of the dollar revenue derived from all other exports combined. It is hoped here that a lot of Americans will revisit the French North Africa they saw as soldiers eight years ago.

Pozzy said the goal of the travel section of the Economic Co-operation Administration—the Marshall plan's legal name—is $500,000,000 for 1952, not including the cost of transatlantic transportation.

This amount is the total which ECA hopes countries participating in the Marshall plan will reap as tourist revenue in the final year of the program.

The Marshall plan has funds available for "worthwhile projects for the expansion of hotel facilities" to accommodate tourists.

Pozzy listed lack of proper hotels, delays at frontiers and difficulties on interchanging currencies as three main stumbling blocks to travel which the Marshall plan countries were now working to remove.

Planes Bomb U.S. Freighter

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (Reuters)—The American freighter Pioneer Dale was bombed and strafed today by a number of unidentified aircraft of Tsingtao, China, the ship radioed her agents here. No details were available immediately.

Tsingtao is 300 miles north of Shanghai.

The vessel, bound from Manila to Hong Kong, was due at Kong March 3. There were no further reports from the ship, but the agents here believe that Chinese Nationalist bombrs made the attack.

A Japanese radio station at Nagasaki picked up a message from the freighter reporting one member of the crew had been slightly injured and the vessel was making her way for the open sea.

Woman Wounds Husband At Cards

SUDBURY, Feb. 27 (CP) — Mrs. Addie McGaughey, 29, of Little Current, is awaiting trial on a charge of wounding her husband, John, 36, in what police say was a card-game stabbing.

She was charged Saturday, taken before Magistrate W. J. Golden at Little Current and remanded eight days. Later she was brought to jail here.

Police said the husband suffered a wound in the abdomen Friday night. Both the woman and the husband said the injury was caused by a fall on a sharp stick while cutting wood.

But, after investigating, police charged the woman with stabbing her husband with a kitchen butcher knife during a card game argument.

Germany Lifts Steel Embargo To Russ Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 27—(AP)—West Germany lifted an Allied-sponsored embargo on steel exports to the Russian zone Sunday and advocated more trade with the East.

East German sources showed unconcealed elation and announced they will seek new talks on trade expansion this week.

The steel ban, which went into effect Feb. 8, was eliminated after two weeks of bargaining behind closed doors in East Berlin.

Negotiators of the two rival German republics, one supported by Russia and the other by the western powers, issued a joint communique which avoided using the word republic at all.

Detour Issue

Instead, they detoured a bitter diplomatic issue by referring only to the east mark and west mark currency areas.

Both areas agreed that their trade pact, which has four more months to run, should be considerably expanded.

Both agreed they would not clamp on any embargo in the future without first talking it over together.

The Russian-zone Germans assented to the West's demands that eastern buying be spread over more western industries than steel alone, and that steel orders be in a constant volume instead of crowded into a short period.

The easterners also pledged themselves to make up their deficit in deliveries of their own products to the West.

UK Rail, Shipbuilding Wages Under Review

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters)—Employers and unions will this week take decisions on wage pay claims affecting about 3,000,000 British workers, in the railroad, engineering and shipbuilding industries.

On these decisions the future of the government's wage-restraint policy may depend.

Today the railway executive, which controls the nationalized railways, will inform the national union of railwaymen of its decision on the demands for a £5 ($15.50) a week minimum for about 200,000 workers in the lower-paid grades.

Employees in the nationalized docks, canal, railway-catering and railway workshop services have already had similar wage claims rejected.

To Investigate News Dispatches

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27 (AP)—A congressional investigating committee ordered examination today of all incoming news dispatches "unfriendly to the economic policy" of the government which appear in Argentine newspapers.

The committee, investigating methods used by those who opposed the election of Juan D. Peron as president in 1946, said such dispatches have already been published in the large independent newspapers La Nacion and La Prensa.

The two newspapers have been at odds with the Peron regime for a long time.

The committee did not say it would censor incoming dispatches but directed its auditors to furnish a "synthesis" of allegedly unfriendly stories which have appeared in a Le Prensa and La Nacion.

The committee also ordered its auditors to report on how much foreign exchange is spent by the two newspapers for services of foreign news agencies.

In the last three months the committee has examined the account books of about half of Argentina's 350 daily newspapers and closed 60 of them.

UAW Leaders Urge Board Report Rejected

WINDSOR, Feb. 27 —(CP)—Leaders of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) have recommended that a Conciliation Board's report on pensions negotiations be rejected.

They have called a general meeting of the Local's 11,000 members for next Sunday to discuss rejection of the board's findings in the negotiations with the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

They also asked endorsation of the union's criticism of the report's findings and of what union leaders termed the "lack of impartiality" of the two members of the three-man board who supported the majority view.

The majority decision supported Ford's offer of $55-a-month pensions at retirement age of 65. The union asked $100 a month, the same amount it is asking from Chrysler Corporation of Canada.

Russia Creates Navy Ministry

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Russia has created a Navy Ministry free from control by the Ministry of the Armed Forces to emphasize the Soviet Union's increasing importance as a sea power.

The presidium of the Supreme Soviet issued a decree Saturday establishing the new ministry, and appointed Admiral Ivan Stepanovich Yumashev to head it. Yumashev was formerly deputy minister of the armed forces and commander-in-chief of the Soviet fleet.

Experts here believe that the navy was rewarded for successful completion of the tasks assigned it under the 1946-1950 five-year plan by creation of its own ministry.

One of the tasks assigned in 1946 was the creation of a new sea route by 1950 through the Arctic Ocean north of Siberia from European Russia to the Pacific. Others were a great addition to the merchant marine and the building of new ports.

Informed foreign observers here believe Russia has made great strides in its drive to match its land strength with sea power.

The Russians themselves consider the Soviet Union a great naval power.

Fire In Garage Causes Heavy Damage To Car

Heavy damage was caused by a fire that broke out in a garage early Saturday evening at 585 Bolivar St. Before firemen could extinguish the flames the upholstery of a 15-year-old car was considerably damaged and the shed itself was an estimated $500 loss.

A 60-watt light bulb was the indirect cause of the blaze.

Bernard Pammett decided to warm up his car battery by laying the bulb on the battery and covering the whole with a blanket. The idea was successful—only too much so.

Heat from the bulb started the blanket smouldering and it then burst into flame. From there the fire spread to the upholstery of the car and eventually to the garage itself.

Bunyon Legend Threshed Out By Woodsmen

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Feb. 27 — (CP). — Another legendary figure is going to get a good going over. Historians, residents of International Falls, Minn., and old-time woodsmen will be in on it.

Paul Bunyan, who, if legend is believed, axed down large trees with one stroke and performed other Herculean deeds, is going to be discussed seriously by a group of old-timers presided over by Len Costley of International Falls. And it's fairly certain other residents will add their comment.

Costley was asked for advice on the origin of the Bunyan legend by Rodney C. Loehr, director of the Forest Products History Foundation, St. Paul, Minn.

He was selected for the job because of his reputation locally as being "the only living Paul Bunyan." Costley is well known from Winnipeg to Sudbury, having portrayed his famous Bunyan role in various towns and cities.

Over Six Feet

Like the original Bunyan, Costley is well over six feet tall.

He says he has his own ideas on the matter but wants the opinions of other old-timers as well. Therefore, he had arranged a meeting of all old-timers in this International border area.

Among those he invited is Robert Mitchell, veteran woods and sawmill man, who started working in Eastern Ontario during the early 1890s. He is a retired paper-mill employee.

In a letter to Costley, Loehr wrote: "Our evidence is conflicting. Some have told us about hearing stories in the 1880s and 1890s."

If the legend is proven, then historians will be able to add another completed chapter to their books.

But there is also a possibility the legend of Paul Bunyan will be cut down as fast as he was reputed to have chopped down a tree.

Ratepayers Object To Slaughterhouse

COBOURG, Feb. 27 (ENS) — Judgment was reserved by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in connection with a charge laid under the Public Health Act against Nick Peconi of Bailieboro. Peconi was charged with operating a slaughterhouse for the slaughter of horses, without the consent of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. The slaughtering of the horses took place on Peconi's farm in South Monaghan township.

Allan Field of Cobourg appeared on behalf of the prosecution and A. L. Elliott, KC, of Peterborough for the defendant. Peconi is a former resident of Smith township, in Peterborough county.

Visited the Farm

Dr. D. Damude, food and dairy inspector for the Health unit, testified that he visited the Peconi farm on November 9 in 1949, accompanied by Mr. Finlayson, chief sanitary inspector of the health unit. It was apparent that slaughtering of horses had been going on and the premises were not properly equipped for this work. Twenty horses were in the coral. On November 14 a notice was sent by Dr. MacCharles, senior medical officer of health, notifying Peconi that he was to desist from the slaughtering business. Reason for the order was that the township council of South Monaghan would not grant permission, he said.

On November 29, continued Dr. Damude, he visited Peconi's farm again and found that slaughtering of horses was still going on. Peconi told him that the meat was for mink farms. He told Dr. Damude that he was doubtful as to what action he should take and so it was arranged that he meet with Dr. MacCharles in Cobourg. On December 9 he went to Peconi's farm again and slaughtering was still in progress. Peconi, when asked what he intended to do about it, said that he would continue to operate the slaughterhouse until stopped.

Counsel for the defendant asked Dr. Damude how it was that a Mr. Beebe on a neighboring farm was allowed to slaughter without a license. Witness replied that it was his understanding that not only was Mr. Beebe killing on a small scale but it was for his own use on his mink farm.

"Have you not heard that entrails and bones are left by Mr. Beebe in an open field for animals and flies to devour," asked Mr. Elliott.

Dr. Damude replied that he had heard no complaints concerning Mr. Beebe. It was his understanding that the horses were killed for meat for his minks.

John Finlayson, chief sanitary inspector, said that he had visited the Peconi farm on September 30, 1949 with Reeve Harry Campbell of South Monaghan. The council had been informed that Peconi was making a slaughterhouse and he was requested to go there and see what was going on. On November 9 he visited the place with Dr. Damude. On Nov. 29, he went there again and it was evident that slaughtering had been going on. A further visit was made on December 9. The township council or the health unit can grant a permit for a slaughterhouse but in either case it is the job of the health unit to see that the premises are inspected.

Watch Sanitary Conditions

To defence counsel, Mr. Finlayson said that the main function of the health unit was to see that proper sanitary conditions were maintained. He said that he had visited Mr. Beebe's farm on November 29, 1949, and was informed by Mr. Beebe that he was killing for his own use on his mink farm. There was no inspection made.

"You told Mr. Peconi that he would have to build a six foot wall, a cement floor and have a septic tank. Did you tell Mr. Beebe to put in a septic tank?" asked Mr. Elliott.

Mr. Finlayson replied that no inspection was made of Mr. Beebe's premises and he had not told him of any requirements that would have to be carried out. Mr. Beebe had told him that he was not slaughtering for the purpose of selling meat outside.

To the magistrate, witness said that the township council had brought the Peconi matter to the attention of the health unit. If the township council granted a license, the job of the health unit was to see that the slaughterhouse was operated in a manner which would conform with the health unit regulations in that respect. If the township council refused to grant a permit, the health unit does nothing.

Ratepayers Object

Reeve Harry Campbell told of going with Mr. Finlayson to the Peconi farm in Sept. after Dr. MacCharles had informed the council that the sanitary inspector would be going to the farm. On Oct. 3, following a discussion by the township council, the secretary sent a letter to Mr. Peconi advising him that a permit would not be granted him to operate a slaughterhouse. Dr. MacCharles had written about the slaughterhouse and there was also a request from the ratepayers against the slaughterhouse. The township council told Peconi in their letter that they were not in favour of him operating a slaughterhouse and that a permit would not be granted. Peconi kept on slaughtering horses and there was a petition against it, Reeve Campbell said.

In reply to a question from defence counsel, Reeve Campbell said that there had never been a complaint about Beebe.

"Do you believe in the right of any person to make a living?" asked Mr. Elliott.

"We do, but only so long as what they do does not constitute a nuisance. I believe that there were complains about Peconi where he was before," replied Reeve Campbell.

"I can bring a sanitary inspector from Smith Township, where Mr. Peconi had a slaughter house before he was burned out, who can testify that he operated his business properly," Mr. Elliott declared.

"I told Mr. Peconi when he moved into South Monaghan Township that we didn't object to him as a citizen. He was welcome to farm among us but we said to him that we didn't like his trade nor did 95 per cent of the ratepayers of this township," said Reeve Campbell.

"In other words you condemn him before you see how he was going to carry out his work," observed Magistrate Baxter.

"You can't operate one of those things without creating an obnoxious smell, no matter how careful you are. There are places already established to do this work and that is the place where we would rather see the horses go than be slaughtered in our township. I never heard any complaints about Beebe and I understand that a man can kill for feeding his own fur bearing animals," said Reeve Campbell.

"Then no matter what steps Mr. Peconi takes to minimize any smell, they still don't want it because they feel it is a detriment to the municipality, whether he complies with every regulation or not, you don't want it. Is that the situation", asked the magistrate.

Reeve Campbell replied that such was the case.

Peconi and two employees, Pat Calnan and Jack Adams, testified that that Mr. Finlayson had come in August and had outlined certain constructions that would have to be made to comply with the regulations. Peconi had operated a slaughterhouse in Smith Township for five years but the place had burned down so he moved to South Monaghan. The work which Mr. Finlayson specified in August was done by the time of his September visit. Later the township council turned them down and they were ordered to cease operations by the health unit.

Chimerical Federal Building

It really seems this time that Peterborough is to have it—the federal building proposed and promised in 1914, and re-promised a dozen times in the subsequent thirty-five years. Last week both the Minister of Public Works and the Deputy Minister definitely asserted that the building will be erected during the next fiscal year. Plans are already on paper and will receive final revision during the next several weeks. The building is in no way a political sop; in fact, Peterborough's M.P. sits opposite the Government. It is a necessity, and has been for a long while. The present Victorian Post Office, and its old-maid sister the Customs House, equally raddled and down-at-the-heel, were built when the population was about 15,000. They were not designed to serve an urban centre of 36,000 and a present total of 50,000 in and beyond the city limits.

• • •

We shall not now question the appropriateness of the site, the second one bought by the Government (in 1938) for the purpose. When the city has at long last a firm assurance that the building will go up, we would not risk suggestions which might give the Government any excuse for postponement. The building will be erected on the large lot at the corner of Charlotte and Louis streets. Certainly that section needs a face-lifting. Some shambles of little old buildings now on the lot will be razed. There are other structures on Charlotte and Louis street which are now blots to the city's central section: perhaps something will be done to improve them.

• • •

Is there any hope that the new Federal Building will be so designed as to allow for a garden lot at the east side, fronting the Jackson Park creek? Some time, in some generation, the creek may be redeemed from commerce that now obliterates it, and a public garden path put along it on the west side—a 'breathing space' in the heart of the city. To have this and lawns and flower-beds of the new Federal Building conjoined would make an attractive and valuable pleasance.

• • •

It is to be hoped that the Federal architects will not design blindly without, taking into account the character of Peterborough and the special features of the site.

The Celts And Their Languages

Eamon de Valera is increasing his efforts to preserve the ancient language of Ireland. We feel some sympathy with his enthusiasm, for so far as we are able to judge it is a fine and expressive language, and there are some fine things to be read in it. Mr. deValera says that the great enemies of the language are the newspapers, the movies and the radio, and he would like to have what he calls "a shell of protection" put around the districts where Erse is still spoken. He has appealed to the Welsh people for some advice as to how Erse may be preserved. He has gone to the right quarter, for of all the Celtic peoples, more Welshmen speak their own language than is the case with Irishmen or Scots.

It must be noted, however, that all but a few thousand Welshmen also speak English. Their newspapers contain many columns in Welsh, but are written principally in English. Their university colleges have lectures about equally in Welsh and English, and it is thought odd by some people that the lectures in science and mathematics are often in Welsh. This is because the Welsh have carefully enlarged their vocabulary so that it contains all the necessary terms for such lectures. Welsh is by no means an archaic language. Perhaps the Irish people may follow their example in this respect. And it must be stressed that the writing of prose and poetry in Welsh is still of interest to hundreds of native writers, who find a sufficiently large and appreciative public to make it worth while.

The English conquerors, who tried so hard to stamp out Erse and Welsh, succeeded better in Ireland than in Wales. The revival of a language is a difficult task, and we are not sure that even modern Irish enthusiasm can do it, unless the language itself undergoes many changes which will make it an effective instrument of modern communication. But we feel that it would be most unwise of the Irish to attempt to make Erse the dominant language of the country at this late date.

Our old friend The Brandford Expositor, in discussing this question, falls into a common Saxon error in assuming that the Celtic tongues of Scotland, Ireland and Wales are pretty well interchangeable. They are not. A Welshman can perhaps read a simple piece of Erse, but he cannot speak the language, nor can an Irishman speak Welsh. Neither could make much headway in a Gaelic-speaking community. Welshmen, oddly enough, can make themselves fairly well understood in Britanny.

The great advantage of Welsh is that it is a phonetic language, and anyone who can recite the Welsh alphabet (which contains no x or z, and has the additional digraphs dd and ll) can pronounce the language correctly. A phonetic approach to Erse might lessen the difficulties of those who seek to acquire that ancient tongue.

Marshall Plan Faces Uncertain Future

The nations receiving assistance under the Marshall Plan are resigned to months of uncertainty. Although Congressional hearings on next year's Marshall Plan aid began at Washington three days ago, they began in an atmosphere of unreality. That unreality lies in the fact that virtually none of the issues upon which the future of United States' financial aid to Europe will eventually depend have as yet been resolved. Furthermore, there seems little likelihood that they will be resolved until the British Government has been organized, and the Administration at Washington decides upon its future course and diplomatic objective in Western Europe.

Authoratitive reports from Washington declare that the U.S., although it is not officially admitted, has abandoned "dollar deficits" of Marshall Plan nations as the basis for the next year's dollar assistance. There has been disagreement in Washington from the earliest days of the Marshall Plan about the wisdom of using that measure. Those who oppose it say that there will always be dollar deficits as long as the United States provides dollars.

The immediate objectives of Marshall Plan officials are easily perceived. Every persuasive effort possible is being made by the executive side of the government to forestall a bigger cut by Congress than the billion dollars plus that is recommended. Slogans used are: "The standard of living must be raised to continue the fight against Communism"; "We must carry out our commitments"; "Western Europe must be cushioned while it goes through the procedure of integration". The Washington reports, however, emphasize that no matter what phrases or arguments are used, the fact remains that Administration spokesmen cannot yet present the real case, because they do not themselves know what it is.

It seems increasingly evident that the Administration will ask Congress for great flexibility in the use of Marshall plan funds. It will admit, it is thought, that there are many "imponderables" in the European situation, but will plead that American diplomacy will be severely handicapped if the funds are subject to rigid restraint. There is said to be a firm conviction that it would be better to accept substantial cuts in order to acquire this needed flexibility.

Secret Skeleton Closets?

The United States is building a new consulate in Toronto. Now, it happens that Toronto like most other places, requires a building permit. Before the permit is granted, city engineers (in Toronto, the Building Commission) scan the plans to register their approval. The U.S. authorities do not want their building plans screened by mere Torontonians. They asked the Board of Control to waive the usual right of having access to the plans, and the Board agreed. The Building Commissioner has protested this action, and also a statement made that "there is always the possibility" of disloyal employees in the civil service. This is all very interesting. Is the new consulate to have secret chambers, H-bomb racks? And to whom would Toronto civil service employees possibly be disloyal—to the U.S.A.?

It goes without saying that should Russia decide to build a consulate in Toronto, the Board of Control of that city would equally courteously waive the right to examine the plans.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

WHAT are the requisites of a conductor? This was the question put to me the other day. The conductor is a dictator in a democratic world. He must have absolute authority, absolute confidence. The final responsibility rests always with him. In the first place he must know what he (or rather the composer) wants. This entails a thorough musical education. He must have a fine ear to detect inaccuracies. This is particularly important as many inaccuracies can make tolerably good harmony, and are thus only to be detected after thorough knowledge of the score. He must have at least a working knowledge of the technique of the instruments or voices to decide points of breathing, bowing, and so on. He must also of course have a profound knowledge of the style of a large variety of composers and their periods. Finally the work itself should be made the subject of intensive study; the essential must be sifted from the incidental, tempi must be decided, problems of balance, light and shade must be thought out in order to waste the least possible time at rehearsals.

In the second place our perfect conductor must know how to obtain the results that he desires. As T. S. Eliot, in one of his more hierophantic moods writes "Between the idea and the reality falls the shadow". Many a musician has all the attributes mentioned above but comparatively few have the knack of translating their ideas into action. There are on the other hand shoals of good showmen who are sadly lacking in musicianship. The rehearsal is the acid test of a conductor. In fact I would go so far as to say that the performance is of secondary importance: if rehearsals have been good the performance is bound to be good. What the public sees of a conductor at a performance is like the visible part of an iceberg, only a fraction of the whole.

It is a pity that so many concerts are under-rehearsed: this is particularly true of English-speaking countries and has been remarked upon from Berlioz down to the present day. It is therefore essential to make the best possible use of the limited time afforded. Difficult passages should be taken in detail, but too much stopping is discouraging and should be avoided as far as possible. It is better for the conductor to make a mental note of several points as they occur and then go back rather than to stop each time. He should avoid too much talking.

At the performance the conductor must insist on perfect tuning of instruments. Henry Wood made each instrument parade in front of him with a tuning fork before each concert. The wind players with their instruments warmed up. He must give a perfectly clear beat, and in the case of amateurs he must see that it is strictly followed. Professionals should not need to be reminded of this! The start is often an anxious moment, especially where it is on a fraction of a beat, as for example the first movement of Beethoven's Fifth, but all nervousness can be eliminated if the problem is isolated and the proper procedure followed by the conductor. This is of utmost importance; nothing is so dispiriting as a ragged start. The conductor's left hand must not follow his right, but must be reserved for giving leads, indications of phrasing and so on.

The conductor must have personality, but he must be prepared to sink his personality in the music. He must be absolutely faithful to the intentions of the composer. The work must never be allowed to degenerate into a pretext for the display of stick acobratics. This is where Toscanini shows his greatness as a conductor.

MOZART is one of the most difficult composers to play satisfactorily: he demands not only a technique of crystalline perfection but also an alert intellect, a feeling for beauty of phrasing and last, but not least, mature and disciplined emotion. This does not imply a dry and pedantic approach to his music. The average Tschaikovsky addict finds Mozart disconcertingly "cold", but he is full of feeling—the difference being that he does not wear his heart on his sleeve.

The late romantic composers often say more than they mean, as they pass from one frenzied climax to another—Mozart implies more than he says. It is interesting to note that Tschaikovsky himself worshipped Mozart; he probably felt that Mozart had what he lacked in his own character, balance, poise, understatement.

It is customary to "feed" Mozart to the young in the syllabuses of colleges of music and competitions, passing on through Beethoven to Chopin and Liszt. This has the advantage of gradually leading the student to new technical problems, besides the more disputable value of being the "historical" approach. On the other hand the emotional side of Chopin and Liszt are more in tune with the adolescent mind than Beethoven and Mozart, who are appreciated better when one has "grown up" emotionally.

I ONCE had the privilege of being allowed to play on a piano that had once belonged to Mozart. It was one of those old "square pianos" that are often mistakenly called "spinets". It is a tiny thing compared with the modern concert grand, the tone was very small. The action is very shallow and very sensitive. Unfortunately it was out of tune when I played on it, but it was not sufficiently so to spoil my pleasure entirely. Octave glissandi, which are almost unplayable on modern pianos owing to the heavier and deeper action, were quite easy, and rapid passage work was a delight to the fingers.

Those thick gruff chords in the bass that one meets so often in Mozart and Beethoven did not sound half so thick and gruff as they do in the modern piano, and it occurred to me that there is a case nowadays for a judicious alteration of certain passages in the works of these masters. I would like to see a revival of the square piano for works of this period: the harpsichord, clavichord, the viols, recorders and so on have been resuscitated for the earlier music, so why not the square piano and the natural horns for the music of the Viennese classical period, the golden age of music?

HONEYMOON COTTAGE

Letters To The Editor

HERO

Sir: We have had through the elections, the type of thinking the British people are doing—and Britain's he-man, Winston Churchill, came very close to his asperations—and should another election take place, he will make it—and once again become Prime Minister of England.

There are times in human history, when a single man has been so born and shaped, by providence, that he even overlaps the soil that gave him birth. Such a man is Winston Churchill—who until recently was happily painting at his easel—at the edge of the beautiful Atlantic, in Miami Beach. I have never met him, but like millions of this earth, I have felt his breath and the tingle of his magic words, that at one time shook the earth.

There he stood, the bulldog of England, armed with words, forged from his soul—that were heard around the world — every flash of word, was a flash of England. All civilization trembled, as calmly he said: We shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be. We shall fight on the beaches, in the field, in the streets. We shall NEVER surrender. Churchill was one that never trembled.

Here was no mere man. Here was England, dynamic and in full eruption. Free blood Cromwellian, with a dash of pure American, flowed through those welling veins of his. Winston Churchill, a lovable man of peace, a peerless writer of history, a soldier, a statesman, and an artist. With England standing alone — here was a man who uttered words with more drive, and determination to them, than a full sky of enemy planes, and acres of advancing armies. Like Gibraltar, he stood with freedom at his back, and hordes of fiendish aggressors before his very eyes, with not a trace of fear in either of those eyes.

But today, he smiles back at well-wishers, with that famous cigar firmly planted between his lips, for him, the turmoil is over—or at least, we hope so—but should his services be needed again, he stands ready to guide the ship, into the harbor of peace.

Winston Churchill has fought the good fight and won. Now a grateful world looks on, leaving him to his fun, and well earned rest—safely within the eternal arms of history. No wonder he is called Britain's he-man. There will never be another Winston Churchill.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD GILBERT.

TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM IN PETERBOROUGH

Sir: I am a patient in the Weston Sanitarium and have been for quite some time. I was born and raised in Peterborough and to me it is just the best city. I miss it very much and, am very lonesome when I have to spend so much time so far away.

I think if it was looked up you would find a great many of your Peterborough people in T.B. sanitariums throughout Ontario. In fact I am sure you would find more T.B. patients than mental cases. Therefore why turn the old Civic Hospital into a mental hospital when a rest home for tuberculosis is needed more?

Contentment is part of the cure for T.B. How do you expect your people to be contented so far away, with hardly any visitors, and not seeing their loved one for great periods at a time?

I think the old Civic Hospital would be a perfect place for a san. It is on a hill and not too close to the main sections of the city.

Since surgical equipment costs so much, the hospital could be used for rest only. Patients requiring surgical treatments could go to another centre for the operation, after which they could resume their rest at Peterborough. A good example for this would be Brant San.

I am sure many Peterborough citizens will think the same way I do about this. I am all for the old Civic Hospital being turned into a tuberculosis rest home.

When writing this I am not only thinking of myself, but of the many others who in years to come may have the same misfortune. Also of the many who have walked out of sans, before they are quite cured. Some have done this because they were unhappy so far away from home.

I hope that the people of Peterborough will take notice and stop to consider this article.

Thanking you,
A LONESOME PATIENT.

CARNIVAL SITE

Sir: I see in Feb. 21 of our local paper where we are having a carnival come to our city and that our so-called City Council will not allow them to use the parks but are dumping them off on George St. between Rink and Townsend. They have the Exhibition Grounds for these things and why don't they use it? Or does one of our suppose-to-be's live near there, or is it because they would have to clean up afterwards.

We were looking forward to having the Community Centre down there. But I understand that they are thinking about putting it out in the country, for it would be doing the residents and the people of this city a good deed to have it on George St. between Townsend and Rink, instead of that sore-eyed dump that they have there now. It must give our tourist friends coming in by boat from all over a great feeling towards our city and the Trent Canal system to see such a dump as this is. For if not the Community Centre why not a nice park, as it would be an ideal spot for one?

And if the public don't believe me and others about this part, all they have to do is drive down Rink St. between George and Aylmer, and you will see everything. So if there is any way that we can have this dump cleaned up please let us know, so we can at least breathe next summer without too much filth in the air.

A SORE-EYED TAXPAYER.

CRU Permits 7 Imports In League Games

TORONTO, Fb. 27 — (CP) — When play starts in the Dominion Football final next December, more than half the players on the field may be United States imports...

At its annual meeting Saturday, the Canadian Rugby Union settled the long-simmering import question by voting to permit each club to play seven Americans in league games and Dominion playoffs.

The ruling set a uniform policy for all Canadian football leagues. Last season, the CRU set a limit of five imports, but permitted the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union seven in its league games. When Montreal Alouettes won the Big Four title, they were forced to drop two Americans—Chuck Anderson and Bronco Reese—for the playoffs.

A last-minute change of policy by delegates from the Western Interprovincial Football Union paved the way for the seven-import rule. Arthur Chipman, WIFU president, said his league abandoned its opposition when the Big Four announced that it planned to use imports in league games, whatever the outcome of the CRU vote.

Rule Carries

Bolstered by the votes of the two Western delegates, the rule carried by a bare 4-to-3 margin.

The CRU also voted to give clubs a little latitude in picking their imports It ruled that two of the seven could be replaced at any time before a club played its third league game.

Another decision paved the way for a major constitutional change as delegates moved to help clubs hang on their signed players. They decided to conduct a mail or telegraph vote by March 31 on a recommendation by the Ontario Rugby Football Union that action be taken to prevent inter-league player raids.

The ORFU, which lost players last season to both the Big Four and the Western Interprovincial Union, argued that football should establish safeguards similar to those in effect in organized baseball and hockey to prevent players from signing with a club from another league unless their club signed release papers.

The CRU voted to keep the Grey Cup final at Toronto's Varsity Stadium, capacity of which will be increased from 19,500 to 27,500. In view of the increased capacity, prices for the 1950 final were set at $3 for side seats and $2 for end seats. Last year's prices were $3 for the covered stands, $2.50 for uncovered side seats and $2 for the ends.

The meeting rejected suggestions that the Dominion final be moved to Montreal or to Toronto's new Exhibition Stadium.

The CRU'S rules committee recommended one minor change, permitting unlimited blocking by linemen on the kickoff. It confirmed a rule permitting the shovel-pass, introduced on a trial-basis last year, and clarified a regulation permitting a player to enter a game before his team's third down without reporting to the head-linesman.

Toronto Marlbor os Grab Tight Win Over Spitfires

By The Canadian Press.

The absence of their regular goaltender didn't faze Toronto Marlboros Saturday afternoon. With a rookie netminder making his initial Junior A start, the league powerhouses fought their way to a tight 5-3 win in the opener of their Ontario Hockey Association best of seven semi-finals with Windsor Spitfires.

Johnny Henderson, 17-year-old Junior B player, was pressed into service when Don Lockhart, the league's leading goaltender during the regular season, was hit by a flying puck during the pre-game warm up.

The young replacement played like a seasoned veteran and was the mainstay of the Marlboro club during the first period when Windsor carried the play.

In the two junior quarter-final series, Barrie Flyers took their second straight match from St. Michael's College, thumping the Collegians 3-2 and Guelph Biltmores went two up in their series with St. Catharines, coming out on the top side of a 5-2 score Both teams needed only one more victory to advance to semi-final play.

Shellack Dutchmen

The round robin Senior A semi-finals continued Saturday night with Toronto Marlboros taking their fourth win, this time shellacking Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 6-3. Marlboros now have four wins against two defeats while Hamilton and Kitchener-Waterloo are tied with two wins and three losses.

Marlboros fell prey to a determined Windsor attack in the first period at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens and only the wizardry of young Henderson kept the score down to 2-0.

In the second frame, the Dukes really poured it on and rapped in four goals while holding the Spits to a single.

George Armstrong paced the Toronto attack with a pair of goals while Ron Hurst, George Aitken and Larry Regan added singles. Jack Bailey, the best Windsor player on the ice, sparked the losers with a single goal with others going to Earl Reibel and Glen Skov.

Take Pounding

Barrie pounded in three goals in the first two periods before St. Michael's awoke and slammed home two in the third. Real Chevrefils fired a first frame single and Dan MacDonald and Doug Towers added two more in the second.

Will Marshall was the big gun for the Collegians, opening the third period scoring before the mid-way mark and closing it six minutes later.

Guelph fought off a last-period rally by St. Catharines that netted the Teepees two goals before walking away with their second win. Leading 3-0 in the final frame, the Biltmores relaxed and Carl Boone and Norm Corcoran struck for two quick goals.

Ed Kulik and Frank Bathgate both flashed the red light twice in the winning cause while Herb Dickenson picked up a single.

Cordova Active

MARMORA, Feb. 27 (ENS) — Cordova Mines has caught on the local hockey spirit and after erecting an open air rink as a community undertaking, have organized a hockey team using the rink for practice purposes. They have battled two Circle "C" teams, Havelock and Marmora, on their rinks furnishing a good game although beaten on each occasion. Games are being arranged with Trent River and Springbrook. The team hopes to be affiliated with one of the local loops another season.

J. Anderson is managing the team, while Ivan Sopha is performing the duties of coach.

Red Sox Deny Kramer 'Railroaded Out'

BOSTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Boston Red Sox denied today charges by Jack Kramer that he was "railroaded out of the American League" because of differences with manager Joe McCarthy.

The outright sale of the 31-year-old veteran righthander to New York Giants of the National League for a reported $25,000 was announced Sunday by the Red Sox.

Reached by telephone at his New Orleans, La., home, Kramer said "the whole deal is a personal thing. I was railroaded out because I told off Joe McCarthy a couple of times last season."

He added that he "feuded with McCarthy" last year and "there was dissension on our team, too."

Informed of Kramer's charges, Red Sox manager Joe Cronin denied the fiery hurler was railroaded out of the league.

Cigarets in their modern form were introduced into America about 75 years ago.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canadian jockeys lugged home the gold Saturday as the winter racing season hit its peak on both coasts. Race riders raised in the Dominion rode the winners of both the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in Californi and the $50,000 Widener Handicap in Florida.

To top off a terrific day, Canadian reinsmen accounted for six races on the nine-race card at Hialeah and two of the eight heats at Santa Anita.

At Arcadia, Calif., old reliable Johnny Longden, who first mounted a horse when a younster in Taber, Alta., booted home Charles S. Howard's English-bred Noor in the Santa Anita 'Cap one of two richest races in North America. Citation, Calumet Farm's 1-3 favorite, ran 1¼ lengths behind Noor.

At Miami, Fla., Chris Rogers, a Hamilton, Ont., product, gave Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor a brilliant ride through the stretch to nip Arise by a neck and win the Widener. Aboard Arise, owned by the Addison brothers of Toronto, was Ted Atkinson, the crack Toronto-born boot.er.

At Seigniority Club, Que., a Toronto rink skipped by S. B. Playfair won the Seignirity Club's annual members and guests bonspiel in going undefeated in three weekend games to build up the highest plus score of 38 points

Playfair's quarter defeated O G. Armstrong of Ottawa 13-4 in the first round, W. G. Burns of Ottawa 15-4 in the second round and Dr. W. L. Higginson of Pembroke, Ont., 15-6 in the third and final game.

McGill University Mermen on Saturday night at Montreal took the Canadian intercollegiate swimming championship for the second consecutive year in a meet which saw five records set. The Red and White squad scored 45 points against 30 for the University of Toronto which provided the only opposition.

Carl Voyles, former head coach of the Brooklyn Dodger pro football club, turned up in Hamilton Saturday, believed to be a candidate for general manager of the Hamilton Football Club.

He told a press conference he hadn't been asked to coach the new club, entered in the Eastern Big Four League. He said a leave of absence from the National Football (pro) League might be arranged if he became general manager.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

"Know the one big impression I got of Ontario?" a visiting friend asked the other day. "It's the neat, attractive appearance of all communities—right from one end of the province to the other."

The compliment was sincere and for the most part deserved. It has been a distinct pleasure for me to travel this province and see the many clever ideas used by home owners in adding beauty to their homes. Some of these little touches have been most ingenious. I'm going to share my observations here and in succeeding issues. Some suggestions will be simple, some more complicated—but I hope all will prove interesting. Your comments will be welcome—and should you like further details of any of the objects described, write for the illustrated booklet now being prepared.

Good Neighbours

Canadians celebrate "Canadian Brotherhood Week" this month. As well as expressing magnanimity to your fellow man, don't forget your bird neighbours. Three types of bird feeding stations are shown—two very simple.

Are you a green-thumb gardener? If you're itching to jump the season build yourself an inexpensive window greenhouse like the one I saw while visiting in Brantford. It was hitched to a basement window and received sufficient heat from the room, but I was astounded to learn it was used to start all the young plants for the garden, as well as a propagating bed for house plants.

Finally two small items: one that can play a big part in bringing order out of chaos, and one that can be used to bring a touch of beauty to any room. My shoes were always piled in a corner until I made this simple rope shoe holder. Equally easy to construct was this small wire holder for a bud vase using a fancy perfume bottle.

BUD VASES FROM BOTTLES
NO. 12 GAUGE WIRE, SOLDERED WITH A STANDARD FLUX CUT WITH CHISEL OR SNIPS TO REQUIRED LENGTH; FASHIONED TO DESIRED DESIGN. RUB DOWN WITH STEEL WOOL. ENAMEL IN A COLOUR. USE LOOP OF FINE WIRE TO HOLD IN POSITION.

A SHOE HOLDER FROM ROPE
DRESSED PIECE OF INCH PINE OR PLYWOOD, 4 FT. LONG × 8" WIDE - FOR 6 PRS. LADIES' OR 4 PRS. MEN'S SHOES. HALF INCH ROPE AROUND EDGE, SECURED WITH LARGE STAPLES, LOOPED IN SECTIONS ACROSS MIDDLE.

For more information on these and many other of Tom Gard's suggestions, write to MOLSON'S (Ontario) LTD., P.O. Box 490 Adelaide St. Station, Toronto, for the illustrated booklet "AROUND THE HOME".

Broadview 'Y' Wins Out In Swim Meet

A local YMCA pool record was set by Dick Douglas, Broadview YMCA on Saturday night for the 100 yards free style event at 57 seconds. Doing so he edged out mate Fred Bergeron and Peterborough YMCA's Donald Wood, and helped the Toronto squad to take the inter-YMCA swimming club meet 33-25 in 10 events.

Several of the senior swimmers of the local club had to work and missed the meet. Gordon Minty, honorary swimming director and coach, said afterwards they could have taken the Toronto club if they had used more swimmers in the senior events. As it was, junior swimmers filled the vacant positions.

In the first three events the Toronto swimmers splashed to victory. They took the 120 yards medley relay in 1:16.9 minutes, the 40-yard free style handicap swim and Douglas' 100 yard free style.

Dobbin Wins

Ross Dobbin edged Jim Brodie of Broadview in the 40-yard back stroke event. Terry Killen pulled in third. Toronto came back in the next two events with Jim Brodie taking the 40-yard breast stroke, and Fred Bergeron the 40-yard free style. Terry Killen took the 40-yard breast stroke, with Jack Prest placing second.

Donald Wood edged Jim Brodie in the 40 yard back stroke swim, but gave way to Stan Newmarch in the 200 yard free style which followed. Newmarch cut through in 2:30.6 minutes.

In the last event of the evening Peterborough again took their hosts, this time in the 160 yard free style relay. John Boorman, Jim Heffernan, Scott Pearton, and Donald Wood were the local swimmers on the team.

Exhibitions were given by the non-swimmers' class, directed by Ralph Wood, the Tadpole Swimming Club, directed by Bill Watson, and the Minnow Club, directed by Gordon Minty.

Dick Douglas and Fred Bergeron of the Broadview YMCA team performed on the springboard. Judges and timers for the meet were Gordon Dobbin and Alex Sinclair of Peterborough and Dick Lough, Broadview YMCA coach.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Twenty-one years ago tonight Jack Sharkey, the New England sailor, won a slashing 10-round bout from Young Stribling at Miami Beach. The bout was one of a series to find a heavyweight successor to Gene Tunney who retired undefeated in 1928. Sharkey lost to Schmeling in 1930 but won the title from the German in 1932. He lost it to Primo Carnera in 1933.

Badminton Club From Here Captures Trophy

The Peterborough Badminton Club captured the Ayers Trophy on Saturday in Trenton, scoring most points in the annual Central Ontario badminton championship tournament. Clubs competed from all over Central Ontario, and the competition was stiff in each event.

Mrs Marg Baker, of Peterborough, won the ladies' singles championship for the year, and she defeated club-mate Mrs. Maurice Charlton in the final. Ralph and Maurice Charlton went to the finals in the mixed doubles before losing out, while Ralph Charlton reached the finals of men's singles. The whole Peterborough contingent turned in a strong effort throughout against first-class opposition.

Won Out Again

Allan Osborne of Bowmanville took his 10th consecutive victory in men's doubles, teaming up with Jack Brough, as they won over Gord Ratz and Bill Grant of Oshawa 15-3, 15-1. In mixed play, Adeline Armstrong and W. R. Cornell of Port Hope won the final from Mr. and Mrs Charlton of Peterborough 15-8 and 15-7. Miss Armstrong also won out in ladies' doubles, along with Mrs. D. Harvey of Port Hope, turning back Mrs. L. Ratz and Miss Kay Hopkins of Oshawa Flying club 15-3 and 15-6. Tall Gord Andrews of Oshawa won the men's singles crown over Ralph Charlton 15-12 and 15-3. The ladies' singles final went to Mrs. Marg Baker by scores of 11-8 and 11-3.

It was the first triumph for Peterborough badmintoneers since this annual tourney was revived after the war The victors piled up their points in singles, ladies', men's and mixed doubles. There was a large turnout at the tournament, some fine close contests and an enjoyable entertainment and presentation afterward, Bob Baker local club president receiving the Ayres Trophy. Peterborough finished with 87 points as Port Hope were second with 59, followed by Oshawa Flying club and Bowmanville.

Collegiate Gets Two Wins In Cage Series

Walloping Oshawa Collegiate bantams 39-19 Saturday night, PCVS obtained a strong foot to stand on in their return game in Oshawa in the second of the points-to-count series for the Lakeshore bantam basketball championship. The Motor City boys were the victors of the Oshawa-Whitby-Bowmanville league. The local Collegians are defending the championship won last year. Two years ago Bowmanville took the honors with Oshawa taking them three years ago. There is no COSSA playdown for bantam teams.

Oshawa with neat ball-handling held Bev Goulding's boys during a fast first quarter 6-6. Actually the Lakeshore quintet had most of the play but were too intent on trying to get closer to the basket for short shots instead of long floaters.

Oshawa took the lead momentarily in the second. Then the locals started to roll with Marshall, Armstrong and Griffin leading. The Peterborough zone defence worked accurately holding off the smooth Oshawa quintet. The half score was 15-10.

Marshall with eight points led PCVS in the third quarter as the Oshawans started to fade. Armstrong and Turner were neat around the basket taking the rebounds to start rushes up the floor. The quarter ended with the locals up 31-14. The PCI'ers kept up the hot pace in the last quarter continuing to hold the Motor City quintet down. D. Marshall led in points with 12. Ken Armstrong had six all for PCVS J. Gummow was the best for the Oshawa cagers with six.

Capture Series

The Collegiate's junior "A" squad blasted Port Hope in the last quarter after the lakeshore crew had stayed close for three quarters. Whipping them 35-17 the locals took the points-to-count two games series by 31 points.

Port Hope worked the PCI'ers hard for the first three quarters as they managed to break the PCVS zone defence. Their shooting was off and cost them the game. The PCVS quintet were off also in their shooting but only for the first half. In the second they found the range and built up the score.

Hempstead's shooting in the first quarter was one of the highlights of the game as the little player, smallest in junior "A" and "B" competition in this area, ran in six points and should have had more. R. Carson amazed the large crowd with two long, high shots from the centre of the floor which sailed through the hemp. The score of the first ended 9-8 for PCVS.

Cunningham took over the scoring honors in the second with three brackets as the PCI'ers went out in front 17-12 at the half. In the third the lakeshore cagers seemed to be defenceless as the PCI'ers drifted in. Only poor work around the basket by PCVS allowed the Port Hopers to stay within range 23-14. McIlraith, Ash Cunningham and Hendren added points in the fourth for PCVS to make it 35-17. Cunningham and Hempstead each had 12 points for PCVS while W. Jordon was best for Port Hope with six. Ron Doughty and Cunningham played a good game at the guard position for PCVS.

Lineups:

Bantam game, Oshawa — R. McEachran, R. Zilinsky 6, M. Yeo, K. Sutherland 4, J. Gummow 6, N. Chasczewski 3, A. Perry.

PCVS—A. Boorman 4, J. Boorman, B. Hollingsworth, J. Corbett 5, D. Ash, D. Marshall 12, K. Armstrong 8, Griffin 4, F Ash 4, McIlwain Turner 2.

Junior Game, Port Hope—Ross 4, Sisson, Jordon 6, Plummer, Lenahan, I. Trawin, Carson 5, Ashton, McFarlane 1, Porter.

PCVS—McIlraith 4, Brown, Ash 4, Langhorne, Hempstead 12, Cunningham 12, Fowler, Hendren 2, Grafstein 1, Doughty.

Outboard Marines "A" cagers had to hump plenty to gain a 35-30 exhibition victory Saturday p.m. in the Collegiate over the senior PCI-ers. A rousing tilt and Bev Goulding's gang made it a batlte right down to the finish, Marines getting the verdict in the dying minutes of play. PCVS bantams defeated Oshawa 39-19 to take a hefty lead in the first of their two-game series for lakeshore honors, the district title, you might call it. PCVS junior "A" hoopsters came through handily over Port Hope to capture their COSSA group title by no less than 31 points. A smart team.

A goodly gallery on hand all morning at Civic Arena on Saturday to see the OMHA first-round playdown series conclude. Juvenile IOOF-ers, skippered by Art Heal, won 6-2 to take their round 12-3 against Oshawa, but the Motor City midgets edged Al Watkins' Marines 3-2 in overtime to take that sawoff by an 8-7 count, so it's good-bye and tough luck to the classy young Outboards in playdowns this cold semester. Optimist bantams under Wally Bent and Oshawa tied 3-3 in the second period of overtime in their fray which gave Oshawa the round by a goal, their previous tilt being 3-2 for Oshawa. However, that isn't settled yet as Optimists have protested on the grounds the Oshawa goalie used a ball glove, which is against the rules. Referee Doug Love (of Oshawa) said it was illegal but up to the OMHA to rule on it. Three fine fixtures, though, as the fans agreed.

Petes And Legionnaires

Big one tonight, of course, is at 8.30 in Civic Arena when Petes and Legionnaires tee off in the fourth fray of their best-of-five OHA senior "B" group semi-finals. Legion lead the series two games to one, and can wrap it up this eve with a win. If the Petes come through, it'll be tied up tight and a fifth tussle will have to be staged. Maybe Wednesday or else Friday, depending on how the junior "B" Oddfellows make out tonight in Kingston. They have Wednesday here for a deciding tilt in their playoff series, if it is necessary. Otherwise, the seniors will go then—again, if it is necessary.

* * * * * *

Don't worry, this senior "B" scrap tonight will be another humdinger before a capacity crowd. Both sides are playing for keeps these nights, with plenty at stake, and lots of that old ice rivalry apparent. It may not be a rough game, if the puckists decide to stick to hockey this time, but it'll be a speedy and exciting fight all the way, and likely to be plenty close. The Petes just can't afford to fool at this time, as elimination stares 'em smack in their faces—and Legion won't coast and take chances on a loss. Nope, both sides will really fight for this one every minute of the melee.

Griffin Best Freshman

The Alfie Pearce Trophy for the outstanding freshman athlete at Queen's goes this year to Don Griffin, who hails from this borough. Cage fans will recall his brilliant shooting for PCVS last April along the road to that Dominion championship as well as his COSSA performance. The grid fans knew his prowess in COSSA football play, too. And he turned in a creditable chore catching in the men's City Softball League. Since going to Queen's, he looked extra good with the Intermediate Gaels and will be up with the senior Tricolor next fall, freshman not being allowed to play senior intercollegiate. And he has been one of the leading snipers with the senior hoop team at Queen's all winter. A fine, likeable athlete.

Peterborough Badminton Club won the Ayres Trophy at Trenton on Saturday, taking most points in the Central Ontario badminton championships. Mrs. Marg Baker of this city defeated Mrs. Maurice Charlton of the same club for the ladies' singles title, while Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Charlton reached finals in the mixed doubles, and Ralph was in men's singles finals. Other local racquet-wielders also performed in classy style against stiff competition from a number of Central Ontario clubs. Gord Andrews of Oshawa won the men's singles as J. Brough and Al Osborne of Bowmanville took the men's doubles. In mixed play, Adeline Armstrong and W. G. Cornell of Port Hope won out, with Miss Armstrong and Mrs. D. Harvey taking the ladies' twosome.

Marines Win Over PCVS In Tight Fray

With headlocks, knees and elbows in the Collegiate mixing bowl Saturday night, Outboard Marines squeezed through in the last two minutes of play, 35-30, to down Bev. Goulding's senior cagers. This game is an annual fixture between the two clubs with the experienced Marines taking all the games

Long shots put the Marines up early in the first quarter 9-2 and made the game appear to be a walk-away but the Collegians fought back to make the quarter score 9-5 Play for the next two quarters was fairly rough and fast with mostly individual play as the Outboards led at the half 19-14 and at the three-quarter-mark 25-22. With seven minutes left the PCI'ers tied the score 2-all and then went ahead by one point. During the rough fast play which followed the Marines applied most of the pressure to take the lead by a point and then build it up slightly.

Harold Grafstein, assisted by Bryon Young, did a bang-up job on the PCVS defence until he left the game at the crucial moment, two minutes to go. Northcott had difficulty finding the range in the first half but was an eagle-eye in the second to make his total points 15. The Stewart brothers, Joe and Al, were the guiding pilots of the Outboards throughout. Warren Smith led their scorers with eight points as most of the team were on the scoring.

Went Ahead

Baskets by Chum Gillespie and Harold Grafstein made the score 11-7 in the opening minutes of the second after a 9-5 first heat. Nicholls added three for the Outboards. Northcott finished a short break-away to make the score 14-9. Smith sank a corner shot to be followed by Grafstein neatly checking Al Stewart to set up Northcott for a score. Stewart made things up on a long one-hander only to have Grafstein sink a similar shot. Bailey and Plunkett finished the period sinking foul shots.

Northcott and Neil Thompson made things dangerous for Marines in the second half with baskets to make the score 19-18. Nicholls grabbed a loose ball under the net for a basket. Al Stewart got loose and passed to Smith for a slider. Rocky Kidd took Stewart's rebound and went up and in for points. Finally Paul Frise slipped a pass to Northcott to make it 25-20. Frise pivoted and flipped one in as quarter ended 25-22.

Frise left the game in the first play of the fourth quarter favoring his left leg. Northcott, for PCVS, and Smith made it 27-23. Thompson added another two points. Trying to hold their two-point lead the Marines left themselves open for a Northcott break which tied the score Play became rougher. Plunkett fouled Thompson who made his shot good to shove PCI'ers up 28-27. Grafstein fouled Hugh Dibben who made a basket for the Marines. Dibben's foul attempt failed. Nicholls got a rebound under the basket to push the Marines up three points. Northcott sank a two-pointer close in to pull the Collegians up within a point. Joe Stewart got a foul shot which was followed by a nifty one-hander by Thorburn. The Outboards killed time by holding the ball in the PCVS defence zone for nearly a minute. Al Stewart made a foul shot to finish the game.

Lineups:

Outboard Marines—Plunkett 1, Nicholls 7, Kidd 2, A. Stewart 5, Smith 8, Dibben 2, J Stewart 1, Trimm, Thorburn 7, Gillespie 2, Dadson.

PCVS — Cranfield, Robinson, Sargeant, Frise 2, Bailey 1, Young, Taylor, Northcott 15, Thompson 7, Grafstein 5.

IOOF Juves Take Series As Local Midgets Ousted

Oshawa and Peterborough concluded their OMHA playdown series Saturday morning at Civic Arena in the bantam, midget and juvenile classes as rousing games were played before a good crowd of fans.

Art Heal's juvenile Oddfellows proved too strong for Dutch Turner's Oshawa squad and defeated the latter 6-2 to win their round 12-3.

IOOF started strong in the first as Don Bigford from Ferguson clicked from well out seconds after play started. Buckton added another late in the period as the locals outplayed their rivals They added two more in the second, Kenny Pammett and Floyd denting the mesh with Ferguson getting his second assist on the former's counter.

Brian Robinson from Collins and Ferguson from Pammett and Shearer wound up the scoring for IOOF in the third while Haxton, Oshawa's individual star, scored his team's only marker aided by F. Sutton.

Pammett, Ferguson, Armstrong, Shearer, Jensen, Robinson, Floyd and Bigford were particularly good with Batley strong in the nets and every man gave his best.

Oshawa: Goal, Pallister; defence, Johnson, Edwards; centre, Haxton; wings, F. Sutton, De Pratto; alternates, Allesuk, Lawrence, Howes, Kellar, G. Myles, Carey, G. Sutton, Wallis.

IOOF: Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong, centre, Pammett; wings, Buckton, Ferguson; alternates, Floyd, Galoska, Robinson, Bacon, Dobbin, Kimball, Shearer, Jensen.

Millard's Optimists battled Oshawa bantams to a 3-3 overtime draw in the curtain-raiser—a nip and tuck struggle from the bell—between two very evenly matched teams.

The tie gave the visitors a one goal edge in the series but has been protested by coach Wally Bent as the Oshawa goalie used an illegal glove.

Optimists held a 2-1 lead to tie the round at regulation time having lost 3-2 Thursday. Goals by McDougall unassisted and Brooks from Pagett, offset Nichol's first period counter and the locals seemed certain winners as Brooks again from Pagett and Stewart in the early seconds of the first overtime session gave Optimists the lead for the first time.

Oshawa tied as Nichol scored again while Grant sank the winner midway in the second overtime period. All the boys played well.

Optimists: Goal, Ash; defence, Jones, Parry; centre, Pagett; wings, Brooks, Stewart; alternates, Kane, McDougall, Roberts, Davis, Gardner, Floyd, Pollard, Roberts, McFadden.

Oshawa: Goal, Knight; defence, Grant, Hamilton; centre, Malloy; wings, Gerrard, Nichol; alternates, Rahme, Thompson, Chazewski, Fenton, Underwood, McAllister, Vanshan.

Oshawa midgets edged Al Watkins' Outboard Marines 3-2 in overtime in the second game Saturday as they won the OMHA playdowns 8-7 after a hard struggle all the way. Zeddic smashed in the winning counter just before the bell in the first overtime frame after Spencer from Corbett and Turner had tied the round 7-7, at the end of regulation time.

It was a tough break for Marines' fighting team—the same who were the bantam finalists last spring—but Oshawa outweighed the locals and held slight advantage in speed. Teamwork, experience and a good defence enabled Marines to cope with their rivals. It might have gone either way, so close was the play.

Rorebeck scored the only goal of the first period from Myles on a neat passing play with less than three minutes to play. Corbett from Spencer and Frank McGillen tied the round in the third but each team scored again later, to force overtime when the visitors got the break they needed to win out after a stiff struggle.

Oshawa: Goal, Chirks; defence, Hughes, Burr; centre Zeddic; wings, Boneham, O'Connor; alternates, Kellar, Copeland, Layton, Myles, Woodcock, Rorebeck, Wodinsky, McTavish.

Marines: Goal, Delahay; defence, Holden, McGillen; centre, McGrath; wings, Stewart, Strickland, alternates, Spencer, Ball, Corbett, Kearns, Batley, Turner, Byrne.

Referee, Doug Love, Oshawa; linesman, Dick Ouimet, Peterborough.

Diesels Drop 8-4 Verdict

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 27.—Belleville Diesels faded from the OHA Senior "B" hockey picture here Saturday night when they dropped an 8-4 verdict to Kingston Nylons in the fourth game in the best-of-five group semi-finals.

The visitors took the series in three straight. The first game ended in deadlock. The win was the Nylons' 19th without a reverse. They will now meet the winner of the Peterborough Legion-Peterborough Petes series for the group championship.

Gerow, with three goals and one assist was the top point-getter while Ken Partis was credited with a goal and two assists. Joey Catlin and Johnny Armstrong each earned a goal and an assist, while Hooker Hawkins and Bud Ohlke also tallied.

2 Rookies Spark Rangers To 3rd Place In NHL Race

By JACK GRAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Two eager Beaver rookies made a sparkling National Hockey League debut on Sunday night—and made it the iron-man way.

The two, centre Odie Lowe and right winger Don Smith of New York Rangers, fired goals that helped move the Rangers into third place only a few hours after they both figured largely in a minor league game.

The injury plagued Rangers, minus three of their regulars, including star centre Edgar Laprade beat Boston Bruins 4-3 and went into a tie for third place in the standings with the idle Montreal Canadiens.

Thus the bouncy New York Rangers regained the position they lost Saturday when Toronto Maple Leafs defeated them 4-2 at Toronto.

In the other Sunday night games the league leading Detroit Red Wings polished up the seven-point lead they hold over the Leafs by scoring almost at will to defeat Chicago Black Hawks 4-1. The New York defeat was Boston's second of the weekend. Montreal besting them 3-2 Saturday night.

In There Clicking

Rangers scored three goals in a little more than three minutes in the second period in beating Bruins. Lowe and Smith had aided Rangers' farm club, New York Rovers, defeat Boston Olympics 8-0 in an Eastern League game before being called up to big time.

Lowe fired the first counter before Bruins came back at 2:52 with Bud Poile scoring.

Bruins went ahead in the second period on Bill Quackenbush's screened shot. Then, in rapid succession Frankie Eddolls, Tony Leswick and Smith shot in tallies.

The desperate Bruins started power plays that netted one goal by Ed Kryzanowski.

A crowd of 14,810 saw the game at Chicago which was generally featureless except for the first period when the Hawks gave Detroit a bit of trouble and also counted the first goal, by Bep Guidolin.

All Detroit

From then on it was all Detroit. Jerry Couture converted George Gee's rebound into the tying goal near the end of the initial frame.

In the second period Red Kelly rammed in a solo counter and Sid Abel, assisted by Gordie Howe, whammed a shot off goalie Frank Brimsek's head, momentarily stunning him.

Ted Lindsay provided the final tally of the third period.

In beating Rangers Saturday night before 13,596 fans, the Leafs ended the New Yorkers' unbeaten streak at eight games. The only Toronto-born player on the Leafs, Sid Smith, figured largely in the triumph, registering his third consecutive two-goal scoring performances on home ice

Howie Meeker counted one of the other goals, with the fourth going to Cal Gardner. Scorers for Rangers were Leswick and Dunc Fisher.

Maurice Richard racked up his 32nd goal of the season in Canadiens' close win over the Bruins. Leo Gravelle and Norm Dussault gave the Habitants their other goals while Bud Poile and Paul Ronty scored for Boston.

Record Election Vote But No Russ Comment

MOSCOW, Feb. 27 (AP)—Moscow's morning papers recorded without comment today the number of seats won by the Labor, Conservative and Liberal parties in the British elections.

(This dispatch, which passed through censorship, made no mention of the fact that the Communist party took a drubbing, losing both of its seats in the House of Commons.)

Little or no editorial reaction is expected, since Soviet commentators have long taken the view that there is little difference between Labor and Conservative parties. Mostly they are described as "pawns of Wall Street."

Philip B. O'Grady Dies Mourned By Many

WARKWORTH, Feb. 27 (ENS)—Philip B. O'Grady, lifelong resident in the community, died suddenly last week at his Morganston home. He was aged 52.

He was a faithful member of St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church, Warkworth, where requiem mass was said by the Rev. Dean Ferguson.

In 1942 Mr. O'Grady married Mary Pollock of Cramahe Township. He will be greatly missed by his neighbors and near friends. He was always willing to help anyone who needed help. He is survived by his widow and one son Billy, four nieces and two nephews.

Pall-bearers were Jack Lafferty, Lorne Darling, Leo Lonergan, Clarence Partridge, Bernard Lonergan and Claude Puffer.

Burial was in Warkworth vault.

Miss Musa Cox Commended For Performance

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—Ottawa civil service "RA" Drama Club tonight will enter the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival with Lesley Storm's three-act play "Tony Draws a Horse."

The production will be the seventh show in the regional festival scheduled to end Wednesday.

Saturday was a heavy day for adjudicator Maxwell Wray. At a matinee he saw three one-act plays, two of them Canadian-written.

The first "Rumpilstiltskin," was presented by Ottawa Drama League Junior Theatre and the adjudicator said he had never seen anything "quite so fresh and so lovely."

The well-known fairy-tale tells the story of a little old man who helps a miller's daughter spin straw into gold. It was adapted for stage by Marion Taylor of Ottawa.

Peterborough Play

The second Canadian written play, "The Voice of the People" was produced by Peterborough Little Theatre.

Written by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner, the piece is a satire of Mr. Average Man. Mr. Wray said he would like to see a longer work by the same author.

He said Musa Cox, as Aggie Morton, had an "extremely good" performance. Albert Hill as Aggie's husband, Shorty, needed a little more aggressiveness at the beginning of the play.

"When playing a one-act play the actors must realize it is only a cameo and needs a little more highlighting," said Mr. Wray.

Third performance of the afternoon was a second Peterborough entry, "The Tinker's Wedding," by the Irish playwright J. M. Synge.

While the actors had chosen the work of a good author, Mr. Wray felt they had picked something beyond them.

Saturday night the adjudicator went all out in praise of Ottawa Drama League Workshop's production of "Payment Deferred."

The gripping melodrama was adapted from the novel by C. S. Forrester. Mr. Wray said the Workshop's performance "completely electrified" him.

In his remarks at the end of the performance, the British actor and producer told the audience that it had been a production by each of the players "worthy of any repertory in which I have directed, played, or been in the audience."

UE Withholds Strike Action

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (CP)—The United Electrical Workers said today its Toronto members employed by Canadian General Electric Company Ltd have decided to withhold strike action and join with Peterborough members in a fight for retention of bargaining rights at CGE's plant there.

The UEW, recently ousted from the Congress of Industrial Organization for allaged Communist policies, had voted for strike action if necessary to support contract demands from CGE. In Peterborough the union is battling the newly-formed International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO).

The UEW said in a statement that all Toronto locals Sunday endorsed a resolution demanding "joint negotiations . . . in face of the obvious fraud of the IUE" and urging the government and the Ontario Labor Relations Board to "act immediately to protect the workers against such fraud."

22 Veterans of Boer War Recall Siege of Paardeberg

Some 22 be-medalled veterans of the Boer War Saturday night reached back across the half century to recall the South African campaign. The occasion was to celebrate the siege of Paardeberg, and the successful ending of the war. It was the first reunion that South African war veterans of this district have had. George A. Macdonald, former mayor of Peterborough, said it was hoped to make the get together an annual affair.

Civic officials intimated they would like the South African veterans to participate as a unit in the ex-servicemen's celebrations being held in this, Peterborough's centennial year. And it is understood efforts are underway to organize the group.

Alderman Col. J. A. Dewart, main speaker of the evening, outlined the causes of the Boer War and traced in the progress of the campaign.

He emphasized the political implications of the peace that was ultimately signed and the formation of the Union of South Africa. The military administration clapped on by the conquerors was superseded by civil administration and eventually self government was permitted under Boer leaders.

This magnanimous act, Col. Dewart said, was typical of the British genius for governing. Enemies of yesterday were turned into not only staunch allies but also willing partners in the British Commonwealth.

In a topical reference he said that much the same thing happened with India and Pakistan. Government in those young states was handed over voluntarily by the British when the people asked for it. And the result is that both states remain a part of the Commonwealth and Empire.

Outstanding Statesman

A proof of the far sightedness of this policy was shown by the fact the Boers fought with the other members of the Commonwealth in the First and Second World Wars, Col. Dewart said. And one of the outstanding statesmen of the world and a firm believer in the Commonwealth is Field Marshal Jan Smuts.

At one time Smuts was an active Boer commander fighting the British with skill and daring, it was pointed out. The generous terms of the peace and the opportunities for South Africa's political development within the British comity of nations made

Coal Shortage Most Acute

Peterborough fuel dealers agree with the Toronto trade that the coal shortage today is the most acute in several years.

The Toronto trade is rationing customers at one-half a ton each. A member of the coal exchange there said homes and industries would soon be out of coal if the United States government did not soon seize the mines.

"We can't take any more orders for this week," Haig Kelly of Peterborough Fuel and Transfer Co. said today. "There is a little anthracite coming through, and I understand there is a little coke in town, but the situation is bad. We tried to get coke, but we were told it would take a month to get a car through to Peterborough. We also have 1,000 tons of soft coal on the docks at Cobourg, but wouldn't even begin to meet local needs for industry and business if other deliveries don't come through."

The comment at the H. B. Taylor & Son yard was in the mild weather a few weeks ago "our men were often standing around for lack of orders. People weren't buying then. For the last week or more we can't begin to handle the business, and we were quite a ways behind on orders. During that time we have been cutting down deliveries to ton and half-ton lots to distribute more evenly the small stock we have in some grades."

Charlotte St. Accident Results In Charge

A charge of careless driving was laid against William Boyce, 555 King St., in police court today, as a result of an accident Saturday night at Charlotte St. and Margaret Ave. The case was adjourned one month.

Boyce was driving west on Charlotte and while making a left turn into Margaret Ave., met in collision with a car driven east on Charlotte St. by Percy W. Hawthorne, 262 Aylmer St. Constable Louis Rodreque investigated.

Dour Scotsman Not Found In Whole Land

The hospitality of Scotsmen was a revelation to Garth Braund, who returned at the week-end from the tour of Canadian curlers in the land that conceived and developed the ancient game of the stane and besom.

"I can only repeat what Hon. Eric F. Willis, deputy-premier of Manitoba, said in replies to the series of welcomng receptions and banquets, that the Canadians had soon exhausted their adjectives of appreciation. And that was literally true," Mr. Braund recalled to The Examiner today.

"It was not only around the curling rinks and the hotels, but everywhere we went, even on the streets. The people knew we were visiting from Canada, and they went out of their way in extending friendly greetings to us. You couldn't buy anything.

"The Scottish curlers retained the international cup with an aggregate score of 830 to 800 in the test games, but I think we won about 70 per cent of the other games in our itinerary.

"The members of our team came to the conclusion that our hosts must have been pooling their meat points, for the series of banquets with which they entertained us, and we felt rather badly about it when we thought of the way they must have been depriving themselves."

Burns Night Dinner

Outstanding in that memory was the Burns night dinner at the Burns monument just outside of Ayr, January 25. It was only a stone's throw from the house where the Scottish poet was born.

"It was really a great occasion for us from Canada to share in the spirit of Scotsmen on Burns night, and I was thinking of some of our local friends like Bob Hendry, John Smith, Alex Milne and others and how they would have delighted in being there.

"Some of the Scottish nobility we met were the Duke of Athol, the Lord of Stair, Lord Inverclyde, Lord Clydesmuir, and the provost of Edinburgh. I can't begin to remember all the dignitaries who helped to welcome us. And it was most agreeable to discover that some of them had men from their estates curling on their teams. That is only a sugestion of the spirit that was with us everywhere in Scotland.

"One of our team, Hon. J. L. Bowman, KC, said in his responses to Scottish toasts that Canada would continue to welcome young Scotsmen and women as an exceptionally high type of citizens for whom this country offered great opportunities in the future."

Canadians Entertain

The Canadians entertained their hosts at a parting dinner in Edinburgh. Their guests of that evening included muncipal officials and many of the friends they had met on the tour, with their wives. There were 500 at that dinner. They said it was the biggest banquet gathering since the visit of His Majesty the King there in 1937.

"We brought most of the food. The menu included buffalo and elk meat, Winnipeg gold-eyes, wild duck, Quebec pea soup, and so on.

"Our party was thoroughly representative of the Canadian curling fraternity. We had six members of provincial legislatures, wheat farmers, several blacksmiths, insurance agents, retail merchants and several judges."

Different In England

The comment of Mr. Braund was that in all his travel in Scotland he failed to find even one so-called dour Scotsman. But, south of the border, "that was something else."

One of the examples he mentioned recalled an incident in a south-bound train, through England. "Four of us were putting in the time with a game of cards. One of the crew came in and told us to break up the game and go to the diner. We did, and we sat there 35 minutes before anybody came near us to get our order."

Mr. Braund rated the Swiss close to the Scots. "They are friendly, smart and have all the signs of an efficient people. Incidentally, the villa occupied by Ali Khan and Rita was just across from our hotel at Gstaad. Chairman of the curling dinner at St. Moritz was Gordon Richards, the famous jockey.

"The Swiss have 93 per cent of their railway system electrified. And they run on schedule. The coaches are so clean you could eat off the floor."

Mr. Braund was accompanied on the curling trip to Switzerland by W. M. Cruthers of Peterborough, other representative of the local club on the Canadian team.

Energetic people

"At one place we stayed, a group of the villagers dressed in their native costumes, especially for our entertainment, called at our hotel and put on a concert of their folk dances and songs That was characteristic of the atmosphere we found in Switzerland. They are a bright and energetic people."

As to the British elections Mr. Braund said: "A dozen or more men I was talking to in Scotland were predicting that the results would be close, in their opinion, that the Liberal Party might have the balance of power. And as it has turned out, they just about hit the nail on the head."

As a sample of taxes, Mr Braund said cigarettes retailed at 87c a package of 20. "One young man told me he had to decide between cigarettes and having a baby."

Of a third generation out of England, Mr. Braund said he had not much comment (for publication) about his impressions of the land of his fathers

But of Scotland, as the Hon. Eric Willis said: "The Canadians simply had not words for the depth of their appreciation of the warm hearted reception that was shown them, and also for the hearty, hopeful spirit of the people."

"It was a wonderful trip, and the Scots are grand folks," Mr. Braund repeated

18 Persons Escape Building Many In Night Attire Fire Causes $5,000 Damage

Three families, a total of 18 persons, were forced to evacuate the large semi-detached brick house at 208 and 208½ Lake St. late Sunday night when a $5,000 fire swept the rear of the premises. Several of the 13 children involved fled in their bare feet. Cause of the blaze which was reported at 10.06 p.m. is not officially known.

Fire Chief George Smith and Tom Ephgrave, insurance adjustor are making a return visit later today to determine exactly how it did start and also to make an estimate of damage.

The flames had obtained a strong hold on the large wooden frame shed at the rear of the double house before they were discovered almost simultaneously by a passerby and one of the tenants. The extreme cold proved a handicap to firemen in their battle to save the rear of the house.

Temporarily without a home are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Garvey of 208½ Lake and their nine children: Colleen 13, Marlene 12, Edward 11, Mary Lou 9, Gary 8, Wayne 7, Patricia 3, Sally 2, and two-month-old Freddie.

Pulling on what clothes they could lay their hands on at the moment the Garvey children scampered to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Hobbins, about a hundred yards away. All were asleep at the time the alarm was given by Mr. Garvey who observed smoke sifting through his bedroom window.

Most of them were dressed in night attire and odds and ends of clothing. Several ran through the five below zero street in their bare feet, but apparently none are today any the worse for their adventure.

Two other families, consisting of four adults and four young children, live at 208 Lake. They too had to be taken in by neighbors and relatives for the night.

Griffin Chosen Outstanding Freshie Athlete

Don Griffin of Peterborough has been chosen by the Athletic Board of Queen's University as the outstanding freshman athlete at Queen's this year. He is one of the top stars on the fine Queen's senior intercollegiate basketball team, recently scoring 17 points as Kingston defeated Western for the first time in about six years. He was also an ace performer with the good Queen's intermediate football club in the fall, not being allowed to play senior in his freshman year.

Charles Hicks, secretary of the Athletic Board, in a telephone conversation with the Examiner, said Griffin was considered a fine athlete at the university both in intercollegiate sports and intramural athletics. "He will undoubtedly make the senior football team next autumn," he predicted, adding that Coach Tyndal was quite interested in the Peterborough boy, who is but 18 years old. The Alfie Pearce Trophy for this award will be presented to Don at Queen's "Color Night" on March 10 in the Union Building on the campus.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Griffin. He was a great PCVS performer in basketball and football before going to Queen's, sparking several teams to championships. He also played softball as a catcher in the City League.

Farmers Decide To Run Phones

ROCKWOOD, Ont., Feb. 27—(CP)—Faced with the loss of telephone service by the end of March, a group of farmers decided Saturday at a public meeting to take over the Rockwood-Oustic telephone company

The Rockwood-Oustic district is some five miles east of Guelph. There are 81 subscribers on the line.

Reeve D. D. Gray of Eramosa township, chairman of the meeting, said the present directors decided to close the line on March 31 and release its charter unless some other action was taken.

For the farmers to take over, a large percentage must sign petitions guaranteeing certain expenses. The line was started 43 years ago by local farmers and operates through the Bell telephone system switchboard here.

World-Popular Comedian Sir Harry Lauder Dies

STRATHAVEN, Scotland, Feb. 27—(CP)—Sir Harry Lauder, world-famed Scottish comedian, died at his home Sunday night after long months of illness. He was 79.

Sir Harry started as a mill boy and became one of the best loved—and one of the richest—figures of the stage in the world. It was he who wrote Roamin' in the Gloamin' and made it almost a folk song in its popularity and familiarity.

Suffering from arterio-thrombosis (an arterial blood clot) complicated by kidney ailments, he had been near death since August, 1949. About three months ago Sir Harry rallied, but the improvement was only temporary.

With his kilt, gnaried stick, infectious smile and catchy songs, Sir Harry typified the Scotsman to the world's variety audiences for half a century. He made 25 North American tours, and up to his last illness denied that he would retire. Among his fans were King Edward VII, King George V and the Duke of Windsor.

He spent his last Christmas on a sickbed in the company of his niece, Greta, and his old friend, Dr. John Stewart. Sir Harry was Dr. Stewart's last patient. The doctor came out of retirement to care for his friend, and went to live with him at Lauder Ha.

Weakens Fast

During the closing months of last year he had gathered some strength, despite his critical illness. The doctors let him smoke a pipe now and then. And he loved cracking jokes with Dr. Stewart.

While the aged comedian joked, the doctors watched and reported there were no grounds for optimism. Recently they noted his strength was slipping away again.

The physicians had gathered today in Lauder Ha for the quiet Sunday which had become routine since Sir Harry's illness. They were there when the end came, and announced it to waiting neighbors and friends who had gathered outside to receive the news they had expected and feared.

Sir Harry Lauder, one-time mill boy and coal miner, stole the heart of the English-speaking world with his infectious gaiety, droll humor and rollicking songs in a broad Scots baritone.

He first won fame in 1900. During two world wars he wig wagwaggled his kilts and waved his knobbly stick for soldier audiences. Until the summer of 1948 he was organizing local shows for charity in England and Scotland.

Own Songs

He even talked of making another farewell appearance in America but gave up the idea because of his failing health. Still he kept singing the songs he wrote himself—the musical milestone of his unique stage careers—Roamin' in the Gloamin', I Love a Lassie, It's Nice to Get up in the Morning, Keep Right on to the End of the Road and all the rest.

In the spring of 1949 he quit at last, at the age of 78, but he shrank from the word retirement.

"The real artist doesn't date," he once said. "He's not a freak of environment. He's not good just because he was born at a certain time and place. His appeal is world wide."

That fits Sir Harry to a T. He didn't date, for he kept three generations in stitches. And his appeal reached from Scotland around the world; from Buckingham Palace, where he entertained kings and queens, to the lowliest farm cottage.

Born at Portobello, Aug. 4, 1870, the eldest of seven children, he was compelled to go to work at the age of 11, when his father died.

Humble Beginning

His first job, in a flax mill, paid him two shillings and a penny a week. Then he became a miner—"a pit laddie." At 20 he married Annie Vallance. He used to say that it was the best investment he ever made when he spent seven shillings and sixpence for the marriage license.

His wife played the piano and he developed a good voice. Together they added to their funds by giving entertainments in a small hall at Arbroath. Sometimes they made 35 shillings a week. Some one advised him to try his talents in London and he appeared in a music hall there in 1900 to achieve instant success. All England hummed his song, Calligan, Call Again.

His fame spread to the United States, where he scored an even greater hit, soon commanding a large salary for those days. He also made large royalties from phonograph records, then coming into vogue.

Strange Demonstration

FORMER COLLEAGUES MEET—A meeting of former banking colleagues took place at the Canadian National Railways' head offices in Montreal, when Eugene R. Black (left) president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and development (World Bank), Washington, called on Donald Gordon, the railway's new president. Mr. Gordon was formerly governor of the Bank of Canada and a director of the World Bank.

World Bank Leading In Co-operation

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One of the most impressive instances of international co-operation today is being accomplished through the world bank—short name for the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

It is one of the institutions founded in preparation for the post-war problems which were foreseen.

The fact that these problems proved much greater than could have been reasonably forecast, has tended to obscure the operations of the bank.

Nevertheless, it has proceeded on its way as intended, contributing considerably to recovery and offering posibilities of still greater operations when the world has sufficiently recovered to engage to a greater extent in relatively normal banking operations.

At present 48 countries belong to it, all the major countries except the Soviet Union, Spain, Switzerland, Argentina and Ireland.

Billion Available

The bank to date has had available for lending about $1,000,000,000 of which $743,906,983 has actually been lent.

So far the chief demand of borrowers has been United States dollars and so most of the lending has been from the United States contribution and from bank bonds sold in that country. Only some $8,000,000 in Canadian currency has been lent.

Similarly, because the United States has been the biggest supply house of goods in the post-war period, most of the money spent out of the loans has been spent there, approximately $420,000,000. Some $27,000,000 has been spent in Canada, which is more than three times the amount of Canadian currency lent.

Eugene R. Black, the bank's president, who last week visited Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, thinks this situation will change.

He said at a press conference in Toronto Saturday that as recovery brings about the establishment of more normal trades lines, countries will tend to buy from a growing circle. They will thus tend to need more currencies which they will largely spend in the countries from which the currencies comes.

It is part of the process of re-establishing multilateral trade.

People Using Alarm Clocks Need More Sleep Doctor Says

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Feb. 27 — (CP) — Folks who always need an alarm clock to wake them in the mornings are not getting enough sleep to keep them healthy, says London nerve-specialist Dr. Denis Williams in a medical report.

"The amount of sleep needed for an individual's well-being is determined by what he feels he needs, not by what other people, including the doctor, think is reasonable," Dr Williams wrote in The Practitioner.

He said the old English proverb that "six hours' sleep is enough for any man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool" is medically unsound. Many needed 10 hours' sleep to feel fully refreshed.

Most people who claim they "don't sleep a wink" really have about five hours' sleep, the doctor said.

Too Much Worry

"The bad effects of insomnia are almost entirely due to worry brought about by the belief that prolonged lack of sleep is bound to be injurious."

Dr. Williams said a night's sleep for most people is made up of two bouts of deep slumber with an in-between period of restlessness.

The slumber rhythm of people with insomnia depended on which of the three types of sleeplessness they suffered from.

Type 1: Those who have difficulty getting off to sleep—miss the first trough of deep slumber altogether, but make up for it by going further into unconsciousness during the second.

Type 2: Those who are wide awake too early—come back fully into consciousness after the first deep sleep.

Type3: The restless, vivid dreamers who wake up repeatedly throughout the night.

Dr. Williams said the only cure for insomnia is to root out the basic cause. Commonest source is mental tension brought about by anxiety, worry, overwork or over-excitement.

They intended to use the high school building Sunday for a program including baptisms in the swimming pool.

At Conservative Gains Republicans Jubilant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—(AP)—Republican Congressmen saw their party's stock rising today on the strength of Conservative party gains in the British elections. Truman Democrats called the rise imaginary.

Republicans generally felt that the narrow margin of the British Labor party's victory reflects a swing to the right in the western world that may help elect Republican candidates for the United States Senate and House of Representatives in November elections.

Representative Charles Halleck (Rep. Ind.) was the most optimistic. He predicted that the Republicans will regain control of Congress this year, declaring: "The awakening of the British people to the dangers of socialism is being accompanied by a similar awakening in this country."

PESTON, Feb. 27—(CP)—Opposition to abandonment of the Grand River and Lake Erie and Northern Railways electrical rail passenger service has been voiced in this area.

Three Aristocratic Cakes

By MARY MOORE

A friend of mine brought me a message from a mutual friend of ours in Philadelphia asking me to send her my "latest cake discoveries".

She is housebound temporarily because she broke one of the vertebra in her back when she was tobogganing and is in a "torso cast"—but wants to take advantage of her enforced limitations and teach herself how to bake cakes—all kinds—plain and fancy too.

Today I am giving you the recipes that I have sent to her. I like them because they make one-piece desserts. I argue that if you go to all of the trouble and expense of making a cake and a filling and a frosting no dessert fruit is needed.

Toasted Sponge

Use any sponge cake but I like this one because it is surefire and not expensive: Beat 3 eggs until they are pale yellow and thick—this requires about 10 minutes if done with rotary beater, or if in electric beater 5 minutes. Add 1 cup sugar slowly while beating. Add 2 [illegible]oons lemon juice and shake [illegible]alt. Sift cake flour and measure 1 cup into sifter. Add 2 teaspoons baking powder and sift ⅓ of this over the beaten egg mixture. Have ready a generous ⅓ cup hot milk, and add ⅓ of it. Now fold these into the beaten eggs—adding remainer of both in parts. Mix just enough to blend. Pour into paper-lined greased layer cake tins and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out on cake coolers and strip off the paper.

Fill with

Rich Lemon Filling: Into top of double boiler put 4 tablespoons flour, 2-3 cup milk and stir well. Add 1¼ cups boiling water, stir well. Add 1 beaten egg and shake of salt and cook over boiling water until it thickens. Cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool. Spread between layers of cake. (This makes a good filling for lemon jelly roll.)

Frost cake with either one of the 2 following toppings: Cream ⅓ cup butter until light. Slowly add 2-3 cup sifted brown sugar while beating to a fluff. Stir in 1 cup finely chopped walnuts and shake of salt. Spread this over top of cake and pass under extremely hot broiler to make this topping bubble and brown lightly. Or cream together 3 tablespoons butter and ⅓ cup sugar until light. Add 2 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk and ¾ cup moist shredded cocoanut. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and spread over cake and toast under very hot broiler.

Ice Cream Chocolate Cake

Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup best quality shortening until light and gradually add 1 cup sugar while creaming. Add 1 well beaten egg and beat it in. Stir in 2 squares unsweetened melted chocolate. Add the sifted flour mixture alternately with 1 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Bake in greased loaf pan which has been paper-lined and buttered at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour or maybe a little longer. When cold cut cake in halves lengthwise and put ice cream between layers and on top of cake in ½-inch slices, cutting the brick lengthwise. Garnish with sliced peaches or pineapple and slice to serve at once.

Cherry Nut Cake
(Double this for large cake)

Cream together ⅓ cup butter and 1 cup sugar until light, then add ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries and some juice. Sift cake flour an measure 1½ cups and sift with 3 teaspoons baking powder and shake of salt, 3 times. Add to creamed mix alternately with ½ cup milk and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Add ½ cup chopped nuts and beaten whites 2 eggs. Bake in large loaf pan at 375 deg. F. for about 40 minutes. Good with fluffy frosting.

DOROTHY DIX

Must Teach Good Manners Children Can Grow Up Boors

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I disagree upon one point in rearing our children. I feel that while they are young I should teach them the amenities of life how to enter a room, how to greet people courteously, how to eat properly, etc., and, of course, this can only be done by what practically amounts to nagging. Telling them over and over again; "Johnny, take your hat off when you come into a room" "Mary, use your fork and not your knife," and so on. My husband objects to this. Says I shouldn't worry the children about trifles, and that when they grow up they will know how to behave themselves properly Which one of us is right?

MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are. Aside from grounding a child in the moralities, there is no other one thing that it is so important to teach him as good manners. They will carry him farther along the road of success than any one thing, for good manners are a letter of credit that is honored at sight the world over.

Need Polish

Perhaps there was a time when the rough diamond was valued at its true worth, but that time is gone now. People haven't the time nor the patience to peer beneath the surface and realize that there is a fine jewel that only needs polishing to be brought out in all its splendor. They want their diamonds handed to them already cut and polished, and the mother who does not do this for her children commits a grievous wrong against them.

As for saying that children who are allowed to grow up uncouth will suddenly possess elegant and polished manners when they are grown, that is nonsense. No such miracle ever happens.

Nothing in the world sticks closer to us than the habits of our childhood. The boy who is allowed to eat with his knife is a sword-swallower as a man. The girl who is permitted to hold her fork as if it were a spade is still grubbing with it at the food on her plate when she is grown. And it takes the laughter and derision of others, and shame and mortification to teach them what their mother should have taught them

Perhaps children may resent their mothers' nagging them when they are little about their manners, but when they are grown they thank her on their bended knees for it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a boy and girl of 19, who are very much in love with each other. Is it safe for us to marry without ever having had the so-called "playtime of life"?

ANSWER: I consider it most unsafe and that none should risk it except those who were, as the phrase goes, "born old," and who are temperamentally so staid and sober that they have no craving for gayety in any form. There are young people like that Boys and girls who are aged in the cradle, who never want to dance or go to parties or step out of an evening and who are content to marry in their teens and settle down to the serious business of life without ever having had any of the fun that belongs to youth.

It seems to be a law of Nature that all young creatures must have their playtime, and if they miss it something is lacking in their lives. The boy husband has the boy's instinct to run with the gang. He isn't satisfied to sit at home of an evening and look at his wife And the girl, when she sees the other girls of her age dolling themselves up and starting off for gay evenings while she stays at home and washes the dishes and darns husband's socks, grows bitter and dissatisfied and wonders what made her fool enough to throw away her gay carefree girlhood.

So take your playtime now children, at the time of life to which it belongs. Do your running around before marriage. Then you will be glad to settle down and stay put by your own fireside

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been accused ever since I can remember by my many, many friends of being egotistical. Can you suggest a cure?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I can. A very easy one, only no conceited person will ever take it because they do not wish to be cured. The remedy is this: Consider the people about you who are so much better-looking, who are so much more intelligent and who have achieved so much more than you have, and compare yourself with them No vanity can survive that acid test

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I am always interested in your column. What I am asking for is a recipe for crumpets. We don't hear of them now. Other breads have taken their place. A. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

English Crumpets

spoon each salt, sugar and 1

Mix one and one-half cups luke - warm water with ½ teaspoon each salt, sugar and 1 teaspoon melted butter. Dissolve a quarter of a yeast cake in this mixture. Into this stir enough flour to make a very stiff batter. Beat for 10 minutes adding enough lukewarm milk to make batter just barely liquid enough to pour. Grease shallow muffin rings and place them on a soapstone griddle or a heavy aluminum griddle. Pour the batter into the rings to depth of ¼ inch. Bake in oven of 300 deg. Fahr. Do not turn until brown on under side, then turn over and bake for about 5 minutes longer Serve hot. If leftover, split, toast, butter to serve on second day.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: (from Mrs. F. W. answer continued from last week)

Fifth Day (of 7-day reducing diet)

Breakfast Two slices back bacon,fat trimmed off, broiled; 1 slice whole wheat toast unbuttered; one-half grapefruit; 1 cup clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk.

Luncheon: 1 sandwich with 2 slices whole wheat bread, no butter, but filled with generous quantity of salmon and lettuce leaf; 8 oz. skim milk or buttermilk; imported grapes about 18.

Dinner: Two 2-oz. cakes ground round steak, broiled; 4 oz. serving canned or frozen cooked peas; 1 rye crisp wafer; 1 banana; Clear coffee or tea.

Sixth Day

Breakfast: Fresh pear; poached egg on half slice unbuttered whole wheat toast; Clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk.

Luncheon: Salad of fresh tomato, cottage cheese (at least 2 oz.) 3 sardines on quarter head of iceberg lettuce—no mayonnaise; 1 slice whole wheat bread and 1 rye wafer; 8 oz. glass skim or buttermilk; one orange.

Dinner: Four oz. baked chicken or boiled fowl; boiled or steamed large carrot; 1 small new potato with ½ pat butter; 1 unsweetened baked apple; clear tea or coffee.

Seventh Day:

Breakfast: Coddled Egg with 1 slice unbuttered Graham bread; 8-oz. glass tomato juice with 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 or 2 cups clear coffee or coffee with homogenized milk

Luncheon: Salad of Shrimps coulded in tomato jelly on lettuce with cheese-stuffed celery hearts and strips of raw carrot, no mayonnaise; 1 slice whole wheat bread or toast with ½ pat butter; 8-oz. glass or 2 cups undersweetened cocoa 1 dessert apple or banana.

Dinner: Broiled liver, 3 oz with 1 oz. broiled side bacon; 1 small baked potato with ½ pat butter; broccoli, 2 to 4 oz. with pat butter; 1 orange sectioned; 1 cup clear coffee or tea with lemon.

That gives you 7 days to work on; of course these menus may be juggled but do not eat more than 1 pat butter and 1 teaspoon mayonnaise per day. If you eat 1½ pats butter per day omit the mayonnaise.

If you find you are too hungry at 4 o'clock in the afternoon save one of the portions of fruit alloted to you and eat at that time. Write again when I can be of help.

Alberta Takes The Lead In Famous Meat Dishes

By EVA M. BUCK.

As we begin our return trip back across the provinces leaving British Columbia our first stop is Alberta. It is truly said that each province has its own beauty, and Alberta claims the magnificent beauty of the mountains This is the drawing card for the tourist trade.

During their stay in this province food will again enter into the picture. Alberta, with rolling plains and grassy valleys, makes it an ideal province for grazing cattle and sheep. An abundance of meat makes meat dishes one of the outstanding items on the menus. The following recipes include some of the famous meat dishes of Canada.

Lamb Pie—Curried Biscuit Topping.

2 pounds rather lean stewing lamb, 3 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 bay leaf, 4 or 5 medium-sized carrots, 18 to 20 tiny onions, 3 tablespoons flour, 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼-cup cold water.

Wipe with a damp cloth and cut into 1-inch cubes, discarding the excess fat, the 2 pounds stewing lamb. Place in a saucepan and add the boiling water salt, pepper, and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, until meat is almost tender, about 1 1-2 hours Peel and slice the carrots. Peel the onions. Add vegetables to meat and simmer, covered, for 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Combine the flour, dry mustard, and blend to a smooth paste with 1-4 cup cold water. Gradually stir into lamb mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy is smoothly thickened. Keep hot while making topping. Preheat oven to 450 degs. (hot). Grease a casserole (8-cup size) or rub the inside lightly with a halved clove of garlic.

Measure into sifter 1 1-2 cups once-sifted pastry flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons curry powder. Cut in finely 3 tablespoons chilled shortening. Make a well in the dry ingredients and add 1-2 cup milk. Combine lightly but thoroughly. Turn out on lightly-floured canvas or baking board and knead a few seconds; roll out into a round that will fit the top of the casserole being used, and cut out four or five small rounds of dough, to allow for the escape of steam Place a support for the topping in centre of prepared casserole and fill dish with hot lamb mixture. Cover filling with rolled-out dough. Bake in preheated oven until topping is cooked and golden, 20 to 25 minutes.

Canadian meat pie—1 1-2 pounds round steak, 3 lamb kidneys, 1 medium-sized onion, sliced, 1 1-3 cups hot water, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 1-2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 recipe plain pastry.

Wipe steak; trim off fat, chop and use as drippings; cut lean meat in 1 inch cubes, Split kidneys in halves lengthwise, remove tubes and fat and soak in cold salted water 1-2 hour; cut in small pieces. Saute onion in beef fat in large frying pan or heavy kettle until lightly browned; add steak and brown slightly, stirring constantly. Add hot water and seasonings, cover and simmer about 1 hour, or until tender. Saute kidneys in 1 tablespoon butter 10 minutes, turning frequently, and add to meat; drain off stock and thicken with roux made from flour and remaining 1 1-2 tablespoons butter. Put meat-kidney mixture in greased casserole and pour half of gravy over top; cover with pastry, moistening rim with water to make crust adhere, then prick crust with fork, or make several incisions to permit escape of steam. Bake in hot oven, 400 degs. F. about 20 minutes, or until crust is browned; serve with remaining hot gravy Makes 6 portions.

Baked Canadian Bacon—1 1-2 lbs. Canadian bacon, unsliced, 2 cups cooked or canned green limas, 3 firm, ripe tomatoes, Salt and pepper.

Place bacon in an open baking pan or roaster. Bake in moderate oven of 350 degs. F. allowing 35 minutes per lb., about 53 minutes. Twenty minutes before the bacon is done, remove it from the oven, and arrange lima beans on one side of it. Cut tomatoes into 1-2 inch crosswise slices; sprinkle with salt and pepper; and place cut side up on other side of bacon. Then bake for the remaining 20 minutes. Serves 6.

Beefsteak Pie — Chili — 1 1-2 pounds round steak, 1-4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Few grains cayenne, 3 tablespoons pork or beef dripping.

Wipe with a damp cloth and cut the meat into fingers 1" x 3" Measure into a clean paper bag the flour, salt, pepper and cayenne. Add pieces of meat, a few at a time, and shake in bag until well coated with seasoned flour In a large frying pan heat the beef or pork dripping. Brown meat richly in fat; drain off excess fat and to meat add the following:

2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes 1 1-2 cups water, 2 medium-sized onions, peeled and sliced, 1-2 cup sliced celery, 1-4 cup chopped green pepper, 1-2 bay leaf, 1-2 teaspoon granulated sugar.

Cover and simmer until meat is tender, about 2 hours. Remove bay leaf. Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons Chili powder, and blend to a smooth paste with 1-4 cup cold water Gradually stir into beef mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until gravy is smoothly thickened. Keep hot while making topping Preheat oven to 450 degs. F. Grease a casserole (8-cup size) Prepare a biscuit dough or pie paste topping. Place a support for the topping in centre of prepared casserole and fill dish with hot beef mixture. Moisten edge of dish with cold water and cover filling with your choice of rolled-out, slashed, topping; seal edge. Bake in preheated oven until topping is cooked and golden.

Lamb Steak and Kidney Stew —3 lamb kidneys, 1 1-2 lbs lamb shoulder, 1-4 cup minced onion, 2 tablespoons fat or salad oil, 2 cups boiling water, 1 cup cubed carrot, 8 halved carrots, 6 white onions, Salt and pepper, 2 cups cooked or canned peas.

Wash kidneys; split. Remove fat membrane; dice kidneys and lamb. Brown with minced onion in fat; add water. Cover; simmer 1 hour. Add carrots, onions; cover; simmer 1 hours. Remove halved carrots, onions. Thicken stock: season; pour into casserole; garnish with halved carrots

What's Right

There is a bit of news you'd like to repeat but you aren't quite sure if your husband, who told it to you, wants you to.

WRONG WAY: Turn to him and say: "Do you mind if I tell them about such-and-such?"

RIGHT WAY: Skip the story, since asking your husband whether you can tell it or not is likely to put him in an embarrassing position.

Paris Fashions Chief Topic With Dress Minded Women

By ALISON SETTLE

Special London Observer and Examiner

LONDON, Feb. 25—The greatest est popularity is accorded in Paris at this time of year, to the journalist who has had e... ... the Paris dress collections. For what the great dress houses are doing is a matter of national importance and of the greatest interest not only among themselves (and no creator can ever visit the shows of another designer) but to the ordinary people in the street.

This applies as much to men as to women, for all are aware of the artistic and economic importance of dress.

Yet the elegancies, fantasies and often exaggerations of the big dress collections bear little relation to the dress of ordinary Frenchwomen as seen on the Paris streets; they look very much as do women of the same kind in London. The weather veers between rain and snow, with a sudden fine gusty day: it is treacherous, and women are wrapped in their big black coats, scarves or furs enveloping the throat. The fact that the French follow the American fashion of having their great black coats lined with scarlet, lemon or a vivid jade is undiscoverable on the streets, though it gives a great look of gaiety to restaurants and tearooms.

The "American line" is greatly admired in Paris. It consists of long-leggedness, a trick of walking from the hip, the back upright, the head accurately aligned with the supple spine, the outfit topped with a tiny hat. (It consists also of dollars).

The American passion for wearing white even in midwinter, for perfect grooming, constant pressing and constant relaundering of white details, delights the French Themselves plump, they greatly admire the long, lean build of their American customers. What they cannot undertand is the desire of women of all ages to acquire the look of a "Junior Miss"; the French jeune fille has no importance at all. Only married women, looking married, have the money to spend on good dressing

The American fashion editors (seven or nine for each American glossy fashion journal attend every dress show) were a great disappointment to the French audience, for they were hardly to be distinguished from the others around them.

This year they all wore black, were soberly hatted, and any passion for display was confined to four or five rows of monster pearls at their throats, a uniform adornment. Miss Marjorie Dunton, broadcasting daily to American on fashion in Paris, looked across at the rows of them at one collection and murmured "Those oysters have sure worked overtime."

Yet already the French begin to wear the new straw hats, worn forward on the forehead, just a few livening up the blackness of street dress. And soon, under those big enveloping coats, they will be wearing copies, exact, true, of the closely guarded secrets of the great dress houses.

So long as their "petitles mains", the little apprentice workgirls, are underpaid, so long will toiles (canvass patterns of the model) find their myterious way into the back dressmaking rooms of cheap blocks of flats where their aunts, mothers and grandmothers copy them for private clients who know how to keep quiet about their source.

That is why, under the black wrap - coat, the Frenchwoman maintains her reputation for being the best-dressed woman in the world, "French" being synonymous with "Parisian".

Occupying the lower part of the house were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hewitt and their two daughters, Marilyn 7, and Linda 5, and their son Billy, 9. The apartment above is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown and their five-month-old infant son.

Major damage was caused to the Hewitt property. Kitchen furnishings, refrigerator, cupboards, dishes and other household utensils were included in the loss. The one-storey kitchen roof was completely destroyed and the whole room may have to be rebuilt.

A neighbor, Arthur Conlin, discovered the flames as he stepped out of a taxi when he returned home for the night. He telephoned in the alarm at the residence of Mrs. Mary Hobbins and then warned the three families.

Mr. Garvey at about the same time, had noticed smoke coming in his window and had seen the shed on fire when he investigated. The sleeping children were bundled off to Mrs. Hobbins for the night. Later several of them went to the home of Mrs. Clarence Courneyea, another Lake St. resident.

"The children are spread all over town, I couldn't tell you where they all are at the moment," Mr. Garvey told the Examiner today.

He estimated that it will be another week before the house will be fit for habitation. Ice from water used in fighting the fire covers the kitchen floor of his premises as well as that of the Hewitts.

Oil Tank Exploded

A 15-gallon container of fuel oil exploded in the shed and this sent tongues of flame leaping from the doomed wooden structure into the basement of the adjacent brick homes. The blaze spread through the basement of the Hewitt premises and then ate through into that of the Garveys.

Some furniture and clothing in the shed were completely destroyed and the shed is a total loss and the charred skeleton will have to be torn down. Ironically enough, another quantity of fuel oil stored in the shed, did not ignite despite the intense heat.

Firemen found the blaze a difficult one to tackle. The sub-zero temperature slowed down the effectiveness of the men as they found it difficult to keep their footing on the ice. At least two hose lines became frozen during the firefighting operations.

Much of the children's clothing hanging in the kitchen was soaked and subsequently froze, and it must be considered a complete loss.

Toby Westbye Captures Men's Slalom

Peter Bowen, the Peterborough Ski Club's junior champion, placed third in the slalom and sixth in the downhill event for class "B" skiers at the provincial junior championships in North Bay Friday and Saturday. Dave Ward, who placed second to Bowen in the club events, was ninth in both the slalom and downhill. George Hall, making his first attempt at competitive skiing, placed fairly high in the class A events. The top skiers were from North Bay, Timmins, Sudbury, Collingwood, Fort William and Ottawa.

The three boys left Thursday noon for North Bay by car, skied Friday and Saturday, and returned to compete in the local club slalom championships at Bethany Sunday.

Toby Westbye, local veteran skier, easily took the men's slalom event Sunday in 1:04.3 minutes, four seconds better than Peter Bowen and Dave Ward, two juniors who entered the senior competition. Pete Cameron placed third with a time of 1:10.4 minutes.

Women's slalom champion, Mollie Craig, shot through the flags in 1:30.1 minutes to finish 16 seconds better than Shirley Mortimer. Mary Dodds completed the course in 2:01 minutes.

Peter Bowen and Dave Ward, with their time of 1:08.1 minutes, tied for first place in the junior competition.

Champions of the combined downhill and slalom (the downhill events run off a week ago) were: Toby Westbye, men's; Mollie Craig, women's; Peter Bowen, juniors'.

Skiing was excellent over the weekend at both Bempt's Hill and at Bethany. Sunday skiers crowded to both slopes while the skiing was good. A busload of skiers from Toronto took in the day at Bethany.

4 District Churches Unite In World Prayer

Others taking part in the service were Miss L. Jackson, Mrs. H. Fair, Mrs. Gray, Miss A. Berry, Mrs. E. Eagleson and Mrs. W. Hall.

Two Cars Damaged As Fenders Tangle

Two cars collided at Reid and Hall Sts. Sunday doing some damage to both cars.

Driver of one car, John Clarke 483 Donegal St., was driving south on Reid St. At the Hall St intersection, he met a car driven by Joseph Sheehan, R.R. 5, Peterborough, west on Hall St Sheehan was starting to make a left turn into Reid St.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum reported that Sheehan told him he had stopped before entering Reid St. The left rear fender and door of the Clarke car were banged in and the right front fender of the Sheehan car was damaged.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

W. W. Cruthers, one of the party of Canadian curlers who recently returned from an extended tour of Scotland, was busy over the weekend relating to his friends the highlights of the trip. The boys sure did have one grand time.

With a little more than two weeks to go, the entry for the Ostrander Trophy men's bonspiel is growing day by day. If you intend entering a rink, do so at once; a day or two delay may be just that much too late.

Tomorrow (Tuesday) night games in the Viceskips' bonspiel at 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. Consult the chart for information.

T. Doughty, F. Stenson, Dr. McCartney and R. F. Downey are skipping rinks in the annual mixed rink bonspiel at Lindsay today.

The winning rinks in Saturday's men's bonspiel were skipped by A. L. Jeffries, H. Baptie, V. Brown and I. McGowan.

The winners in the evening mixed rink games were C. Giroux and D. Bell.

This little poem came to us from Joe Batten, a brother of F. Batten. It's from the St. Andrew's Curling Club, N. S.

A feller never earns a drink when curling:
He's paid with friends and happy times when curling:
And when he says his broom away
He hopes his friends will of him say
"He 'played the game' from day to day;
That's curling."

Benefit Tilt Held For Injured Boy

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27 — (ENS)—In a clean hockey game in Campbellford on Saturday, the local TVL team defeated Trenton OHA intermediate "B" team by the score of 8-5. The players donated their services for the night, to play this exhibition game for the benefit of young Jack Holmes, of the Campbellford bantam team, who was injured in a game against the Ajax bantams. Holmes received the business end of a goal-stick in the mouth, and left the ice minus six front teeth. Dental surgeons who have examined the boy say that a new partial denture will have to be fitted about every six months, due to his tender years. An operation was necessary to remove the splintered teeth from the boy's jaw. The local hockey authorities decided something should be done, so arranged an exhibition game with the Trenton team.

Bernard Allen, manager of the bantam team, has now also taken over the job of coach, replacing "Toey" Ibey, who is no longer with the team. Mr. Allen, who is known in local circles as "Bun", will have the boys under his wing the rest of the season.

200 Young Skiers Attend School

Skis, harness, poles and 200 young enthusiasts were loaded into four buses and numerous cars Saturday morning for the ski school at Kempt's Hill. The school was to have opened several times in January but Mother Nature limited the snow in the area. Friday the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club made the hurried decision to start the school. It will operate every Saturday morning as long as there is snow.

"Highly successful" was the comment by Alex Sinclair, recreation director. He added that the school's success was due to the co-operation of all concerned, especially the public school principals who notified the pupils at the last moment of the opening of the ski school.

Mollie Craig, ski club delegate to the Travelling Ski School, said the ski club instructors were surprised at the high standard of skiing for the age of the children, 10 to 15 years old. She added that the skiers were taught "controlled skiing and the use of the tow.

For the purpose of teaching the children properly they were divided into two groups, those 11 years and under and those over. The younger group were taught how to use the tow in the first half hour while the older class were taught the fundamentals of skiing. They changed places for the next half hour and then joined together for the last hour.

Members of the ski club acting as instructors were: Toby Westbye, Vic Griffiths, Judy Strickland, Mary Dodds, Dave Johnson, Bev Martin, Bob White, Mollie Craig and Ted McCaig.

Wants UK Agriculture Freed Of Politics

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(CP). — Sir James Turner, president of the National Farmers' Union, believes that Britain's vast agricultural industry should be "lifted clear" out of politics.

He told the annual meeting of the 200,000-member N.F.U. that agriculture "should be guarded from encroachment with the same zeal a prudent nation applies to the husbanding of its gold reserves."

Appealing for increased food production to maintain the standard of living as Marshall aid comes to an end in 1952, he said waste of good home produce could not be tolerated.

He told farmers that withdrawal of subsidies on fertilizers and feeding stuffs this year would increase food production costs by £15,000,000 ($46,500,000).

Old Engine Has Strange Visitor

TIMAGAMI, Ont., Feb. 27—(CP)—Engine No. 311, an old war horse of the Ontario Northland Railway, has pulled a lot of freight in her day, but none quite like the bundle she took on at 11:40 p.m. Saturday night.

Flagged to a halt near Redwater, 10 miles souht of here, 311 blew off steam in the 12-below-zero temperature, while Mrs. Roland Rangers, an emergency maternity case, was taken aboard The community has been isolated by winter snows and there was no other way to get Mrs. Ranger to hospital.

Five minutes later in the caboose, 18 cars behind, a blue-eyed girl was added to 311's cargo.

Credit for the baby's safe delivery was given by the train crew to Mrs. Ranger's mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Ranger of Timagami.

Carl Liscombe Equals All-Time Goal Record

By The Canadian Press

Carl Liscombe of the Providence Reds Sunday night equalled the all-time professional hockey scoring record of 675 points as the Reds edged Hershey Bears 4-3 in an American Hockey League game.

The veteran left-winger picked up a goal and an assist to tie Clint Smith, now coaching St. Paul Saints of the United States League.

Liscombe has 38 points this season. He set a season scoring record in 1947-48 with 118 points. Liscombe's goal was late in the first period and his assist on Ken Davies' marker to tie the record came early in the middle stanza.

Smuts a loyal supporter of the Commonwealth.

The surrender of some 4,000 Boers at Paardeberg on February 27, 1900, came at approximately the same time as the news of the relief of Ladysmith. It was the turn of the tide as the Natal invaders retreated to the mountains and other Boer troops retired at Cape Colony.

Hints from the presidents of the republics that they would accept the status quo of pre-war days were rejected by Lord Salisbury.

Losses Were Heavy

The Boers entrenched themselves in the dry bed of the Modder River. On February 18 they were attacked from both sides but their accurate rifle fire cut down the advancing British infantry. By nightfall losses were so heavy that Lord Roberts broke off the engagement, the Boer position still untaken.

After letting the Boers starve for nine days Roberts renewed the attack on February 27. Canadian troops, fighting for the first time outside of Canada as a unit, joined with the other British forces in forcing the Modder River despite the heavy Mauser fire from Boer riflemen hiding in the long grass.

A final bayonet charge in the afternoon won the position and the 4,000 Boers under their commander, General P. A. Cronje, surrendered.

Alderman Adam Sands, chairman of the city council Legal and Reception Committee, took the chair at the civic banquet given to the grizzled warriors. Mayor M. J. Swanston brought greetings of the residents of Peterborough.

Jack Playford thanked the main speaker. A social evening followed.

Says Chaperones Make Latins Good Lovers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 (AP)—Now I know why Latins are noted as lovers. It's because of chaperones.

Sounds paradoxical, doesn't it? But listen to Ricardo Montalban, latest heart throb of the bobby-soxers, explain why Latins have the reputation of being great lovers:

"Latins develop great ability at love making because it is a necessity. It all stems back to the customs of the country. In Mexico, for instance, a man has little time to tell his loved one all the things he wants to.

Only A Few Minutes

"The girls are constantly chaperoned, so the boys have to take advantage of the few minutes they can find to be alone with their sweethearts. They have to accomplish in a few moments what the American male can take a whole evening to say.

"Latins rely more on words than action. They are much more effusive than the average lover. They put all their feeling into words."

Montalban is happily married and the father of three.

Don't Taunt Him

Before coming to Hollywood, Montalban appeared in 13 Mexican pictures between 1941 and 1945.

"In Hollywood, I made one picture, then I was off for a whole year. I made another picture and was off for another year. But now I'm on my fourth straight picture and I go right into another one.

"However, I'm glad I wasn't rushed to stardom right away. I think it's a false security. You can topple too easily. I'd much rather take it slow and prove what I can do."

Incidentally, don't taunt the lad about his lover roles. He has one of the best builds in Hollywood and has learned to box for "Right Cross."

$40,000 Jewels, Watches Loot For 5 Thugs In Daring Montreal Holdup

Daylight Raid Pulled Off In Busy Section As Police Officials Brag Armed Holdups Now Halted Across City

MONTREAL, Feb. 28—(CP)—Five armed men today held up an east-end jewelry store and fled with $40,000 worth of watches, diamonds and other jewelry items. Police, who sounded a general alarm to all squad cars, said the five men entered the store of Julien Bellemare on Papineau Street, just around the corner from busy St. Catherine Street. They threatened store attendants and relieved a jewelry traveller of his samples before making their getaway.

The hold-up was reported to police headquarters just after officials announced that Montreal had been free of armed holdups for nine days.

The general alarm warned all officers to be on the watch for a black Parkard sedan of 1936 or 1937 model last seen speeding north on Papineau, one of the city's main north-south arteries.

Also Get Money

Police said that an undetermined amount of cash was included in the loot.

The robbery occurred a few hours after Detective Captain Paul Guerin told reporters that the city has had only 14 armed robberies this month, compared with 40 in January.

The last big holdups were reported early this month when two younb bandits robbed a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in suburban town of Mount Royal of $2,000 and a lone gunman held up another suburban bank branch in Ville St. Michel.

Two Brinks Express Company guards last week foiled another attempt when they captured two men who had snatched a $2,000 payroll from a clerk returning from the bank.

Doubt Trial Will Budge U.S. Coal Miners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 —(CP) —The government went ahead today with the contempt trial of John L. Lewis's miners union, amid still more talk of possible government seizure of the mines and a continuing spread of troubles from the coal shortage.

One government official offered the personal view that government seizure would appear inevitable if there is not real progress today toward a strike settlement.

However, all contract talks were off for the present. Negotiations were suspended Monday after getting nowhere. They still are subject to re-opening on short notice.

Moreover, there was no sign from the White House that President Truman is changing tactics and planning to ask for a law that would permit the government to seize the mines.

Felt Acutely

The chances of getting the mines back to work seemed as bleak as ever. A cold wave gripping a large part of the United States made the fuel shortage felt even more acutely.

More and more industries were closing down. Schools were closing. Even some hospitals were having trouble finding enough fuel to keep patients warm.

It is against the background of this picture that government attorneys presented their contempt case in federal court here to Judge Richmond B. Keech.

The government contends the United Mine Workers Union is guilty of both civil and criminal

No Power Cuts During 1951

TORONTO, Feb. 28 — (CP) — There will be no cuts during the coming year in power delivered to Ontario consumers, Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission chairman, said today.

An additional 130,000 power units daily from the Des Joachims Power Plant, expected to begin operations by July 1, gives the commission confidence power restrictions during 1950 will be unnecessary, he said.

Mr. Saunders spoke to a joint convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and the Association of Municiapl Electrical Utilities.

MacKinnon died in hospital Dec 18 from injuries allegedly inflicted when MacLean ran over him with an automobile.

In his instructions to the grand jury Monday, the Chief Justice, J. L. Ilsley, said that on the evidence a true bill could be returned.

The pageant will follow a performance of Puccini's Tosca with Ljuba Welitch, Ferruccio Tagliavini and Paul Schoeffler in the leading roles.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets for tonight's performance are to go into an "Edward Johnson testimonial fund" for the "continuity of Metropolitan opera."

New Ruble Rate

MOSCOW, Feb. 28—(AP)—Russia, in sweeping price reductions, tonight set a new rate for the ruble—four rubles to the United States dollar instead of 5.30. The government decreed that the rate of exchange of the ruble would no longer be defined in dollars.

CAUGHT AT LAST—Oklahoma city's escaped leopard was captured alive at its pit today—felled by knockout drops placed in his meat. The beast has been roaming the countryside since 1 p.m. Saturday, terrorizing the population.

Seeds Of Revolt

PRAGUE, Feb. 28—(AP) Czechoslovakia's Communist President, Kelement Gottwald told his party leaders Friday that Titoism has cropped up in this country, it was disclosed officially today. The war between the Communist government and the Roman Catholic church flared anew. The country's Catholic Bishops warned priests they will be excommunicated if they accept government nominations for church jobs without prior permission of church superiors.

Jan. Deadline Set By Frost In Amalgamation

TORONTO, Feb. 28—(CP)—Premier Frost told the Ontario Legislature Monday that if the 13 municipalities in the greater Toronto area have not agreed on a mutual solution of their problems before next Jan. 1 "someone else" will make the agreement for them.

It was Premier Frost who called the Mayors and Reeves of the municipalities in conference weeks ago to attempt to settle problems of amalgamation between the city of Toronto and the 12 lesser municipal units ringing the city, saying the Ontario government's main concern is with housing development. Mayors and Reeves formed a committee which now is studying the financial aspects and the relative merits of amalgamation on a county borough system.

Premier Frost spoke during discussion on the Government's House Development Act which enables the province to join with the Federal government in facilitating the building of low-cost homes.

Must Be Settled

The Act would be of little benefit to the 1,000,000 or more people in the greater Toronto area until the question of municipal government is settled, said Premier Frost.

"I hope that by Jan. 1, 1951, the people of this area will have come together in a union which in its own way will be as significant and as beneficial as Confederation was 80 years ago," said Premier Frost.

To get justice for all, there should be consolidation, he continued. He personally favored the Metropolitan or County council system whereby local communities retain their identity, but doubted its feasibility. If the Metropolitan Board looked after such matters as education, transportation, water, sewage, police and fire protection, there would be little left for the municipal councils.

But under the present municipal arrangement there is no land available for the low-cost housing scheme, said Premier Frost, and it would be ludicrous for Toronto Board of Control for instance to ask for assistance.

Parent Union Must Force Obedience

New Ontario Law Changes System In Certification Vote

TORONTO, Feb. 28—(CP)—A new Ontario Labor code giving the Labor Minister power to force parent labor organizations to end wildcat strikes by member locals was introduced today in the Legislature.

The bill, outlined earlier today by Labor Minister Daley at a press conference, provides that the services of the Ontario Labor Relations Board may be denied all member locals of a parent labor organization while one of the members is engaged in an illegal strike.

Similar measures may be taken against an association of employers, one of whose members engages in an illegal lockout.

No Excuses

"We will be able to say to the Trades and Labor Congress, for instance, or to the Canadian Congress of Labor, 'get in there and get those boys back in line,'" Mr. Daley said.

The bill also makes these provisions:

1. In cases where a union applying for certification has between 45 and 55 per cent of the eligible employees signed as members, the Labor Relations Board must order a secret government-conducted vote. Formerly a vote could be ordered at the discretion of the board.

2. In a government-conducted vote, the union shall be considered to have a majority of eligible employees if a majority of those voting in favor of the union. Formerly the union was required to have a majority of all employees eligible to become members of the union. This had the effect that if an employee did not vote because of illness or any other reason he was considered to have voted against the union.

Protect Craftsmen

3. The bill will protect the right of craftsmen to bargain separately from unskilled workers in the same plant.

4. It will provide that a negotiating committee shall include some of the employees. Formerly the committee could consist entirely of international officers of the union who were not employees of the management.

5. The Ontario Labor Relations Board will have power to decide if a Conciliation Board is required in a dispute and to authorize prosecutions for unfair labor practices. These powers formerly were held by the minister.

6. A collective agreement will be deemed invalid if it includes provisions which discriminate on grounds of race or creed.

Boy Sleighing Struck By Car

An innocent toboggan ride nearly ended in death for eight-year-old Gary Rogers, shortly before noon today. He collided with a car after a short but speedy run down a hill and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The accident occurred in front of his own home on the Crowley Line, a half mile south of Downer's Corners.

His injuries are undetermined The Rogers home is perched on a sloping hill, west of the Crowley Line. Gary's mother had crossed the road to get a pail of water and it is believed the lad decided to follow her on his toboggan.

He had started down the hill and was unable to stop when he saw the approaching car driven by Russell McCarrell of R.R. 6 Peterborough. McCarrell saw him and applied his brakes immediately but was unable to avoid a collision.

The speeding toboggan and Gary were caught under the front of the car and the former was dragged along for a full 50 feet Somehow Gary was knocked free and left injured by the side of the road. He was taken to hospital.

Spend 8 Hours On Lake After Air Crash

Fuel Pipes Freeze Up, Plane Downed In Below Zero Weather

NORTH BAY, Feb. 28 (CP)—Three men who took off in a plane here Monday spent more than eight hours in below-zero weather on a windswept lake 18 miles east of here after crash-landing minutes after the takeoff. They were unable to get in touch with the airport which put out a province-wide air rescue alert.

The men — Ross McIntyre, Chippawa, pilot; Harry Wonder, Kitchener; and Ernie Cantin, Callander—planned a one-hour flight to inspect a recently purchased farm of Wonder's on the edge of Talon Lake, 18 miles east of here.

Fuel pipes of the small Cessna aircraft froze up and the plane —which was wheel-equipped— was forced down on the lake making a landing in the one-foot deep snow which covered the ice.

An RCAF plane, making a regular flight ffom Kapuskasing to Ottawa and passing over the area, was alerted by North Bay and circled the area.

From it truck lights were seen on Talon Lake at about 1.30 a.m. The crew of the RCAF plane thought they were the lights of provincial police who were searching the area. Actually they were lights from a farmer's truck who had gone to the assistance of the stranded trio.

Two of the men were driven by automobile to North Bay early today, and a private plane from North Bay, piloted by R. S. Fischer, went to the downed plane with repair equipment.

The plane was forced down shortly after it took off about 4 p.m. The men were not rescued until past midnight.

Chrysler Plant Closes Down

WINDSOR, Feb. 28—(CP)—The motor and truck plant of Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited closes today, the company announced in a statement and 1,000 men will be laid off. Another 2,500 face layoffs tomorrow in the passenger car production plant, resulting from supply deficiencies resulting from the pensions strike in the company's parent plant in Detroit. The 3,500 workmen are members of Local 195, United Automobile Workers (CIO). The company also announced "remaining workers will be laid off daily as developments eliminate any work for them." The Chrysler plant here is Windsor's second largest motor car manufacturer.

Hint of the shutdown came Monday night from a Sarnia feeder plant—The Electrical Auto-Lite Company—but Chrysler officials here declined to confirm or deny the report.

Auto workers in the Windsor plant are also engaged in a pensions dispute with the company, seeking $100-a-month company paid pension for all workers aged 69 after 25 years' service. A conciliation board met here last week under Judge Harold E. Fuller of Welland, Ont., and adjourned Saturday until March 8. Chrysler's pensions offer to the union is $55 a month.

Make Every Effort

The company statement announcing the shutdown,' says:

"Five weeks have passed since the corporation's Detroit plants were closed by a strike. In that time every effort has been made by the planning and purchasing departments of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited to maintain a balance of inventories in order to continue employment and production as long as possible."

The company says work cannot be resumed in Windsor plants "until some time after the Detroit plants resume operation."

It is understood total employment at Chrysler plants here now near the 5,500 mark. Company officials declined later to say in what specific departments the balance of the workers are employed.

'Mickey' In Meat Tricks Leopard, Brings Capture

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28—(AP)—Oklahoma City's escaped leopard was captured alive at its pit today—felled by a "mickey." Knockout drops placed in chunks of horse meat subdued the ferocious jungle cat long enough for him to be captured. Hunger finally drove the beast back to Lincoln Park zoo, the only home he had known since being brought here a week ago from the jungles of India. He had been free since 1 p.m. Saturday when he leaped from a barless pit, 18 feet deep, and scampered away while onlookers stood frozen with terror.

Thousands of hunters had stalked the cat since his escape. Airplanes, helicopters and specially-trained dogs were employed in the search.

But an empty stomach and perhaps a yearning for the mate he left behind prompted the fugitive to return the same way he left—of his own accord.

Found Groggy

The leopard was found groggy by park employees and a game ranger as he was slinking sleepily toward the drugged bait placed near his pit.

"The "shoot to kill" order was issued after the animal escaped. It was less than 60 days out of the jungle.

Zoo helper Julian Frazier estimated the leopard was at least 18 miles from the zoo before it returned to gnaw at the tainted meat.

Offers of help and hundreds of suggestions flooded into Frazier from all over the country on how to capture the animal. While it was being caged, a dozen hounds were on their way by plane to aid in the search.

Call In Reserves

A detachment of Marine reserves, walkie-talkies, airplanes and two-way radio police cars were brought into the big game hunt.

Frazier said the 175-pound leopard would be turned into the den with its mate sometime during the day but it would not be on public exhibition "until we dig a deeper pit."

The pit from which the leopard escaped gives the appearance of high boulders. However, it is hollow on the inside. A corridor leads from the front of the pit down some steps and 18 feet to an iron door.

Britain Introduces Helicopter Service

CARDIFF, Feb. 28 (Reuters)—Britain's first inland helicopter air passenger service, believed to be the first of its kind in the world, starts in June, Peter Masefield, chief executive of British European Airways, announced on Monday.

He described the idea to the Welsh advisory council for civil aviation as "almost revolutionary" and added "even the Americans have not done this."

Sikorsky 85 mile an hour single engined aircraft will cover the 145-mile journey between Cardiff and Liverpool, each with three passengers, in 105 minutes. Return fare is £5 10s ($17.10.)

The new helicopter airline will link with normal air routes between England and Ireland.

Attlee Revamps Labor Cabinet

LONDON, Feb. 28 — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee, who won a shaky victory in Thursday's British general election, has revamped his Labor cabinet. He is expected to announce its make up within the next 24 hours.

Attlee had an hour's audience with the King Monday night after after spending the day forming his new cabinet.

Chief post to be filled was that of colonial secretary, which became vacant because of the defeat of Arthur Creech Jones.

The changes were expected to be announced before the newly-elected parliament meets tomorrow. Next Monday the government's program will be outlined in the Speech from the Throne.

With ruling Labor whittled down to a working majority of only seven seats in the House of Commons, there is much speculation that the program of nationalization of industry and other socialist measures will be considerably modified to avoid an immediate showdown.

Most political observers speculated that the Labor government will attempt to stay in power at least until the 1950 budget is presented in April.

Reports that Attlee had shelved Labor's program for putting more industry into the hands of the state led to the belief there might be a kind of unwritten political truce between the major parties until the main budget appropriations are passed.

Mauls Police, Jailed

WHITBY, Feb. 28—(CP)—In a sequel to an incident early last Thursday in which three police officers were mauled at the county jail here, Donald Bailey, 23, of Toronto, today was sent to jail for three months for obstructing police and fined $10 and costs or an additional month for damaging a police cruiser.

Changes Testimony

MANCHESTER, N.H., Feb. 28—(AP)—Reginald F. Borroto returns to the witness stand today after testifying he never "directly or indirectly" asked Dr. Hermann N. Sander to hasten his wife's death. The 65-year-old oil salesman—in the concluding minutes of Monday's session—contradicted earlier State testimony that he appealed to Dr. Sander to "exterminate" the cancer-doomed woman as "an act of mercy."

Taking No Chances

Republican Senators Query Loopholes In State Dept.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson faced questions by Republican senators today about possible security loopholes in the State Department.

Acheson was called for testimony at a closed hearing of a Senate Appropriations sub-committee studying department requests for operating money.

In advance, Senators Styles Bridges (Rep. N.H.), Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) and William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) framed a series of questions as to whether there are some poor security risks among the workers of the department payroll.

Without detailing their nature, Bridges told a reporter the questions will avoid covering the same ground that a Senate Foreign Relations sub-committee will enter next week. The sub-committee is to make an investigation of charges that some Communists are, or have been, on the department rolls.

"We are interested in the Secretary's ideas about who is, and who is not, a good security risk," Bridges said.

In this connection, Committee members forecast discussion of Acheson's statement that he will not turn his back on Alger Hiss, former department official convicted of having lied about making contacts with a Communist courier.

Quell Fire In UK House Of Commons

Report Damage Light As M.P.'s Help Fight Tunnel Blaze

LONDON, Feb. 28—(AP)—Fire broke out in the basement of the House of Commons today. It was put out in 10 minutes, but a pungent smell of smoke will hang over the first session of the newly-elected parliament tomorrow.

Five brigades of firemen summoned by police to the historic building soon had the fire under control. When they arrived, excited members of parliament already were in the basement trying to help workmen fight the blaze.

Outside of the great clouds of smoke which left their heavy smell everywhere, there was little damage.

There was no indication that tomorrow's scheduled session of parliament would be put off.

Fire In Tunnels

No flames could be seen in the House Chamber as the smoke seeped through the floors. The fire was in a maze of tunnels under the building, which is the historic palace of Westminster.

The brief blaze broke out at a place where workmen had been using an oxyacetylene apparatus to cut through an iron stanchion under the floor of the debating chamber. Apparently sparks showered into a store of cotton under a workman's bench in an electrician's storeroom.

The Chamber is the one formerly used by the House of Lords. When the House of Commons was blasted by a bomb during the war, the members moved into the Lord's chamber.

Boat Capsizes Fear 32 Lost

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Feb. 28 (Reuters)—Thirty-two men were feared lost today when two lifeboats carrying the crew of the stranded British tanker Clam capsized on their way to shore. Most of the tanker's crew were Chinese.

Fifteen others who remained on board the Clam were rescued later by breeches buoy.

The 7,404-ton ship, owned by Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company Limited, was stranded at Reykjanes, in the western part of Iceland, early today.

She had broken loose from the Bristol tug Englishman, which was towing her to Britain.

Warn Ships Trading With Reds Face Bombs

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 28 (AP) —In the wake of new attacks on two United States merchantmen, Nationalist China warned today that all ships trading with the Chinese Communists are subject to air assault.

The Pioneer Dale of the United States Lines and the Flying Clipper of the Isbrandtsen Line were bombed and strafed by unidentified planes Monday off Tsingtao in Communist North China. The bomb missed. But both ships were peppered by machine-gun fire. One sailor was injured.

Chinese Nationalist air force headquarters did not say its planes attacked the American ships but admitted they raided the Tsingtao area.

Half Business Block Ravaged By Flames

WHEELING, W Va., Feb. 28 — (AP)—Fire ravaged half a business block in downtown Wheeling Monday night, putting at least two persons in hospital and causing untold damage.

A 78-year-old man was in hospital suffering from shock. He was evacuated from his bed in one of the fire-damaged buildings. Another woman's injuries were not yet determined.

Firemen with ladders rescued at least 60 persons, including a group of dancing pupils and instructors, many of them scantily clad in dancing costumes.

Quebec Liberal Has Plan Boost Dollars

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP) — A Liberal member from Quebec told the Commons Monday that Britain could obtain dollars needed for purchases in this country by repatriating Canadian securities.

Philippe Picard, lawyer-member for Bellechasse, speaking after the government's trade policies had been sharply criticized by opposition members, said United Kingdom investments in Canada now total $1,640,000,000.

These securities were held in the United Kingdom and could be purchased by the UK government for repatriation to Canada. The dollars thus acquired could be used to purchase goods in this country.

"We can't overlook any method of marketing our agricultural surpluses," said Mr. Picard. "The United Kingdom is our natural market. The moment has come for us to impress upon her the advisability of reciprocating for the favors we offered during the war when we sold farm products at less than free market prices."

Dark Sign

Earlier, Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe) accused the government of disregarding British and sterling area markets. He described the situation as "one of the darkest signs on our economic horizon."

Braves Blizzard To Save Friend

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 28—Seventeen-year-old Jim Smith braved a below-zero blizzard over 12 miles of rugged country at the weekend to bring a friend to safety.

Richard West, 15, Len Beckett, 22, and Smith went on a ski trip Saturday to their cabin 15 miles from the Soo. They took a car as far as possible, and made the last six miles on skis.

Sunday morning West found his feet frozen, badly blackened and swollen. Smith set out through the blizzard for aid, getting lost three times. He finally made it to the car, drove to town for a toboggan and pulled it the final six miles to the camp again.

With Beckett, Smith pulled the injured lad to medical aid. West has a good chance to recover use of his feet, doctors said.

Fear Village Washed Away Before Seawall Started

SELSEY, England, Feb. 28—(CP)—Inhabitants fear that the eroding English Channel may wash Selsey away before a £240,000 government plan to build them a seawall is started.

Selsey Peninsula, directly south of Chichester and west of Bognor Regis, already has lost one mile of its tip to the sea during the last 250 years.

This winter's storms, the strongest in 40 years, have torn gaps in the coastline, flooded 500 yards inland and swept part of the beach dike away.

In 1940 the sea swept the low-lying neck of the peninsula and turned Selsey briefly into an island.

Citizens such as 79-year-old Fred Barnes, a weather-beaten fisherman, fear that the same may happen again. Once before, he says, 20 houses were swept away at a time.

A spokesman for the 4,000 townspeople said of the seawall plan, due to begin later this year: "Something must be done as soon as possible at Selsey is in danger of being surrounded...The situation has become worse recently."

Three Minor Accidents On City Streets

Three minor accidents were reported shortly before noon today. Nobody was injured in any of them.

A city garbage truck driven by John E. Weir, Little St., was backing down the west side of a hill on Stewart St. When Little pulled well over to avoid another vehicle coming up the hill he bumped into a parked car owned by Lorne Sopha of Stewart St.

Police Constables S. Fife and G. J. Gillespie, who investigated, reported no damage to the truck but the rear fender, body and the trunk of the car were dented.

When Lloyd H. May, Lansdowne St., made a left turn out of his laneway onto Lansdowne at 11 a.m. he had a sideswipe collision with a car driven by Donald Little of Monaghan Rd. S. Mr. Little was driving east on Lansdowne. The right side of his car was dented and the left side of the May car was also damaged. Total damage was estimated at more than $75.

Constable S. Fife investigated.

A stake-body truck closely followed by a car were involved in the third accident, at 11:55 a.m. at Sherbrooke and George Sts. R. J. Fontaine, Park St., applied the truck brakes suddenly to avoid hitting a woman pedestrian. The car behind, driven by Eldon Paquette, Crescent St., was unable to stop on the slippery road and slid into the rear of the vehicle ahead.

Two of the stakes of the truck drove through the top of the hood and penetrated the radiator.

Police Constable Andre Dalton investigated.

3,800 Pro-Nationalists MassacredAtShanghai

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 28 (CP)—The Chinese Nationalist defence ministry said today 3,800 pro-Nationalists were massacred by the Communists in the Shanghai area.

There was no way for outsiders to check the report.

The Nationalist version said Red secret service men, posing as Nationalist officers, organized an anti-Communist force in the Pootung industrial district. Four thousand pro-Nationalists volunteered, the ministry said.

All but 200 of these, the ministry asserted, were massacred. No date was given. The ministry said its report was based on intelligence agents' reports.

Th ministry also repeated past allegations that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tze-tung had promised to provide Russia with 5,000,000 Chinese laborers.

Their last-minute appeals for a reprieve denied, the men died on twin gallows less than two feet apart.

Kitchener Hospital Increases Rates

With an operating deficit of $78,000, the management of Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital has increased its rates within a range of 75c to $2.50 a day.

Ward rates are up 75c to $5 for 108 beds; semi-private rooms formerly at $4.75 are now $6, and so on up to the $6 beds now $7.50; private rooms are up from $6 to $8; fourteen of them are up from $8 to $10; and three rooms are up from $8.50 to $11.

"Just try to get one of the reeves in the adjacent areas to agree to the use of land for houses," he said. "Such houses would only add to their education costs, among other things."

"We don't want to shove people around, but we do want to point out the grave situation that exists, and I would like the members of this house to do a little missionary work in the matter."

E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the CCF opposition, agreed there must be a solution but he said the province could not escape responsibility. If the municipalities were operating under an archaic system then the Ontario Municipal and Assessment Acts were also archaic. "Perhaps we can help, if only by not getting excited," he added.

Saves 4 Children Mother Burned

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP)—Mrs. W. A. Crawford had her legs badly burned Monday while rescuing four young children from the burning basement of her home.

The fire caused damage estimated at $2,300.

Paul Crawford, 2½, his brother Billy, 5, and two young friends were playing in the basement. They took a stick and thrust it into the furnace. Apparently next they dropped the flaming torch on a woodpile beneath the wooden basement steps and the whole thing caught fire.

Mrs. Crawford rushed downstairs and brought out all four children just as neighbors, seeing smoke, came to investigate. The 36-year-old mother was taken next door where firemen gave her first aid treatment until the arrival of a doctor.

The boy Paul suffered slight burns to his right leg and singed hair, but was not taken to hospital. The other three children were unhurt.

District Chief Joe Anderson said Mrs. Crawford was lucky to be alive. The flames spread quickly to the kitchen which was completely gutted.

Refutes State Medicine Raises Health Standard

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (CP). — Delegates to the international Blue Cross and Blue Shield convention were told by their top officers Monday that state medicine does not necessarily mean a higher health standard and that the state should leave the individual free to adopt whatever health insurance plan he wishes.

During a round-table discussion, Dr. Paul R. Hawley of Chicago, chief executive officer of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield commissions, was asked why the United States, with the world's highest standard of living, has a health standard below those of Norway, Sweden and Finland. The three Scandinavian countries have compulsory state medicine plans.

Dr. Hawley replied that, although Swedes, Norwegians and Finns in their own countries live longer than Americans in the U.S., the Scandinavians live still longer when they move to the U.S., which has no enforced medical plan.

Surveys in Minnesota and North and South Dakota showed that Scandinavians in those states have a longer life span than their countrymen who have remained in their native lands.

Keep Freedom

Rev. H. L. Bertrand, of Montreal, president of the Catholic Hospital Council of Canada, told the 500 delegates from Canada, the U.S. and Puerto Rico that the state has no right to enter into competition with any voluntary health plan.

"The government's right and duty is to decide that every citizen is to be insured against disability," he said, "but it is also its duty to leave him completely free to join whatever insurance plan he may desire."

Commenting on Father Bertrand's address, Hon. Marc Trudel, president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Quebec Province, said "We in Quebec are definitely opposed to state medicine."

Dr. Hawley said the main purpose of the three-day meeting is to furnish more people with protection against illness at a price they can afford to pay.

Gold Stocks Feature Brisk Exchange Day

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (CP) — A handful of small gold stocks featured another brisk session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Prices, generally, continued moving in the narrow rut of recent sessions.

Volume for the first three hours was 789,000 shares.

Featured in the gold list were MacLeod-Cuckshutt and Mosher Long Lac, both companies have adjoining properties in the Little Long Lac district, northwestern Ontario. Drilling news from Mosher sparked the stock into strong gains recently and an advance of five cents at 53 cents today. MacLeod has been prominent in recent sessions on reports of new ore finds. The price advanced to $3.15 today, up 10 cents.

Industrials tended lower on fractional declines in market leaders. A new higher-priced issues gained in selective trading.

Base metals slumped from early firmness with Noranda and Quemont leading the losers. Federated Petroleum dipped 17 cents at $2.20 in a weakening western oil list.

A possible multi-million dollar fine against the UMW, whose treasury is estimated at between $13,000,000 and $20,000,000, is the only weapon the government has at the moment to try to get the miners back.

But will they return even after a fine? Their mood, as reflected in comments from the coal fields, is they won't go back until they get a new work contract.

Niagara Project May Be Biggest Producer

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 —(CP)— A Canada - United States hydro giant — biggest in the world — soon may be expanded to twice its size.

Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric power commission, says the Canada-U S hydro treaty signed Monday eventually may turn the Niagara river power site into a unit capable of producing 4,000,000 horsepower.

That, say federal power experts, is about twice the present capacity. On the Canadian site, the capacity is about 1,200,000 horsepower and on the American side about 800,000.

The Niagara site compares with the Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia river in Washington, now capable of producing about 1,400,000 horsepower and which may eventually be developed to about 2,800,000.

If the treaty had not been signed, say officials, Niagara would have lagged behind and Grand Coulee would have cornered the title as the world's biggest hydro producer.

Requires Ratification

The treaty requires ratification in the U.S. senate and Canadian parliament before it becomes effective. It was signed in Washington Monday.

It provides for an increase in the amount of water which can be used for power development on the Niagara and for improvement of the Niagara Falls honeymoon scene by a complete crestline of Horseshoe Falls.

Announced in the Commons by External Affairs minister Pearson, the treaty was welcomed by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, by premier Frost of Ontario and by Mr. Saunders.

However, they stressed that even if the treaty is implemented it will not do away with the urgent need of developing power on the St. Lawrence river for use by power-short Ontario and New York State.

The agreement runs for 50 years, consolidates and expands on wartime gains on Niagara river diversions, and replaces the old river treaty signed 41 years ago.

Although it eventually may expand the Canada-U.S. Niagara site to twice its size, the more immediate benefits, officials say, will mean an increase in Ontario power by about 50 per cent over present production.

Begin Work Now

Mr. Saunders said the preliminary plans for the construction of a new hydro plant at Queenston, Ont., to provide an additional 500,000 horsepower capacity.

The work on the plant is expected to start next summer. It will provide jobs for an unestimated number of workers. The commission will spend "more on Queenston than we are spending on Des Joachims."

To be planned on a four-year basis, the Queenston construction may cost between $150,000,00 and $200,000,000. It will include a three-mile tunnel through solid rock under the Niagara escarpment from above Horseshoe Falls to a point opposite Whirlpool Rapids. There an open-cut canal will carry water 3½ miles to Queenston.

Mr. Pearson said the additional Niagara power will help "tide us over" the period required for the construction of the St. Lawrence facilities, "but the need for St. Lawrence power is as urgent as it ever has been."

Vast Wheat Surplus

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)— The United States already has more wheat stored in its vast pool of farm surplusses than Americans eat in a year. The government holdings total about 530,000,000 bushels, the agriculture department said today. By comparison, about 500,000,000 bushels of wheat are consumed each year in the form of flour, breakfast cereals and other wheat food products.

Pastor Describes Jap Change To Humble Life

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28 — (ENS)—The Rev. A. E. Toombs was guest speaker at the meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club Monday.

Pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Campbellford, Mr. Toombs told of his experiences on two visits to India and Japan. He said the first trip he made in 1936 was a harrowing experience.

He described how, when entering Yokahama harbor, the Japanese government photographers boarded the ship and began taking photographs of the entrance to the harbor. This he said, was merely to entice the tourists to take out their own cameras and do the same thing. Anyone found taking photos had his camera confiscated by the government.

All baggage was searched quite thoroughly by the customs authorities, and if one did not hang on to his passport, it was liable to disappear, then the unfortunate tourist would be subjected to extensive questioning by the police and army officers.

The last trip he made about two years ago was entirely different. People were humble and Mr. Toombs cited one instance of the poverty of the country.

All garbage and table scraps on the ship were saved and placed in large cans. When the coolies came on board to unload the cargo, groups of them would steal quietly to the cans at the rear of the ship and greedily devour anything edible. The chef would also give them the stale bread that had accumulated on the trip.

In 1936, before the ship landed, a launch would pull alongside and a government man would toss a bundle of forms to the men waiting in the launch. These forms contained all the information it was possible to tabulate about the tourists, and when the ship docked, each passenger was followed by one of the detectives from the launch, who were each assigned a man. This shadowing lasted for the visitors' entire journey throughout Japan. The situation had changed and was now entirely different, he explained.

Ralph Locke moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and president Charles Calver thanked Mr. Toombs on behalf of the club, and invited him to return at some later date to tell of his adventures in India.

Dr. Ward Baker told about the benefit hockey game played for Jack Holmes who was injured in a Bantam game with Ajax. He asked that the president instruct that letters of appreciation be written to the captains of the Trenton, Campbellford and Marmora hockey teams, thanking them for donating their services for the game.

A banquet in Toronto on March 24 will honor President Perch Hodgson, president of Rotary International. Many members of the Campbellford club plan to attend, and this will be discussed board of directors to be held in more fully at a meeting of the Kay's Restaurant in Campbellford on March 6.

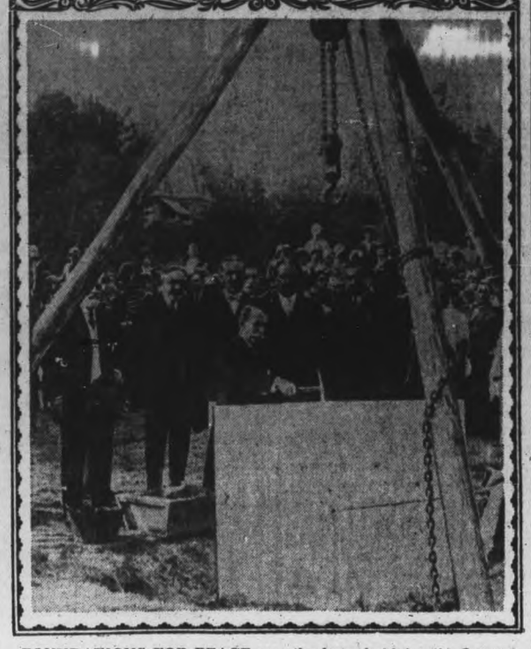
HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS



FOUNDATIONS FOR PEACE was the hope held for the League of Nations, born at Versailles in 1919, and doomed to fail in its aim to prevent a second World War. This scene was the laying of the cornerstone of the $7,500,000 League palace near Geneva, Switzerland, in 1929. In that year, Hitler did not yet loom as a menace to world peace, but the seeds of the coming world conflict were being sown in Europe and Asia. Rejected by the United States and considered a failure when World War II began, the League goes down in history as man's first world-wide effort to maintain peace by moral persuasion alone. In 1946, the League voted itself out of existence, bequeathing its property and its obligations to the United Nations.

They know...

IT IS NOT MONEY ALONE

More than a million and a half people deal with the Bank of Montreal, and they know that it is not money alone they deal in when they come to us. It goes beyond that. These people have confidence in the Bank; they know that their money is safe with us, and that they will be fairly treated in their business dealings.

We try to keep constantly in mind that the Bank is not primarily an impressive row of figures or an imposing building. We think rather of the Bank as the local manager and his staff, on whom our customers can always call for friendly counsel and service. Our branch-banking system is founded upon this relationship.

A man's relationship with his bank manager is, and should be, a highly personal one. Yet in each of our 549 branches, behind this confidential relationship, there stand the resources and stability of a nation-wide, century-old institution. Thus the strength of the institution is linked with human understanding in the service of the individual.

I believe sincerely that this is the spirit guiding our relations with the public today. Without such a spirit, the Bank could not maintain or justify its place in the economy of this country, nor would we be able to give our best to Canada in the years of great promise which lie ahead.

Realistic Economic Policy Needed In Britain

Whatever party won the British elections, it would have had to take a more realistic economic policy than that followed during the last four years. Since neither party has won strongly, it is doubtful that a firmly realistic policy can be followed, for such a policy would be a hard pill for voters to swallow. The Labour Government showed in the last year a greater tendency to relate economic policy to hard facts, but it now cannot go far without upsetting its slim majority.

* * *

In our Third Column today the brilliant analyst of international affairs, Sebastian Haffner, discusses the dollar problem as a question of foreign policy, which it is. But there are aspects of British domestic economy which must be changed before recovery can be achieved. As one British economic observer, Henry Fairlie says. "No playing with statistics can get over the fact that we have, in the last four and a half years, made insufficient progress towards solvency, that we are living beyond our pockets, and that there is still no sign of that flexibility and drive in our economy without which solvency will prove unattainable". Marshall Plan aid ends in 1952, and there is no guarantee that it will continue even to that year in sufficient bulk to circumvent disaster.

* * *

The economy of Britain is distorted by inflation. It is not sufficient to cut government spending; the money so conserved should not be freed for the spending public (a Conservative plank); it should be withdrawn from circulation. The purchasing power of the people should not be allowed to increase unless production increases with it.

* * *

Greater "marketable" production is required. Mr. Fairlie says that despite all the Government has done in the last four years, "there has been too much wasted effort in the production of unnecessary luxury goods for the home market and unmarketable goods for export".

"The Government must see to it that this effort is diverted to more profitable channels; in the first case, by reducing the purchasing power of the people at home; and in the second, by using its powers of indirect control, and by relying less on the wasteful bilateral agreements which have the effect of giving industries assured markets without the spur of competition to keep them efficient. The last four years have shown that exhortation will not stimulate increased production sufficiently. So one of the first tasks of the new Government must be to provide the incentives which will make both management and labour work harder. At present the inefficient manager is as much protected as the inefficient worker. Indeed, industries which look for assured markets, and therefore, assured profits, are as dangerous to the country as workers who look for an assured weekly income, however little they do to earn it".

* * *

There are other domestic matters requiring drastic change—for instance, the high food subsidies. Mr. Fairlie makes the grave assertion that Britain's economy is "hopelessly inefficient and wasteful". Unless some of the steps mentioned by him are taken, Britain will in the next five years "cease to be a going concern". Even if world trade is freed, as Mr. Haffner suggests in his article appearing in our Third Column, Britain must still make her economy more efficient. The remedies are harsh—but realistic and necessary. It is doubtful if the new Government has the parliamentary strength to take them.

More Space In The North

Despite the temporary derangements always attendant on shifts in the volume of population, we view with real satisfaction the increases in population over the last fifty years which the Bureau of Statistics has recently estimated. Canada's total population has nearly trebled since 1900—mounting from 5,371,000 to 13,549,000. The Canadian economy can support more people; it needs them, particularly to make this country less dependent upon exports and more on our own domestic consumers. If the population again trebles in the next half-century, Canada will have achieved an independence and power undreamed of now.

All the provinces have increased populations, excepting Prince Edward Island—an indication that the industrialization of Canada, rather than agriculture has been the chief force in the expansion. Alberta's oil (as well as her wheat and ranches) have resulted in a thousand per cent. increase (to 871,000). Of course, Alberta was not even a province in 1900; it was merely finding it had feet. The percentage increase is based on the year 1901. Ontario has grown from 2,183 to 4,411,000; this growth has accompanied great industrialization during and after the two wars. Quebec has grown from 1,649,000 to 3,887,000; an increase not entirely the result of large Quebec families; as a matter of fact, families in Quebec are becoming smaller, but Quebec has developed great port, industrial, mining and lumbering enterprises.

It is perhaps surprising that when all the rest of Canada has shot ahead, and when we now talk glowingly of the great new North, the population of the Northwest Territories and the Yukon has declined 49,000 to 24,000. There is no Yukon gold-rush these years. But one does not need to be a wizard to prophesy with conviction that the Yukon and Northwest Territories tale of population growth will be far different in the year 2,000. Canada's north is one of the greatest, if not the only great virtually unexploited hinterlands in the world today. If the call in 1900 was Go West, Young Man, the call in 1950 is Go North. There is elbow-room in the North, and its barren exterior covers a heart of gold, uranium—and air bases. Unhappily, the last-mentioned may make the call imperative to brave young men, rather than voluntary before the end of the century.

Slack Civic Dinners

Last week the citizens of Peterborough gave two dinners, through their elected representatives, the Council. Both were upon occasions which many people would approve as appropriate for civic dinners: Brotherhood Week, when visiting clergy and local people prominent in the movement were entertained last Thursday, and the Saturday dinner for Peterborough city and district veterans of the Boer War, who left this country fifty years ago with Canadian contingents to South Africa. Of the fifty or more veterans who might have been expected to attend, some 20 did.

When dinners are tendered by the Corporation of the city of Peterborough, they should be adequately arranged, the guests selected and invited with official care, and the affairs should be creditable to the city's hospitality. Neither of last week's dinners could be called a success from these points of view. It is not enough that the Council should agree that a dinner be given, and then let the thing come together haphazardly. Alderman Sands, as chairman of the council's Reception Committee has a responsibility in these matters which we feel that he is not recognizing adequately. Last week's dinners were not a good augury for other and larger similar functions which will be the chairman of the Reception Committee's concern during this centennial summer.

Sixty Years At The Bar

Thursday the Manitoba Bar Association held a testimonial dinner for Isaac Pitblado, K.C., LL.D., who at the age of 82, is the only lawyer in Canada still engaged in full, active practice after sixty years at the bar. Mr. Pitblado is a Nova Scotian by birth, and went to Winnipeg in 1882. He is senior member of the law firm of Pitblado, Hoskin, Grundy, Bennest & Drummond-Hay—Pitblado, Hoskin, McEwen & Alsaker, Hunter & Sweatman.

"Three Unities" Must Be British Policy Basis

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER
(Foremost European Commentator on International Affairs)

IN foreign policy, the new British Government will have an easier task than had its predecessor. It has important and difficult work to do, but it has not, like the Government of 1945, to disentangle Britain from an altogether impossible situation.

The 1945 Government inherited a load of British military commitments all over the world—in Western Europe, in the Mediterranean, in the Middle East, in Asia and the Pacific — which went far beyond Britain's economic and military strength. These have been liquidated or reduced to tolerable proportions. It found a menacing Imperial crisis in India; this has been resolved. It found the balance of power in Europe shattered and the Russian Colossus "bestriding the Continent". Here too, with the help of America, some preliminary balance has been restored through the Atlantic Treaty, Western Union, and the resurrection of Western Germany.

BETWEEN 1945 and 1950 — more exactly, between 1947 and 1949—a basis of British foreign policy has been laid from which no Government is likely to depart for the foreseeable future. This basis consists of the "three unities"—unity with the United States, unity with the new and extended Commonwealth, and unity with Western Europe. The continuing task is to keep these three unities in harmony, and to tighten their still new and fragile bonds.

The British Foreign Secretary, who after the election looks round for those threating dangers which require his intervention, will see three:

First, the danger to the British economy which arises from the continuing dislocation of world trade.

Secondly, the dangers of the "cold war"—especially the danger threatening the balance of power in Asia through further Communist penetration.

Thirdly, the danger of real war with Russia, arising from the impossibility of arriving at an agreed peace settlement with Russia, and accentuated by the atomic arms competition.

◆ ◆ ◆

ALL these threats inter-act. Continuing disequilibrium in world trade involves a danger of economic crisis, which would play into the hands of Communism. Continued or resumed Communist advance in Asia and Europe might create the conditions for Russian aggression against an isolated Britain and America.

On other other hand, economic stabilization and world prosperity would be the best safeguard against Communist political penetration, and might even create the conditions of a settlement with Russia. In all this, British interests are inseparable from general "Western" interests. British policy must act in close understanding with America, as well as with Britain's partners in the Commonwealth and Western Europe.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE most immediate problem to be faced is economic. The British dollar crisis is part of the general trade disequilibrium between the United States and the rest of the world—a fundamental structural weakness of the present world economy which must be cured if the unity of the Western world is to be preserved. The key to this matter lies with the United States. The United States alone has the power to remove the disequilibrium, either by opening her home market to foreign (not only British) goods or by financing the existing export surplus with the outside world through regular foreign investments and / or Government loans. The conviction is spreading that the second alternative is the only one which is consistent with a stable and expanding world economy. It is the most urgent task of British foreign policy to take this matter up with the United States and support the voices recently raised in the United Nations, in O.E.E.E.C. [Organization for European Economic Co-operation] and elsewhere, to prevent an economic crisis which would hit not only British but the whole Western world.

◆ ◆ ◆

BRITAIN is particularly well placed to take this initiative because of her strong Commonwealth ties with Southern Asia, the area most in need of American economic aid for political as well as economic reasons. Southern Asia is at present the main theatre of the "cold war". It is an area in which American policy, is not yet, as in Western Europe, co-ordinated with British policy, and to achieve this co-ordination must be among the first tasks of the new British Government. In the meantime, the most threatening development in Southern Asia is the sharpening conflict between India and Pakistan over Kashmir. Delicate though any British intervention in this conflict is, it may become unavoidable. Britain could not possibly stand idly by while the two most populated member-States of the Commonwealth were drifting into war with each other.

THE task of Western policy towards Russia, in which British policy has to play a prominent part, is "to create situations so strong that their strength can be recognized by the Soviet Government" (Mr. Acheson, U.S. Secretary of State). This is at present the only policy likely to preserve peace. In Western Europe, a successful beginning has been made with this policy. In Southern Asia, the groundwork has still to be laid. But even in Western Europe much remains to be done before real security can be said to have been achieved: the building up of a really effective collective defence in the framework of the Atlantic Treaty, the creation of a supra-national political authority to direct this collective defence, finally the integration of Western Germany into the Atlantic system, an operation which provides many delicate problems of its own. If the next British Government wants to achieve all this within its normal five-year term of office, it will have to work hard and lose no time.

Once this task is fulfilled, and a similar stability is achieved in Southern Asia, the time may have come to try for a general settlement with Russia. But this time will definitely not come within the life-time of the next British Government. Any premature attempt to "bring matters to a head" with Russia, before the Western world's position has been made unchallengeable and impenetrable, can only lead either to a Munich or to war. The task of making the Western world position so strong and sound that Russia "can recognize it" is a task of at least ten years. It may easily take a generation.

During this time we shall have to get accustomed to living under the pressure of Russian hostility. We may take comfort from the fact that no great things have ever been achieved except under pressure; and that if we do not tire of the work, we shall, in the process of seeking security against the Russian danger, go most of the way towards building a world government, and thus meeting the greatest need of the scientific age.

Sir Harry Lauder

(AN APPRECIATION BY IVOR BROWN)

SIR Harry Lauder was a great singer, and the musicians knew it. He was also a great coaxer, and the public knew that. He would take the chilliest audience and warm them into laughter, coax them into joining in the chorus.

That is simply to say that he had to the full the magic proper to the music-hall. In the old Tivoli days, when the audience were ordering drinks to be brought to their seats and were apt to be smoking, restless and talkative, this little man with an alien language could tame and entrance the London crowd.

He wrote and composed his own songs with the tiniest vocabulary of the love-among-the-heather and one-for-the-road kind. The tunes were of the simplest, traditional nature. There was nothing salacious nor sophisticated—and yet he completely held an audience that had just been laughing its head off at the audacities of Marie Lloyd.

He drove straight into the heart of a sentimental dream about a Scotland of "guid" companions all sporting and cavorting in the heather. This was particularly dear to the rich, absentee Scots hating the Scotland from whose poverty they had fled. Lauder's quaint, old Scotland with its wild tartans and curly cromachs (walking sticks), was something they could really enjoy because they knew it had nothing to do with the real thing.

Hoch ay for Tobermory—and back to the City of London in the morning.

Lauder's mistake was to become pietistic and to offer "The End of the Road" to those whose mainly wanted "Stop Your Tickling Jock". It is difficult for a music-hall artist to become a national figure without losing his touch as a national entertainer.

The Conqueror

But how well he had been the latter: four times a night in two different halls he would come waddling down the stage, a conqueror—in a strange land—at every step. He never stinted himself, he babbled and bubbled over, he overwhelmed the audience with his own high spirits. After that the most simple tunes and jests would suffice.

His strength was in the outflow of a friendly personality. There never was so lovable a little man upon the stage. Thawed by his exuberant friendliness, even the dourest Scot would forgive him the preposterous tartans and the general impression he conveyed of coming from a people certainly not adult and possibly not even sane.

British Elections Under Editorial Scrutiny

Ottawa Journal: The Socialist tide ebbed, retreated, didn't quite go out. But Mr. Attlee will hardly mistake the voice of Britain . . . . He must know that a halt has been called to socialism; that tremendous protest has been spoken against controls and regimentation; that no mandate exists now to proclaim nationalization of steel, nor to march on with nationalization of chemicals, or cement, of other vital enterprises.

The Trades Union line held. In Liverpool and Birmingham it bent (Conservatives made gains in both cities), but in Lancashire, in the mining district of Wales, in Scotland (the Conservatives lost ground in Glasgow) it stood unfinchingly. To that Mr. Attlee owes his close victory—to the 9,000,000 votes Mr. Morgan Philips vowed he could count on; the spiritual descendants of Keir Hardie who are the backbone of Labour and who, apart altogether from possible betterment, would stand by it come hell or high water.

New York Times: It will take some time before we can know just what happened and why it happened. Clearly, the old pattern of urban radicalism and rural conservatism held. That is what explains the startling difference in the results that were counted on the first day and yesterday. The fact that the Socialists also lost some ground in the cities would indicate that the middle classes took revenge for the policies that discriminated against them. Perhaps many women protested against rations, queues, high prices and controls. Perhaps the new, young voters resented the housing shortage. No doubt many worried about the analogies between socialism and communism and forgot the basic differences. The utter rout of the Communists and fellow-travellers in the election showed that Britons want no truck with the extreme Left. Since there was no extreme Right, the vote divided itself almost equally among the two big centre parties—the Labourites and the Conservatives. Both are in that great British tradition to which the French historian Thiers called attention a century ago; they are a little "Left of Centre." The Welfare State was not at issue in this election. In fact, the programmatic issues in this respect were strikingly similar.

The choice was really between liberal socialism and liberal conservatism. That undoubtedly explains the eclipse of the Liberal party. The Liberty party had performed its great historic function many years ago. "We are all Liberals now." As a political organization the party has no raison d'etre, and the results in 1945 and this year, not to mention the by-elections in between, prove that.

Nationalization does not seem to have played an appreciable role. Labour won in the steel constituencies, for instance, and the two former Labourites who quit the party over the nationalization of iron and steel, Alfred Edwards and Ivor Thomas, were defeated when they ran as Conservatives.

Montreal Star: What the returns would have been had the Liberal party not run its 400 candidates is something over which experts will argue for weeks. As in 1945 its popular vote was far greater proportionately than its success in returning members to the House of Commons. There is a tendency in this country to believe that, had the Liberals stood down, that vote would have swung to the Tories. This is too great a simplification of the facts. Much of it would have gone to Labour. All that can be safely said is that the large Liberal vote reflected the anxiety of the people to keep to the middle of the road, and the new Government, no matter what its political stripe, will have this in its mind.

Above all the election proves both the freedom and the moderation of the British people. Few free elections are held in Europe today. The shadow of dictatorship hangs over the Continent. The British people, in every respect free, have soberly pondered the issues as they were placed before them and come to a peaceable decision on them. They have been unmoved by the appeals either of the extreme Right or the extreme Left.

◆ ◆ ◆

St. Catharines Standard: The general result is not a happy one in a period of world tumult and turmoil. The strong hand of a united Britain has for centuries been a factor toward world stability. The Labour government in carrying on the King's business can only be weak at home and weak abroad, at a time when strength is desirable. Commonsense suggests a coalition of parties; British political instinct is against coalition in all forms, except in time of war. There is the doubtful disposition of the handful of Liberal votes in the new House of Commons; the Liberals don't love the Tories; neither do they stomach socialism with any grace. When all is said and done, two Irishmen may hold the balance of power; there were two Irish Nationalists elected and they may be in there pitching.

London Free Press: Winston Churchill, though he failed to unseat the Labour Government, can gain some satisfaction from the fact that his party's magnificent showing will probably prevent Labour from going any further to the left. Indeed the fate of the extreme left-wing group—Pritt, Platt-Mills and Zilliacus—should serve as a warning to the "Keep Left" ginger boys.

◆ ◆ ◆

Montreal Gazette: In appealing to the people of Great Britain the Labour Government asked for a vote of confidence. The results of the voting have shown how greatly that confidence has withered.

This is what has happened. Socialism has been given a stern warning. But what is more, it has been left with a cautious margin of public faith to deal with the more serious consequences of its own policies.

Before long, the real issues will have fully emerged. The facts will arrive and present themselves for public inspection. A truer judgement of Socialism's record will then be evident and the final verdict can then be rendered.

For Mr. Churchill the results of the election are a tribute to character. The man who was too old for such things, who was merely clinging to position, whom the times had left behind, who was lingering on the stage to the impairment of his own reputation, who was great in war but an embarrassment in peace—this man has brought one of the largest of Government majorities in history down to one of the thinnest. And he has done this in a battle fought on the ground of the Government's own careful choosing.

◆ ◆ ◆

Kingston Whig-Standard: The next Government, therefore, will be regarded as weak. In the face of an election result which may be interpreted as a reprimand from the people, it is likely will be reluctant to proceed with its nationalization plans, especially since the introduction of these might mean defeat in the House and another election. And the next Government will also be weak in its dealings with other nations.

This weakness may prove most marked in dealings with the United States. It is well known, for example, that many decisions had been postponed in Washington until the British election had been held, because of uncertainty about the result. Unfortunately, as it has turned out, the election did not by any means resolve that uncertainty, and this may prolong postponement of the Washington decisions.

◆ ◆ ◆

Windsor Star: Liberals fared badly, but their handful of members conceivably could maintain a position of influence in the new Commons. The voters firmly rejected left-wingers, defeating the two Communist members and also those fellow-travellers who had been expelled from the Labour Party during the last Parliament.

CLAXTON RIDES JET—Defence Minister Claxton climbs out of a USAF jet fighter-trainer after a short flight at Whitehorse, YT, at conclusion of Exercise Sweetbriar. Nfld. Position Economically Now Hot Issue

By The Canadian Press.

Throne-speech debate in the Newfoundland Legislature became heated Monday when Gordon Janes (L-Fogo) declared there is "degeneracy" on the island and opposition members indignantly protested.

Mr. Janes was declaring that Newfoundlanders would soon have to decide whether they want economic co-operation or fascism. Laborers in some parts of Newfoundland were making as little as 30 cents an hour; inequalities had been common and the people "must be told the truth."

He claimed that some 10,000 persons are on work relief in Newfoundland at present.

The 21st Legislature of Prince Edward Island opened at Charlottetown with a throne speech promising legislation to provide increased aid for farming and fishing, the island's chief industries.

Agriculture Bills

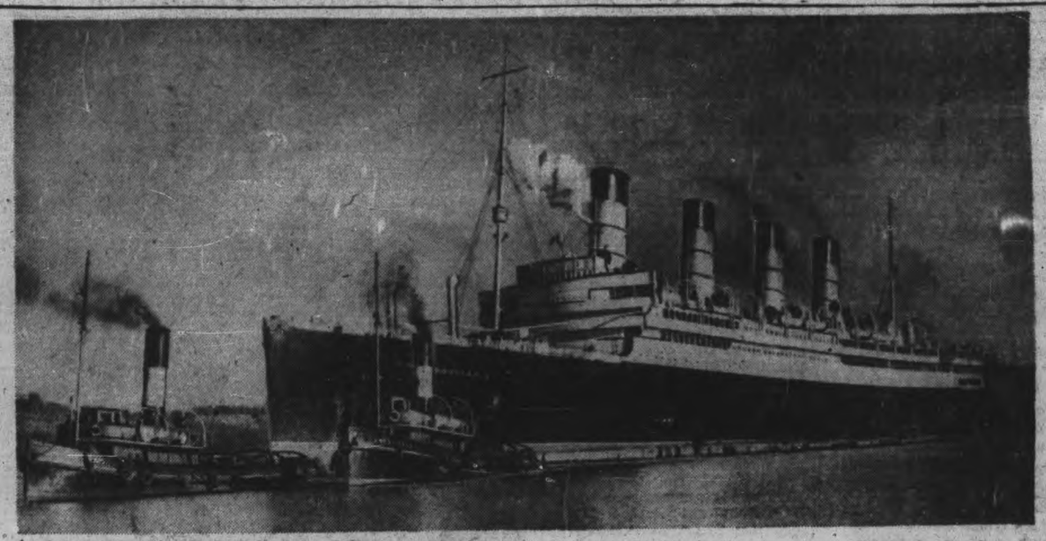
The Quebec Legislature resumes today with several government bills concerning agriculture up for discussion, and the private bills committee slated to open hearings on close to 100 private bills.

The Saskatchewan Legislature, in throne-speech debate, heard Agriculture Minister Nollet criticize federal policies on wheat, bacon and egg marketing. He said the federal government "had manifestly shirked its responsibility."

In the Alberta Legislature the Social Credit party whip, Gordon Taylor, gave notice of a motion calling on the federal government to act immediately on unemployment. The motion, to be debated today, said the federal government should re-enact 1938 legislation providing low-cost money to municipalities for self-liquidating construction projects.

At Victoria Mrs. Tilly Rolston (CLN-Vancouver Point Grey) said private members are not called in to participate in the formation of the speech from the throne.

"The longer I am here I realize that the private member, the ordinary garden variety, is more or less window dressing, and this is really not good enough," she said.



THE 36-YEAR-OLD 45,000-TON LINER AQUITANIA, last of the great four smokestack vessels, passes into the Gareloch through the Narrows at Rhu, on her journey to Faslane and the Clydebank shipbreakers. In the latter capacity it carried thousands of Canadian soldiers in World War II.

Ask Migration To N. Ontario

TIMMINS, Feb. 28 (CP)—Plans to encourage more migration from Southern to Northern Ontario was adopted by the Timmins council Monday night

In an effort to get more farm help council members said they would foster Northern Ontario agriculture development. They said such a move will help relieve Southern Ontario's unemployment problem.

A meeting was called for Friday for all municipalities in the eastern section of Cochrane to endorse a motion asking the Ontario government for increased assistance.

Councillor J. P. Bartleman said there were "thousands of acres of the best soil in Ontario lying idle and untilled because of a shortage of manpower . . . the north must act now if it is to acquire the thousands of additional persons it must have."

Ask To Padlock Burlesque House

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (CP)—A motion to padlock the Gayety Theatre as provided by city by-laws was requested in recorder's court Monday by City Attorney L. P. Mercure

The Gayety, Montreal's only vaudeville and burlesque house, had its licence cancelled by the city executive committee last Friday for violation of a civic by-law by presenting shows after midnight Sundays.

Request for the padlock, before Recorder-in-Chief Roland Paquette, was based on the grounds that the theatre twice before had been convicted on the same offence—on Dec. 5, 1949, and last Jan. 17.

Rene Gauthier, lawyer for the theatre, obtained a postponement until next March 10 to give him time to prepare a defence case.

The Gayety, meantime, will remain closed.

Talked Out Of Turn

PRAGUE, Feb. 28 (AP)—The United States embassy reported Monday that a naturalized American was sentenced to a year in a Slovak labor camp for saying "in America we throw away better food than they eat in Czechoslovakia." The citizen who was visiting relatives in Topolciany, Slovakia, was identified as Imrich Solar, 56, of New York city. It is said he is of Slovak origin.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Negotiations for a broader exchange of atomic secrets among Britain, Canada and the United States have reached a standstill following the arrest of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British scientist, on the charge of having supplied atomic secrets to Russia. Officials who reported this Monday night said no meetings of the negotiators have been held for more than a month and none is currently scheduled.

WINDSOR, Feb. 28 (CP)—David Trenchuk, an Alberta truck driver thwarted holdup attempts of two men he had befriended and landed his new truck in the ditch Monday. All three men escaped injury. Bolstering Her Foreign Trade Greatest Need Of Canada Today

The attainment of a foreign trade level of sufficient volume to absorb Canadian products not sold on the domestic market is the most important problem facing Canada, Col. O. H. Barrett told the Rotary Club Monday. Mr. Barrett is the assistant to the president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Limited of Canada. His topic was "A Businessman Looks Ahead."

Col. Barrett pointed out that Canada has an area of 695,000 square miles with 13,000 miles of coastline on the seas and the Great Lakes, a territory larger than the United States and equal to 30 United Kingdoms, 18 Germanys or 2 Indias. Of arable land, he added, there are 300,000,000 acres with only half being broken. The mineral resources are bigger and more varied than those of any country. The forested area is 1,500,000 square miles.

Col. Barrett also mentioned (a) Canadians had reached the highest rate of per capita income and the highest living standard in their history during the World War Two: (b) maintained this high standard of living by continuance of employment and production at approximately war year level; (c) the keynote of Canadian business in 1950 appears to be a bold renewal of competitive enterprize which means that it will be even much more of a buyer's year than before; (d) the present domestic market alone cannot support for long the high-level productive capacity and the maintenance of full employment; (e) the majority of Canadians are beginning to realize that governments have no economic wealth but depend solely on the multitude of values which the citizens produce and how many of those values are prepared to surrender in the form of taxes.

Affect Trade

Some of the elements which will affect the foreign trade are: (I) the Marshall plan spending which ends in 1952; (II) the monetary stabilization in countries which were formerly or are good customers of Canada; (III) tariffs or other economic barriers set up in other countries against the import of Canadian goods; (IV) whatever satisfactory results in the form of increased exports for dollars from the U.K. and related increase into U.K. of exports from Canada ;(V) the surge and sway of political, military and national factors in foreign countries.

In 1948 the United Kingdom imported from Canada between 10 and 11 percent of Britain's imports and that over half of the $868,000,000 total of U.K. imports from Canada in 1948 consisted of food, mainly wheat and flour. Exports from the United Kingdom to Canada totalled $284,000,000 in 1948, a third of which were textiles and motor vehicles.

One of the main tasks, said Col Barrett, of the United Kingdom is to increase her exports to Canada, the United States and to Argentina because in 1949 those exports were still less than half the imports from these countries.

Seek Canadian Markets

The speaker said that other countries will likely be seeking all the harder to sell their products to Canada, desirous of improving their dollar position and a balance of trade.

"I suggest to you that the red light of economic danger should be focused on the condition of our external trade, of both our imports and our exports, despite their present nearly record level."

This would call for a long term view which would bring into focus a dual task. The first would be to create in foreign markets, including the U.S., a preference for Canadian goods and second to stabilize productive machinery at home to meet a demand based on that performance.

The three main props which have been supporting business in Canada during the past few years, he said, were export trade, domestic consumer demand and domestic capital expenditures. The latter, he added, has been increasing at a somewhat slower rate.

Since World War Two ended, said the speaker, Canada has increased in numbers at a rate of over two per cent per year and this surge shows no signs of slowing down for several years. He added that the rapid growth is the most enjoyed by Canada since the great era of the railway building land settlement between 1901 and 1914.

Growth In Population

Canada's population is about 13,636,000 and by the end of 1951 should be close to 14,000,000. According to these calculations Canada's population will be 18,750,000 by 1981 and 21,000,000 by 2000.

The factor of construction, especially in residential buildings, would appear to be a particular field in which the consumer demand has not been satisfied. Capital expenditures in 1950 are estimated at 2.7 billion dollars against 3.3 billion dollars in 1949.

Paul Irwin introduced the speaker who was thanked by Jack Arnott.

Says Steelworkers Will Take Over Union

TRAIL, B.C., Feb 28 (CP)—C. H. Millard, National Director of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO), said Monday in an interview the steelworkers will replace the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union "in all the locals in Canada" within a year.

Mr. Millard, who is also vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said the struggle for power here between the Steelworkers and Mine-Mill Unions was "part of the cold war that is being waged all over the world."

"Communist infiltration is reaching its final stages," he declared. "This is not an emotional struggle only in key spots like Trail, or Kimberley."

Application for certification of USW Local 4,281 will be made in a few days, he said.

Doc Len Hall has finally got himself a main spot here once more. He will tackle Seelie Samara in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena this Thursday night. The Doc—who is a pharmacist by way of California and a mean grappler by way of illegal tactics—hit headline bouts here some years ago, but then was an absentee from these parts for a long spell. Since returning to this part of the country, Hall has been yelling for a main bout, so he'll get it (and probably the works) when he meets hammerheaded Seelie, the colored speedster. The Doc is downright dirty in his mat work, but Seelie knows his way around. Ought to be a hot scrap, with two other good supporting bouts.

IOOF Off To Do Battle

Coach Art Heal and his hustling young juvenile IOOF-ers are off to Belleville tonight to open the second round of their OMHA playdown series. They wiped out Oshawa handily in the first. Oddfellows have a right promising pack of puck-chasers, who might go quite a piece down the playdown path. Our midget Marines were nosed out of OMHA play by a Motor City team, while our bantam Optimists have a protest awaiting judgement against Oshawa. Latter team took that series by a single goal in overtime, but their goalie used a baseball glove in the process, and there's a rule against that. OMHA may rule on it within the next few days.

No more Petes-Legion puck battles ere next winter. Legion saw to that in convincing style last p.m. before a full house at the arena. A 12-3 shove knocked the Petes out of the senior "B" semi-final playoffs in four games, and Legion now open group finals in Kingston tomorrow and back here Friday. The Petes just didn't have it, even though they've made it close enough all season for a re-building club. Legionnaires have it, and they put it on the line last eve. All went good from the goalie out and they certainly deserved the series. If they go like that 'gainst Kingston, they'll be on the playdown prowl once more. But the Nylons are smart too.

Drew Match Penalties

Bill McMaster and Bill Crowley tangled with fists flying in the third period and drew match misconduct penalties after the refs finally pulled them apart. It was a fast, rugged encounter, but well handled. Every period saw Legion with a 4-1 margin, and they looked that much better in this tussle. Honey Tompkins didn't appear in the Petes' lineup, and we don't know the reason. Sixty Coombs really shone, but he was ably abetted by his buddies. And now, the more rabid and one-sided local fans can forget past differences and cheer on the Peterborough representative in group finals and mayhap OHA playdowns. The better team won and it rates all the support henceforth from puck followers.

Kingston Vics and the local Oddfellows tangle tomorrow p.m. at 8.30 Civic Arena in the deciding game of their best-of-three OHA junior "B" group semi-finals. It will be a streamlined honey with plenty at stake, so don't pass it up, folks. Two smart, hustling junior squads that battle to the finish. Each in turn has won a close playoff on home ice, and tomorrow's fray settles it. In last evening's struggle, Referee McNaught proved rough on the IOOF-ers, handing 'em nine of the 12 penalties, and that pretty well made the difference in this duel. We think Bun Kingdon's crew can come through on the morrow and go into group finals 'gainst the Oshawa-Belleville winner.

Kingston Vics Sew Up Series With Close Win

KINGSTON, Feb. 28. — Kingston Vics clung tenaciously to group championship hopes, slim as they are, when they defeated the Peterborough Triple Links by 3 to 1 in the Harty Arena last night. The locals' triumph deadlocked the OHA Junior B group semi-final desires at 1-1 and forced a third game which will be staged in the Lift Lock City Civic Arena tomorrow evening, when it is feared that the Vics will be weakened by the enforced absence of one or two regulars.

Last Friday in Peterborough the Vics were shaded in overtime whereas on the general run of play they might have sewed up the verdict in the third period. It was a tough game to lose and now, as the locals are likely to be below strength in the crucial battle, that initial failure may have cost them the group laurels.

Penalties Hurt

Last night's game was witnessed by a sparse crowd of only 410 fans. The Vics failed to show the form that had sparked their recent comeback march, and if the Links had not drawn nine of the 12 penalties they might have swept the short series.

Gabby White soloed for the first goal, 10 seconds after the game began, and it was not until the 8:50 mark of the final session that Gordon McGaughey, aided by White and Don Cherry, got the next counter. Two minutes later Turner took a pass from Floyd and racked up the visitors' lone marker, while at 12:12 Shepherd, without assistance, notched the final counter. In the close going only three of the Vics broke the rules, but the Links did not escape so lightly, and Referee Ken McNaught waved off D. Wasson four times, handed Richlark a minor and a misconduct, and chased Birch, B. Mason and Turner each for two minutes. Richlark received a misconduct for making caustic remarks after he had been given a minor in the final period. McGaughey scored during his absence and while the visitors were short-handed.

Led the Way

Gabby White, who scored the opening goal in record time or thereabouts, paced the point-getters with the low total of two. McGaughey and Shepherd each scored once, while Cherry, who was conspicuous throughout, had an assist. Cherry, youngest player on either team, looked to be the sharpest of them all and it was mainly because of his stellar defensive play and the goalkeeping of Anderson, that the Links failed to pull the verdict from the fire.

R. Wasson, guarding the twine for Peterborough, failed to scintillate, but he was undoubtedly handicapped when Richlark and D. Wasson, the first string defence men, spent too much time on the penalty bench. Richlark was an enforced spectator for 20 minutes and Wasson for eight.

Peterborough — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Richlark and D. Wasson; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Desjardins, R. Mason, B. Mason, Birch, Doris, Casey, Fennell, and Millar.

Vics — Goal, Anderson; defence, Bender and Andress; centre, McGaughey; wings, White and Aitken; alternates, Shepherd, Gommer, Tinkess, Montgomery, Anson, Latimer, Bailey and Cherry.

Referee—Ken McNaught, Belleville.
Linesman — Oliver Wing, Gananoque

The summary:

First Period

Vics—White 0:10
Penalties—Bender, D. Wasson 2.

Second Period

No scoring.
Penalties—D. Wasson, Birch, Latimer, B. Mason, White.

Third Period

Vics—McGaughey (White, Cherry) 8:50
Peterborough—Turner (Floyd) 10:55
Vics—Shepherd 12:12
Penalties — Richlark (minor and misconduct) Turner, D. Wasson.

Central Triumphs

Central seniors took a 3-1 Public School Hockey League triumph over Confederation yesterday at Civic Arena in one of the fastest and best tilts of the season. In the first period, a neat pass from Mongraw was deflected into the net off Rowley. Mongraw got one early in the second from Brooks, Bryan scored later from Simmons and then Mongraw wound it up, aided by Gardner and Patterson. There was no count in the third, the roughest frame. Holland, M. Bryan and R. Miller went good for the losers, as Delahaye, Brooks and Noble looked fine for the winners. Teams:

Confederation—Goal, B. Bryan; defence, E. Dunstan, R. Miller; centre, M. Bryan; wings, B. Davis, R. Holland; alternates, C. Simmons, D. Sloan, G. Corner, R. Brooks.

were served.

Greco Decisions Montgomery

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (CP) — Canadian welterweight boxing champion Johnny Greco pounded out a unanimous decision over Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia in a 10-round non-title scrap here Monday night.

The swarthy Montreal-born Greco had a 6¾ pound advantage over his taller opponent, tipping the scales at 149 while the former world lightweight champion weighed 142¼. A crowd of 6,380 grossed $18,498. at the gate.

There were no knockdowns in the bout where Montgomery staggered Greco in the sixth round with two solid rights to the jaw.

Each fighter lost one round for low punching—Greco the third and Montgomery the following round.

The Canadian champion moved ahead on points in the first six rounds with his aggressive style while Montgomery seemed unable to get started and concentrated mainly on counter-punching.

The Philadelphian started to roll in the later stages and carried the battle to Greco. At the end, Greco appeared more tired than his opponent.

Douglas Looks Cinch Take Scoring Honors

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (CP) — Cleveland's Les Douglas looks to be a cinch to capture individual scoring honors this year in the American Hockey League.

The Baron playmaker has a total of 91 points for a 10-point edge over his closest challenger, Ab Demarco of Buffalo.

Douglas made six assists during the last week for a total of 30 goals and 61 assists. He's the circuit's "set 'em up kid."

Another Cleveland performer, Roy Kelly, has taken full advantage of Douglas's assistance to score 40 goals, high in the league.

Legionnaires Rub Out Petes To Make The Group Finals

Peppering the Petes with a 12-3 barrage, the Legionnaires rubbed out their local opponents here last night and advanced into the OHA senior "B" group finals against Kingston Nylons. They go to Kingston tomorrow and have the next game here on Friday. It will probably be a best-of-seven playoff series. Some 2,000 fans packed the arena and saw a speedy, rugged but one-sided struggle. Legion clicked up to their championship form of last season, proving strong in all departments, while the Petes gave goalie Ray Harding little protection. His good work held the count down that much. Honey Tompkins failed to show up at the game for the Petes.

Match Penalties

The 19 penalties passed out by two competent referees were pretty well divided, Legion drawing 10 of them. Bill McMaster and Bill Crowley tangled in the third period in a fist fight, and it took a lot of work to pull them apart. Both drew majors for fighting and match misconducts for refusing to break it up, McMaster in addition getting a minor for starting things by charging. They will be reported by the referees to the OHA secretary.

Sixty Coombs was flying in this game to lead Legion snipers with three goals and two assists. Joe Rochetta was in on four, Bill Crowley and Bert Hill three apiece, and Doug Mortimer and Bob Parnell two each. Singles went to Johnny Godfrey, Keith Montgomery, Freddy Mortimer and Toodie Greenlaw. Gus Leonard, Freddy Garvey and Junior West got the Petes' goals, with Buck Legrow and Jack Mortimer each having an assist.

A 4-1 Frame

Jopling was gated early for boarding and Harding got a stick in the face for a nose bleed. Doug Mortimer went over next for holding and Leonard got a neat goal alone, checking at Legion's blue line and sailing in. Legrow went off for tripping and Vitarelli tied the score on Rochetta's passout. Coombs put Legion up on Hill's corner pass. D. Mortimer got the nod for high-sticking but was back when Crowley counted from Rochetta inside. D. Mortimer made it 4-1 on Coombs' pass back and a screened shot. Collins climbed the wall for interference toward the end of the speedy period.

It was 4-1 again for Legion in the second, Greenlaw slapping in a quick one from Godfrey and Parnell to open it. F. Mortimer got the air for high-sticking and Garvey followed for tripping. Later, McMaster went off for charging and Vitarelli scored on a return pass from Crowley. Parnell was waved away for interference and Burns' goal wasn't allowed. Garvey tallied the Petes' second marker from Legrow in close, but Coombs got it right back as he checked at the Petes' defence and sashayed in. Rochetta was penalized for charging and then Vitarelli and West got it for roughing. Rochetta got back to score a nice one inside from Crowley and D. Mortimer. Vitarelli got back to draw another sentence for holding.

Rolled it up

The third was also a 4-1 heat, with Hill getting the first early from Coombs. West got the Petes' last from J. Mortimer, the latter then going off for hooking. McMaster followed for charging. A bit later on, Godfrey hit the penance pew for interference. Right after, McMaster charged Crowley, they both tangled, kept fighting and were both eventually put out of the game about halfway through the period. F. Mortimer ran up the count with a slap shot on Parnell's pass, and then Freddy was chased for high-sticking. Coombs scored a neat one in fast with Hill's assist, and Montgomery finished up the sniping, aided by Rochetta. Monty drew a tripping penalty just before the game ended.

Legion Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Stewart, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Jopling; centre, Leonard; wings, Fife and Legrow; alternates, Pagett, Griffin, Collins, West, Garvey, J. Mortimer, McMaster and Conlin.

Referees, A. Bellemer and W. Wilson.

Irish Bounce Barrie 9-3 As Teepees Trip Guelph

By The Canadian Press.

Last night was home lovers' night in the Ontario Hockey Association and the underdogs made the most of it. With the chips down and the sidelines beckoning two lowly clubs roared back with the screaming approval of friendly home fans and came up with smashing victories.

St. Michael's College Majors and St. Catharines Teepees, losers in the first two games of their best of five Junior A quarter-finals, ripped apart the opposition, the Collegians taking the measure of Barrie Flyers, 9-3, while the Teepees were bouncing Guelph Biltmores 8-4.

The second game of the best of seven semi-final series turned out as expected. Windsor Spitfires smarting after absorbing a 5-3 lacing at the hands of Toronto Marlboros on Saturday, found a record crowd of Windsor fans to their liking and turned back the Dukes 7-3.

Joe Primeau's junior squad, given little chance of lasting more than three games with Barrie, had little trouble with the two-time champions.

Leads Irish

Will Marshall found the mark three times to lead the Irish scorers. Fred Sandford, whose brother Ed returns to Boston Bruins tomorrow night after a long layoff, followed closely with a brace of counters while Con Bonhomme, Bob Sabourin and Paul Alain all clicked for singles.

Art Jackson had his Teepees rolling in high gear against the Guelph opposition—one place lower in the standings in the regular schedule—and they didn't let up before racking up an eight-goal total.

Jack McIntyre, one of the best performers for Teepees all season, rapped the puck behind Guelph goaler Cliff Hicks three times to come out as top point man for the night. Mel (Moon) Mullins was right on his heels with a pair, matched by the Biltmores' Frank Bathgate, Skip Teal, a juvenile replacement, Frank Martin and Norm Corcoran all counted once. Frank Bathgate with two, Don Oberholtzer and Herb. Dickenson were the Biltmore marksmen.

Don Lockhart was absent from the Marlboro cage for the second game in a row. Coach Syl Apps feeling his star goaltender's cheek bone was still too sore to warrant playing him, left rookie Johnny Henderson in the crease.

Henderson performed capable, but still allowed seven goals to pass while counterpart Glen Hall kicked out all but three.

Connects Twice

Glen Skov, one of the few Junior A players this season to see service with an NHL club under the three-game lend lease basis, connected twice for the Spits. Jim (Red Eye) Hay, scoring champ Earl Reibel, Bob Bailey, Earl Johnson and Bob Rawlyk all were in on the scoring.

Danny Lewicki, Jack McKenzie and George Armstrong, all members of the Dukes' first line, held Marlboros' heads above water with one goal each.

Judge Criticizes Story In Paper Owes Guay Debt

QUEBEC, Feb. 28 — (CP). — Judge Albert Sevigny, presiding over Quebec's air-disaster murder trial, Monday criticized a Montreal weekly newspaper which he said reported falsely that he owed a "debt of gratitude" to the family of the accused. But the newspaper's managing editor said it was not intended to impugn the Judge's honor and the weekly was only reporting a rumor current in Quebec last week.

The 68-year-old Chief Judge of Quebec Criminal Assizes made the statement Monday morning before the jury appeared to continue the trial of J. Albert Guay for the murder of his wife, one of 23 victims of an air disaster September 9. Judge Sevigny suggested that the man who wrote the dispatch retract it.

Although the newspaper's name was not mentioned in court, the Judge's statement was an obvious reference to a Quebec dispatch published Saturday in the Montreal French-language weekly, Le Petit Journal.

The dispatch said it was rumored in Quebec that the Judge was the "object of extraordinary requests on the part of Guay's family because of an incident 33 years ago when Sevigny was a member of Sir Robert Borden's Cabinet during the conscription controversy."

Debt of Honor

Le Petit Journal said the rumor was that Guay's grandmother had saved the Judge from an angry crowd in 1917 and Sevigny had promised to repay "this debt of honor."

The dispatch added that the Judge would spurn any attempt to put pressure on him as a result of the reported favor and sooner or later the rumor would be denied.

The Judge himself denied this morning that he ever received such a favor, nor had anyone made representations to him about Guay.

Robert Poulin, Le Petit Journal managing editor, said in Montreal that "we ran the story as a rumor and said it undoubtedly was not founded. We said we expected someone in Quebec to kill it and that is what happened in Quebec today. We just mentioned a rumor, which was a rumor and nothing more. We had no intention of attacking Judge Sevigny's integrity."

"MUDDERS" TAKE TO AIR—Two former members of the Ottawa Rough Riders football club have decided to go aloft with the RCAF. At right is W. C. (Buck) Rogers, former Ottawa snap who played for Regina last season. R. A. (Red) Saunders, another former Ottawa snap, is shown in centre, at the controls of a link trainer at Manning Depot in Toronto. The two, getting instructions from FO. A. Morton of Toronto, now are taking a 39-week navigation course at Summerside, P.E.I.

Canada Leads World In Quarters For Married Service Personnel

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP) — Canada leads the world in establishing married quarters for service personnel, J. A. Blanchette, parliamentary assistant to Defense Minister Claxton, told the Commons Monday.

"More married quarters in proportion to numbers of personnel have been provided in Canada than in any other country," he said in reply to a question asked by Julian Ferguson (PC, Simcoe North).

Policy of the Defense Department was to press forward with construction in more isolated centres.

At Rockcliffe near Ottawa, however, "because of the number of service personnel employed, 108 houses have already been erected, 200 more are in the course of construction or under contract, and it is anticipated contracts for a further 300 units will be placed this year."

In addition, the policy was to earmark for servicemen some of the houses being built by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in larger centres.

Other speakers in the debate included Irvin W. Studer (L-Maple Creek); Robert Fair (SC-Battle River); A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal); Angus Elderkin (L-Annapolis-Kings); Percy Wright (CCF-Melfort) and Austin Dewar (L-Qu'Appelle).

At the house opening, External Affairs Minister Pearson announced that Canada and the United States have signed a new hydro power treaty covering use of the waters of the Niagara River.

Solicitor General Lapointe said the government will not suspend hangings in Canada while a private member's bill calling for abolition of capital punishment is before parliament.

Mr. Gregg said he will consider having the names of 225 Canadians who lost their lives in the South African War inscribed in a book and placed in the Memorial Chamber of the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings.

Help Railways

Mr. Picard said that among the Canadian securities held in Britain are $593,000,000 in Canadian Pacific bonds which, if repatriated to Canada, could help solve the railway financing problem here.

Mr. Picard said that in the last three years UK holdings of CPR bonds have dropped to 37 per cent. At the same time there has been an increase in the amount held by the United States, which now has more than 43 per cent. This indicated, he said, that control of the CPR was passing to the United States. Canada could help regain control by buying back securities from the United Kingdom.

He disagreed with Mr. Rowe's contention that Canada's markets are lost. United Kingdom imports from Canada had declined somewhat but the government had predicted the value of the decline would be no more than $30,000,000.

Mr. Wright said that commodity boards should be established throughout the country, but should not have to bear the responsibility for marketing overseas any surplus products. That job should be handled by government import-export boards.

Causes Flurry

Mr. Wright set off a series of interruptions when he said the government had forced the Canadian Wheat Board to borrow $23,000,000 from the banks in order to pay western farmers a 20-cent-a-bushel participation payment on the five year wheat pool prior to the last election.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner asked if Mr. Wright was not aware that the farmers had asked for the participation payments. Mr. Wright admitted they had, but he added they did not ask for 20 cents a bushel.

Mr. Dewar stressed the need for an immediate start on the south Saskatchewan river irrigation project. He blamed the United States Congress for the delay in starting on the St. Lawrence River seaways and power projects.

Won't Renew Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 — (AP)— Showman-Columnist Billy Rose said Monday he has declined to renew his contract with the New York Herald Tribune because of differences over one of his columns the newspaper refused to print. The Herald Tribune omitted Rose's syndicated column from its issue of a week ago, claiming it libelled Rudolf Bing, new manager of the Metropolitan Opera.

Two UE Locals Elect Slates 1950 Officials

Both UE locals in Peterborough have elected their officers for 1950.

T. P. Davies is president of Local 524 and Romeo Leonard of Local 527.

Mr. Davies became president after the split developed last November between left and right wing factions in the former union at the CGE plant. The expulsion of the UE from the CIO at the annual convention in Cleveland sparked the move that saw the right wing under John G. Morton break away and found the new IUE-CIO.

The right wingers were expelled from the UE and Mr. Davies became the new president of the local, replacing Mr. Morton now president of Local 524 IUE-CIO.

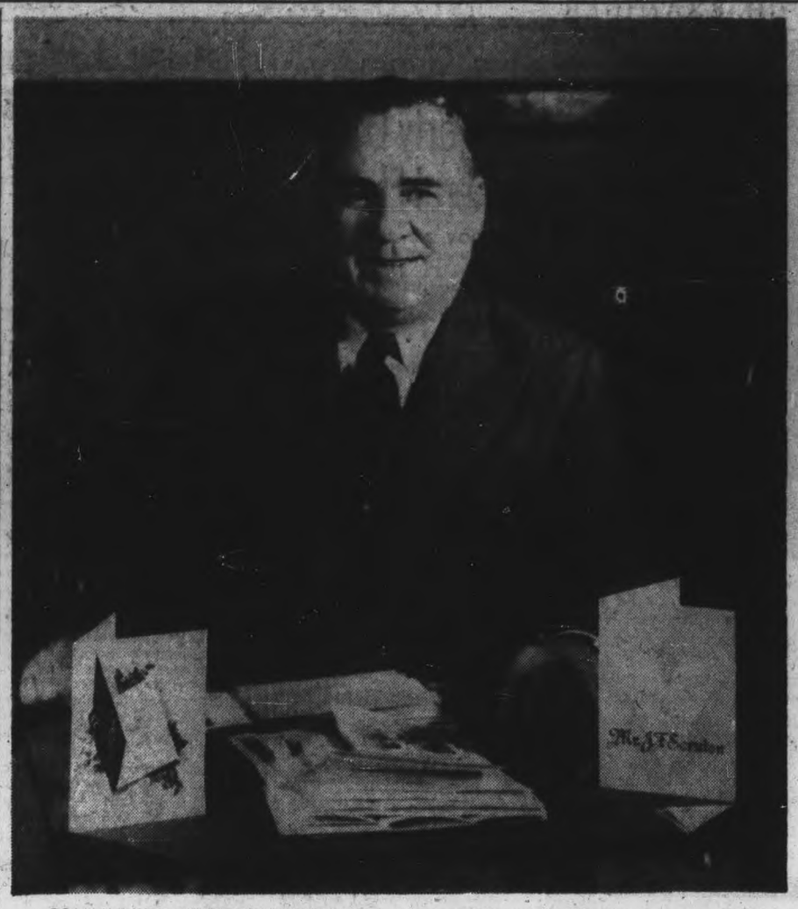
Full Panels

Balloting continued over a two-day period and here is the complete panel of Local 524 UE officers for the year: Mr. Davies, president; George Wallace, vice-president; Alex Seppala, financial sec'y; C. H. Harvey, treasurer; Miss Flo Farrance, recording sec'y; Walter Roste, sgt.-at-arms; zone representatives—Joe Varga, Jack Chamberlain, E. McAllister, O. Ferguson, Archie Brault, Don Free, Harry Woodbeck, Robert Batley and trustees Arthur Chandler, Earl Gordon and C. Osborne.

Romeo Leonard, new president of Local 527, was chief steward in 1949. He succeeds Donald (Dunc) Drummond.

Following is the complete list of officers for the year: Mr. Leonard, president; Raymond Scott, treasurer; Mr. Drummond, financial sec'y; John Whalen, recording sec'y; and trustees—Daniel Leonard, Rolly Brown and Maurice Pelland.

As Local 527 is a composite local two executive board members from each plant are included: Frank Murphy and J. R. Parkhurst of Peterborough Lock; William Clancy and A. Weirmeir of Raybestos and Thomas Ross and Cecil Black of Ontario Marble.



COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN for $75,000 will be launched Friday at a dinner for the workers at the CGE cafeteria when guest speaker will be J. F. Scruton, vice-president and director of H. J. Heinz Company of Canada. Mr. Scruton, a successful salesman, formerly was manager of Montreal branch, the Maritime agencies, and general sales and advertising manager of the company.

Aldermen Plan To Look Over Proposed Sites

To get on with the business of trying to determine a site for the Memorial Community Centre, members of the council are going to look over the city's part at Point St. Charles Thursday at 2 p.m. From there they are going to the northeast corner of McDonnel St. and Monaghan Road, and they are inviting representatives of the Centre committee to accompany them.

That proposal in a motion by Mayor Swanston, seconded by Ald. Adam Sands, at the meeting of the board of works Monday night is the latest prospecting as directed from the board room of the council.

It was Mayor Swanston who brought this site problem back onto the committee table after what appeared recently to be the dismissal of the George St. property at Rink St. from further contemplation.

Excess Cost of $100,000

His Worship said that the estimates of contractors indicating an excess expenditure of $100,000 merely to put in concrete footing to support a floor for the whole building involved a lot of money. Sentiment was dubious about raising that additional amount.

"In the meantime there has been a lot of comment about the west end site at Monaghan Road," Mayor Swanston said.

"One thing is certain, as long as we keep pushing this question around, we are going to be held responsible for non-action. If we can agree on a location. I think the Memorial Centre committee would be expected to agree, and they might be able to raise the money needed to get on with it."

His Worship remarked that if the Centre were built at George and Rink Streets, "it would clean up the mess on that lot. I see a letter in the paper tonight on that point."

"What about Point St. Charles? Is it hot or cold? I have been hearing some references to it," Ald. Sands enquired.

"So far, it is in the cold stage," the Mayor replied. He suggested that there might be promising possibilities there.

City Engineer Chalmers reminded the board that the Utilities Commission had laid the parallel water main and sewer line diagonally across the park last summer, from the Point to the corner of Perry St.

"About one-third of the way the trench was in hardpan, another third showed sawdust fill over solid ground at a depth of seven feet; and the last third was through sand. I think that is the same sand condition you find generally in that south part of the city."

Ald. H. Dodds, chairman, advised from experience in other phases of discussing such properties that "we should go and see it on the spot. We have talked about certain other places, and then they looked different when we finally did look them over."

"I feel that is the spot, and from comments I have heard I think it will be the general feeling," said the chairman. "If we go and look at it, we'll have a perfect picture of it."

Ald. Herb. Young said that site would lend itself to aquatic sports with the completion of redeeming the lake. It would also invite a balcony, and its restaurant might be placed to overlook the lake.

Overlook Lake

"The plans of the Centre called for one good sized meeting room and it was casually suggested to me that if we did go down there we might be able to locate that room so that it would have wide windows overlooking the lake," said Mayor Swanston.

Major-General P. W. Clarkson is commanding the Third Division from Fort Benning. The division took part in four major invasions in World War Two in Africa, Italy, Sicily and France.

Climax of the operation will be a combined assault on the island of Vieques, which lies six miles off the coast of Puerto Rica.

Hospital Bd. Asks $80,000 To Fill Expected Deficit 1950 New Civic Operation

In its first year of operation Civic Hospital is asking the council for $80,000 to bridge the gap between total revenue and expenditure. A deputation from the Board of Governors estimated to the council Monday night that the 1950 revenue may be $553,000 and the payments $631,000. For the reason that the Board was breaking new ground, it was presenting a budget which had to be largely tentative for this first year in the new buildings.

John R. Marshall, chairman, was accompanied by T. T. Rodger and John Hornal.

"We are doubling the capacity of the hospital, and it will have to be restaffed on an entirely different basis."

Increased Room Rates

Mr. Marshall said a necessary and reasonable increase had been made in the room rates, comparably with the general charges throughout the province for hospital service.

The financial estimates for this year: Revenue of $553,000 and expenditure of $631,000, would show a deficit of $78,000, as compared with $55,000 last year.

It was not expected that the new hospital would be filled in its first year, but in any event a certain essential additional staff was necessary, especially in the nursing, dietary and kitchen departments. They were required to carry on whether the number of patients was few or many.

The board's requisition would include the deficit of $4,253 from last year, plus the cost of caring for indigent patients.

Loss On Indigents

In regard to the care of indigents, Mr. Marshall said the province authorizes collection from the municipality of $2.50 for each of them. "But, the fact is they end up costing us $7.50 a day, so the hospital is losing $5 a day for each patient from the city."

The number of city indigent patient-days last year was 2,945, entailing upon the hospital a cost of $20,635. The city gave the hospital on that account $7,365, leaving a loss to the hospital of $13,000.

Mr. Marshall said the governors regarded the hospital as a full-fledged civic agency or utility, to be financed in the same way as other municipal institutions and services. The explanatory expression of the board was "why rob Peter to pay Paul?" In other words, why pay a deficit on the care of indigent patients instead of assuming the entire necessary charge for them in the budget?

If the loss on city indigent patients was $13,000, the city would have to pay that amount. Eventually it became a grant from the city. For that reason, why should it not be paid in the lump appropriations that were made to the hospital for its year's operations?

Pay In Lump?

Mr. Marshall said the governors were convinced that this would be a much sounder way. The proposed $80,000 for the hospital account in the city's 1950 budget would include the cost of city indigent patients.

Ald. J. D. Miller raised the question of effect of the Council's action at St. Joseph's Hospital if direct payment was made to Civic Hospital for the full cost of the care of city indigent patients.

Opinion seemed to be that with two hospitals in the city, a difference in payment for indigents by the Council might cause some objection.

Committee last night assumed for the time being the full amount of $80,000 for Civic Hospital this year, with the likelihood that it will be discussed in detail further along the course of budgeteering.

Reunion Of Glens Set For June 10

Dates for the third annual reunion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders Association in Kingston have been set for June 10 and 11, A. R. MacNab, reunion general chairman, formerly of Peterborough, announced today.

The dates chosen are close to the 10th anniversary of the mobilization of the wartime "Glens" for active service. Ten years ago approximately 300 men were recruited in Peterborough and district and for two months trained in this city. In September, 1940, they went to Kingston when the unit concentrated there. This year's reunion will be the first time the "Glens" will have met in Kingston as an organized body since those early wartime days.

Grand Jury Returns True Bill In Charge Against Byrnes

Joseph Byrnes, 26, will stand trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Helen Kendry, 26, a grand jury decided today in bringing in a true bill after hearing evidence presented by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Monday, the first day of the Ontario Supreme Court two week's sitting.

Just one week before, Byrnes was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter in police court by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, who reduced the charge from murder at the preliminary hearing.

The Honorable Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel will preside over one other criminal case. Leo Webb is charged with attempted rape and a grand jury last fall brought in a true bill against him. He will be defended by Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

Charge To Jury

It is the duty of the grand jury, said Mr. Justice LeBel, to decide, after hearing evidence presented by the crown without hearing any evidence for the defence in a secret session, whether sufficient evidence was presented to warrant bringing Byrnes to trial on a charge of manslaughter.

The charge reads that Byrnes "did unlawfully slay and kill Helen Kendry and did thereby commit manslaughter." The chief difference between murder and manslaughter, Mr. Justice LeBel explained, was that in murder there must be some degree of intention while manslaughter entails criminal negligence or recklessness in results of a dangerous act.

After the 700-year-old ceremonies had opened the Supreme Court, Mr. Justice LeBel read his charge to the Grand Jury, saying that its members as well as members of the petit juries are all in some measure judges. Their power, within their defined limits, was absolute, subject only to the check of their consciences, His Lordship declared.

This was what was meant by a "free and independent judiciary," he stated. This, together with the right of people to have their elected representatives make the country's laws, were the two elements which made democracy, Mr. Justice LeBel declared.

"We must have freedom and must have justice," His Lordship said.

Following is the complete list of the grand jury at the Peterborough County Spring Assizes:

V. R. Henry, Dennison St. (foreman); Albert J. Hill, George St.; Stanley Higgins, Smith; Elwood Jones, Hunter St.; Henry Kelsey, George St.; Russell Killingbeck, Grady St.; Bernard Leahy, Douro; Maurice Leonard, Rogers St.; Arthur Stedman, Elias Ave.; George Rishor, Hunter St.; William Hinds, Aylmer St.; Leslie Groombridge, Murray St. and Lionel Monk, King George St.

IT WAS NO JOKE

Someone thinking himself a bit of a joker called five taxi cabs to the home of Mrs. G. W. Poole, 45 Ware St. on Monday night and each time Mrs. Poole had to advise the driver no such call had been put in. However neither the drivers nor Mrs. Poole took the matter as a joke and they claimed neither would the joker if he were out driving on a below zero night.

CGE Man Flew On Winter Job To Jamaica Generators Not Sea-Bathing Chief Concern!

Many employees of the Armature department of the CGE are often called on trouble-shooting assignments to distant points throughout the continent. It is not very often that a trip calls them to the tropics in winter but Les Calladine recently returned to Peterborough after an unusual shop assignment to St. Anne's, Jamaica, that took him and his partner five weeks to complete.

Mr. Calladine joined Bob Gray of the company engineering service department, Toronto, in January, and after travelling by train to New York they flew to their destination via Miami and Cuba.

The job of work was to repair an electric generator at the Roaring River plant and with an abundance of native help the unit was torn down and removed stator coils repaired and the generator rebuilt.

Although their hotel was conveniently located near the station and seashore, the Canadian workmen had little time to enjoy the beaches aside from a daily swim. The trade wind-cooled temperature was like our July weather, they found, although on the other side of the island it was considerably warmer. They tell of pleasantly warm nights for sleeping and of strange native foods to eat and high rates at the more elaborate hotels. They thought that a winter vacation in Jamaica could be found very reasonably if tourists were willing to stay at smaller hotels on the island.

Their job completed, Calladine and Gray lost no time in returning, last week to their native land, ten hours by air from Kingston to Toronto, and to a very definite change in temperature.

Dr. R. J. Young wishes to state that his telephone number has been changed from 6310 to 2-3413 and 2-3414.

Bonus To POW'S Indefinite Gregg Reports

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP) — Veterans Minister Gregg said on Monday in the Commons the government has not considered payment of a bonus to Canadians who were prisoners of war during the Second World War.

He was replying to John Deifenbaker (PC, Lake Centre), who said that Army and Navy Veterans' Associations have been urging that Canada adopt a system similar to that in the United States whereby $1 a day is paid to those who were prisoners in the Pacific or European theatres during the last war.

Mr. Gregg said the matter was brought to his attention during the weekend, but he had not had an opportunity to discuss it with the cabinet.

"I should add at once that in addition to whatever views might be held concerning the use of public moneys for this purpose, I believe there might be fairly strong exception to such a step due to the possible effect it might have on the battle morale of Canadian personnel, in any future war," said Mr. Gregg.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in the United States the payments were made to former war prisoners of their dependents out of reparations.

Mr. Gregg said there was quite a difference between reparations coming to Canada and those payable to the United States.

Police Misinformed About Fatal Accident

COBOURG, Feb. 28 (ENS) — Meredith Donald Smoke of Cobourg, was remanded for another week when he appeared in police court Monday on a public mischief charge.

Smoke is alleged to have given false information to the police in connection with an accident resulting in fatal injuries to Victor Grey of Alderville.

According to the charge, Smoke said he did not hit Victor Grey, thereby causing provincial police to devote time to investigation of a false allegation.

a falst allegation. Grey was found unconscious on the road near Alderville on Feb. 11 at midnight, dying a few days later in Toronto General Hospital.

Seaway Plan Next Step Ontario Told

TORONTO, Feb. 28 — (CP).— A suggestion that the Federal and Ontario Governments make representations in Washington for early development of the St. Lawrence waterway, was made Monday by G .F. Hutcheson of Huntsville, president of the Ontario Municiual Electric Association.

He told the association's annual meeting that more than 1,000,000 horse-power in new power will be available to Ontario consumers in the next few weeks. But if Ontario's growth continued at the present rate, this additional power would only just fill the demand.

The only possible power sources left in Southern Ontario are on the Niaraga and St. Lawrence Rivers, Mr. Hutcheson said.

(A Canadian-American treaty was signed in Washington Monday providing for further diversion of Niagara River waters and paving the way for increased hydro power in Ontario.)

The meeting heard protests against the Ontario Hydro Commission's recent retroactive rate increase of $1.25 a horse-power.

F. R. Cavers of St. Catharines said the local Commission in that city was forced to pay $76,000 from its reserves to cover retroactive cost of hydro increases.

N. E. Henderson of Woodstock said the loss to his city's Power Commission was considerable.

History, Legend Tell Life Of Wales' St. David

By The Canadian Press

Wherever loyal sons of Wales meet tomorow they will honor St. David, patron saint of the principality.

And while wearing the leek and singing the old Celtic songs, they will also remember the great days of Wales. For St. David and Wales are closely linked in history and legend. The lifespan of the saint, stretching through the sixth century, saw the Welsh people turn back the attacks of Saxon invaders, retaining their mountainous land for their Celtic children for centuries to follow.

The dates of David's birth and death are not exactly chronicled but there is reason to believe he was born shortly before the year 500 and died near the end of the following century.

He was one of some 500 devoted Celtic missionaries recorded in history who carried Christianity through Wales. He founded many churches in South Wales—53 still recall his name. As primate of South Wales he established the seat of church government at Mynyw, or Menevia, and the cathedral church of St. David is still there, near the remote headland of St. Davids in Pembrokeshire, looking out on St. George's Channel.

Legends of St. David bear the stamp of the romantic Celtic tradition. It is said that a white dove perched on his shoulder whenever he preached, and that the ground where he stood raised itself into a mound so that the audience might better see the venerable David.

Chose The Leek

And it is fitting that legend should give credit for the Welsh national emblem, the leek, to Wale's patron saint.

It is said that during the confusion of a battle during a Saxon invasion, the fighting Welsh couldn't tell friend from foe. David told the warriors to pick leeks and wear them in their hats as identification. Thus they didn't slaughter one another, and carried the day.

David was an evangelist, ordained by St. Paulibus—one of the Roman Christian missionaries in Britain. He founded or restored two monasteries at Glastonbury Bath and is credited with making Bath waters "Warm 'and salubrious" though in fact Romans had recognized these qualities centuries before.

David's fame increased after his death. Tradition says his bones were taken to Glastonbury some 300 years after his death.

By the time William the Conqueror crossed the Channel, David's sanctity and importance were recognized. Finally, at the request of King Henry I, he was formally canonized about 1120 by Pope Calixtus II.

Senator Says Jobless Insurance Feeble Substitute For Work

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP)—Senator W M. Aseltine (PC, Saskatchewan) Monday night criticized unemployment insurance as "a feeble substitute for work" in a Senate debate on a government bill to extend benefits of the insurance.

Senator Aseltine said he would not oppose the bill, which received second reading in the Senate and is scheduled for committee study and Royal assent today so that it can go into effect March 1.

However, he said he was critical of the government's record with unemployment insurance since the Liberals opposed the first unemployment insurance measure, offered by a Conservative government in 1935.

He disagreed with government figures estimating 375,000 unemployed at Feb. 7, and said there are at least 400,000 non-workers. He could not agree with the government claim that this unemployment was "largely seasonal." In the 30's, when there was a serious depression, the total number of unemployed was only about twice the present number.

Host Of Changes

The legislation, introduced by Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, revises the unemployment insurance act of 1942.

It provides a host of changes. One specific change, making persons earning between $3,120 and $4,800 eligible for insurance, brings an estimated 90,000 more Canadians under the act.

Senator Aseltine said the new Bill made wide changes. It overhauled the whole Unemployment Insurance Act. Rates of payment were being changed, rates of benefit were being changed. The number of waiting days before benefits could be paid were being changed.

There were a number of questions senators wanted to ask the experts when the Bill came befor the committee.

Held Consultations

Senator Robertson said that when the Bill went before the committee, he believed senators would find that employers and employees had been consulted.

Senators J. C. Davis and J. P. Howden, both Manitoba Liberals, asked if the Act would provide for hospital employees. Senator Robertson said the Act itself did not provide for any specific class of workers, and that the 75,000 loggers outside British Columbia were covered by Order-in-Council.

Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) said he had served on a committee which drafted the Unemployment Insurance Act. It had never been intended that unemployment insurance be a substitute for work. The idea had been that a fund would be built up in good times for use when it was needed.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

It doesn't take long for a Canasta beginner to become a seasoned veteran after playing a very short time Situations come up, as the following question shows, which can give you a lot of experience in a big hurry.

Q. We were playing with a beginner, but we had agreed to play according to the rules The beginner thought that if we invoked all the rules, he would learn the game more quickly. The new player made an initial meld of 3 deuces and a joker. What happens here?

A. Your friend created a situation that gives him a lot of experience right away. If he is lucky enough to have a pair in his hand, he can put the pair down on the table and add to them as many as 3 of the wild cards he first put down. If he has 2 pairs in his hand, he can put both pairs down and add wild cards to both pairs Then nothing has happened except that he may have wasted some wild cards.

If the player has no pairs in his hand, the 3 deuce and the joker become penalty cards. If he were playing two-handed Canasta, he could pick them up and put them back in his hand, as there are no penalty cards in the two-handed game. But playing four-handed, the 4 wild cards must be left face up on the table and one of them discarded. This of course automatically freezes the pack.

If his partner can make a legal initial meld at his turn, then when it comes around again to the beginner, he can add the wild cards to his partner's meld. (Remember, of course, that no more than 3 wild cards may be included in or added to any meld except a completed canasta.

By the way, a lot of readers probably would like to know how one can be lucky enough to be dealt 3 deuces and a joker!

Q. You said in one of your articles that there are three ways in which the pack is frozen: First, if a red trey is turned over as the first card of the discard pile; second, the pack is frozen until a side makes an initial meld, and is still frozen for the other side until they make their initial meld; third, the pack is frozen when a wild card is discarded. What about black treys? Don't they freeze the pack also?

A. No. Black treys do not freeze the pack They simply force the next player to draw from the stock pile He cannot take the discard pile even if he has 2 black treys in his hand. In other words black treys are stop cards for the next player, but they do not freeze the pack as wild cards do

Q. Our opponents went out When we added up the scores, they had a total of 5300 points and we had a total of 5600 points We want to know who won the game as there was a prize for the winning side.

A. The side with 5600 points won. The side that went out received a bonus of 100 points for going out If that, together with the count of the cards they caught in your hands, did not give them the greater number of points, they lose the prize. The side with the most points wins the game.

❖ ❖ ❖

As my answer to the following question from one of my readers shows, it's wise to take your time when it's your turn to draw Otherwise you may fumble putting yourself at a disadvantage.

Q—One of the things causing most of the arguments in our Canasta club is what to do when a player, intending to draw a card from the stock pile, accidentally shows the second card.

A—When a player accidentally shows one or more cards when drawing from the stock pile, he should take the card belonging to him and put it in his hand. The other exposed card or cards should be shown to the rest of the players and then replaced on the top of the stock pile. After he has made his discard, the next player may take the top card of the stock pile, or he may take the discard pile. But in any case he has the right to shuffle the stock pile so that the player following him will not know what the top card of the stock pile is.

Q—When do you freeze the pack?

A—I have explained when to freeze the pack on numerous occasions, but this question continues to be asked in every week's mail. If the discard pile is large, and the opponents have a lot of melds down, and you cannot make a safe discard, you are certainly justified in freezing the pack. Otherwise the opponents will get the pack and probably complete several canastas.

If you think that you or your partner may be able to go out in a round or two, it may be advisable to freeze the pack.

I know that some players just freeze the pack because they hold several deuces. I have actually seen players freeze the pack before their opponents had made an initial meld, while their own side did have an initial meld down on the table. This is a foolish thing to do, because in this situation they freeze the pack for themselves as well as for the opponents; and the pack was already frozen for the opponents until they made their initial meld.

Do not be afraid to freeze the pack when you definitely know that it will be advantageous to your side; but do not freeze it just for lack of something else to do

Q—We are a little confused as to whether you get one or two cards for a red trey. Will you please explain this?

A—If you have a red trey in your hand, put it on the table immediately and take a card from the stock pile to replace it. This does not constitute your draw You still have the right to decide whether you want to take the discard pile or draw a card from the stock pile.

If you take another card from the stock pile, it may look as though you were getting two cards for your red trey, but that is not true. You take one card to replace the red trey that you put down on the table, and then you make your draw.

Community Makes Good Use Of New Nursing Registry

During its first year the Community Nursing Registry received 1,771 calls for nurses Mrs. Margaret Pringle, registrar, reported at the first annual meeting Monday in the Argyle St. residence of Civic Hospital.

This community service stated January 1, 1949, and was set up at the request of the directors of both hospitals, to give a "round the clock" service. Time could no longer be given by the staffs of the hospitals to secure nurses for the ill in hospitals and homes.

The report of the first year's activities reveals that the registry is not yet able to meet the full demand within the community Of the 771 requests for nurses, 259 had to be refused because of a temporary shortage of nurses. Of 110 calls for nursing assistants, 26 could not be met.

No grants have been received by the registry. At the beginning of the year it was considered advisable not to contact the city council or community chest but early this year, a request was made to the council.

At the beginning, it had been the feeling of the board that owing to the apparent sound financial status of the the registry, it might prove to be self sustaining. However, after one year's experience, during which time changes in policy have taken place, it has become necessary to appeal for funds from outside agencies.

Letters were sent to every registered nurse in the city, Mrs. Pringle explained, and 53 applications were received for active membership, 22 for supplementary membership, three for temporary membership, 20 associates joined the registry and 11 nursing assistants applications were received.

Most active month was March, when calls were received for 184 nurses and other exceptionally busy periods were in June, July and December. January was the slackest month.

An average of five telephone calls are required for every nurse provided, Mrs. Pringle said, estimating that approximately 8,000 calls had been made.

During 1949, 19 doctors and the VON purchased the services of the registry. The number of calls received and relayed for doctors was 4,035, not including a number of calls for appointments during office hours which were immediately relayed to the doctors' offices.

There were 176 calls for VON nurses.

Working conditions were handicapped and efficiency lowered to some degree because of the lack of a relief registrar. No holidays were given to the registrars and in carrying out the policy of one free day a week, the two remaining registrars had to do a 16 hour period of duty one day a week. The efficiency of the registry could be stepped up considerably, Mrs. Pringle said, with the appointment of a relief registrar.

Mrs. Eva Breckenridge, president, was chairman of the meeting. In addition to Mrs. Pringle, registrars are Mrs. Jacqueline Grady, Mrs. Jacqueline Wellman and Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon.

Medical representatives on the board are: Doctors L. W. Thompson, D. Whyte, S. Y. Walsh and R. J. Young; public health representatives, Miss Gene Clarke and Miss Mary Ross; private duty nurses' representatives, Miss N. Murphy, Mrs. C. McIlraith, Mrs. F. Rundle, Mrs. M. Taylor, Mrs. R. Taylor, Miss L. Shearer and Miss S. Wood; laymen, Ian McRae, and Fred Overend; school of nursing, Miss A. L. Thomson and Sister M. Gonzaga.

Parisian Bonnets Perch For Easter on Cropped Heads

By BARBARA STEVENSON

PARIS—(Reuters)—The Easter bonnet this year may be large or small, but it will certainly be made to wear over the short-cropped head and shaved neckline of a mid-century shingle which is only slightly longer than the 1920 version.

Hats for the spring are enveloped in veiling and the favorite shape is the bowler—with the Gibson sail a good second.

Colors introduced in the fall are still popular for the spring, with rather more emphasis on the clear tones of cognac and tawny orange. Flesh tones which lend themselves particularly to fine straws, horsehair and organdy are also important.

Spring novelties from recent shows include a head-hugging fabric cloche which is sold folded in a small bag ready for travel and complete with a tailored leather miniature feather for daytime wear and a jewel clipped ostrich plume for the evening. Another model, also packed into a bag, has two hat pins in leather and two in iridescent sequins.

Maud Roser's hats continue to hug the head in the manner of the '20s with an original curve along the right cheek. The highlight of her collection is a model with a rippling brim from under which rolls an eyebrow veil. The veil in turn is trimmed with tiny birds or dainty flowers.

There is also a squashed beret, in yellow straw with a crown ending in a snail scroll point, and with clusters of soft feathers exactly dyed to match. Most delicate of hats from this house are fashioned in horsehair, very tiny for the cocktail hour, growing larger for race meetings and still larger for garden parties.

Veil Flatters Face

The Gibson Girl sailor with a fencer veil which subdues and flatters the face like a little cage, starting on the head or hairline and ending under the chin, is favored by Maud and Nano. For wear after 5 o'clock, a touch of Spain is introduced in a big black cartwheel trimmed at the edge with a dainty grey flounce of Chantilly lace.

One model, white terry cloth, edged with navy blue faille was used on a classic shaped sailor, while another sailor had a miniature umbrella complete with a plastic handle perched on the brim.

A brim which opens out from a tiny pink cap in layer upon layer of pink, petal-shaped horsehair, is introduced by Apulette. She further develops her garden party theme with picture hats in transparent fabrics swathed on a parasol-type frame. A lovely example of this is called 'Parapluie,' done in black and honey organza with the umbrella frame brim half open and the theme cleverly carried on to the umbrella tip perching on the centre of the crown.

Madame Paulette is a firm believer in the "boater" and she literally takes one off grandpa's head complete with chain and silver button to snap on the lapel of your jacket. For a more daringly feminine woman, she has created "La Lande"—a skull cap in soft yellow straw, trimmed with a scarf-like sweep of green branches and yellow flowers which falls round the neck and below the shoulder.

The 1900 feminine look, with large crepe georgette picture hats trimmed huge roses made of the same fabric, are a feature of Gilbert Orcel's collection. Another line, which he calls "Flying Saucers" is best depicted in a voluminous beret in navy faille which is set flat across the head and is double in front. It is covered with a giant mesh veil spotted with pearl drops.

Cocktail hats in this collection are small toques entirely beaded and superimposed with iridescent sequins.

Would Teach Children Effects of Alcoholic Drinks

After hearing the proposals of the Ontario Temperance Federation for inclusion in school curricula of instruction about the effects of alcoholic beverages, PCVS Home and School Association decided Monday to send letters to Peterborough's member of Parliament and to the Board of Education.

The association decided, after hearing the Rev. D. C. McClellan, field secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, to make representations for instruction in schools, about the harmful effects to the body of alcohol.

Mr. McClellan explained that when the Temperance Federation had asked the minister of education to include the subject in the school curricula, he had replied there was not sufficient public demand.

The federation was, therefore, addressing Home and School Associations throughout the province in the hope that public opinion would be aroused.

After Mr. McClellan offered some arguments against many commonly accepted reasons or excuses for drinking, two films were shown, one suitable for adult audiences and on which is shown in schools.

Many people said they had a right to drink, the speaker declared. He claimed drinking was a privilege. Another point of view which he refuted was that it was the drinker's own business.

"A man gets into his car after he has been drinking and gets onto my side of the road, and then it is not only his business." he declared.

Neither was the old maxim, "But everybody drinks," a solution, because everybody did not drink.

Mr. McClellan described the common belief that alcohol was a stimulant as a fallacy. "It puts the brain to sleep, and the drinker forgets his problems for a while and floats along, but then he comes back to earth.

The last point stressed was that because there had always been drink it did not mean that society could not progress.

The Temperance Federation's plan for education among children did not ask that alcohol be introduced as an extra subject to be taught as a separate lesson. It asked that it be included in other subjects, such as history and health.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. M. J. Aiken, president of the Ontario Temperance Federation, and a vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. A. W. Nelson.

Mrs. W. E. Fanjoy, president of PCVS Home and School Association, was chairman. Mrs. E. Chambers, district chairman for Peterborough, read the Home and School creed at the beginning of the meeting, and Charles Allen entertained at the piano.

British Actress Film Veteran Though Only 21

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Dark-haired Jean Simmons, most promising young star in the British film firmament, celebrated her 21st birthday recently with a big party in the Odeon Theatre at London's Marble Arch.

There was a seven-foot cake. There was champagne. The press was there in force and so were scores of film people. After almost two hours of posing for the press, smiling and greeting her guests, Jean crept out on the stairs and cried.

She was just plain tuckered out.

She had been up at 5 a.m. for work at Pinewood Studios and had already celebrated her birthday at an afternoon tea party with her boss, J. Arthur Rank, and his top executives.

Her birthday present from the Rank organization was an increase in salary of £6,000 ($18,600) bringing her salary to nearly £20,000 a year.

Jean left the Odeon publicity party to celebrate with actor Stewart Granger. They made a surprise visit to the 21 Club, Chesterfield Gardens. Jean wore her favorite oyster-satin brocade evening gown. Supper was smoked salmon, duckling, orange salad and crepes suzettes followed by pink champagne.

Jean has come a long way from the 17-year-old who first faced film cameras as Margaret Lockwood's young sister in "Give Us The Moon."

Her first film "success" was "The Way to the Stars," a story of Battle of Britain pilots. From then on Jean headed for the top, playing the young Estella in "Great Expectations"; the sultry island beauty in "Blue Lagoon"; the Indian girl in "Black Narcissus"; Ophelia in "Hamlet."

Still Learning

Her first grown-up non-costume part was with Stewart Granger in "Adam and Evelyne."

Eager to talk about her work, Jean says:

"Making films is thrilling. I enjoy every moment of it though I realize I've still got a long way to go. I'm learning something new every day, particularly from experienced actresses like Celia Johnson and Margaret Lockwood."

Asked about her performance in Hamlet, Jean said she nearly passed out when Sir Lawrence Olivier suggested testing her for the part.

At 21 Jean has a new sophistication and confidence. She drives her fast sports car to the studio and has her own flat off Oxford Street. She is fond of clothes, dancing, parties and fun, but when she is working on a film she is in bed each night at nine.

On the question of romance she says:

"It's all become a bit of a farce. I'm too interested in work to be serious about anyone."

"I have resolved not to marry till I'm 25 . . . but I may not stick to that resolution."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

College Girl, 18, Bored With Studies, Life, Men

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 18, a freshman in college. I have devoted parents whom I love, a good home, good clothes, everything to make me happy, but I have lost all interest in life and for no reason at all. I have no interest in my studies and don't care when I flunk. I have no interest in boys and don't care for dates. I don't care for anything. Why is this, and what is the remedy?

Dorothy Dix

BET

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A lackadaisical condition, such as you describe yourself to be suffering from, is generally attributable to some physical cause, and before you sink into a state of melancholia I urgently advise you to go to a good physician and have him find out the root of your trouble and cure you. It is pitiful to think how many people ruin not only their lives, but the lives of those who have to live with them for lack of a little medical attention.

You are 18. Adolescent That may be the explanation of why you have got into a morbid state in which you take no interest in anything. Of course, if that is the case, you will outgrow it in a year or two and be just as thrilled with life as all the other girls are

No One Can Help

But you must realize, my dear that no one else can pull you out of the well of despair into which you have fallen. You must work your own way out of it by your own efforts and your own determination. You must use your own will power.

No one can present you with a full and interesting life. You must find that for yourself Nature and civilization and society give us the raw materials. They spread before us a world that is full of every imaginable wonder. They people it with every variety of human being. They give us all sorts of cultures. They give us music, books, art and travel They open up before us all the marvels of science. They give us work and achievement. But out of these we have to fashion our own interests. Nobody can do it for us.

Learn to find interest in wherever you are and whatever you do. Enter into the lives of the people about you. Play their games. Above all, learn to find interest in your work. Whether your studies are interesting or not depends upon how well you apply yourself to them and how much you try to get out of them.

And the best way of all of overcoming listlessness is to do something for somebody else. You will get interested enough in life when you try to make some one else happy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have two young daughters and I naturally wish them to have a good time and plenty of dates. How can a mother help her daughters to be popular?

MOTHER

ANSWER: If you want your daughters to have many dates give the glad hand to the young men who come to the house Write welcome on the doormat Make it a pleasant place where there is always gayety and something good to eat. Make them feel at home and encourage crowds, for boys are like sheep They follow the leader and where one goes the others trail after

Make friends of the boys, but don't cramp their style by always hanging around and trying to entertain them Boys don't come to see a girl's mother and older people bore them stiff Be within hailing distance, but not in earshot. It makes young people self-conscious to feel that older people are listening in

Help your daughters to be as good-looking as possible If Nature turned them out beauties well and good It saves you trouble. But if they are only moderately good-looking buy them all the pretty clothes that you can afford.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widower of 61, interested in a widow five or six years my junior. She has four grown children. Is it the part of wisdom for a man of my age, in reasonable health and strength, with a home, no children, and regular employment, to marry again? My friends warn me against marrying a woman with children.

SEEKING LIGHT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No reason at all why you shouldn't marry, and every reason why you should if you and the widow are congenial You are both at the time of life when you most need companionship. If the children were small children that you would have to support and have under foot, they might be objectionable, but the grown ones will be about the business of life for themselves and should prove no handicap.

Community Keeps Supplies For Sick At Young's Point

A hospital bed for the free use of residents in the village and district has been purchased and a loan cupboard containing essentials for the sick room is being established, Mrs. E. Johnston reported Friday at an open meeting of the Home and School Association at Young's Point.

It was also stated that the Red Cross friends had paid for a school nurse and dentist to visit the school in April and September.

Mrs. Harold Young, president of the Home and School Association, presided at the meeting. Mrs. E Johnston, the treasurer, reported that $14.10 which was raised at a card party at Mr. and Mrs Jones' home had been given to Mr. C. Young, president of the rink committee.

Health was the theme of the meeting. Dr. Castle, who was to have been the speaker, was unable to attend. A health skit was presented by two pupils, Gary Jones and Jackie Godfrey.

Mrs. Jones and her committee served cookies and tea in the junior room.

Missouri Capt. Takes Blame

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 28 (AP) —Capt. William D. Brown, commanding officer of the United States battleship Missouri, said today "I and I alone bear the sole responsibility" for her grounding last month.

"As captain of the ship, it was my duty to keep her safe and secure. I didn't do it," the 47-year-old officer told a naval court of inquiry.

This dramatic reversal of Brown's previous defence tactics came as the court opened its 18th day of sessions designed to fix responsibility for the grounding which occurred in Chesapeake Bay, Jan. 17.

When Brown took the stand in his own defence Feb. 18 and Feb. 20 he testified his "team of officers" fell down when he needed it most" Jan. 17, and he felt "utterly alone as far as assistance from my team of officers was concerned."

Order Guerrilla Chief Out Of Singapore

SINGAPORE, Feb. 28 (AP)— A deportation order has been issued here against Capt. R. P. P. (Turk) Westerling, the former Dutch army commando officer who became a guerrilla chieftain in Indonesia.

Under this order he will be deported to Holland, since he is a citizen of that country, officials explained.

The United States of Indonesia has demanded that he be extradited, presumably to face charges of leading a rebellion. But the attitude of the Singapore government is that the law bars extradition to any country with which there is no extradition agreement. None exists with the USI, which came into being only two months ago.

Westerlin, who trained with Netherland forces at Stratford in 1941, was arrested upon his arrival here on charges of entering the Crown Colony without a permit.

Aldermen Plan

Those are hints of possibilities of greatly enhancing natural advantages for the Centre in that location.

Sentiment of the council since the new year has been to concentrate upon its responsibility of finding suitable premises for the Centre.

Ald. Sands said: "We'll get the blame for holding it up if we don't decide on a location. I take it that the George St. lot owned by the city at Rink St. is out because of the heavy cost of a foundation. So, we now have two places in view. Let us get soundings of of both, and make them available to the Centre committee. Let them decide."

Ald. Doug. Miller said the subsurface condition at McDonnel St and Monaghan Road hardly needed borings. City Engineer Chalmers was familiar with location. "but I think they are necessary at Point St. Charles."

"I think it is a safe gamble you will find solid bottom at Point St Charles," Mr. Chalmer said. The north edge toward the riprapping was straightened, and the surface in other parts of the park has been changed, but I think most of it may be all right underneath."

Challenge Reds On Election

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 28 (AP)—The United States today challenged Russia to agree to elections throughout all Germany, possibly Oct. 15, on the basis of free balloting.

October 15 is the date that Russians have set for an election in the Soviet-sponsored east German People's Republic.

The proposal was made by the U. S. High Commissioner, John J. McCloy. But he indicated the United States would take no initiative in organizing such an election.

McCloy's statement was interpreted here as a counter to Soviet propaganda statements that the Communists are the only ones who can reunite Germany.

McCloy opened his press conference with a statement repeating U. S. desires to achieve German unity. He said the scheduled election in the Soviet zone Oct. 15 would be a one-sided Communist affair.

"Unity and freedom can be attained in Germany only if there be full and equal opportunity for all parties throughout Germany to propose candidates, advance programs and compete for the electorate's favor."

White House Aide On Suspect List

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) —David Demarest Lloyd, a White House aide since 1948, confirmed a story in the Washington Post today that he has identified himself as "Case No. 9" in the list of 81 persons Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) wants investigated.

McCarthy has brought about a Senate investigation of his charges that many present or former State Department employees were Communists or had Communist front connections. He said in a Senate speech that he had a list of 81 such persons.

He referred to "Case No. 9" on this list as "a speech writer in the White House" who he had said once failed to get clearance from a State Department Loyalty Board.

Lloyd had no doubt that McCarthy meant him when he read the Senator's speech, the Post story said. Among his other White House duties, Lloyd helps gather and write speech material.

The Post said that Lloyd was glad there no longer is any mystery about "Case No. 9" and quoted him as saying he had severed connections a long time ago with organizations he found out to be left-wing.

Brotherliness Topic At YPU Meeting

SPRINGVILLE Feb. 28 (ENS) —Brotherliness was the topic of the last Springville-Fairmount Young People's Union meeting held in the basement of Springville Church.

Roger Hanbidge was in charge and developed the topic by means of a play and readings. Those taking part were Harley Cathcart, Howard Johnston, Lois Paddock, Dianne Cullen and Jean Hanbidge. Hazel McIntosh read the scripture and conducted a quiz on Bible characters.

MARCH LION OR LAMB?

Junior does not believe that the ground hog has been wandering around the fields since the first of the month, and especially during these last ten days of weather hovering around zero. He thinks the groundhog would be a sensible fellow and go back to bed until the sun brings some heat to the animals in the woods. Wednesday will see either the March lion or lamb.

PURCHASING COMMITTEE.

Ald. Doug Mille, was appointed chairman of a special purchasing committee with Alderman Anglesey and Gillespie, by the finance committee of the council Monday night. It is an annual appointment.

Labor Gets 46.3% Of U.K. Vote

By The Canadian Press

Labor, going into the new House of Commons with an overall majority of only seven seats, received 46.3 per cent of the 28,858,895 votes cast in Thursday's British general election, complete results showed today. The Conrevatives and their allies obtained 43.1 per cent of the record vote.

The Conservatives, winning 296 seats and 12,489,518 votes, increased their percentage sharply from the 37 per cent compiled in the 1945 election when they polled 9,134,967 votes. The number of Conservative seats, jumped from 203.

Labor's percentage was almost 2 per cent less than in 1945 when the party rolled into office with 11,985,733 votes. This time, Labor obtained 13,314,941, winning 155 seats.

The Liberals got nine per cent of the vote—the same as in 1945.

A feature of the hard-fought election was the drop in the vote compiled by other parties—from 6 per cent in 1945 to 1.4 per cent in 1950.

The complete vote, compared to 1945 and 1935 (percentages bracketed):

	1950	1945	1935
Labor	13,314,941 (46.3)	11,985,733 (48)	8,325,260 (38)
Conservative	12,489,518 (43.1)	9,134,967 (37)	10,488,628 (48)
Liberal	2,659,335 (9.2)	2,253,197 (9)	1,377,982 (6)
Others	395,101 (1.4)	1,644,496 (6)	1,880,989 (8)
Totals	28,858,895	25,018,393	22,001,837

PRIZE JERSEYS—John Bracken is proud of the livestock on his farm at Manotick, Ont., 15 miles south of Ottawa. He retired to the farm because of ill health after nearly 27 years in politics. Here he shows J. J. Hammond, a visiting Barrie farmer, his herd of jerseys.

TEA TIME—John Bracken takes time out for a cup of tea with Mrs. Bracken at their picturesque farm on the banks of the Rideau River at Manotick, Ont., near Ottawa. Mr. Bracken was in politics for nearly 27 years, 20 of them as premier of Manitoba. He retired in 1948 as national Progressive Conservative leader because of ill health. Away from the turbulence of politics, his health has improved.

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MANOTICK, Ont., —(CP)— On a rolling farm along the banks of the Rideau River, John Bracken has found more peace and contentment than he ever enjoyed as leader of the the Progressive Conservative party in the turbulent field of federal politics.

Politics—a field he entered But now he has put politics aside with reluctance—was part of his everyday life for almost 27 years. and is living a quiet life with Mrs. Bracken on their picturesque farm 15 miles south of Ottawa.

His main occupations are with his prize herd of Jersey cattle and his Golden Palomino saddle horses. He goes about his tasks leisurely and his health, which forced him to give up the Progressive Conservative leadership in October, 1948, has greatly improved.

In his 67th year, he can look back on six years as leader of a national party, on 20 consecutive years—1922 to 1942—as premier of Manitoba and on a brief spell as a private member of the Commons. He remained in the Commons after giving up the leadership but was defeated in the June 27 general election in the Manitoba constituency of Brandon.

"Do you miss politics?" Mr. was asked in a recent interview.

"I am happy to miss politics," he replied with a smile. "Now I have no work and a clear conscience."

Retired To Farm

It was following his defeat in the general election that he went into retirement on his 150-acre, Ottawa valley farm. There he takes an active interest in his Jersey herd, but his horses are his pride and joy.

He has 40 all told, including foals. His pet is "Bourbon Pot of Gold," a dapper Palomino stallion that has won the Dominion of Canada championship for three years in a row at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto.

"He has won the Canadian championship three times, but he is probably the champion of the whole continent," said Mr. Bracken proudly.

He also has a soft spot in his heart for "Copper Prince of Rideau Bend Farm, a reddish-color two-year-old stallion which he considers of championship calibre.

Mr. Bracken looks on his horses as a "luxury." He said he is trying to develop the Golden Palomino strain in saddle horses, but it is tricky business. Some of the best results have been obtained by cross-breeding Bourbon Pot of Gold with chestnut-colored mares. But this system is not foolproof. His foals include an albino and a jetblack filly.

He has no special market for his horses, but some are purchased by horse lovers in the United States.

Because he has Clark Mansfield serving as his farm manager, Mr. Bracken is also able to take an interest in the neighboring farm of his son, George Bracken.

The dairy stock on the two farms totals 160 head—40 Jerseys, 40 Holsteins, 40 Ayrshires and 40 calves.

... Grandfather

George Bracken has nine children and grandfather Bracken is proud of the help they provide on the farm. Young, tousled-headed John Bracken III has been assigned the task of feeding the calves and his five-year-old brother, Gordie, deftly relays cans from the milk house to the barn on a two-wheel rig that works like a toy.

It seemed only natural that John Bracken would return to the farm when he decided to give up politics.

He was born on a farm in Ontario's Leeds County and has always had a keen interest in agriculture. He has won international recognition as an author of agricultural textbooks and as a professor of field husbandry.

He was president of the Manitoba Agriculture College in 1922 when the Farmers' party of Manitoba, after two unsuccessful attempts, finally talked him into accepting leadership of the party and the premiership of the province. He was never defeated in the provincial field.

In the comfortable farm home are pictures of him during the days when he was premier and later national leader. The 125-year-old home—it looked more like a ramshackle barn when he purchased the farm in 1944—has been completely renovated and furnished with all modern conveniences. Mr. Bracken left untouched the white pine and ash logs that formed part of the walls and ceiling supports of the original home.

As a producer, he has an interest in the problems facing agriculture today.

"Many people have asked me to say what I think about the present situation," he said, "but so far I have not expressed my views.

"I don't want to say anything partisan."

Plan To Crown Gladiolus Queen

Two evening performances will be staged at the centennial gladiolus show August 16-17, the Peterborough Gladiolus Society has decided. These would include a fashion show, the crowning of a Gladiolus Queen, a Gladiolus Princess and musical entertainment.

Bud Lloyd suggested to the show committee that more consideration be given the designing of the show. Mrs. J. H. Leslie, secretary, reported that several large commercial growers are expected with extensive displays. Dr. E. W. Sisson and Fergus Merrill, both of Bowmanville, are planning to bring a large entry including many of the recent introductions.

Committee Refuses Peconi's Application

Nick Peconi's application to the council for permission to carry on his meat business in a vacant warehouse on the east side of Erskine Ave., north of the C.N.R was turned down by the finance committee Monday night. The motion by Ald. H. Dodds was seconded by Mayor Swanston. Opposed to the Peconi enterprise in that location were: the Industrial Commission, which is planning to obtain 150 acres for factory sites on the west side of Erskine Ave., the City planning Committee and the Provincial Board of Health.

The Planning Committee suggested that this business should go somewhere in the country. Mr Peconi has been operating in South Monaghan since the fire last summer levelled his building in Smith, and Monaghan council has taken court action against his operations within their concessions.

Money's Too Rare For Slang Names

LONDON—(CP)—Mine Host Bill Hitch, landlord of the Cockney pub, Elephant and Castle, says slang terms for money are gradually disappearing from his customers' vocabularies.

"Perhaps it is due to modern education and broadcasting," he said, "but I believe it's also because people now think too seriously about what little money they have in their pockets."

Hitch says he still hears rhyming slang such as "bees and honey" for money and occasionally the old public school "dough". But "tin," "brass" and "dibs" are now so rare in the Old Kent Road as to sound quaint.

CANBERRA, Feb. 28 — (Reuters)— Robert G. Menzies, Australia's Liberal Prime Minister, said today that Socialism is an "extremely bad thing" for Britain and the British Empire. "We believe it is bad for Australia because it is destructive of individual effort," he said. "For the same reason, in our belief, it is bad for Britain."

Eyewitnesses Give Evidence On Quebec Plane Crash

QUEBEC, Feb. 28 (CP)—The Crown is expected to bring into court today further eye-witnesses to an airliner crash Sept. 9 that killed 23 persons including the wife of J. Albert Guay, now on trial for murder.

The first two of a handful of men who saw the twin-engined plane crash against a mountainside after hearing a violent explosion were in the witness stand Monday with the eyes of the 32-year-old prisoner intent upon them.

The eye-witnesses who testified Monday were Patrick Simard, a farmer, and Lucien Guerard, third officer aboard a St. Lawrence river passenger ship.

They were the seventh and eighth witnesses for the Crown trying to prove that a time-bomb engineered by Guay caused the air disaster at Sault au Cochon, 40 miles from here.

Sees Smoke

Pretty Lucille Levesque, Canadian Pacific Airlines office clerk, also told the 12-man jury that she sold to the jeweler a $10,000 flight insurance policy on his wife three days before the crash.

Simard, swarthy, bushy-haired resident of Petite Rivere St. Francois, said he watched the C.P. airliner flying along the St. Lawrence north shore at 10:45 a.m. Sept. 9 when "white smoke" burst from its left side.

He said he heard an explosion and saw the plane dip sharply and plunge against the side of a mountain.

Guerard, a seaman, said he was on the bridge of his ship, about a mile off-shore at the same hour and heard an explosion that sounded to him like "dynamiting."

Plane Falls

He looked around and saw a plane fall into a forest growing on north shore hills.

Miss Levesque testified that Guay had tried to get a seat for his wife on the Sept. 7 flight from Quebec to Baie Comeau but cancelled it when he was notified 1½ hours before plane departure that it was available.

Miss Levesque said Mrs. Guay herself accepted by telephone a Sept. 9 booking and had a "discussion" with her husband at the airline ticket office about whether she or the jeweler should make the trip.

Miss Levesque said that Guay "seemed to insist" that his wife go but the witness replied to a question by Guay's lawyer there was nothing "acrimonious" about the discussion.

The clerk also replied to a question by defence counsel that Guay for only 75 cents more than the 50 cents he did pay could have insured his wife for $25,000, instead of $10,000.

Gordon looked good on defence and newcomer, Ed Colby showed some good stickhandling.

SECRET WAS SIMPLE

"Isn't it amazing what children notice? Last night my little girl said, 'Mommy, why is Granny's washing whiter than yours?' I swallowed my pride and found out today. The secret's a swish or two of Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse. for it's Reckitt's Blue that prevents clothes turning yellow. There is no pure white without blue. Costs only a few cents a month, and means I take no chances with anything that may damage fabric. It is the safe way to keep clothes snowy white." A-1-R

Kingston Group Presents Plays For Alexanders

OTTAWA, Feb. 28 (CP) — A Canadian-written play and a Greek drama will take their places in the Eastren Ontario regional drama festival tonight.

"Overlaid," a one-act comedy by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, and a translation of Euripides "Medea," will be presented by the Faculty Players of Queen's University.

It will be a big night for the Kingston group. As well as playing for adjudication, the company will perform in the presence of Canada's Governor-General and Lady Alexander.

Monday night adjudicator Maxwell Wray stepped off his drama critic's box to deliver a few barbed comments about the size of the audiences attending the 11th regional festival.

The production of the evening was a comedy, "Tony Draws a Horse," produced by the Civil Service Recreation Association Drama Club of Ottawa.

Need To Be Patronized

Mr. Wray said it was difficult to play comedy to an empty house. Good work was being done at the festival and more persons should patronize it.

"In the west the houses were full and in Vancouver people were turned away because there weren't any more seats to sell," he said.

Speaking of the Ottawa production Mr. Wray said the cast needed more "attack" in dealing with the three-act Lesley Storm play that portrays the domestic strife caused by a small boy's drawing.

Mr. Wray deal at length with the actor's are of gauging laughter.

"The study of laughter in comedy is a fascinating thing," he said.

A laugh could be graphed exactly like the weather. It went up and over the top and then tailed off. It was the player's duty to wait until it was "on ethird of the way over he top" before going on to his next line.

Mr. Wray felt the Ottawa group had got into the spirit of the play but needed "to clinch the laughs."

Frankford Victims

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28 — (ENS) — The Campbellford team bowed in defeat Monday night when Frankford won the game by one goal to take the lead in this playoff series. The next game will be in Frankford. The ice was very fast and hard and consequently the tussle was quite fast.

A heated dispute arose when the goal judge claimed the final Frankford counter did not go in the net. He still maintains it was not a goal. Referee Perry Everett who was standing near the goal at the time, said the puck was over the red line by a hair, and so the goal was counted. The goal judge did not turn the red light on, and was not consulted on the play until after the game. The fans seemed to think this was highly irregular.

Campbellford: Goal, La Verne; defence, Tanner and Taylor; centre, W. Blake; wings, Pace and Robinson. Alternates: Harrington, Forrester, Peake, Hendricks, Don Free, J. Smith, Doug Free. Spare goalie, Hopping.

Frankford: Goal, Davis; defence Hood and Schmidt; centre, Courtney, wings, Rankin and McKee. Alternates, Cole, Cooke, Mitts, Bastedo, Farmer.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Carl Asmussen and his Kitchener Granites, Ontario Curling Association champions, will leave for Vancouver and the Dominion championships tonight.

The Kitchener rink is one of the youngest clubs which has carried Ontario colors into the title playoffs. Average age of the foursome is 42—and none of them has had more than 10 years' experience.

Veteran of the team is L. J. (Ty) Shantz, 45, rated one of the top third players in the province. Lead curler is Eddie Schultz, a 39-year-old former football and baseball star. Playing second is Carl (Cully) Schmidt, Kitchener newspaper man who starred in junior and intermediate hockey.

Asmussen is 42 and his payoff shots featured the Ontario matches. He skipped his Kitchener rink to the Ontario title last year.

An eight-dash program of harness racing was carried out Monday at Toronto's Dufferin Park with Joe Braden, owned by Taylor and Arthur of Otterville, Ont., carrying off honors by winning the fast class pace in straight heats. Driven by Eddie Wheeler, Joe Braden was the class of his field, scoring at will in each case.

Daytime, owned by Frank Plaunt of Brantford, Ont., and Queen Harvester, property of Eddie Wheeler, Brooklyn, N. Y., divided one of the trotting events.

The postponed heavyweight fight between the National Boxing Association champion, Ezzard Charles, and Freddie Beshore probably will be Wednesday, March 29, promoter Dewey Michaels said Monday. It had been rescheduled for Tuesday, April 5.

Bing Crosby, the movie and radio star who sponsors his own golf tournament, has filed an entry for the 1950 British amateur golf championships at St. Andrews, Scotland, May 22 to 27.

Major-league baseball teams which dole out $100,000 to an untried youngster may not realize it, but they may eventually ruin the sport. That is the warning on Monday from Ray Dumont, president of the National Baseball Congress whose sandlot empire now circles the globe.

Dumont was referring to the sum Pittsburgh Pirates paid for the services of Paul Pettit, Los Angeles high school pitcher.

"There was a time when kids played baseball for the love of it rather than how much they could get out of it," Dumont said.

"The picture is different today and the big leagues have no one to blame but themselves."

Carl Liscombe, 35-year-old veteran of 16 years of professional hockey, needs 19 points in the 11 games remaining to Providence Reds this season to establish an all-time professional hockey scoring record, it became apparent today through closer check of the records. Liscombe, a native of Perth, scored a goal and provided one assist in Sunday night's victory over Hershey Bears.

Welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson took it easy for 10 rounds Monday night at New York and in so doing won a non-title decision over Jean Walczak, champion of France. It was a listless fight. Robinson weighed 157, Walczak 152. A crowd of 5,889 contributed to a gross gate of $16,528.

James H. (Chew) Henderson, who drove harness horses to victory as late as last summer when he knew he was critically ill with cancer, died Monday night at Indianapolis. The 76-year-old veteran driver handled the reins for the last time at Hamilton, Ohio, in September. He won that race, and two others last year, despite the fact he had to be lifted into the sulky.

Henderson drove on the sulky trails of county fair tracks in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio for 61 years.

UK Researchers Study Heating In British Cars

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

There's a seriousfaced chap who spends his time driving an English car around Winnipeg's sub-zero streets in his shirt sleeves.

He is C. S. Steadman or one of his British automotive engineering confreres doing on-the-spot research.

Object: To see that British motor cars have the right heating equipment for Canadian winter driving.

For one problem of the British car in making its way into the North American market has been that cars designed and equipped to be comfortable in the English climate, can be quite chilly at 10, 30 or 50 degrees below zero.

S. Smith and Sons, Ltd., British automobile accessory makers (including heaters), have made the matter their special concern with the support of several large motor-car manufacturers.

Very Thorough

First they examined every type of heater in general use in the world; then they did paper work to see what should be best for an English-sized car in below-zero weather; next they tried out their findings in Norway last winter at temperatures ranging down to five below; and then for 15 days this month they put them to a Canadian winter test.

Thus the Hillman Minx, Austin, Standard Vanguard and Humber Hawk cars which have been going around Winnipeg 24 hours a day with drivers in various stages of undress.

Result: Ten below zero—okay for shirt sleeves. Lower than that, down to say 40 below—normal indoor clothing adequate.

The researchers now go back to Britain with recommendations to car designers which probably will be embodied in 1951 models.

Parishioners In Hatfield Fight Mining

By DON GOLBERT.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

When the people of Hatfield, Yorkshire, built their church more than 500 years ago they did not know that beneath the site lay 3,500,000 tons of coal.

For years after discovery of the seams, a "gentleman's agreement" prevented exploitation. But now the National Coal oBard wants to get at it and the 15th century church is in danger.

Hatfield's problem is typical of many raised by the post-war intensification of mining operations. Most complaints are that open-cast mining is ruining the arable land and marring beauty spots.

The National Coal Board's approach is economic, practical. In the case of Hatfield a spokesman said:

"There are 3,500,000 tons of coal there and it is essential to work it for the proper economic development of the area. Every possible care will be taken to minimize the risk of damage."

To Hatfield parishioners and and people everywhere interested in preserving the country's natural architectural beauties, the problem is aesthetic and sentimental.

Doctor Condemns Mercy Killing

MONTREAL, Feb. 28—(CP)—Euthenasia — mercy killing — is contrary to all ethical principles and is a symptom of degeneration in ethical and moral standards, Dr. John Kershman, executive assistant to the director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, said here Monday night.

He was speaking at a meeting of the Dr. C. K. Russek Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada

Opposing mercy killing "unhesitatingly and uncompromisingly," Dr. Kershman said he believed the "vast majority of the medical profession will take a similar stand against it."

"There are drugs for the relief of pain and during the last few years, several different operations have been developed—most of them essentially simple proceedings—which can be performed for the relief of pain.

"We cannot end our responsibilities to the desperately sick by eliminating them, even at the insistence of overwrought and exhausted relatives . . ."

Two Churches Unite

BETHANY, Feb. 28—(ENS)—Members of the United and Anglican churches held a joint World Day of Prayer service in St. Paul's church at Bethany on Friday. The Rev. T. S. Gault lead the devotions. Jackson and Mrs J. J. Hamilton.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

WIZARDS OF ELECTRICITY, hard at work in the laboratory, are Thomas A. Edison, America's most prolific inventor, and Charles P. Steinmetz, the great electrical genius, sometimes called "the dwarf with the giant mind." This picture was made in 1923 as the two scientists were examining the effects of Steinmetz's artificial lightning on tree limbs and procelain insulators. When this century began, both men—Edison, Ohio born; Steinmetz, an immigrant from Germany—had already attained eminence for their inventive genius. Electricity has played a tremendous role in the miracle industrial development of America during the Twentieth Century, and in the field of electricity two names that rank at the top are Steinmetz and Edison.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 28—(ENS)—"We are impatient people, but should wait patiently, obediently and humbly for God to answer prayer," was the advice given by Rev. R. C. Costello Team At Odds With Studio

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28 (AP).—Abbott and Costello are still at odds with their studio.

Lou Costello tells me there has been no progress toward an agreement with Universal-International, with whom the comedy team is feuding.

"I've been on suspension since last spring when I got sick," said the comic. "And I'm just as happy to stay there until we get a better deal.

"Right now I am recuperating from my first illness. Since then I have had a gall bladder operation. My schedule does not call for me to start recuperating from that for a couple of months."

Abbott and Costello were recently chosen No. 3 in the motion picture Herald's poll of movie moneymakers.

Notes 'n' Stuff

Ida Lupino is reading a script from RKO. It would be her first acting job in well over a year. She now is producing and directing her third production, "Nobody's Safe," and wants to get back on the other side of the camera. First, she will put on 10 pounds.

Elizabeth Taylor, whose life is full of celebrations, marked her 18th birthday yesterday. Her one big fear is that she will giggle through her own wedding. She is the giggling type.

"Cinderella" is reported doing big business in its openings. In many theatres it is replacing "Stromboli," which has failed to do big business after its first-day engagements. That is quite a contrast in pictures."

Esther Williams leaves this week for Hawaii, where she will make "Pagan Love Song." Ben Gage and their son will accompany her.

World Day Of Prayer Women Take Service

APSLEY, Feb. 28 —(ENS)—The World Day of Prayer was held in St. George's Anglican church with a record attendance. Mrs. W. Everett, president of the Ladies' Guild, was leader and Mrs. Pidgeon was at the organ in the absence of the organist, Donna Lean.

Mrs. Howard Johnson sang a solo and Mrs. R. Tucker gave the address. Mrs. C. Smith, Mrs. John Tucker, Mrs. Montgomery, Irene McIlmoyl and Mrs. W. Lean took the prayers.

The offering was taken by Mrs. Chesel McColl. Mrs. Hector Montgomery was appointed key woman for next year.

A FIREMAN LOOKS AT THE 18,000,000-volt cyclotron which helped make the atom bomb and which was virtually destroyed by an oil fire in Princeton University, Princeton, NJ. Cause of the smoky, stubborn fire inside the $400,000 atom-smashing machine could not be immediately determined. Dr. Milton White, professor of physics, said that only the magnets could be salvaged. The machine currently was being used on a nuclear project for the Office of Naval Research.
